THE BAG OF DAYS.

Suppose you had a bag of marbles on your shoulder to carry, and yet if every boy you met, made you give him a marble, your bag would soon be empty.

We are all sent into this world by God, with a bag, not of marbles, but of days.—Sometimes Death stops the little child before it has gone far with its bag of days, and its life in this world is closed. But perhaps you may live for many years; yet do not forget that Time is always after you, taking now a day and again a day, and he will soon empty the largest bag of days.

If the bag were one of marbles instead of days, people would feel the bag lighter, and enquire who had taken them; but many do not think that their bag of days is always getting lighter, and too many find that it is nearly empty before they scarcely give it a thought.

O! we should never forget that every night we lay down to sleep, Time has taken another day out of our bag. We have no time to lose; we cannot afford to trifle; and therefore, while life is before us, we must learn to improve what is good and useful, to be pure and holy, so that if we live to be old, we may look on the days that are left in our bag without a sigh, nor regret the days lost or idly spent.

That is a good prayer in the Bible, "So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom." Let us often think of our bag of days, and examine it, to reckon up how many Time has taken away, and how many are left. Let us use every one for the best purpose, and pray this good prayer to our Father, that we may not slight or abuse them.

SILENT LOVE.—'An illiterate female,' says Dr. Chalmers, "in humble life, applied for admission to the Sacrament; but at the customary examination, could not frame one articulate reply to a single question that was put to her. It was in vain to ask her of the offices or mediation of Christ, or of the purpose of his death. Not one word could be drawn out of her; and yet there was a certain air of intelligent seriousness, and the manifestations of right and appropriate feeling—a heart and a tenderness indicated, not by one syllable of utterance, but by the natural signs of emotions which fitly responded to the topics of the clergyman, whether she was spoken to of the sin that condemned her, or of the Savior who atoned for her.

Still as she could make no distinct reply to any of his questions, he refused to enroll her as a communicant; when she, on retiring, called out, in the fullness of her heart, "I cannot speak for him, but I could die for him!" The minister, overpowered; handed to her a sacramental token; and with good reason, although not a reason fell in utterance from her."

What a meaning and unique expression was that of a young Irish girl, who was rendering testimony against an individual in a New Orleans court, a short time since. "Arrah, sir," "I'm shure he niver made his mother smile." There is a biography of unkindness in that simple sentence.

A TREASURE, COSTING NO MONEY.—Which will you do—smile, and make your household happy, or be crabbed, and make all those young ones gloomy, and the elder ones miserable? The amount of happiness you can produce is incalculable, if you show a smiling face, a kind heart, and speak pleasant words. Wear a pleasant countenance; let joy beam in your eyes, and love glow on your forehead. There is no joy like that which springs from a kind act or a pleasant deed; and you will feel it at night when you rest, at morning when you rise, and through the day when about your business.

A smile—who will refuse a smile,
The sorrowing heart to cheer,
And turn to love the heart of guile,
And check the falling tear?
A pleasant smile for every face,
O, 'tis a blessed thing;
It will the lines of care erase,
And spots of beauty bring.

THE RAILROAD BRIDGE ACROSS THE SOUHEGAN RIVER, AT MASON, N. H.—This structure, not long since completed, is one of the finest truss bridges in the country. It was erected by the Peterboro' and Shirley Railroad corporation, at an expense of eighteen thousand dollars—Joseph Sawtell of Lowell, architect. It is six hundred feet long and ninety-seven feet high from the iron rail to the bed of the river. It makes five spans from bank to bank, the widest of which, in the middle, is 170 feet long; the next widest is 150 feet. It is supported by four solid granite piers, the two largest of which are each fourteen feet eight inches thick, and twenty-nine and a half feet wide at the base.

The timber of the bridge consists of 300,000 feet of the best spruce, all of which, in the frame, was conveyed to Lowell, Mass., and burnatized at the Lock Canal establishment, a process by which the sap is removed from the pores of the wood and an infusion of the chloride of zinc substituted. This is said to preserve the wood against worms and fire, and makes it stronger. This bridge is located in the beautiful farming town of Mason, immediately east of the village, extends from east to west across one of the wildest rivers in New England, and in the most romantic region of New Hampshire.—Boston Post.

Mr. Wm. Mason, son of Lowell Mason, returned home by the Niagara. He has been studying in Germany for three years past under the best masters, and has made such proficiency as to place him in the front rank among pianists.

Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1852.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

The arena is now full; the combatants in our Olympian Game have all entered the lists; and the contest is fairly begun. Our grand quadrennial struggle for the Presidency, in which thousands of actors engage with zeal greater than that of most of the candidates, has just commenced, and for about six weeks to come the country will be agitated like the frame of a wrestler. Happy for the country it is, that the season of turmoil is so short. Much of the electioneering trash that floats along now, and excites the passions, will have floated away by election time, and the victors and the vanquished alike will most of them forget the things which have so recently agitated their hopes and fears, their passions and prejudices.

The first candidate of the six now in the field, is FRANKLIN PIERCE, nominated by a compromise of the Democratic Convention.—The second is WINFIELD SCOTT, nominated in like manner by the Whigs. The third and fourth, HALE and GOODELL, by the Free Soil and Liberty parties. The fifth is TROUP, nominated by the ultra South; and last, but not least, stands the name of DANIEL WEBSTER, proposed by dissatisfied Whigs of Massachusetts, chiefly of Boston.

Three of these candidates happened to be born in New Hampshire; of all these our readers know something. One other of the candidates has a world-wide fame in his own professions. Of Troup and Goodell, we need say nothing; as neither of them have the slightest chance of getting an electoral vote, and as none of their advocates think they have. The most they can do will be to split the vote in some State, and thereby transfer the electoral college from Scott to Pierce or Pierce to Scott.

The relative merits or demerits of the four candidates remaining, we shall not now discuss—but we have no doubt that either of the four if elected, would administer the government to the general satisfaction of his own party, and at the same time command the respect of his present opponents, or at least of so many of them as can believe that any good thing can come out of Nazareth.

We are aware that this ignores much that is said and oft repeated, against the candidates respectively; and may therefore be unsavory, perhaps offensive. But that is a small matter. So it is also a small matter if any one happens to differ from us in regard to the prospects of the election, of which we are now to speak. It is possible that Hale or Webster may receive the vote off some one State; but it is highly improbable. If the Webster movement could split of 23,000 votes from the Whig vote for Taylor in Massachusetts, it might possibly give the vote of Massachusetts to John P. Hale! But these things are not at all probable. Their prospects therefore, may be expressed by two cyphers(00.)

While the contest is among many candidates who run, but one can win the prize, and that one must be either Pierce or Scott. We place the least possible reliance on the relative or positive amount of confident assertion and bragging on either side—and we are very slow to believe the great stories we read about the crowds of old Democratic soldiers who are going to vote for Scott, or the great numbers of Whigs who will vote without fail for Pierce and King. Some of it may be true;—but we have heard a world of such talk before;—and it is not very convincing.

We look now at some facts;—and they render the issue of the contest, in our view, extremely doubtful. We lay claim to no more than ordinary foresight, and therefore shall find no fault if others differ from us. But we will remind them of all the facts we think of, that go to make up the case, and let them draw the best conclusions they can.

In a table which we published on Wednesday, it will be seen that 15 States voted for Taylor and 15 for Cass,—but the former had two of the three great States, and the grand contest lies in these same States this time.

During the last four intervening years, most of the State Governors have been of the Democratic party—and both Houses of Congress have contained majorities of that party all the time.

What reason can be given, for believing that the whig or other votes given to Taylor then, will be transferred to Pierce now? We answer, by pointing to the facts above stated, of the State Administrations and of the Members of Congress. They are reasons of some strength, and we know of no others.

There have been but few State Elections since the nomination of the two principal candidates,—no one of which can be regarded as decisive. Missouri will doubtless vote for Pierce, and Vermont as certainly for Scott; but the Whigs have lost in the latter, and the Democrats have not gained in the former.—North Carolina remains Democratic, but with a leaning toward Whigism; Iowa seems to be Whig in the late election, but the most sagacious Democratic papers assure us she will vote for Pierce and King; and Maine is in a state of betweenity. Neither party claims her to-day—but both claim her in advance for November,—and both would be very willing to pay a high premium to insure the vote of the State to themselves.

There is one new State, California, Democratic in State government; and probably so in its electoral ticket.

The Free Soil party in some States, as in Vermont, has diminished, in others, as in Massachusetts, increased—and on its changes, and its relations to the other parties, really rests the balance of power in several States—possibly the whole election turns, as on a pivot, in accordance with the motions of this small party. The plurality laws were enacted to secure elections; because third parties could often prevent any party having a majority. Now they often choose a man by voting for somebody else, as in New York, by voting for Van Buren they elected Taylor.—Their movements in three or four States will probably decide the question now. And we regard their movements as quite uncertain.

MAINE SENATE.

It is by no means certain that the whigs will have a majority in the Senate of that State. A full Senate contains 31 members: the whigs have chosen 14 only, the democrats 8, and 9 no choice. In such cases, the members of the House of Representatives and such Senators, as shall have been elected, shall meet in convention, and shall from the highest numbers of the persons voted for, on said lists, equal to twice the number of Senators deficient, in every district, if there be so many voted for, elect by joint ballot the number of Senators required."

In Cumberland County, which sends four Senators, there is no choice.

The Portland Advertiser says, The constitutional candidates are Messrs. Mann, Dunnells, Lowell and Vinton, two regularly nominated democrats and two regularly nominated whigs, and all adopted on the temperance ticket—and Messrs. Hazen, Strout, Blanchard and Ingersoll, two democrats and two whigs nominated at the "liberal" convention. If either of these tickets are elected in convention of the two branches of the Legislature, the whigs will have sixteen Senators—a majority of that body. The only way in which the democrats, even if they are in a majority on joint ballot, can avoid that result, is to adopt the two regularly nominated Maine law democrats, and the two irregular "liberal" democrats. Messrs. Mann and Dunnells, the law men, are understood to be in favor of Mr. Clifford for United States Senator, and Messrs. Hazen and Strout, the liberals, in favor of John W. Dana. This fact, added to the Maine law issue," and some other circumstances, the Advertiser thinks, will tend strongly to prevent any such picking from the two tickets,—and therefore concludes that the whigs will get two of the four. We think it best, however, not to count the chickens before they are hatched—but it must be confessed the eggs in this case are in a very interesting situation.

RAILROAD COLLISION.—On Wednesday afternoon, a collision, occurred on the Erie Railroad, between Dunkirk and Hornellsville, between the passenger train and a freight train. The up passenger train was late: the down accommodation train was behind time, and the latter failing to meet it, had stopped at Almond, but neglected to send a signal back to the freight train, and the freight train ran into it while it stood still at the station. Five persons were killed, four severely, if not fatally injured, and thirty slightly wounded. A car was smashed in peices.

FALSE INSURANCE.—Gardner and Belyea, whose case has been mentioned before, were arraigned on Thursday, before the Boston Municipal Court, for defrauding Insurance Companies. Belyea pleaded nolo contendere, and Gardner not guilty. The former will be brought up for sentence next Wednesday.—Both were committed in default of bail in the sum of $6500.

Both were agents for distant insurance companies, and insured each other. They had an accomplice, named N. W. R. Smith, who has slipped off to Canada.

THE HORTICULTURAL EXHIBITION in Newburyport, on Thursday evening, was eminently successful. Two large and beautiful bouquets, arranged by Miss Miller, of Temple, N. H., were brought 100 miles by railroad, and every flower appeared as fresh two days after, as if just plucked.

BOSTON IRON TUBE COMPANY.—By our Auction Column it will be seen that the large stock of Iron Tubes or Pipes of this company, are for public sale by order of the Assignee.

PATENT WINDOW SASH.

We have just examined Shorts' Patent Window Sash, which we must pronounce the greatest improvement for a small alteration, which we have ever seen.

This sash which we have examined, contains four squares, and looks like any other sash, except that it has a metal ornament in the centre, which looks like a plated button, but is in reality a nut fitted to the screw which holds the sash together. The outer frame of the sash (in technical language the rails and stiles) is made solid as usual,—but the inside pieces between the glass (called by joiners the bars and munnions) are all made in two parts—one being outside the glass, and the other inside. The outside is framed together and fastened. The inside is moveable at pleasure, and secured by the nut and screw in the centre. Strips of India rubber laid on the sash, make a flexible bed for the glass, and secure the object of making the window water tight. For a car or coach window, this contrivance prevents all noise and jingling of glass.—Windows made in this way may be taken to pieces and repaired or cleaned thoroughly, easily and without injury.

Almost the only difficulty we see, is in using very crooked glass. And in this the difficulty is not generally greater than with the common sash. The India rubber may be put on one or both sides of the glass, but one is generally found sufficient.

This invention is patented; and we learn that it is to be used on the extension of the capitol at Washington, and it is expected to be used on the new light-houses about to be erected. Its advantages are very great and very numerous; and they can be seen by every practical man at a glance.

It will be seen by the advertisement of the patent sash in this day's Chronicle, that the right in three States is for sale. The patentee will cheerfully exhibit the model to any gentlemen, whether purchasers or not. It is worthy the attention of every builder, coach-maker, car-maker, &c.

A POLITICAL MISCELLANY.—In the State of Maine the people have failed to choose a governor. The democrats have the House and the whigs the Senate.

The constitution of the State provides that when the people fail to elect a Governor by majority vote, "The House of Representatives shall, by ballot, from the persons having the four highest number of votes on the lists, if so many there be, elect two persons, and make return of their names to the Senate, of whom the Senate shall, by ballot, elect one, who shall be declared the Governor."

The House must send up any two of the four candidates, Crosby, Hubbard, Chandler or Holmes. And the Senate must choose one of these two. Now we may look out for Coalitions of all sorts in Maine.

☞ A general Convention of the Unitarian Churches of Maine, will be held in Portland, at Park St. Church, commencing on Monday evening next.

AUCTION SALES.—See Auction Head this day, for a sale of real estate on one of the most elevated spots in the city,—and for variety in moveables.

ENGINE PARADE.—The Agile Fire Company, from Newburyport, made a fine show in our streets yesterday; and they were attended by the Salem Brass Band, discoursing equally fine music.

This company was entertained here by the City Greys, and the officers of the Greys took part in the parade.

NEW JUDGE.—Josiah Minot Esq., of Concord, has been appointed Judge of the Circuit Court, to succeed Judge Perley, resigned. We are informed that the present Judge of Probate of Strafford County, C. W. Woodman, Esq., was nominated by the Governor, but not assented to by the Council. Mr. Minot has the reputation of being a good lawyer, and his appointment, we are assured, will give general satisfaction.—Journal.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A fatal railroad accident occurred on the 17th at Cabotville, as an excursion train was leaving for Springplace. It appears the engineer, in letting on the steam too suddenly, caused such a contusion of the cars as to throw all the passengers from their seats, two of whom, a Mr. Stone of Northampton, and another, name unknown, of Holyoke, were killed.

Archibald G. Hastings, postmaster at Millsboro', Del., charged with robbing the mail, on the plea of guilty to one indictment was sentenced to ten years imprisonment in the penitentiary. Upon seven other indictments against him a nol. pros. was entered.

RUMORED RECALL OF LORD ELGIN.—The Toronto papers of the 15th have despatches from Quebec announcing the recall of Lord Elgin, and stating that the office of Governor General of British North America has been tendered to Lord Harris.

DIED OF UNREQUITED LOVE.—Daniel Safford, a young man of Wilmington, Vt., put an end to his life on the 9th inst., by swallowing opium, because the girl of his affections was married to another.

The city of Cambridge has given Major S. A. Allen $100 for damages received in consequence of an imperfection in the highway.

OHIO STATE FAIR.—A dispatch from Cleavland, Sept. 16, says:—

"The crowd attending the State Fair increases, and the number of visiters is estimated at about 15,000. The receipts thus far, exceed $10,000. The exhibition of horses, which took place to-day, was very spirited.—The competitors were mostly of the Eclipse and Morgan stock. The cattle show is the best feature of the fair. Almost every county in the State sends its contribution. The largest specimen weighs 3300 lbs.

Professor Mapes, of New Jersey, will deliver an address at 3 o'clock this afternoon, in place of Mr. Webster.

NEW POST-ROUTES IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.—At the late session of Congress a law passed constituting the following new post-routes in this State:

From North Charlestown to Unity.
From Lisbon, via Sugar Hill, to Franconia.
From Lower Bartlett, via Jackson and Pinkham's Grant, to Gorham.
From Keene, via Swansey Center, to Richmond Center.
From Exeter, via Epping, Nottingham, Northwood, Epsom to Pittsfield.
From Pittsfield to Farmington Dock.

ANALYSIS OF THE VOTE.—The Augusta Age, a leading democratic journal in Maine, thus analyzes the popular vote in the State:

"The vote for Hubbard includes the ballots of a large body of temperance whigs and free soilers, who voted for him with a view to make an expression in favor of the liquor law.

The vote for Chandler was mainly given by democrats opposed to the law, although it includes a few whigs and some democrats who were determined to bolt the nomination of Hubbard without reference to the law.

The vote for Crosby is mainly whig, but partly made up by democrats opposed to Hubbard and the law."

WRECK ON LAKE ONTARIO.—The schooner Clyde, from Oswego for Toronto, loaded with coal and sugar, was wrecked on Sunday last, and the crew are supposed to have perished.

Mr. McKay has sold his splendid clipper ship Sovereign of the Seas, now bound to San Francisco, to Messrs. Berand Rosen, Jr., & Co. of Hamburg, for $150,000.—Newburyport Herald.

At a late meeting of the British Archæological Association, a paper was read on the character of Robin Hood, in which it was maintained that he was a mystical personage.

IMPORTANT FROM BUENOS AYRES.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The bark O. J. Hayes brings advices from Buenos Ayres to July 6. The Herald of that date says:—"Since our last publication political events of the most striking and important interest have transpired. An open rupture has taken place in consequence of some severe reflections by the Legislature upon the acts of the Governor in connection with the compact of San Nicholas. His Excellency, with the officers of the several departments, resigned. Their resignations were accepted, and the Legislature proceeded to make provision for the emergency. At this juncture Gen. Urquiza interposed his authority as director of the Argentine confederacy.

He therefore "takes the responsibility" of doing as he pleases,—and in his proclamation he tells the people,

"All your rights shall be respected, and to attack them in the slightest degree, it will be necessary to pass over piles of dead bodies which shall be left by the army which I have the honor to command, &c."

This is acting Louis Napoleon on a small scale. Long live Gen. Urquiza.

HAVANA.—The Havana correspondent of the Tribune, under date of the 11th September, says all the papers of the United States with the exception of the La Cronica El Palago, New York Express, Washington Intelligencer, and the New Orleans Delta, are prohibited to be sold here and are stopped in the Post Office. The French Consul is allowed a single copy of the Les Etats Unis.

The Captain General has notified the agents of the American steamers that should Mr. Thrasher, on his way to New Orleans, come passenger in any of the steamers which touch at Havana, that steamer will not be allowed to anchor; and further, should Mr. Smith, purser of the Crescent City, return, that steamer will be treated in the same manner.

The number of deaths in Havana in August were 118—about double the usual number at this season of the year. It is understood that the returns do not include the soldiers, among whom the mortality has been very great.

HAVANA NEWS.—New York, Sept. 17.—A letter dated Havana, 11th inst., reports that the same system of espionage, domiciliary visits, day and night, and arrests of individuals under the slightest pretext, continues.

The people of St. Jago since the earthquake were living in tents. Assistance was being sent them from all parts of the island.

A letter from Cadiz mentions the escape of Gen. Hernandez, one of the Lopez prisoners.

UNIVEESALIST CONVENTION, 2*d. day.*—The Sunday school convention met at Metropolition Hall, New York, on Wednesday morning. Rev. Messrs. Brown, Gordon, Austin, and Mr. C. F. Eaton of Boston, took part in the proceedings. The Hall was crowded.—A private conference was held in the morning in the Orchard street church. Resolutions were read by Rev. J. G. Garley, recommending the formation of a general missionary society for the diffusion of their doctrine, and the promotion of religious instruction in remote parts of the continent.

Hon. Robert Toombs is stumping the State of Georgia in favor of Hon. Daniel Webster for the Presidency. Senator Berrien is out in favor of Scott.

The U. S. storeship Lexington, Ladford, from San Francisco, via Valparaiso, 89 days from the latter port, arrived at New York yesterday forenoon. She reports nothing new. Dr. W. V. Magoon, who was taken on board at Valparaiso, died July 22.

New and Improved Pattern for 1852, of a
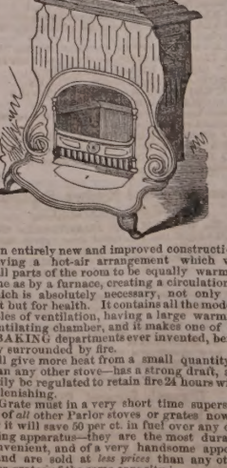
HOT-AIR PARLOR GRATE,
FOR WOOD OR COAL,
The most perfect and beautiful pattern invented.



IT is an entirely new and improved construction, having a hot-air arrangement which will cause all parts of the room to be equally warmed, the same as by a furnace, creating a circulation of air which is absolutely necessary, not only for comfort but for health. It contains all the modern principles of ventilation, having a large warming and ventilating chamber, and it makes one of the finest BAKING departments ever invented, being entirely surrounded by fire.

It will give more heat from a small quantity of fuel than any other stove—has a strong draft, and can easily be regulated to retain fire 24 hours without replenishing.

This Grate must in a very short time supersede the use of all other Parlor stoves or grates now in use, for it will save 50 per ct. in fuel over any other heating apparatus—they are the most durable and convenient, and of a very handsome appearance, and are sold at less prices than any other stoves or grates of the same capacity!

All purchasers of Parlor Grates or Stoves are cordially requested to call and examine the same, at No. 18 Daniel St.

THE SUGAR HOUSE CURE.

Dr. Cartwright, of New Orleans, communicates to the Medical and Surgical Journal of the present week, an article of considerable interest to invalids, which is entitled,—"The Sugar House cure for bronchial, dyspeptic and consumptive complaints." It is stated that a residence in a sugar-house during the rolling season, far surpasses any other known means of restoring flesh, strength and health lost by chronic ailments of the chest, throat or stomach. The rolling season is the harvest, when the canes are cut, the juice expressed and converted into sugar. In Louisiana it commences about the middle of October, and ends at Christmas, but is sometimes protracted into January. Dr. Cartwright says:

Last December, having a very severe and distressing cough, which, for some weeks, had resisted the usual remedies, I went into a sugar-house, drank a glass of hot cane juice, and stood over the kettles, called clarifiers, for some hours, inhaling the vapor arising therefrom. The vapor was most agreeable and soothing to the lungs. The fragrant, saccharine aura seemed to penetrate into the inmost recesses of the obstructed lobules, opening its way into the intercellular passages and air-cells, without exciting cough, but removing the obstructions, the cause of the cough.

There I stood over the clarifiers, enveloped for five hours, in a dense cloud of vapor of an agreeable temperature and an aromotic odor; after which I retired to rest and had a refreshing sleep. In the morning the inhalation of the vapor was again resumed, when I returned home, through a cold, raw, windy atmosphere, some ten miles to the city, almost well, without experiencing any inconvenience from the exposure to the cold—the cough and disagreeable sensations of chilliness, smothering and febrile irritation, having disappeared almost entirely.

A tenuous vapor, of an agreeable, aromatic ordor, hovers constantly over the heated juice of the clarifiers. It is demulcent, saccharine, and grateful to the respiratory organs, causing no oppression or feeling of constriction, as other vapors and smokes so often do, but the lungs seem to expand and drink it in with avidity, as the roots of plants require the moisture of the earth, impregnated with azotized bodies after a shower. What humus is to vegetable substances, the elements contained in this vapor would seem to be to man.

THE ORIGIN OF THE PALETOT.

Count d'Orsay, then reigning as the king of fashion in London, was one day returning from a steeple chase, mounted on a race horse and followed by a jockey, when he was overtaken by the rain; a common accident under the amiable British climate, but against which he found himself entirely unprotected. The jockey had forgotten to provide for his master the supplementary overcoat that he usually carried carefully folded and attached to his back by a leathern belt. The shower increased; and the king of fashion was threatened with taking cold, when he perceived a sailor, dressed in a broad and long jacket of coarse cloth which enveloped him comfortably from his chin to the middle of his legs.

"Here, my friend," said the Count d'Orsay, stopping his horse, "will you go into this shop, and drink my health till the shower is over?"

"With pleasure," replied the sailor.

"Well, then, take off your jacket, and sell it to me; you will not want it while you are in the house, and you can buy another after it has done raining."

"Willingly, my Lord."

The sailor threw off his covering, Count d'Orsay gave him ten guineas, put the clumsy jacket over his frock coat, and thus equipped, spurred his horse, and rode into London.

The rain had ceased while this bargain was going on. It was the hour for promenading in Hyde Park; and here he made his appearance in the midst of the elegant crowd, with his coarse sailor's jacket worn as an overcoat.

"How original, how charming! it is elegant!" say the dandies.

The next day, all the fashionables of London had similar coverings, and the Paletot was invented; the Paletot which has made the tour of the world, and which still flourishes after ten years' wear. This was its origin.

Eugene Guinot relates this, with several other amusing anecdotes of the late Count d'Orsay, in a letter to the editor of the Courier des Etats Unis, from which paper we translate it.—To Day.

HORSE BURNT ON THE CARS—AN ESCAPE.—A singular and most novel accident occurred on the cars going east of this place, a few days since. Mr. Robert Lay, who resides near Vienna, was taking a beautiful and favorite horse of his own to the State Fair of New York, and was in the car with the animal himself. The train was in motion and the doors closed from the outside, when he discovered fire in the forward part of the car among the straw. Almost instantly it was in a blaze. He tried to extinguish it, but failing, he attempted to open the door.

At last he succeeded, but the train being under full headway he dare not leap. He remained on it until badly burnt, when he jumped off, and narrowly escaped with his life, no bone being broken. Before the fire was discovered the car was nearly destroyed, and the noble horse suffocated or burnt to death. Mr. Lay has suffered much from his burns, but his life was most providentially preserved, under the most critical yet novel circumstances.—Geneva Courier.

DISTRESSING OCCURRENCE.—Mrs. Farrell, her daughter and a child were burned at Goldsborough, N. C., so as to cause their death, on Monday, the 6th, in the following manner: Mrs. F. was filling a barrel of brandy from a still which was the property of her husband, and while the daughter was holding a candle to enable the mother to see, the fumes of the liquor came in contact with the flame of the candle, which was followed by the instantaneous explosion of the barrel, covering the persons of all three with the burning liquid and enveloping them in flames. The explosion was heard through the neighborhood and immediate assistance rendered, but too late to save the victims. Mr. Farrell was also badly burned in extinguishing the flames.

THE CALORIC SHIP.—We learn from the New York Sun that the Caloric Ship Ericsson was launched at Williamsburgh on Wednesday morning. She went off in elegant style. There was a large assemblage congregated to witness the slide off, and a more satisfied group has seldom ever separated than was that. The Ericsson is as fine a looking craft as ever kissed the briny deep. The engines of the Ericsson will be put in without delay, and it is hoped the ship will be ready for sea in November.

THE OREGON LAND LAW.—An Oregon correspondent of the New York Commercial Advertiser, states that the Land Law of Oregon, which gives a certain amount of land to all persons married before a given date, has resulted in the premature marriage of the females of the territory; some of them being only eleven or twelve years of age. A law that acts as a premum for such marriages ought to be immediately repealed.

Among the enterprises in Georgetown, Mass., is that of manufacturing shoe strings. The process is simple yet requiring quite a number of workmen to meet the demand of the article. The strings are made from calfskin and sole leather, the former costing $20 per thousand and the latter $10 per thousand, the quality of the stock ranging at the latter price. They are made for the southern and western market and used with brogan shoes which are so extensively manufactured throughout New England, in exchange for the breadstuffs of the south and west. The proprietor has acquired a competency within a few years from his laudable enterprize.—Boston Post.

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

THE LATE ELECTION IN MAINE.

PORTLAND, Sept. 18, 1852.

Dear Editors:—"The long agony is over," as Jack Downing said when he announced his own caucus nomination in the town of Downingville, away down here in the State of Maine. Our election has taken place, and you have already, I see, given your readers a correct account of its results, as far as they have come to hand. I need therefore make no repetition of statistics. The Whigs have five or six majority of the Senators elect, while the Democrats will, in all probability, have a majority of about a dozen in the House. Thus the latter will control on joint ballot, fill up the Senatorial list, elect their Governor, and, if sufficiently united, choose their U. S. Senator. But that "if," mark it, is a very important word—and "thereby hangs a tale," which, sometime, I may present to you in its "round, unvarnished" simplicity.

But all that I had said concerning the confused, mixed up and twistified state of the canvass, was wofully inadequate to the real fact as seen on election day. Why, on that morning, I had the privilege of examining and comparing side by side, no less than fourteen different sets of votes! And then, I knew several individuals who were disgusted with this poverty of selection, and felt themselves obliged to write their own independent tickets! And very curious was the sight of veteran Whigs electioneering for a Democratic Governor, and ardent Democrats "going it" for Whig Representatives, and men of all parties who had bullied each other, politically for years, now affectionately cuddling together in the "liberal" bed. And the result has been quite as curious, and more interesting.

But what has been the effect upon the grand liquor question? I answer—that things will remain as they are. The probability is that Hubbard will be re-elected Governor by the Legislature, which fact, of itself, would indicate that no change in the law was desirable. As to the sentiments of the legislators chosen, I was informed to-day by one who, from being deeply interested, has exerted himself to get information upon the point, that of ninety whom he has heard from, seventy are in favor of retaining the law undisturbed, and twenty opposed to it. He said he had no reason to anticipate that the remainder would show a proportion much different from this. I place confidence in his statements—but allowing them to be a little too favorable, there is still no doubt that a large majority will be found in favor of the law in our next Legislature, and that that measure will remain for one session, at least, like those of the Medes and Persians.

What will be the effect of this election upon our Presidential election? You've "got me there"—you might just as well ask me what influence our schools of porpoises have upon the educational system of our State. The fact is, our September and November elections are entirely different things, and have nothing to do with each other. However, it is clear that the Whigs do feel the best just at this moment, owing to their gains in the Legislature. But still I have heard no sensible man of their number express an expectation of carrying the State for Scott.

Clear, cold weather—noses "deeply, darkly, beautifully" red, notwithstanding the result of the election—and great coats once more "come to town." Yours as ever, CASCO.

NEW POSTAL PROVISION.—The eighth section of the post route law, provides some new and important features in the operation of the post office. The Post Master General is authorized to provide envelopes with stamps already printed upon them, at the actual cost of the envelopes in addition to the value of the stamps; and letters in these envelopes may not only be sent in the mail the same as prepaid letters, but may be lawfully sent by other means of conveyance than the mail.

COURTS IN PORTSMOUTH.—The Court of Common Pleas for Rockingham County, and United States District Court, commence their session in this city to-morrow.

☞ The Young Whigs of Boston had an "enthusiastic rally" in Faneuil Hall on Friday evening, filling the "old cradle" full of youngsters, with some speakers and many cheers.

Major General Scott, accompanied by Gen. Wool and Surgeon General Lawson, left Washington yesterday, we understand, for Kentucky and the West, with a view to the location of one of the three army asylums authorized by law to be established. A site was some time since, the reader will recollect, selected for the one here at the seat of government, and contractors are now engaged in constructing the requisite buildings for it.—Nat. Int., 16*th*.

LIQUOR LAW IN BOSTON.

Every obstacle that can be found, is thrown in the way of its execution. The immense capital employed in the liquor trade, the large number of venders, and the immense number of consumers, all together present a resisting phalanx of apparently impregnable strength. The city government licensed many respectable dealers in advance of the law. Since its passage, they destroyed the office of City Marshal, to keep their most efficient police officers from enforcing the law.

Now we perceive by the Boston papers of Saturday, that Constables Stratton, Tallant, Spoor and Vialle, of the Police Court, have refused to execute search warrants, recently issued against four liquor dealers in the city. They stated their objections to the Court, and the warrants were then placed in the hands of Sheriff Crocker. The objection of the constables is, that the law gives no protection to the officers. They state that in the event of the law being pronounced unconstitutional, they would be personally liable for damages, and this is a risk they are unwilling to venture. They also object to making seizures on the ground that the government has provided no place in which to store the liquors, and should they, on their own responsibility, store it in a place of their own procurement, and any accident happen to it, pending the adjudication, they would, in case the owner escaped conviction, be not only liable for storage, but the party whose liquors might be seized, would be very likely to bring a civil action against them. Lastly, Sheriff Crocker has also refused to execute the warrants, for reasons similar to those given by the constables, and the warrants have been returned to the Police Court.

This course, if persisted in, makes the law a dead letter in Boston; and if pronounced by the Courts to be legal or without remedy, will nullify the law throughout the State. It is not certain yet that it is legal. We have commonly supposed that Sheriffs were obliged to perform certain duties, or if they did not perform them, were subject to certain penalties. But the great wealth of the trade can employ and fee the great army of legal talent in that city. So that if wealth and talent, avarice and appetite combined, can resist or evade a law, then this law will be resisted in one quarter and evaded in another, as long as possible. We understand that its indirect operation begins to be felt in the city, reacting from the country.

RESULTS AND PROSPECTS IN MAINE.

We give few figures on Maine election, to-day, because the few additional returns do not essentially vary the result. The Portland Advertiser of Saturday reports 74 democrats returned to the house, 63 whigs, and 14 not heard from. This leaves a small majority on joint ballot, in the democratic party, which may be increased or diminished by further returns of elections.

The Boston Atlas of Saturday, has returns of 77 democrats in the House to 71 whigs: only 3 not heard from. 76 is a majority of the whole; therefore the democratic majority in the House is a fixed fact. If this Atlas return is correct, the two Houses are now tied in joint ballot. Whichever party gets two of the three missing Representatives can fill the Senate and elect the Governor, perhaps.

The Eastern Argus, (democratic) after noticing the unfavorable results, says:

"But the State government will still be in democratic hands. We shall doubtless have a democratic Senate, a democratic House, a democratic Governor, a democratic U. S. Senator, and democratic State officers throughout."

We shall see.

The Bangor Whig says:—

"It is very gratifying to us to find that Maine, on the eve of the Presidential election is a balanced State, and has handsomely divided the members of Congress, and by a little extra exertion, may reasonably hope to carry the State for the gallant and accomplished, the patriotic and able hero, "Old Churubusco."

Our own correspondent "Casco," a well informed citizen of Portland, thinks differently, as will be seen by his letter to-day. He regards Maine as one of the states for Pierce and King.

We consider it as a doubtful State: The last presidential vote of Maine in round numbers, was for Cass 48,000; Taylor 35,000; Van Buren 12,000.

As the editors generally are confessing to having been duped by a man calling himself Bangehey, of the Texas Flag newspaper, we feel bound to own up $8 on that Ticket, "just enough to take him and his wife to New York."—Boston Post.

IS IT TRUE.—Prof. Amos Dean, in his address before the Essex Co. (N. Y.) Aggricultural Society, related the following:—

"There is much in what one of the mountain patriarchs, among the hills of Berkshire, told Henry Clay, when he was commending them for their morals and industry. "Yes," he replied, "we are hard working people.—We dig and plough all day, and when night comes we are too tired to sin." I am afraid that in cities and more highly favored regions, the reverse may be true, and that after sinning all night, they are too tired to work."

We consider labor as one condition of man's happiness, almost of his life. But if any man supposes that the hard laborers, all the world over, are more virtuous than those who labor more moderately, he is under a mistake which further experience will correct. The idler almost enevitably falls into vice. The overworked man often rushes into it when he gets a chance.

And as to the comparative morals of city and country, we have no faith whatever in the correctness of the common talk on the subject. There is an intermixture of vice in both; and the average of both is nearly equal in proportion to the population.

HOUSES FOR CHEAP RENT.

In all crowded cities, some houses ought to be built with a special view to economy combined with comfort,—and in most large places they would pay. In Boston, we see by a correspondent of the Newburyport Herald, the work has begun. They are slow about it, but better late than never. Here is the beginning:

A shrewd capitalist has put up about twenty houses, of a class to accommodate small families at a low rent. His speculation will prove a good one, as his dwellings are taken as soon as they are finished, at rents which will pay him twelve per cent for his outlay.

TWO HOMES.—Some people have no home at all: and some have two homes. The very poor, who own no rood of ground, and claim no homestead, are wont to complain of the trouble of moving. The thriving citizen buys or builds a house, that he may be rid of that trouble. But when thrift rises into wealth, the rich man moves at least twice a year.

Merrimack, a Boston Correspondent of the Newburyport Herald, writes thus:

"The weather this week has been cool enough to drive our citizens back from their summer residence. Next Sunday all of our city churches will be open. The public schools have commenced, and the city has resumed its usual social aspect. At no former season have our citizens so generally taken their families into the country. In one street which is occupied by persons who pay $500 rent, only three families out of forty-four who live in the street, have remained in the city during July and August. In another part of the city, where the houses are valued at $12,000 each, but one family out of twenty, residing in a place, remained in Boston through the summer. Even the occupants of the most valuable house and garden did not remain in the city through the summer. It may be of interest to state that the taxes on this single estate, amount to upwards of $700 a year. The interest upon its value is more than ten times that sum.

HARVESTS AND LABORERS.—the last English papers received, state that the wheat harvest was coming in much better than was anticipated, but there was a general alarm both in England and on the continent, concerning the disease among potatoes, which was said to be more severe than for several years past. There was much complaint of the want of laborers.

The light-water-mark of emigration has been passed in Great Britain and Ireland, to which countries we suppose the last remark applies. Distress sent the laborers away.—Now so many have gone, that their absence produces another kind of distress.

FIERY SPIRITS IN OHIO.—A Cincinnati dispatch of the 17, says:—

Doctor Albert, Editor of a German Democratic campaign paper, yesterday published in his paper charges against the virtue of the wife of Mr. Klanbrecht, Editor of the Journal Republican. The latter consequently, accompanied by two friends, called on Dr. Albert, and demanded retraction of the charges, which being refused, Klanbrecht drew a pistol and shot Albert in the right breast. The wound is dangerous, but not necessarily fatal. Klanbrecht and of his friends have been held to bail.

FREEDOM.—The following paragraph is an odd illustration of free speech and free elections. The cry of free trade must have been valuable in proportion to its sincerity.

"During the late elections in England, an aristocrai and protectionist at Ross, Herefordshire, was heard to express himself with great contempt of the "rabble." Thereupon a number of the persons alluded to seized him, carried him to the third story of a house, and held him out of the window by the back of his trowsers until he consented to shout "Free Trade forever!" when they let him go unharmed."

DEATH WITHOUT WARNING.—Oneida, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Last evening about half-past eight o'clock, Mrs. Mary Gregg, wife of Ephraim K. Gregg of Munnsville, was shot through the body, while washing at her pantry window. The shot came from the outside, and evidently from a distance of but a few feet. The shot penetrated the region of the stomach. The victim lingered until about three o'clock this morning, when she expired in great agony. No traces of the murderer have been found, nor can any cause be conjectured for the crime.

THE MAINE LAW.

There can be no question as to the result of our election in relation to the Maine law, which has entered so largely into the canvass. There is an overwhelming majority of both branches of the Legislature opposed to its repeal, and in favor of its "leading and material features." Of this there can be no doubt.—It is rendered about certain, too, that either Hubbard or Crosby will be Governor.—Portland Advertiser.

Probably Hubbard will be the man. He signed the Maine Law, and it is said he has become a teetotaller and remained steadfast during the whole of the past year.

POLITICAL.—New York, Sept. 18.—The Free Democracy are making arrangements for a public meeting to ratify the nomination of Hale and Julien.

The Democrats have nominated General Hough for Congress in the 22d district, and Pearson Mundy in the 8th.

The gathering of the Whigs of Pennsylvania at Lancaster on Thursday last, was a brilliant affair. It was an 1840 gathering. Addresses were made from two different stands. A despatch from the spot says:

"The enthusiasm for the veteran Hero of Lundy's Lane and Churcbusco points unmistakably to a good, old-fashioned Whig majority of six thousand from the Old Guard. Everything passed off in the happiest manner—good order and good feeling prevailing amid all the excitement.

FROM PORT AU PRINCE.—Philadelphia, Sept. 18.—By the arrival of the barque Charles L. Lex, Capt. Harper, we have advices from Port au Prince to the 3d inst. The old coffee crop was finished, and the little that came to market from the interior sold at $92 a $94 per 1000 pounds. American provisions were in great abundance, and the limited demand, with the low prices which prevailed, could not be otherwise than ruinous to shippers. Doubloons selling at 228 a 230.

THE ERIE RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—The sad accident on the Erie Railroad, on Wednesday, is said to have been the result of sheer carelessness on the part of the engineer of the freight trains. The passenger train was prompt to its time—and even one minute ahead, when the freight train was discovered close at hand. The conductor of the passenger train instantly gave the signal to start, but it was too late, and the freight engine ran entirely through the rear car of the accommodation train, killing, as before stated, five persons, and badly injuring several others. The accident is to be attributed to the departure of the freight train before its proper time. An example ought to be made of the engineer who thus wilfully hazards the lives of scores of passengers.—Boston Journal.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—Chicago, Sept. 16. As the freight train of the Michigan Southern Railroad was passing over Calumet bridge, beyond Bayleytown, on Monday afternoon, the axle of one of the freight cars broke, and the car was thrown off the bridge, carrying with it three other cars, among which was one filled with emigrant passengers; they fell bottom up, and were almost entirely demolished. Many of the passengers were severely injured, but none killed.

LIBERALITY.—A gentleman of this city, whose income ranges from $3000 to $3500 a year, expends in his taxes and family expenses about $1000, and in the course of the year distributes all the rest of his income in deeds of charity and benevolence. In some cases, there is no doubt that the liberality of this gentleman is abused, by those who should be made to scratch for themselves, but he does a great deal of good with his money, more, undoubtedly, than any other retired capitalist in town, and when he dies the poor will sadly miss him. It is much to be regretted, that there are not more rich people in the decline of life, found to imitate his good example.—Newburyport Herald.

THE FISHERY QUESTION.

The Washington Intelligencer of rday in allusion to the statement that the Fishery question had been amicably settled, says:

"We presume there has been no new arrangement entered into, even if any has been, on either side, thought of or proposed. All that was meant, as we believe, by the late acts from England, was that the British Ministry had disclaimed the adoption of any new policy, or the enforcement of any more stringent regulations respecting the fisheries than had been observed prior to the late groundless flare-up in this country. In short, that the British Ministry had no thought of adopting any new line of conduct in the premises, but meant to leave the subject, both in principle and practice, just where the treaty of 1818 placed it and where it has remained ever since."

REAL ESTATE IN BOSTON.—The Boston Daily Advertiser learns, that six stores of the estate called "Albany Block," situated near the Worcester Rail Road station on Albany street, each four stories in height, together with a steam engine of forty-five horse power, and fixtures, were sold by auction on Tuesday last, by order of the Trustees of Josiah Quincy, jr., to Mr. F. Evans, for the sum of $35,000, in cash. We are told that this estate cost Mr. Quincy, two years ago, $60,000, and that it is now paying rent equal to 7 per cent. on that investment. The stores measure 21 feet each on Albany street, and are 70 feet in depth. They are very eligibly situated for business, and can hardly fail to increase in value.

DECISION.—Albany, Sept. 18th.—The Supreme Court has decided that Benj. A. Welch jr., democrat, is State Treasurer, and James M. Cook, whig, has no claim thereto.

TO BE EXECUTED.—Richmond, Sept. 18. Lucy Randolphe, a Dane, has been convicted of the murder of her infant, and sentenced to be executed Oct. 22. The prisoner has been recommended to mercy.

MURDER IN NATICK.—Saturday morning, Israel Taylor, shoemaker by trade, in Natick, was found murdered in his shop, having received at least two blows from an axe. Mrs. Taylor was found in an adjoining room, weltering in her blood, and in a dying condition, she having evidently been struck down with the same weapon. Suspicion rests upon an Irishman who had worked for Mr. Taylor, as being the murderer, as he is missing. He has been traced to this city. Mr. Taylor was about 40 years of age, and leaves five children.

The murderer, Thomas Casey, has been arrested.—Boston Jour.

SIX CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH.—In Wardsborough, Vt., at ten o'clock on the night of the 8th inst., the house of Peter Moore took fire. This was discovered by the neighbors, who broke open the doors, brought out Mrs. Moore and two children who were in bed with her, her husband having taken the alarm a moment before; but two children who were in bed in the same room, and four children who were in bed in the chambers, were burned to death. The mother attempted to rush back into the house to save her burning children, but was held back, and became deranged.

QUICK ON THE TRIGGER.—"You will please observe," said old Mr. Lambwell, as he led us through his school the other day, "that the boys are required to observe the utmost attention to quietness as well as to discipline."

We had at this moment arrived in front of several boys standing around a water bucket, and one had just charged his mouth with the contents of the cup while the old gentleman was stooping over to recover his pen from the floor, when another passing along behind, snapped his fingers quick under the drinker's ear, and caused him on a sudden to eject the contents of his mouth over the pedagogue's bald pate. Standing upright, with his face and hair dripping, the master shouted:—

"Who done that?"

The party unanimously cried out, "Jim Gun, sir."

"James Gun, what did you do that for?"

Jim, appalled at the mischief he had done, muttered that it was not his fault—that Tom Owen snapt him.

This changed the direction of the old gentleman's wrath, and shaking his cane portentiously over Owen's head, he asked:

"Did you snap Gun?"

The culprit, trembling with fear, muttered:

"Yes sir, I snapt Gun—but I didn't know he was loaded!"

New and Improved Pattern for 1852, of a

HOT-AIR PARLOR GRATE,

FOR WOOD OR COAL,

The most perfect and beautiful pattern Invented.

IT is an entirely new and improved construction, having a hot-air arrangement which will cause all parts of the room to be equally warmed, the same as by a furnace, creating a circulation of air which is absolutely necessary, not only for comfort but for health. It contains all the modern principles of ventilation, having a large warming and ventilating chamber, and it makes one of the finest BAKING departments ever invented, being entirely surrounded by fire.

It will give more heat from a small quantity of fuel than any other stove—has a strong draft, and can easily be regulated to retain fire 24 hours without replenishing.

This Grate must in a very short time supersede the use of all other Parlor stoves or grates now in use, for it will save 50 per ct. in fuel over any other heating apparatus—they are the most durable and convenient, and of a very handsome appearance, and are sold at less prices than any other stoves or grates of the same capacity!

All purchasers of Parlor Grates or Stoves are cordially requested to call and examine the same, at No. 18 Daniel St.

THE HOLY CITY.

Lamartine, in his "Pilgrimage," has the following reflections upon the designations which tradition, founded upon pious superstition or pious fraud, has made of the precise spots upon which were enacted the interesting scenes of the drama of Redemption:

"On leaving the Church of the Holy Sepulchre we followed the Via Dolorosa, of which M. de Chateaubriand has given so poetical an itinerary. Here is nothing striking, nothing verified, nothing even probable.—Ruined houses of modern construction, are every where exhibited to the pilgrims by the monks as incontestible vestiges of the various stations of Christ. The eye cannot even doubt.

All confidence in these local traditions is annihilated beforehand by the history of the first years of Christianity, where we read that Jerusalem no longer retained one stone upon another, and that Christians were for many years exiled from the city. Some pools and the tombs of kings are the only memorials Jerusalem retains of her past eventful story. A few sites alone can be recognised: as that of the temple, indicated by its terraces, and now bearing the large and magnificent mosque of Omah-el-Sackara; Mount Zion occupied by the Armenian convent, and the tomb of David; and it is only with history in one's hand, and with a doubting eye, that the greater part of these can be assigned with any precision.

Except the terraced walls in the valley of Jehoshaphat, no stone bears its date in its form or color. All is ashes, or all is modern. The mind wanders in uncertainty over the horizon of the city, not knowing where to rest; but the city itself, designated by the circumscribed hill on which it stood, by the different valleys which encircled it, and especially by the deep valley of Cedron, is a monument which no eye can mistake."

"From the Church," he says in another, "a flight of steps cut in the rock conducts to the summit of Calvary, the Tomb, and several other sites distinguished in religious history are united under the roof of a single edifice of moderate dimensions; a circumstance that would seem illy to consist with the gospel account.

We are not prepared by it to find the tomb of Joseph of Arimathea, which was cut in the rock outside the walls of Zion, to be in fact within fifty paces of Calvary, the scene of executions, and enclosed within the circumference of the modern walls. But such is tradition, and it has prevailed. In the midst of a scene like this, the mind cannot dispute the difference of a few paces between historical probability and tradition. Whether it were here or there, it is certain that the events did really occur at no great distance from the points marked out."

DINNER TO THOMAS BARING.—A dinner was given to Hon. Thomas Baring, the distinguished representative of the banking house of Baring Brothers & Co., at the Revere House, Boston, on Thursday evening, at which a number of the principal citizens were present.

PERFECTING MANKIND.

The Newburyport Union, after mentioning the Horticultural Exhibition in that city, makes the following sensible remarks:

"There is one fact that must strike every rational man, the moment he thinks of it, with surprise. The whole country, the world we may say, is awakened and laboring for the improvement of plants, fruits and animals.—There is a constant study—by changing and crossing and cultivating—to bring the creation below us to perfection; but the same persons, and the whole world, make no efforts to improve the human race. It is not consulted in marriages or habits of life—by intermixture of races or bloods, by proper unions of temperaments or talents, or by living according to any of the known mental or physical laws by which improvement is reached.

If we have great oxen or swift horses—good fruit or beautiful flowers—it is the result of effort. To have strong men and healthy women—intellectual greatness or mental excellence—are left wholly to chance. Mrs. Harriet Prewett, editor of the Yazoo Times, wants to 'show babies' with Mrs. Swisshelm, of the Pittsburg Visiter. One of these days it will not be strange for women to show babies, any more than it is now to have horticultural, agricultural and mechanical fairs.

VALUABLE CLAIM IN ENGLAND WANTING AN OWNER.—Mr. J. W. Bryant, at Washington city, writes to the Boston Transcript as follows:

"In the investigation of some claims of Americans to estates in England lately, I have become advised of one which has an income of about $30,000 per annum, with a title of nobility attached to it. The descendants of George Browne, a Lieutenant in the British army, who emigrated to this country about the year 1640, and settled at Haverhill, Massachusetts, I am quite certain are the heirs."

Further information may be obtained by addressing Mr. Bryant, at the National Hotel, Washington. If our name was only "Mr. Browne" we certainly should not "give it up so" without looking after this smart chance for a fortune.

DAILY

Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1852.

MATHER BYLES.

Rev. T. Starr King, the pastor of Hollis Street Church, Boston, preached a historical and biographical sermon last Sunday, on the death of Deacon Weld, who died recently aged 80. In doing this, he introduced some interesting memoranda of the eccentric Mather Byles, which are reported in the Boston Courier. Mr. King remarked that Deacon Weld was born during the pastorate of the first minister of the parish, whose settlement took place one hundred and twenty years ago. He stated that the occurrence was rare in which the lifetime of the deacon of any church extended through the pastorate of seven successive ministers, whose united services covered a period of a century and a fifth. Mr. Weld was born when Rev. Mather Byles, D. D., was pastor of Hollis Street Church. It was a singular fact, that, notwithstanding the connection of Dr. Byles with the parish extended through a period of forty-four years, it was terminated neither by death or infirmity. It resulted from circumstances in relation to the Revolutionary War. Mr. King read from the church records the recorded reasons for Dr. Byles's dismission, viz: his refusing to keep a fast day appointed by the Continental Congress; his praying that America might submit to Great Britain; his intimacy with the officers of the British troops; his loan to them of his glass, which enabled them to examine the fortifications thrown up by the American army in this neighborhood; and his frequent visits to a room in King street, where the enemies of the country resorted, and which was known as Tory Hall.

It was pleasing, Mr. King remarked, to learn from the records that after Dr. Byles's dismission, he was remembered by his former friends, and a collection in his aid was taken up on Thanksgiving day, in 1779.

The successors who are deceased, were Mr. White, Dr. West, and Horace Holley. To accommodate the multitude that crowded the pews and thronged the aisles to listen to the eloquent preaching of Dr. Holley, the spacious structure now occupied by the parish was erected. For twenty-seven years, Rev. John Pierpont was pastor. The pastorates of the five ministers of this parish extend from 1732 to 1847, 115 years.

The legal suits of this Church have been recently settled by honorable compromise.—The parish is now united and prosperous, and the prospects of this ancient society were never better than they now are.

BOSTON POLITICS.

The Boston Courier of yesterday, says, "It would be as easy to get a thunderbolt out of a snow flake, as a hearty warm response from the Boston Whigs to the Baltimore nominations. Could we have had Daniel Webster for our candidate, how different would the case have been!"

And in another part of the same article, says, "Last Friday evening, when the Scott meeting was held, about a thousand persons came from Lowell, Waltham, and Watertown, and when the procession marched down State street, hardly a dozen persons were there to greet him."

Nothing could be more graphic. Daniel Webster is the most popular man in State Street, unquestionably. But he is not so popular elsewhere as some other men. And in Massachusetts, out of Boston, he has lost the popular favor, within three years, faster than he ever gained it any where.

The people of Massachusetts, like those of New Hampshire, have strong prejudices;—and it is no more in the power of any leader, however talented, to efface by a speech, all the impression that the preachers and mothers of Massachusetts have been making against slavery for a hundred years—than it is for another leader in New Hampshire to wash out at once the protestant prejudice in which our preachers and our mothers have been baptizing us for a century.

COALITION MENDACITY.—Those Coalition prints who are so abandoned as to declare that the seceders at Fitchburg "have formed a Coalition with the Whigs," and "propose to get up a new electoral ticket" in order to defeat Gen. Pierce, are requested to hold their breath till the evidence of this is forthcoming.—Salem Democrat.

A PURCHASE.—Edward L. Baker, Esq., of New Bedford, purchased the Atlantic House, at Newport, on Wednesday, at auction, for $20,000.

COURTS IN PORTSMOUTH.—The Court of Common Pleas for Rockingham County, and United States District Court, commence their session in this city to-day.

It is said a Chinese New Testament, printed with metal types, and of a superior character, has been forwarded to the Directors of the London Missionary Society, and is sold for four pence.

IMPORTANT FROM HAVANA.

A POLICE OFFICER STATIONED ON THE CRESCENT CITY.—Steamship Crescent City, Lieut. Porter, arrived at N. York, on Saturday afternoon, from New Orleans, via Havana. Lieut. Porter addressed a spirited letter to the Spanish authorities, on the subject of placing police officers on board of his ship, to take charge of Mr. Smith, purser of the Crescent City, who had become obnoxious to the government on account of the report of the state of things in Cuba, furnished by him for the press on the previous arrival of the Crescent City at New York. The concluding paragraph and material portion of the letter is as follows:—

"I merely wish to state to you, that an indignity has been offered to the American flag, through the ship I command as an officer of the United States government, in placing on board police officers to take charge of Mr. Smith. I moreover inform you that I will not permit the police officers to stay on board under these circumstances; that I intend to sail at 4 o'clock, and if any attempts are made to prevent me, the Spanish authorities will have to answer to the United States for the result.

Your ob't servant,
Lieut. D. D. PORTER, U. S. N."

THE NATICK MURDER.—We yesterday noticed the murder of Israel Taylor of Natick, Mass., and the wounds received by his wife. Mrs. Taylor was living on Saturday night. During Saturday two men, Thomas Casey an Irishman, and Duncan Matthewson a Scotchman, were arrested.

Late on Saturday afternoon Mrs. Taylor revived a little, and Casey and Matthewson were taken before her. She at once exclaimed, pointing to Casey, "He is the murderer—he killed my husband." She then sank back, and up to the last accounts had not associated Mathewson with the crime. Casey was much moved by the declaration of the dying woman.

The circumstances against both of them are very strong.

It is said Mrs. Taylor can't live. She is 30 years of age, and has five children. On Saturday morning, two of the children came down stairs in their night clothes, and discovered their father lying dead upon the shop-floor—a sort of ante-room, and upon entering the bed-chamber of their mother, and not finding her there they went into the parlor, where they discovered her in a sitting posture, blood streaming from five terrible wound, but still alive. The affrighted children ran as they were to the nearest house, and gave the alarm.

We learn that the report that Mrs. Taylor had recognized Casey as the murderer, is incorrect. The tragedy has produced great excitement in Natick and the surrounding towns.

LEGAL DECISION.—On Saturday afternoon, Justice Abram Edwards, of Cambridge, delivered his opinion in the case of William C. Knights, who was examined before him on Friday, on a charge of attempting to shoot John T. Beck with a pistol, on the occasion of the examination at Watertown of Zack Porter, for selling spiritnous liquors.

Justice Edwards decided that Knights had been so foul bodily injury and was justified in carrying concealed weapons, and that he only acted in self defence at the time of the affair at Watertown. He therefore ordered that Knights be discharged.

Knights had been active in enforcing the liquor law; and armed himself in consequence of threats and demonstrations made by a crowd who assembled to prevent or disturb its operation.

THE NORTON BROTHERS.—These, with Master J. Mitchell, give an entertainment of music, dancing and comicalities, at the Temple this evening. Mr. Furber has catered for the public taste long enough to know how to please. See advertisement.

CHARLESTOWN NAVY YARD.—Notwithstanding our government has not seen proper to send much of their work to this Yard, there is quite a brisk business going on there just now. Within a few days past workmen have been employed on several merchant vessels, among them the North America, which is now being coppered. She is to be followed by several other vessels. We learn that the observanda of the yard have been rigidly enforced relative to working hours among those laboring here who are not employed by the government. Ten full hours now constitutes a day's work among the caulkers, instead of eight and a half, as heretofore. This has been effected by the functionaries of the yard.—Boston Journal.

SNOW AT THE WHITE MOUNTAINS.—A gentleman direct from the White Mountains informs us that on Thursday he ascended Mt. Washington through a blinding snow storm, in company with two other gentlemen and a guide. All the company came near freezing. So cold was the atmosphere on the summit, that the snow which fell through the roof of the building there showed no disposition to melt on the floor, except in the immediate vicinity of an air-tight stove. The house is closed for the season.

YELLOW FEVER.—Three deaths by yellow fever occurred at Charleston on last Thursday. Friday was observed as a day of humiliation and prayer. Business was suspended, and religious services took place in all the churches.

The number of clearances at the Boston Custom House on Saturday was sixty one, the largest number ever known there. One coaster cleared for San Francisco, and of the thirty-one foreign clearances one was for Australia.

FROM THE FISHING GROUND.

We are sorry to learn that a telegraphic despatch was received on Saturday morning, via Pictou, and mailed at Boston, Friday night, announcing the seizure, by a British cruiser, and carrying into Charlottetown, of the schooner Caroline Knight, of this port.—This is a new schooner, which cost $6000.—She is owned by Messrs. Knight and Lunt and Captain Thomas Simpson.

It is probable that the provincials and the British government finding their claim to the headland line an untenable one, are determined to rigidly carry out the undisputed line of the treaty, by seizing every vessel which may be found within the distance of three miles from the shore.

We do not perceive that any very strong or effective measures can be taken by our government, to prevent this, under the existing arrangement, because the renunciation of the right is full and decisive in the treaty of 1818. Something however may be done to prevent any abuse of the treaty. The President and the Secretary of State, in the recess of Congress, it seems to us, should insist that no condemnation shall take place, except upon the clearest kind of disinterested evidence.—They should see to it that no vessel shall be taken outside the line and condemned on false evidence, and they should take ground that after so many years of neglect in enforcing the terms of the treaty, notification of its enforcement should have been more seasonably given, especially when men, like fishermen, not versed in international law, are perilled in the matter.

There may be ground also, for contending, that the first offence, under the circumstances should not be visited by confiscation of vessel and cargo, but that only the fish should be seized, or some fine imposed.

We ask of Mr. Webster, in the name of his reputation as a great statesman, that he shall be as rigid and peremptory in negotiating with Great Britain in relation to the fisheries, as with Chili for guano. Congress and the people will sustain him in this. And above all let it not be said that the great statesman of the United States crowded upon the feeble power of Chili, but yielded to Great Britain.

For our part we contend that the United States should exact precisely the same justice of the most powerful nation in the world as of the feeblest. We would demand no more of Chili than of Great Britain; nor would we yield any more to Great Britain than to Chili. This the United States owes to its own dignity and honor, as well as to its conscious strength, which should neither impose upon the weak nor succumb to the strong.—Newburyport Herald.

THE LEAHEY MURDER.—It is stated that Leahey, the reputed "Monk of La Trappe," who was recently committed to jail at Pardeeville, Wis., for shooting dead, in the court-house at that place, a man named Manley, and attempting to kill Col. Morton, the lawyer of Manley, upon being asked, after his arrest, if he wished to see the remains of the murdered man before being buried, he replied "no," and gave the following reason for the murder:—Stretching forth his right hand, he said, "To be sure that hand fired the pistol, but God directed it. In a vision, last night, God told me to kill five men in that court-room. I have been prevented now, but the day will come when it will be done." Leahey, previous to the murder, had been living with his wife in Columbia county, Wis., where he has property to the amount of $4,000. Jealousy of his wife, as we have heretofore stated, was the origin of the affray. His career is now, in all probability, at an end.

GREAT DESTRUCTION OF LIQUOR.—Last evening, about 8 o'clock, the cry of fire resounded through our streets, and the cause of the alarm was found to proceed from a freight car upon the track of the Western Railroad, near the engine house, containing about 30 barrels of New York gin, and five or six of ale, which, by some means or other, had got on fire. Five barrels of the gin was saved and two or three barrels of the ale, the latter in a damaged condition, but the balance of the cargo was totally consumed. It is said that the liquor came from the West, yesterday afternoon, and was on its way to Boston, but we cannot vouch for the fact.—Worcester Spy.

THE REINDEER EXPLOSION.—The Albany Journal announces the death of Miss Lockwood, another of the sufferers of the Reindeer. She expired yesterday morning at Malden, having endured the most intense suffering since the hour of the explosion. A few days ago, her mother was consigned to the tomb, and her brother is now lying in a critical state at the Malden House. It is with deep regret that we have to add that Mrs. Williamson, who was also fatally scalded on the Reindeer, died at Malden a few days since. She was the wife of the Rev. George Williamson, who was killed by the same explosion, and the daughter of Ebenezer Platt, Esq., Secretary of the Seamens' Savings Bank.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.—A Union Democratic Mass Meeting convened at Atalanta, Ga., on Saturday morning, Hon. R. L. Charlton President. A committee of thirteen was appointed to report business, and made a report which was adopted with few dissenting voices condemning the policy of the Southern Rights wing of the party in refusing to compromise on the electoral ticket.

The body of a woman has been found near Hull, where the sail boat Chanticleer was capsized three weeks ago last Saturday. The body is supposed to be that of Mrs. Fenno, who, with her husband and child, was drowned by the upsetting of the Chanticleer. The body of Mr. Fenno and the child have not yet been recovered.

The late Bishop Hedding (of the methodist church) bequeathed his valuable library to the Biblical Institute at Concord, N. H., the receipt of which is acknowledged by the Rev. John Demster, D. D., principal of the Institute.

FATAL COLLISION.—A collision occurred on the East river on Saturday, between the steamer A. Corning and brig Albyn, by which Charles Lewis, of Baltimore, was killed. The pilot of the steamer was much blamed.

Uncle Tom's Cabin has already reached its one hundredth thousand, with hardly an abatement of the demand. Four or more editions have been issued in England, and one is in the press in Canada.

The report of the superintendent of the Ohio Lunatic Asylum states, that "in three married men and two married women, there is every reason to believe that the excessive use of tobacco was the cause of insanity."

A movement is being made among those interested, to annex the villages Squog and Skeag to Manchester, N. H. Squog and Skeag in other words are Piscataquog and Amoskeag.

FRENCHY.—The Paris Univers, a catholic paper, in criticizing Proudhon's new work, says:—"The author is not content with insulting, according to his custom, the clergy, Christianity and God himself; he goes further—he insults the Emperor and the Empire."

AN IMPOSTER.—The Female Medical Education Society caution the public against a Miss Helen Maria Rice, three years ago calling herself Mrs. Helen Maria Gassett, for collecting funds for which she did not account.—She is of middle age, medium stature, light complexion, and a fluent talker.

The Norfolk Herald states, that at this time, the number of free-born and emancipated negroes, preparing to emigrate from that port to Liberia, in the Fall expedition of the Colonization Society, is two hundred and twenty-six.

The anniversary of the escape of the fugitive slave "Jerry" is to be celebrated at Syracuse, on the 1st of October. John P. Hale, Gerrit Smith, Lucretia Mott, Wm. Lloyd Garrison, Joshua R. Giddings, Frederick Douglass, and Ernestine L. Rose, are among those announced as participants in the celebration.

DEAR FRUIT.—A person who gave his name as "Hook-em-all," and refused to give any other, was detected in stealing plumbs, in Hubbardston, Mass., in the night time, on Friday, and being on trial for the same, was fined $5 and costs, amounting, in the whole, to $19,96, which he paid and departed. A very good example.

LUCK FOR CATHARINE HAYES.—Mr. Barnum has concluded an engagement with Catharine Hayes to give sixty concerts under his direction in California, Mexico, Cuba, U. States and British Provinces. He pays her $50,000 and half the net profits. Mengis and others are also engaged. They sail for California in November.

FOREIGN NEWS.

FOUR DAYS LATER FROM ENGLAND.

A few minutes before 5 o'clock, on Saturday afternoon, the steamship Pacific, Capt. Nye, arrived at New York, bringing 107 passengers, having made her passage from Liverpool in ten days and six hours.

One of the most interesting items is one of speculation on the fishery question, from the London Shipping and Mercantile Gazette of Sept. 20, which says:—

"From what has appeared in the public press, both in this country and in the United States, within the last week or two, it was generally supposed that the fishery dispute with America, if not actually settled, was at least, in such a train of amicable adjustment that all danger of hostile collision between the two countries was at an end.

We certainly were among those who thought so, but the question appears now to have assumed a new phase, and fully confirms an opinion we have long entertained, that it is extremely dangerous, in negotiating with America, to make any concession to her which is not fully warranted by the obvious principles of justice.

Whether America has any serious intention of making the fishery question a cause of war between the two countries it is impossible to say, but certainly she is doing all she can to provoke it; and, if the claims put forward by Mr. Seward, in the American Senate are insisted upon, hostilities can scarcely be avoided, without England submitting to a humiliation she may very soon have cause to regret. We do not think that America will provoke a war with this country just now; she will watch for a more suitable opportunity; but that she will do so on the first favorable occasion is what we firmly believe, for her ambition is of that reckless character which seems to overlook all the mischievous consequences that must result, and to be deaf to the voice of prudence.

VERMONT.—The popular vote of Vermont, as expressed in voting for Representatives to Congress, gives the whigs a majority of 126 votes over the freesoil and democratic parties together.

☞ The Boston Journal came to us yesterday in a new dress throughout, and now is as handsome in appearance as it is good for news. We are pleased to see that they have discarded the "show-bill style" of advertising, by which the Boston paper are so much disfigured.

The Gloucester Telegraph of Saturday says, by a letter received in town, Friday, we learn that the schooner Florida was condemned at Charlottetown, P. E. I., on the 7th inst., and was to be sold at auction on the 11th.

A FORAY.—During the late seizures of liquor by the Police on Lowell street, several of the denizens of that quarter, fearing a visit to their own places, hid what of the "critter" they had on hand in the stables and out-houses close by. A party of "Young Ireland" discovered several lots and forthwith made a "seizure." The liquor was taken up back of the North Common, where it was tried and found guilty of being "spirituous and intoxicating," after which the boys were put on trial and found—drunk.—Lowell News.

'THE LAST SHALL BE FIRST.'

A week or two ago, four creditors started from Boston, in the same train of cars, for the purpose of attaching the property of a certain debtor in Farmington, in the state of Maine. He owed each one separately, and they each, were suspicious of the object of the other, but dared not say a word about it. So other, but dared not say a word about it. So they rode, acquaintances all, talking upon everything, except that which they had most at heart. When they arrived at the depot at Farmington, which was three miles from where the debtor did business, they found nothing to 'put 'em over the road' but a solitary cab, towards which they all rushed. Three got in and refused admittance to the fourth, and the cab started.

The fourth ran after and got upon the outside with the driver. He asked the driver if he wanted to sell his horse. He replied that he did not want to—that he was not worth more than $50, but that he would not sell him for that. He asked him if he would take $100 for him. Yes, said he. The 'fourth man' quickly paid over the money, took the reins and backed the cab up to a bank—slipped it from the harness and tipped it up so that the door could not be opened, and jumped upon the horse's back and rode off 'lick-a-ty-switch,' while the 'insiders' were looking out of the window, feeling like singed cats.

He rode to a lawyer's, got writ made and served, and his debt secure, and got back to the hotel just as the 'insiders' came up puffing and blowing. The cabman came too, and bought back his horse for $50. The 'sold' men offered to pay that sum, if the fortunate one, who found only property sufficient to pay his own debt, would not tell of it in Boston.

But as both parties have told a friend of ours, thinking the story 'too good to be lost,' we feel at liberty to 'let the cat out of the bag;' more particularly so, as it illustrates a passage that we never heard fully explained but once, and then by a schoolmaster who said: 'Scholars, this verse is plain; when you tie up cattle, old Buck goes in first and old Broad next. Broad went in last, but he will come out first, and Buck went in first, but shall come out last.'—Manchester Mirror.

New and Improved Pattern for 1852, of a

HOT-AIR PARLOR GRATE,

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

The most perfect and beautiful pattern invented.

IT is an entirely new and improved construction, having a hot-air arrangement which will cause all parts of the room to be equally warmed, the same as by a furnace, creating a circulation of air which is absolutely necessary, not only for comfort but for health. It contains all the modern principles of ventilation, having a large warming and ventilating chamber, and it makes one of the finest BAKING departments ever invented, being entirely surrounded by fire.

It will give more heat from a small quantity of fuel than any other stove—has a strong draft, and can easily be regulated to retain fire 24 hours without repienishing.

This Grate must in a very short time supersede the use of all other Parlor stoves or grates now in use, for it will save 50 per ct. in fuel over any other heating apparatus—they are the most durable and convenient, and of a very handsome appearance, and are sold at less prices than any other stoves or grates of the same capacity!

All purchasers of Parlor Grates or Stoves are cordially requested to call and examine the same, at No. 18 Daniel St.

THE INDIANS OF CALIFORNIA.

We are glad to see that the press is very generally interceding in behalf of some efficient measures for the protection and advancement of the Indians of California, who if left to the influences that now surround them must speedily become an extinct race. While the Indian Appropriation Bill was before the Senate at the last session of Congress, Mr. Gwin alluded to the condition of the California Indians, and made quite a touching appeal in relation to them. Alluding to the effect upon them of the rapid influx of immigrants, he remarked:

"We have taken their acorns, grass-hoppers, fisheries and hunting-grounds from them.—The ponds where the wild-fowl assembled in the winter, offering them for the time an abundant supply of food, are now the mining and agricultural region of our citizens. The Indian must perish from cold and hunger if this government does not interpose to save him. From his hunting ground we export an anual average value of $60,000,000 in gold, and the revenue paid to the Treasury from one port in California exceeds $3,000,000 annually; and yet the miserable pittance of $120,000, to feed and protect these original inhabitants of the country, is refused and cut down $20,000, by the grossly unjust policy adopted by the other House. If this is to be the policy of this government towards this people, it will form a dark page in our history, if it does not bring the vengeance of Heaven upon us as a nation."

A correspondent of the National Intelligencer refers to this subject as follows:

"We know of no portion of the population of our continent more entitled to the protection of the government, or to the sympathy of intelligent and humane people, than the remaining fragments of the Indian races who were only a century ago its sole proprietors and inhabitants. Driven across the Mississippi by the policy of the government, the Red Men from the Atlantic side are met again on the borders of the Pacific by the Pale Faces, whom the annexation of California has tempted hither in search of gold, who are already seeking to drive them as far eastward into the interior as we have heretofore driven them westward: Encountering the whites in the marches and explorations of the latter, they have sometimes been shot down in scores by armed bands of white men, who, after such a slaughter, come off without the loss of a single man. Such conflicts are known to have occurred more than once quite recently.

"So far from countenancing such enterprises, the higher authorities of this government did everything in their power to repress and prevent them. But the co-operation of Congress is indispensable to the success of any efforts by the Executive to protect the helpless Indians, and to restrain the reckless and the cruel, as well among the whites as among the Indians. Great credit is, in our estimation, due, to those in Congress who, disdaining all selfish considerations, stand up for the weak and persecuted of the Aboriginal tribes."

The London correspondent of the Mobile Advertiser complains bitterly of the appearance in that country of real live mosquitoes.

AGRICULTURE AND MANUFACTURES IN FRANCE.—The manufacturers of Paris continue to be fully employed. Some Russian commission agents have arrived within the last week, and have given orders for some costly articles of Paris manufactures. Many French merchants are likewise buying Paris manufactures to export on their own account to the South American states. The accounts from the provincial towns are unanimous in announcing a great improvement in trade. The last week of fine weather has completely dispelled the exaggerated fears entertained of the safety of the wheat crop. The Prefect of the Bas-Rhin has announced to the Council General of that department that the harvest in Alsace would produce 25 per cent over that of last year. He said further, that the potato crop would be at least three times as abundant as that of last year.

Accounts from other parts of country, of the state of the harvest, are favorable.

GOOD.—The following is from the N. O. True Delta:—

"Mrs. Mary White, last Tuesday night, became extremely tight, and engaged in a fight, punched the head of her loving lord, with a board. The neighbors all around were disturbed by the sound, and could not think of sleeping a wink, until the police came, when the turbulent dame was taken to jail, and not getting bail, poor Mrs. White was locked up for the night. She acknowledged the corn, of taking a horn; asked his honor to take pity upon her; and swore she'd do so no more. The recorder heard her tale, and told her not to fail, to go immediately home, and in all time to come, to leave off drinking rum, and conduct herself good, as all women should."

THE FISHERY.

The Newburyport Herald of yesterday contains a communication from Capt. J. Hale, Jr., who says he has "been in the Gulf of St. Lawrence the present season, and seen our old fishing grounds—not venturing, from motives respectful to Paixhans, to use them."

From this communication and other accounts, it seems that the fishery is pretty effectually broken up, but probably our markets will be supplied by the British fishermen, as the duty under the tariff of 1846, is only about fifty cents a barrel, at the rate the British fish come invoiced.

Capt. Hale describes, as others have done, the treatment of our mackerelmen at Prince Edwards Island, which is crescent shaped, ninety miles long,—and the American fishermen near the middle of this line, are 30 miles or more from land, with the fish all in shore, and the British ships of war between them and the fish. He says:

"In the early part of the season, the hearts of the American fishermen were cheered, and their drooping spirits revived, by hearing that "protection" was to be provided for them also. The Mississippi came to St. John, and thence to Halifax, where the protectors of American rights were offered and accepted a grand ball from the guardians of British pretension.—Com. Perry and his officers yielded to the fascinations of the Dago girls, and found themselves completely shorn of the indignant energy of protective purpose with which they perhaps started. Thenceforth courtesy and complaisance was all the burden of their study. The Mississippi sailed out of Halifax in most loving companionship with an English steam frigate, and followed by the sighs of the blue nose belles.

The Englishman went through the Straits of Canso, and anchored in Ship Harbor, to attend to his business; and reported, (laughing in his sleeve, doubtless,) that the Yankee officers were "a fine set of fellows—that they had had a good time with them, and hoped to have another in the bay." Our Commodore, separating from his convivial comrade, proceeded round the outside of Cape Breton Island, came into the Gulf, passed through the American fleet, boarded about one-half of the vessels, asked a few questions, and passed on, probably in search of his consort. Soon after, the Mississippi steamed back to the United States, her fruitless mission ended.

When our Mackerelmen first visited the Gulf, about thirty years since, the inhabitants of Prince Edward's Island were unable to pay their taxes. Our intercourse with them, has through the market it afforded them, enabled them to clear up their land, and reduce about three-fourths of its extent into fine farms.—Some of the people are now very wealthy, and a good proportion of the rest are in good circumstances. Last year, most of those on the sea-coast, sold their potatoes to our fishermen for fifty cents a bushel, and afterwards supplied themselves from the interior, at one shilling a bushel. Of course, these people are not pleased with the inhibition of our vessels from their bay. In their intercourse with the Americans, they have become so far enlightened as to understand where their real interest lies, and are desirous of being annexed to our Union."

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

The Boston Atlas publishes, and the Portland Advertiser and Lowell Courier republish, a table, purporting to give the number of votes in Maine for democratic and whig congressmen respectively, which foots up 25,990 democratic, and 27,085 whig votes. The table, however, only shows five districts, omitting the first. In that first district, the democratic candidate was chosen. Will the Portland Advertiser or any other paper, tell us what his majority was? Our politicians here, of all colors, would like to know how that matter stands. Perhaps the table had better be republished, with corrections. Give us the facts—we will draw our own inferences.

IOWA ELECTION.—Several days ago we copied a statement intimating that Iowa had given a majority of whig votes in her State Election. From official returns it now appears that the democratic candidates for State Secretary, Treasurer and Auditor, are chosen by 16,783 to 16,885 votes each, in opposition to the whig candidates, who received each 14,788 to 15,027 votes.

In all the elections, the lowest whig vote was 14,627; and the highest democratic vote 16,885, which shows a very great whig gain over former elections;—but leaves a small majority on the democratic side.

MAINE DEMOCRATIC MEETING.—There is to be a grand democratic mass meeting at Augusta, Me., to-morrow. Mr. Soule has engaged to be present, and several other eminent speakers from abroad. Tickets of conveyance from Boston to Augusta and back, by railroad, two dollars and fifty cents.

MAINE REPRESENTATIVES.—The Portland Advertiser of Monday, gives 79 democrats, 65 whigs, 7 not heard from.

Sketches of Living Characters.

BY UNCLE TOBY.

REV. LYMAN BEECHER, D. D.

Whatever else Doctor Beecher is or is not, he is at all events a live preacher. To be sure he is growing old, and as he looks on his notes, he cannot read them with the naked eye, so he puts on his glasses and surveys the manuscript, not with a leisurely air, (for he never had any leisure, and could not enjoy it if he had,) but with an air of determination to be sure he is right before he goes ahead.—He looks, not patiently, but intently, till he gets the idea; then half reading it and half reciting the latter part of it, as he raises his head to look at the audience, he pulls off his glasses and folds them up, talking deliberately; lays them down carefully, and speaks a little faster but not very fast, and as he is about to close a paragraph, lays down the law with a forefinger not so slender as John Randolph's, but quite as significant. This done, on go the glasses again, and down bows that "beauty of old men—the gray head;" "and a fine one it is with the bumps of firmness and self-esteem not small. In this position, looking for half a minute and reading for a whole one, he gives his audience a chance to survey him, perhaps impatiently, and pull out their watches or look at the clock, for he does not talk short. But their impatience and their survey are soon cut short, as he pulls off the spectacles quicker, flourishes them round, and surveys his audience. He has got hold of a grand idea, and is bringing it out through a good illustration—making the most of it by striking while the iron is hot, and sending the thought into his hearers' minds, warm and fresh from his own. He understands thoroughly the old maxim that—illustration is not argument; but is far better; inasmuch as few understand the strength or soundness of argument, while every body can see a good illustration, and almost every body will like it.—He not only understands this, but (practical man as he is) acts upon it.

"All the nations of the earth (says he) are rapidly gathering into one family of Christian Civilization." And without stopping a moment to see whether this grand idea is congruous or incongruous with the rest of the matter, he piles on statement after statement, and illustration after illustration, with such earnestness and apparent sincerity, as to command the entire respect of every hearer, and make impressions where conviction is impossible.

Somebody used to say of Gen. Jackson that he was "born to command"—and Col. Gorman lately applied the same thing to Gen. Scott. We will not say exactly the same of Dr. Beecher,—but he was evidently born to direct, and exhort and urge; not to entreat, not always to argue, nor often to notice that he had not.

If he should set about making a theory, he would probably fail; for he evidently has no mission in that direction: but in urging to practical duty he has great strength, and like a good mechanic, he lays out his strength where it tells best.

PATENT WINDOW SASHES.—Mr. Short, the proprietor of the patent sash, has been visited, as he informs us, by a large number of curious and interested spectators and examiners. We suppose some shrewd mechanic who is also a business man, might be a large gainer by purchasing the right for this state, or this state and Maine, at fair rates, of which rates the holder and purchaser must of course be the judges.

FANEUIL HALL.—The City Government of Boston have just refused to open Faneuil Hall for Francis Jackson and others who wished to hold an Anti-Slavery Fair in December; and they have also refused it to Bishop Fitzpatrick, who wished to hold a fair for the benefit of the "House of the Angel Guardian."

FREESOIL CONVENTION.—A mass convention of the Freesoil party will meet at Concord to-morrow, and be addressed by some of their best speakers. The railroads will carry passengers both ways for one fare on this occasion.

ODD FELLOWS.—A Baltimore dispatch of the 20th says, the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of the United States, assembled here today. The attendance is large.

HEALTH OF CHARLESTON.—The Mayor of Charleston, S. C., has issued an official certificate, stating that the native population of that city is healthier this summer than he has known for many years; and that the sickness now existing is confined to foreigners lately arrived. In his opinion, no one runs a risk in passing through the city.

CHARLESTON, Sept. 20.—The board of health report the number of deaths to be fifteen from yellow fever, during the three days ending Saturday evening, ten o'clock. The increased mortality is attributed to the weather. The new cases, however, are not numerous, and those who have been attacked, having generally exposed themselves and laid themselves open to the disease.

Reported for the Daily Morning Chronicle.

SECOND PETIT JURY.

Paul Chapman, New Market, Foreman;
Thomas Lang, Candia;
Edwin Hazelton, Chester;
John M. Freeze, Deerfield;
James Webster, Derry;
Charles L. Godfrey, Epping;
Samuel Tilton, Exeter;
Enoch P. Young, Hampton;
Henry C. March, Londonderry;
Edmund Whitaker, New Market;
James W. Hoitt, Northwood;
Perry Sawyer, Nottingham.

Thomas Webster, Thos. D. Lancaster, Salem, Supernumeraries.

Jacob Wendell, Portsmouth, was appointed foreman of the second jury, but was subsequently excused from serving.

Case No. 5, James Bell, Plff. in Review, v. William Twilight, was commenced in the afternoon. This action was tried in Sept. '49, when a verdict was found for the Plff. The case was transferred to the Superior Court where the verdict was set aside and a new trial granted.

It is upon a writ of entry to recover possession of a lot of land in Sandown. The Deft. denies the right of the Plff. to the premises.

Before the case was concluded the Court adjourned to 8 1-2 o'clock this morning.

No. 12, French, Adm'r, v. Hatch, Adm'r, is next in order for trial.

BOSTON DAILY CHRONICLE.—The organ of the liquor interest, and the grand opponent of the liquor law in Boston, is in trouble. In the paper of Monday, (dated 19th on the outside) there was a little notice, claiming the direction of the paper, signed, G. W. White, publisher.

But yesterday, on opening the Boston Daily Advertiser we find another notice, denouncing White as an usurper. The same notice appeared in the Mail, which says:

"We publish in another column a card signed by Hon. John T. Heard, which indicates a second revolution in the brief history of the special "organ" of the Anti-Maine Law citizens of this flourishing Commonwealth—the Boston Daily Chronicle. This last change, as we understand it, was quite a coup d'etat, in which the employee publisher, Mr. White, summarily assumed the direction of affairs financially, editorially and in detail, discharging in yesterday morning's issue the editor of the paper, Rev. Mathew Hale Smith. In regard to Mr. White's authority or justification in the matter, we know nothing, but look anxiously for the next number of the Chronicle—to be issued Wednesday morning—for a full and reliable account of the emeute. The idea of the liquor dealers starting a paper to advocate the repeal of the new law, is like carrying coals to Newcastle, so far as its influence is felt. The Chronicle is hardly known outside the circle of interested parties, and Rev. Mr. Smith, or whoever else has been responsible for its mulled-wine emissions, is entitled to half pay from, and the whole thanks of all sincere friends of the Maine Law."

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. John Pike of East Salisbury, was found dead on Saturday forenoon, near a brook about twelve rods from his house. He was a highly respected old gentleman, about 81 years of age, quite infirm, and frequently fell when he attempted to walk out. When discovered, his head was in the water, and it is supposed he accidentally fell, and not being able to rise, was drowned.—He has left a widow and ten married children, six daughters and four sons, all of whom were present whe the coroner, Mr. Elias French, reached the house. The case was so obviously accidental that it was deemed unnecessary to summon a jury.—Newburyport Herald.

DEATHS IN NEW YORK CITY.—The deaths during the past week, were 457, of which 19 were from cholera, 76 from cholera infantum and cholera morbus, and 42 from dysentery.

FROM HAVANA.

The Tribune correspondent writes from Havana that the steamer Pizarro was lost while in pursuit of an American bark, supposed to be loaded with Filibustiers, which had signalized for a pilot off Havana, and then proceeded to Mariel. When off Mariel the pilot proposed laying to until morning, but the Captain insisted on running in immediately, in doing which the vessel got on a rock. She has become a total wreck. Her guns and light gear only are saved. The bark she was in pursuit of turned out to be a merchantman whose Captain was unacquainted with the coast.

The Cholera was still raging at Havana. Last month there were 800 cases and 500 deaths from that disease. In the present month, up to the 11th, there had been 800 cases and about half that number of deaths.

Accounts say the Pizarro has been washed off the rocks by a heavy sea, and it was expected that she would be saved at a cost of about $20,000 for repairs. Before this was known however, a company of merchants at Havana had agreed to purchase another steamer and present it to the Government.

Sentence was about to be passed upon the persons engaged in the publication of the Voice of the People. It is thought that Towner, of the printing office, and the two concerned who had fled to the United States, would be condemned to death.

Some other letters report the total number of persons under arrest as over 1000, many of whom are in the most abject and wretched condition,—and add many other particulars, most of which are highly improbable, particularly one about sending a spy to this country in the Crescent City. Several of these reports seem to be manufactured for the purpose of getting up fillibustier excitements in New York and New Orleans.

SHIPWRECKED CREW.—Brig Panama, of Provincetown, Capt. Lavender, on her last trip to St. Domingo city, received on board at Chavon two seamen, part of the crew of the Spanish brig Molmero, wrecked on the desert Island of Mona, and conveyed them to Chavon, to the rescue of the remainder of the crew, and passengers. After the wreck of the Molmero, the crew and passengers had subsisted upon crabs and other shell fish. A canoe being found, the first named seamen crossed to Cape San Rafael and thence to Chavon.

GENERAL SCOTT, on his official journey arrived in Pittsburg, Penn. in a train about midnight on Friday night; but the people had found out he was coming, and an immense multitude—one of the largest ever known in the city—were assembled at the depot. At 12 o' clock the train arrived, and Gen. Scott was escorted to his carriage amid the deafening cheers of the crowd.

The procession passed directly to the Monongahela House, where Gen. Scott appeared on the balcony, and in a brief but exceedingly appropriate address, thanked the people for this hearty manifestation of their regard; expressing his regret that there had been a mistake about the time of his arrival, and stating that he had not been aware that he was expected.

The Pittsburg Journal speaks very highly of his speech, for power and eloqnence, and says, His voice is loud, clear and distinct. We do not believe a single syllable was lost by any one in the vast assemblage in the street.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—In New York harbor on Saturday, a small boat, containing Mr. Lewis, chief mate of brig Joseph Albion, bound to Portland, and four men, was run into by a steam tug. The paddle wheel struck Mr. Lewis on the head, and instantly killed him. The others were saved.

NAVAL.—The U. S. ship Vincennes, Lieut. T. Hudson, arrived at New York Tuesday morning in 67 days from Valparaiso. She doubled Cape Horn the 29th of July, 15 days out of port. She has been absent three years, during which time she has been actively engaged in cruising, having sailed 65,000 miles, and been in port 32 different times.

RIVER AND HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS.—Washington, Sept. 16.—The River and Harbor bill, which was approved by the President on the 30th of August, provides that the money appropriated shall "be expended under the superintendence of the Secretary of War."—This morning he made a decision providing that so much as applies to the Atlantic Coast be assigned to General Totten, Chief Engineer, and so much as belongs to the interior and western waters, to Col. Abert, of the Topographical Bureau. Major Frazer will have the immediate charge of the operations on the Atlantic coast. This is a very important measure, and we are glad that the Secretary of War has acted thus promptly in this matter. It is probable that Captain Stansbury, recently returned from the survey of the great Salt Lake, will have charge of the operations on Lake Erie.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

CHOLERA—Rochester, Sept. 20.—Six deaths have occurred from cholera, during three days ending this afternoon—three of them were in one family.

CHAMBERSBURG, Sept. 20.—There were 12 deaths from cholera in this place last week. No new cases occurred since Saturday. To-morrow is to be observed as a day of humiliation and prayer.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 20.—The dispatch of the 14th inst., published in the New York evening papers of the following day, saying that there had been but one cholera case in three weeks, was false. There is no cholera now, but ten deaths daily were then occurring. The Christian Advocate of the 15th, says we had quite an increase of cholera last week, and several sudden deaths.

INQUEST ON THE NATICK MURDER.—The Coroner's jury, after a thorough investigation of the case of the murder of Mr. Taylor, returned the following verdict on Saturday afternoon :—

"That on the 17th inst., between the hours of six and nine in the afternoon, the said Taylor, when at work in his shop, was struck five or six blows with an axe on the head, causing deep and deadly wounds, of which he the said Ouvra Taylor, instantly died. And the jurors further say, that the several blows were struck by the hands of Thomas Casey, a man in the employ of Ouvra Taylor, as we firmly believe."

In the afternoon of Saturday, Casey was brought before Justices Adams, Sabine and Fuller, to be examined on the charge of the murder.

The examination was resumed on Monday morning, but the testimony was not of a character to lead clearly to the conclusion that the prisoner was guilty of the murder. No testimony was offered by the defence.

Mrs. Taylor died on Monday afternoon, without being able to speak, so as to identify the murderer. Casey is committed.

LOUIS NAPOLEON'S MARRIAGE.—The Lloyd of Vienna states that the marriage of Louis Napoleon with the Princess of Wasa has been postponed, but will take place. The only difference will be, says this journal, that the proclamation of the Empire will precede the marriage. According to the Lloyd, the postponement arises from the advice given by physicians to the father of the lady, to insist upon delay, as her growth is not terminated, and from the fact of her mother having to undergo a surgical operation, and requiring the presence of her daughter. The Lloyd assures its readers that it has been resolved to convoke the French Senate, and to obtain the decision of the people on the question of the Empire, before the end of the year.

A student of theology at Bonn, it is said, recently went, in a fit of religious insanity, to a neighboring wood with a hammer and nails, and finding a tree in the form of a cross, actually crucified himself. He was found in a state of insensibility by some peasants, who, not having tools for drawing the nails, felled the tree, and carried him with it to the next village. The young man is now in the hospital at Bonn, and out of danger.

We have received a circular informing us that the spirit rappers, and "all interested in spirit phenomena and philosophy" will hold a convention at Worcester on the 29th inst.—Mr. Andrew Jackson Davis has promised to read "A Vision of the Spiritual World"—"a word which is yet to rouse our slumbering world, teaching it wisdom and the way of life;" and there will be other performances.—New Bedford Mercury.

LOUIS NAPOLEON ON THE SABBATH.—General de St. Arnaud, the Minister of War, has published a note, declaring that for the future, in all agreements made with contractors for matters which concern the war department, a clause is so be inserted, declaring that no works are to be executed on Sundays and holydays.

New and Improved Pattern for 1852, of a

HOT-AIR PARLOR GRATE,

FOR WOOD OR COAL,

The most perfect and beautiful pattern invented.

IT is an entirely new and improved construction, having a hot-air arrangement which will cause all parts of the room to be equally warmed, the same as by a furnace, creating a circulation of air which is absolutely necessary, not only for comfort but for health. It contains all the modern principles of ventilation, having a large warming and ventilating chamber, and it makes one of the finest BAKING departments ever invented, being entirely surrounded by fire.

It will give more heat from a small quantity of fuel than any other stove—has a strong draft, and can easily be regulated to retain fire 24 hours without replenishing.

This Grate must in a very short time supersede the use of all other Parlor stoves or grates now in use, for it will save 30 per ct. in fuel over any other heating apparatus—they are the most durable and convenient, and of a very handsome appearance, and are sold at less prices than any other stoves or grates of the same capacity!

All purchasers of Parlor Grates or Stoves are cordially requested to call and examine the same, at No. 18 Daniel St.

s18 J. E. CHAPMAN.

MADAME MADERSPACH.

Among the other victims of the Austrian government, there still lives in Pesth the lady who was scourged by Austrian soldiers—Madame Maderspach. I have met several who have seen her, and the account they give of the affair is as follows:

She is a lady of fortune and rank, residing in Siebenbürgen, in the south eastern part of Hungary. Her husband was an officer in the Hungarian army, and she herself sympathised with his party, and, it is said, frequently entertained Bam and the officers under him in a very hospitable manner. This had exasperated the Austrians, and when, at length, they occupied that part of Hungary, they were quite ready for any severities against her.

Unfortunately for her, her tenantry made some celebration at the time, and burned (she stated without her knowledge) the Emperor Francis in effigy! She was at once seized, and, at the command of the Austrian officer, made "to run the gauntlet," or the "Gassenlauf," as they call it. I gained some acquaintance with this Austrian punishment while in the Gros Wardein prison, as it was applied to all the thieves and deserters of the regiment every Saturday afternoon.

The custom is usually to call out three hundred men, who form two rows, one hundred and fifty on a side. Each man is to be provided with a tough, limber stick. The criminal, a hardy, strong man, commonly is stripped to the waist, and made to walk leisurely through at the beat of the drum.

If any one in the line neglects to lay on as hard as he can, he gets "five-and-twenty" himself. It is generally calculated that a strong man sent through the line four times, if he has strength enough to get to the end, will die within a few hours.

This was Madame Maderspach's punishment, though, with generous consideration for her sex, the "run" was probably limited to once through! The effect upon the proud, high-born lady, was to drive her into insanity.

The news of such a public, brutal indignity on his wife, so affected the husband, that he shot himself through the brain. And to entirely hush up the matter, the only survivor, a young son, was drafted into the Austrian army in Italy, as a common soldier, where he is still.

The whole deed seems to have come, if not directly from Haynau, at least from his general orders. The poor lady is still in Pesth, in a half crazed condition.

It is said, after Haynau's tremendous flagellation by the London brewers, some one sent her a paper containing an account of it, and that she kept it for days in her bosom, wet with her tears. Somehow or other, she obtained, too, a piece of one of the brooms with which he was beaten, and, maniac-like, she has made a bracelet of it, which she now wears.—Hungary in 1851.

The shoe business in Lynn during the past year has excelled in activity the enterprise of many preceding years, and the demand promises well for the future.

The Universalists of the United States number 1031 societies, 640 clergymen, and 828 churches.

OMNIBUS COMPETITION—GREAT LIBERALITY.—There has been for several weeks past, an exciting competition between the two powerful and well conducted lines of omnibuses in Boston, owned by Hathorne & Co., and Forrestall & Parmelee, running on Washington street, and between Dover street and Cherlestown. The inhabitants of West Dover street have objected to having two lines running through their street, in consequence of the noise, and have petitioned the Mayor and Aldermen to remove the line of Messrs. Hathorne & Co., but no action as yet has been taken on the petition.

On Thursday Messrs. Hathorne & Co., voluntarily removed their Charlestown Coaches from the West end of Dover street, to the corner of Dover and Washington street, and presented to each head of a family in West Dover street, a season ticket to January 1st, 1853, and 150 single tickets for the use of his family, the value of which, to 80 families, at the low prices tickets are now sold, amounts to over one thousand dollars. This has placed the good people of that street in rather an awkward predicament. They cannot deny the great liberality on the part of Messrs. Hathorne & Co., yet they do not want these coaches running through their street; and in accepting their bounty they would nullify their own doings, and place themselves under an obligation to patronize a line, hereafter, they have publicly opposed. It is understood that several of the families have returned the tickets to the donors, with thanks for their liberality. This, as Gen. Jackson would say, is carry the war into Africa, but whether Messrs. Hathorne & Co., are to be defeated, remains to be seen. Real estate in Dover street is firm—rents and taxes have an upward tendency, and the Omnibus business is first rate. Nous Verrons!

DAILY Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1852.

ASPECT OF THE TIMES.

Some of them are singular enough. The two great political parties have incorporated into their platforms, the promise that agitation on the subject of slavery shall cease, in Congress and out of it, and the assurance that the compromise measures are final. As a comment on this, we offer the following extracts from the Boston Courier, a paper as able as it is conservative:

"The question of slavery, with the numerous concomitants which are associated with it—a question which is in itself both national and sectional—appears to be the only one upon which men are divided in large masses in the country at present. This great and growing subject of public consideration has more than once overturned the Democratic party in New York,—has made "hodge podge" of the politics of Ohio, has entered more or less into the deliberations of the parties in Maine, and, through a division arising principally upon it, the Democratic party there at the late election lost two members of Congress,—and Massachusetts has by the agitation of this question, been torn from the Whigs, without being fully placed in the hands of the Democrats. The question will, without doubt, continue to be agitated—more for evil than good—by all political parties, as occasion requires,—for it contains the cheapest source of argument and denunciation which demagogues can find at hand, and the use of the subject is beginning to be profitable, as it always has been convenient and agreeable to public speakers whose oratory is made up of abuse, reproach and contamely."

It seems by this, that the "good time" hasn't come: its only "coming—Wait a little longer!"

A WEBSTER MEETING was advertised in several Boston papers, to be held in the grove at Abington on Tuesday—but none was held. It does not clearly appear whether somebody hoaxed the printers, or whether there was no response to the call except in Boston. The Times treats it as a hoax. The Daily Advertiser merely says:

"Those people who had collected at the Old Colony Railroad Station yesterday, in expectation of attending the Plymouth County Webster meeting advertised to take place at Abington, were disappointed,—so far as we can learn, no such meeting was held."

The Courier and Bee do not mention it. The Atlas says:

"The question now is, who is Freeman Sprague?" (the man who advertised the meeting.)

FURBER'S MINSTRELS.—The attraction at the Temple on Tuesday evening drew the most select audience we ever saw at an entertainment of the kind in this city. The dancing was extra, the music good, and nothing in the whole performance to offend the most fastidious. A good audience, and every one well satisfied.

MILITARY LEVEE.—The lovers of music and dancing are referred to the advertisement in to-days' paper, of a complimentary levee by the Greys to a company from Boston, to come off next Monday evening.

NAVAL.—We learn that Capt. Joseph Smoot will relieve Capt. T. W. Wyman in the command of the Navy Yard at this place on the 1st of November next, at which time Capt. Wyman's term will expire.

BOUGHEY AGAIN.—J. A. Boughey, an editor from Texas, is victimizing the Massachusetts editors in the borrowing line. He took $10 out of us, while hailing from Florida several years ago.—N. Y. Tribune.

And from us also. We saved him, as he said, "from starving;" and soon after his wife (who had tracked him from Texas) found him living here with another woman. We should like to catch sight of him, and send him to Sing Sing for obtaining money under false pretences.—N. Y. Express.

Old ladies used to chide their grand-children sometimes, and tell them they "acted like the Old Boy!" Could they have had any reference to such a Boughey or Banghey as this?

☞ A supposed incendiary fire last week at Bucksport, Maine, destroyed the house of John Hubbard, in which two of his children were burnt to death, and he himself was so burnt and choked in trying to save them, that it is feared he cannot recover.

☞ The 36th victim of the Reindeer explosion, a Mr. Quigley, has just died at Saugerties, N. Y.

☞ The Cadets of Temperance will give a Public Levee at Kittery Foreside, this evening at 7 1-2 o'clock, at A. A. Hayes' Hall.—All are invited.

A BAD EGG.—In the Boston Police Court, a man named Geo. Gray, was complained of by George Knights, for selling unwholesome eggs—112 dozen to said Knights, and 45 dozen to George R. Pritchard. These eggs were alleged to be about all rotten. This matter was held to come under the statute relating to "diseased meats."

Sketches of Living Characters.

REV. MATTHEW HALE SMITH, ESQ.

We have several times seen in the papers, insinuations to the effect that Mr. Smith was the editor of the Boston Morning Chronicle, the grand opponent of the liquor law. We deemed it an idle rumor, but it is not so. In the Boston Chronicle of Monday is the following notice:

"As an impression has become somewhat public that M. H. Smith, Esq., is still the editor of the Chronicle, we take this occasion to state that such is not the case. Mr. Smith has, occasionally, furnished us with acceptable articles, which we have published. But he does not have the editorial management of our columns."

This shows that he was the editor, and is still, or has been recently, a contributor.

And now that we have thus partially introduced him to our readers, let us give a brief sketch of his labors, toils and changes, that the reader may understand who he is, and what he has done.

He was a son of the late elder Elias Smith, who used to preach to the Baptist (afterwards the Christian) Society in this town, on the spot now occupied by the Temple.

Matthew Hale Smith was, as we have heard, a preacher first in the Christian Connexion—but of this we are not positive. He certainly was a Universalist minister, and preached in Haverhill and Salem, Mass., and elsewhere. In Salem, after various mutations, he went over into the Congregational Church, and became an Orthodox Minister.

Pending this motion, (as they say in Congress,) he wrote a series of Lectures against Universalism and Universalists, which he delivered in various places, and among others, in Portsmouth. Here they drew such crowds, as to fill, for several successive evenings, one of our largest churches, the Old North, then just re-edified. These lectures were decidedly taking; and as the author delivered them in a certain church in Nashua, the people were so charmed with him and them, that they shipped off their old minister sans ceremonie, and settled the Reverend Matthew Hale in his stead.

The lectures were published in a neat and readable volume, which had a great run, and spread the name and fame of the lecturer far and wide. Some more tracts against Universalism flowed from the same pen, and were published by the American Tract Society.—They form a part of their great series, and have been distributed by tens of thousands.

The career of the lecturer in Nashua was brief, and its conclusion as inglorious as its commencement was brilliant. No words can describe it better than the old saying, "he went up like a rocket, and came down like the stick." But he rose again in Boston, brighter, if possible, than though he had never been dimmed, and was a pastor, preacher and lecturer in the great Marlboro' Chapel, a long time—that is a long time for him—perhaps it was two or three years; and he drew full houses too; for he is unquestionably a ready writer and fluent speaker, with a good voice and handsome person, of all which qualifications he is well aware.

But somehow (we can't tell how or why) he was not durable, even there. Though he was in honor he abode not. First there came a whispering in the newspapers that he was studying law with an eminent barrister; then a newspaper contradiction of the whisper; and then a semi-official announcement that Mr. Smith had not only resigned his pastorship but declined the ministry, and had given as a reason for the latter step, his conviction that it was improper to combine the sacred calling of the gospel with the secular calling of the law. Shortly after, his "shingle" appeared on a lawyer's office in Scollay's building, and his name as a practitioner at the bar. And shortly after that, we hear of him as reading the Church Service in Chelsea—and anon we see him as a lawyer, defending a minister in Plymouth County, who was brought before a Council on charges of immoral conduct. He wins the case too, shedding tears himself, and bathing the Council and audience in tears likewise,—and pockets a fifty dollar fee, gathered on the spot by a contribution among the sympathizers.

Pretty soon we hear of him again as conducting public worship in a rural district not far from Newburyport,—and presently after that, we see his name as a speaker in the Webster Meeting in Boston, and an aid to the Rev. Hubbard Winslow in setting forward the Webster Movement, in which these two gentlemen seem to be the first and second in command.

Lastly, he has been reported as the editor of the anti-liquor-law Chronicle, of Boston, which report is now confirmed by the paper itself.

Here we lay down our pen and stop to breathe—ready to notice the next mutation of our hero and subject—but in utter uncertainty as to what it may be.

The New Haven Palladium says:—"We understand that the Freshman class in Yale College, numbers one hundred and twelve."

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

SEPTEMBER TERM, 1852.

Wednesday, Sept. 22.—No. 34, Thomas Bassett vs. Salisbury Manufacturing Company, was opened to the 2d Jury Wednesday morning, for the purpose of enabling them to understand the case preparatory to their proceeding to view the premises, this being a flowage suit. The Jury left by the half past ten o'clock train via Portsmouth & Concord Railroad, for Kingston, where the land of the plaintiff alleged to be flowed by the erection of the Company's dam, is situated.

This case will be in order for trial Thursday morning.

The case Bell vs. Twilight was resumed today, and upon a question of law arising in the same, a verdict was directed by the Court for the deft., and the case transferred to the Superior Court.

No. 18, Henry F. French, Adm'r of Estate of Wm. Gardner, appe. v. Albert R. Hatch, Adm. of Estate of Sarah Gardner, Appt. This is an appeal from the decree of the Judge of Probate accepting the report of the Commissioner, allowing $8825.01 to the plff.

The late Wm. Gardner left the most of his estate to his widow, directing the Bank stock not to be sold unless her comfort required it. Bank stock to the amount of $6000 was sold, and one question was whether her comfort required the sale.

There was $1000 loaned to Mr. Wendell, one of Maj. Gardner's relations, and the plff. claimed that Mrs. Gardner's estate is accountable for that amount.

Two shares in the N. H. U. Bank were pledged by Mrs. Gardner to secure the payment of $360, and the shares were afterwards sold to pay the money. Maj. Gardner left $1225 cash on hand at his death. Both of which amounts the plff. claims.

Maj. Gardner died April 10, 1834, and Mrs. Gardner died Aug. 10, 1841.

The case was argued in the afternoon by Mr. Hackett for the deft. and Mr. Christie for the Plff.

The Judge charged the jury who retired to their room and the Court adjourned to 9 o'clk Thursday morning.

CONGREGATIONAL CONVENTION.

"A great Congregational Convention is to be held at Albany on the 5th of October, embracing all of that denomination in the United States."

So say some of the papers; and the same papers mention that half-price tickets from New York to Albany are for sale at the office of the N. Y. Independent. It should be noted, however, that there is no central power to call Congregationalists together, as in Episcopal, Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist Churches. Unitarian Congregationalists have an American Association, though most of its members reside in New England; and a large portion of them in Massachusetts. This invitation for Albany means Orthodox Congregationalists only, and is an effort to get up what has never yet been seen,—A United States Convention of Orthodox Congregationalists. They have now no larger organized clerical bodies than State Conventions. And by their very structure they cannot have any ecclesiastical body larger than a single church. State Conferences, and Councils are sometimes called, but they are local and of small extent.

IMMIGRATION FROM IRELAND.—The Coleraine (Ireland) Chronicle, says:—

"Last year the emigration from this country was 6000 souls per week; this year the number is nearly 7,000, and the tide is still unbroken. There is no sign of cessation or diminution, but the crowd to every port press on, drawn by friends and hopes beyond the Atlantic, pressed forward by the want and misery behind."

Australia, so far, seems to have had but few attractions for the Irish emigrant. It is the English and Scotch who turn their eyes in that direction. The Irish know only America.

SOUPECUE.—The New Orleans Bulletin gives an account of a new political entertainment invented by the Whigs of the South, viz: the Soupecue. One of this description was to take place on the 14th inst. It was intended to prepare some ten or twelve of the largest sized sugar kittles—sufficient for at least ten thousand hungry Democrats and Whigs—full of the best description of bean and beef soup—regular Scott soup, which all present will be welcome to partake of, either hastily or at their leisure.

SAD AFFAIR IN SOUTHBRIDGE.—We learn from Southbridge that on Saturday three boys at the Globe Village, in that town, stole about three pounds of powder from some men who were blasting rocks, and as one of the boys was carrying the powder under his arm, another set fire to it with a match, and all three were so badly burned by the explosion that they are not expected to live. Two of the boys were brothers by the name of Horton, and the other was a French boy by the name of La Moix.—Worcester Transcript.

Mr. Goodwin, of the Atlantic and St. Lawrence Railroad, has just completed the admeasurement of Mt. Washington, and makes it 6284 feet above the level of the sea. This accords very nearly with the altitude as given by other scientific men.—Portland Advertiser.

A traveller, not long since, was passing through a section of the town of Chester, Mass., where there appeared to be quite a settlement, and saw a school house with no doors or windows. He inquired "if the School Master was abroad," and was informed by the driver of the stage, that in the whole school district of more than two miles in extent, there was not a child young enough to attend school.—Hartford Courant.

FATAL RESULT.—Mr. McLaughlin, who was stabbed on the evening of the 4th inst., in Charlestown, by James Mahoney, while laboring under delirium tremens, died on Sunday evening, at his residence in Wesley Place in Boston, from the effects of his wounds.

☞Dempster the vocalist is advertised to sing in Worcester, Mass.

ESCAPE FROM DEATH.—John L. Marling, Esq., the editor of the Nashville Union, recently wounded in a rencontre with Gen. Zollicoffer, of the Nashville Banner, is recovering, his physician having succeeded in extricating the ball from his neck. The Union says:—"The bullet entered his face a little to the right of his nose, passed immediately above the throat, and was found lodged in the back part of his neck, about two inches behind the ear, near the base of the skull. It seems a miricle that a rifle ball should be driven entirely through a man's face and neck, a distance of six or eight inches, without inflicting a fatal injury to the large blood vessels in the track."

MAINE ELECTION.—The Atlas of Tuesday morning gives returns from 328 towns, by which it appears that there is a majority of 11,438 against Hubbard; his net loss is 12,023. The Whigs have 14 Senators, the Dems. 5, and no choice of 12. The House probably stands 71 Whigs, to 80 Dem., making exactly a tie on joint ballot.

WRECK OF THE BARK JOSEPHA.—Those who recollect the melancholy history of the wreck of the British bark Josepha, off the shore of the town of Truro, with the loss of her crew, and of two intrepid and humane citizens of that town, in a vain attempt to save the lives of the crew, will take an interest in knowing that the selectmen of Truro have acknowledged the receipt of £100 from the British government, and $375,50 from citizens of Boston, through R. B. Forbes,—gratuities for the benefit of the families of those men who perished.—Boston Courier.

MADAME SONTAG, as many will regret to learn, is quite seriously ill at New York, and will not sing before Monday next. She is suffering in consequence of an unguarded exposure to the night air, combined with great excitement on occasion of the serenade to her, which proved such a tumultuous affair. It is stated, also, that since that time there have occured other causes of excitement which have acted unfavorably upon her health.

WRECK OF THE ATLANTIC.—GREAT DIVING.—John Green, the diver of Mr. Maillefret, has been down to the guards of the Atlantic, 144 feet below the surface of the water. His pipes worked without difficulty, but the steamer from which he went down was too small for the operation, and another effort must be made from a larger craft.

"Two years hence," says a London paper, "it is probable a floating hotel will pass monthly from Calcutta in thirty days, carrying passengers at half the present overland charges."

The Fremen's Muster at Springfield, Mass., last week, drew together 19 companies, numbering 150 men. Their performances were witnessed by 10,000 persons.

At a late Lottery in Prussia, of the articles in the Breslau Exhibition of Industry, two female servants at the restorator of the Freyburg Railway station, drew a splendid state carriage beautifully finished and decorated; and the King of Prussia drew a piece of cloth and a pair of boots.

FOREIGN NEWS.

By the Africa, which arrived at New York, 21st inst. we have Liverpool and London dates to Sept. 11.

In the corn market at Liverpool, the 10th, there was no quotable change in breadstuffs, although prices for finer qualities are firm.—The weather throughout the kingdom has been extremely favorable for harvesting.

ENGLAND.—Notwithstanding the recent remonstrance from Van Dieman's Land, against the importation of convicts into that Colony, the convict ship Equestrian has just sailed from Plymouth with 294 criminals. It is considered doubtful if the colonists will permit them to land.

FRANCE.—The French Goverment has received despatches dated Port au Prince, August 10th, announcing the settlement of its claims on the Haytien Government. A special indemnity amounting to about 95,000 francs has been placed in the hands of the French Consul General, to be divided among the French residents who have suffered from the fault of local authorities.

GERMANY.—On the 20th, there were 95 cases of cholera, and 37 deaths in Dantzic.—It was increasing on the 30th, and on the 31st, there were 70 new cases and 20 deaths. No other news.

A letter from Hamburg states that the Consul of Hayti has made a formal complaint against the Hamburg press for its attack upon Soloque.

POLAND.—Via Vienna, we learn that at Warsaw, Aug. 31, there were eighty-two new cases of cholera and fifty-seven deaths, leaving under treatment 419—the disease is subsiding, and as winter approaches, will doubtless disappear.

TURKEY.—Armed bands of brigands continue to commit robberies and other crimes in and about Constantinople. They have proved too strong for the police.

Five sharp shocks of an earthquake were felt the 26th August, at Ramizan, and the adjacent villages.

MORE EDITORS DIDDLED.—The Charlestown Advertiser says, respecting the swindler Baughey,

"We must own up to $1. He only wanted 'just enough to pay for his supper, breakfast, and lodging, at the National House—your contemporary, the grey headed old gentleman, has furnished me with a pass to New York over the Western Road.' Misery does love company."

The N. H. Gazette says:

"He did us out of $5, in a very sympathizing manner, promising to return it immediately. We have since learned that the man is a scamp, who for a long time, has been playing this game quite successfully throughout New England. He is of easy address and manner, about 35 years of age, medium height, with rather an agreeable countenance. The facility with which he has sponged the editorial fraternity shows him to be a most finished rogue.—If any of our editorial brethren should fall in with him, our eternal obligations would be due them if they would favor him with a five dollar editorial kick, charge to our account, and forward the bill for settlement."

William Howe, of Springfield, the inventor of the celebrated bridge for railroads, which bears his name, and which has been brought into extensive use in nearly every part of the country, died in Springfield, on Sunday.—His invention was a source of great wealth to him.

A gas light company has been organized in Concord, N. H., with a capital stock of $35,000, $30,000 of which has already been subscribed. The erection of the necessary buildings and the laying of the pipes has already commenced.

New and Improved Pattern for 1852, of a

HOT-AIR PARLOR GRATE,

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

The most perfect and beautiful pattern invented. It is an entirely new and improved construction, having a hot-air arrangement which will cause all parts of the room to be equally warmed, the same as by a furnace, creating a circulation of air which is absolutely necessary, not only for comfort but for health. It contains all the modern principles of ventilation, having a large warming and ventilating chamber, and it makes one of the finest BAKING departments ever invented, being entirely surrounded by flame.

It will give more heat from a small quantity of fuel than any other stove—has a strong draft, and can easily be regulated to retain fire 24 hours without replenishing.

This Grate must in a very short time supersede the use of all other Parlor stoves or grates now in use, for it will save 50 per ct. in fuel over any other heating apparatus—they are the most durable and convenient, and of a very handsome appearance, and are sold at less than any other stoves or grates of the same capacity:

All purchasers of Parlor Grates or Stoves are cordially requested to call and examine the same, at No. 18 Daniel St.

THE BURNING STONES.

A LEGENDARY BALLAD—BY C. A JANVIER.

According to a tradition which is still preserved among the inhabitants, the city of Liege owed all its greatness to the discovery of coal in its neighborhood by a poor blacksmith, who was without means to purchase charcoal, and, by order of a mysterious visitor, heaped on his fire the black stones which he found in the mountain.

The blacksmith's shop is silent,
His furnace no more glows,
His anvil no more ringeth
Beneath his mighty blows;
His dwelling no more soundeth
With merry working song,
Thrilled forth in lusty gladness
To speed his work along;
But moodily he leaneth
Upon his quiet forge,
And mournfully he gazeth
Far up the mountain gorge.

"Now wherefore art thou idle?
Thou stalwart man of might!
And wherefore hast thy furnace
No gleaming fire bright?
Come, come! and let us enter
This smoky house of thine,
And drink to happy future
A brimming cup of wine."
Thus spoke unto the blacksmith
A man of dwarfish frame,
Who seemed from earth uprising,
So suddenly he came.

"Right gladly wert thou welcome,
If aught to give were mine;
But lo! my wife and children
For bread in hunger pine.
And wherefore am I idle?
I'll tell thee, stranger, why;
One jot I've not of charcoal,
Nor silver more to buy."

"Go, quickly, up the mountain,
The black stones gather fast,
And pile them on thy furnace,
And ply the roaring blast."
Thus spoke the dwarf unto him,
And vanished from his sight,
While, all amazed, the blacksmith
Climbs up the rocky height;
And, bringing stones, he heaps them
Upon the empty grate,
And swift the creaking bellows
He plies at rapid rate.

"Now, thanks to holy Peter,
And blessed be his name!"
The blacksmith cries, as he espies,
Leap from the stones a flame.
"Oh, wife! Oh, wife and children?
A miracle is done!
Come! come and see how brightly
Blazes the burning stone!"

For bread no more the blacksmith
Did ever want again,
But rich he grew, and honored,
Among his fellow men,
And Liege, that mighty city,
Of wealth, and ease the home,
Owes all to him, the happy man,
Who found the burning stone.

ANOTHER FIFTH GENERATION.—The "geneological curiosity" published in our paper of last week, has brought out another live case in these parts, the Patriarch of which was born and still lives in Prospect; and though 36 years of age, he makes nothing of walking 2 miles to meeting of a Sunday. His name is Eben Hotchkiss—his daughter Anna married John Pritchard, of this town, who has a son, S. B. Pritchard, whose daughter married a Welton, who have a daughter about a year old. The parties are all living at this time, and within ten miles of each other.—Waterbury (Ct.) American.

EMANCIPATION.—A gentleman of Amherst county, lately deceased, has left $6,000 for the settlement of his negroes in a free State. The heirs of the gentleman being willing that the slaves should be sent to Liberia, application is to be made at the next Supreme Court, to Judge Thompson to this effect.—Wheeling (Va.) Journal.

We understand that 6,000 copies of Uncle Tom's Cabin were sold at the New York trade sale, just closed. Over 350 of Uncle Tom's Cabin as it, found a market at the same sale.

REDEMPTIONERS.

Among the foreign news by the Pacific, is a letter from Berlin, of September 1, which contains the following:

"One item of intelligence by the last South American mail is rather startling; German emigrants to Peru, it appears, are articles of sale, and are advertised in the papers as merchandise! They are the remains of a band of emigrants who some time since were induced by the representations of an agent named Rodolfo, to sail for Lima; the enterprise totally failed, and 60 of the men took service in the army; General Flores had purchased 120 for the Ecuador Expedition; a large landed proprietor had bought 80 for his estate; 40 were working on the Guano Islands; 100 had died; and 50 left on the hands of the agent, were advertised in the paper as for sale. The statement is given to a letter in the Auswanderer Zeitung."

It is well known that Redemptioners were sold to pay their passage in the early settlement of this country, and that from this humble and despised stock have sprung many worthy families and excellent men. A part of New York and Pennsylvania were settled by German Redemptioners, so called. The startling part of the story is that of the weakness or wickedness of the agent, producing misery and death among the poor emigrants.

DAILY Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1852.

BOSTON DAILY CHRONICLE.

The Chronicle appeared on Wednesday under the proprietorship agency of B. C. Nichols, in very handsome type and paper.—The Chronicle is devoted to opposition to the Liquor Law of Massachusetts, is ably edited, and not very scrupulous as to whom it attacks. It denounces G. W. White and James French, its late printers. It says "the paper is taken by nearly every hotel of note in the land, and is sought for and read by their patrons from all parts of the country."

We can hardly take rank among its patrons, but we always read it, for every number "opens rich." Wednesday's paper is down upon Rev. Mr. Holland, of Cambridge, with a libel which styles him an arrant hypocrite. And the same paper represents Amos Lawrence, Henry Plympton and others of Boston, as "not knowing what the consequences of their prayer would be"—and as "blindly, ignorantly and wickedly" lending their names to a petition for enforcing the law against drinking houses and tippling shops.

The editor's name does not appear—but in the "editor's notes" are some which must have come from the pen of Matthew Hale Smith. They are spicy and caustic, and so are the editorials generally, telling a great many unpalatable truths, mixed up with what we deem a grand fallacy.

MR. MOSES' FLORAL CONCERT.

All who appreciate the beautiful will be gratified that Mr. Moses is to give one more Floral Musical entertainment before changing his residence. His two classes,—twenty-one picked juvenile singers in all—either of which has never failed to draw and delight an audience—will unite on this occasion; the entire Temple will be decorated, as well as the stage; and Mr. M. is to eclipse all his similar entertainments.

Mr. Moses has spent much time and effort to develop and incite a love of music and poetry in all who came within his influence—and his teachings by word and example have not been without great effect. A very large number of pupils have had the benefit of his tuition during his long stay among us; and it will be much regretted when he removes to another field of labor.

"The Seven"—now grown from children to almost women, and proportionably improved in vocalizing since their first appearance—have ever been the favorites of all who hear them; and the "fourteen," the class that added so much to our 4th of July exhibition, have already given evidence of much natural talent and careful drilling by a devoted, thorough and competent teacher.

We think it rare that our citizens have opportunity to enjoy so rich a treat as is promised them on Tuesday evening, and we have no doubt a large number will be present at this farewell entertainment by Mr. M. and his interesting classes.

☞ The N. H. Patriot states that 382 cars loaded with live stock passed down over the Boston & Concord Railroad on Tuesday last, besides the regular freight trains, amounting in all to 534 cars.

THE BARING DINNER.—The Merchants of Boston gave a complimentary dinner to Thomas Baring of London, at the Revere House on Wednesday evening. Saml. A. Eliot presided; they had a first rate dinner, and a good time generally.

LIQUOR SEIZED IN BOSTON.—On Wednesday several pipes, barrels and demijohns of liquor, belonging to E. W. Cummings, 120 Kneeland street, were seized by High Sheriff Crocker, and one of his deputies.

☞ Madame Sontag, the singer, is recovering—and is to sing in New York next Monday evening.

The Franklin street Church and Society, in Manchester, have unanimously invited the Rev. Samuel C. Bartlett, late Professor in the Western Reserve College, and a native of Salisbury in this State, to become their Pastor.

☞ Rev. Phillips Milledoler, D. D. pastor of the Middle Dutch Reformed Church in New York city, died in that city on Wednesday, aged 77. He was formerly President of New Brunswick College.

FLORIDA INDIANS.—Billy Bowlegs, the Indian Chief, has left Washington for Baltimore. He will receive presents there, and go thence to Florida by steamer. As soon as he arrives home the Indians are to move off in squads to their new homes west of the Mississippi. Billy promises all fair. If he proves else, nothing is to follow but war.

NEW YORK WHIG CONVENTION.

The State Convention of Whigs of New York, met in Syracuse on the 22d. Washington Hunt was renominated for Governor by acclamation, amidst tremendous applause. On the formal vote for Lieut. Governor, William Kent received 83 out of 125 votes, and was declared the unanimous choice of the Convention. Thomas Kempshall, of Munroe, was nominated for Canal Commisioner by acclamation. Epenetus received 68 of 124 votes for State Prison Inspector, and the nomination was declared unanimous.

A State Committee was appointed—Mr. James from the committee on resolutions reported a series in favor of a protective tariff, the equal distribution of the public lands, against entangling alliances with foreign nations, but in favor of a solemn protest against any deliberate defiance of the law of nations, and a generous and active sympathy with aid and moral support to all oppressed nations; also, in favor of liberal appropriations for the improvement of rivers and harbors, vigorous prosecution and completion of the lands.—They also assert that the duty of every Whig is to acquiesce in and support the decision of the late National Convention—give great praise and honor to Gen. Scott for his valuable services to his country.

Simeon Draper of New York and George R. Bruce of Erie were unanimously elected at large, and 33 district electors were appointed. A resolution was passed to adopt the ticket; a second to appoint a State Ceatral Committee; a third authorising the committee to fill any contingent vacancy. Adjourned till 7 o'clock, amid much enthusiasm.

Syracuse resolutions were received with great enthusiasm and adopted amidst the most tremendous applause.

Messrs. Dickinson, Bruce, and Conkling addressed the Convention. The Presidents and Secretaries were appointed a committee to notify Messrs. Hunt and Kent of their nomination. Adjourned sine die with thundering applause. A crowd is at the headquarters, which Messrs. Dickinson, Ulman and others are addressing.

CONGREGATIONAL CONVENTION.

We offered some remarks in yesterday's paper, on the call of, or rather for, a congregational convention in Albany. We copy the following editorial note on the same subject, from the Boston Chronicle, doubtless from the pen of Rev. Mr. Smith, who is well posted up in such matters. In so doing, we take the liberty of correcting several important typographical errors.

"A Convention of Congregational Clergymen is to be held at Albany in a few days, to see what can be done to concentrate the energies of this body in the country, and unite the forces now in the field, under the banner of Congregationalism, south, west and north. All sorts of views and opinions prevail, from the strictest Calvinism to the loosest Latitudinarianism. The sects have no common bond like other denominations; each individual Church is independent, in fact. A Council has no binding power; either party may throw it off or defy it. And it is not unusual, in case of a parish trouble, to have one Council called by one party, and then to have another party call another, and by a new decision reverse the doings of the former.

The aim of the Convention at Albany is union. But as it has been called by the radical portion of the church, and the management being in their hands, most probably the union sought will end in derision. The Tyler men of Connecticut will never yield to the Bushnell men; and men of the mind and stamina and talent of a Blagden will not be led by the erratic Henry Ward Beecher, 'Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements.' A meeting of clergymen and laymen of Boston and vicinity was held at the Old South Chapel on Friday last, to consider what action was needful in view of the Albany Convention."

We have no doubt that the Convention at Albany will be very large. And although the above extract speaks truly, both of the independence and the diversities among Congregationalists, still there is perhaps quite as much real affinity between them as if they were bound together by more covenants. If Beecher and Bushnell are among the leading men, there will be a large assembly, and a stirring one.

NEW JERSEY TEMPERANCE CONVENTION. A state temperance convention for New Jersey, met at Trenton on Wednesday morning, and organized. About 1000 present. In the afternoon, $3000 was raised to aid in circulating documents, and in carrying on the campaign. Theodore Frelinghuysen, from the Committee on Resolutions, reported a platform. The resolutions are in favor of a prohibitory law,—oppose a separate political organization,—recommends temperance men to go to work and get men nominated by political parties favorable to their views,—recommends alliances to be formed in every township. Mr. F. spoke eloquently in favor of the resolutions. The Convention adjourned to meet to-morrow. Meetings are going on this evening in the Temperance and City Hall.

AGRICULTURAL MEETING.—The New Hampshire Agricultural Society's Fair, Cattle Show and Ploughing Match, will be held this year, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday the 6th 7th and 8th days of October, at Meredith Bridge. From the arrangements as laid down on bills, we have no doubt it will be an interesting occasion, and will be attended by thousands of farmers and others.

Ole Bull, the celebrated Norwegian violinist, has purchased a large tract of land in the western part of Pennsylvania, where he designs to establish a colony of his countrymen, the hardy, industrious people of Norway.

Reported for the Daily Morning Chronicle.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

SEPTEMBER TERM, 1852.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 23.

In the case of French admr. v. Hatch admr. the Jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff. Damages $4714. The case will again go to the Superior Court.

Case 34, Bassett v. Salisbury Manufacturing Company, was resumed, the Jury having returned this morning from the view of the premises. The Court were engaged throughout the day in hearing the evidence for the plaintiff as to the height of the water before and after the erection of the Co.'s dam, &c.

The Grand Jury came into Court this morning, and returned their papers to the Court, and were discharged. We understand that the prisoners will be arraigned to-morrow morning.

No. 39, Levi S. Bartlett v. Amoskeag Flannel Manufacturing Company, and No. 51 Sophia Gardner v. Benj. S. Clifford, Nathaniel P. Fogg, Robert M. Pike, and James P. Tilton, are the next civil suits in order for trial.

The Court adjourned to Friday morning at nine o'clock.

FOREIGN NEWS DRIED UP.—The Boston Courier says: The telegraph report which was printed yesterday covered all its news, and European news, now, is of very little consequence to readers on this side of the Atlantic.

GERRIT SMITH FOR PRESIDENT.—A dispatch from Pittsburg, Pa. Sept. 22, says, "the Free Democrats, with many Whigs, met at Canestots yesterday, and nominated Gerrit Smith for President. He will take the stump shortly. Their State Convention meets next week."

There must be error here. Gerrit Smith may take the stump, but not for himself as President.

These little independent nominations are now so numerous, and draw after them so few adherents, as to lose most of their interest.

GEN. SCOTT IN OHIO.—A despatch to the Boston Times, dated Cleveland, September 21, says:

"The reception of Gen. Scott was one of the most brilliant and enthusiastic affairs that ever took place in this city. The banks of the lake for a mile were lined with people anxiously waiting in a drenching shower to catch a glimpse of the old hero, and when the artillery announced his approach, cheer after cheer was given. He was escorted by the military to his quarters at the American Hotel, where in answer to repeated calls, he appeared on the balcony and made a brief address to the crowd, which was enthusiastically received. After he retired, he met a large party of citizens in the hall, who had come to pay their respects to him. At midnight he was serenaded by the bands, and appearing at the window, bowed in acknowledgment of the compliment. This morning, at 11 o'clock, he left in the cars for Columbus, amid the cheers of thousands, and the roar of cannon.

In the Board of Aldermen bills were presented for the construction of the Reservoir in School Street. The work was completed in thirty-seven and three-quarters working days. Thirty-one thousand bricks were used in its construction.

A letter was received from Capt. Geo. W. Towle, requesting the city to pay a bill of $37.50 for the entertainment of the Agile Fire Company of Newburyport, at their late visit—stating that this company had aided in subduing our fire in 1845, and were otherwise meritorious and deserving a hospitable reception by the city. Voted, that the communication be laid on the table.

A committee was appointed to superintend the erection of ten gas lanterns in the streets, at the places indicated in our report of last week.

It was ordered that $3 per year each be allowed for lighting—and that they be extinguished under the Marshal's direction.

The Board refused to take up the ordinance regulating bowling-alleys, billiard rooms, &c.

FREE SOIL STATE CONVENTION.

We are informed by one of the delegates from this city, that the Free Soilers enjoyed themselves hugely at Concord, yesterday.—From fifteen hundred to two thousand wide-awake and enthusiastic Free Soilers were present, and the State House not being accommodating enough, they adjourned to the Depot Hall. Addresses were made by Hon. John G. Palfrey, of Cambridge, Seth Webb, Jr., Esq., of Boston, Elder Joseph Adams, of Lowell, and others.

☞ The Horticultural Exhibition in New York closed last evening. It was a splendid affair, but did not pay expenses.

MORE FILIBUSTERING.—The N. Y. ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE LOUIS NAPOLEON—New York, Sept. 22.—A private letter received in this city by the Africa, from an American resident in Paris, says an attempt was made a few days previous to the sailing of the Africa, to assassinate Louis Napoleon, on his way from St. Cloud. An individual fired a musket at him from a trench on the route, and the ball grazed his left shoulder. Seeing that he had failed in the attempt, the assassin immediately blew out his own brains. The journals were prohibited from speaking about the matter.

ACCIDENTS.—Yesterday, a little girl four years old, daughter of Mr. Matthew Caig, fell from the third story of the new building on Rowe's Bank, upon a pile of stones, and fractured her skull so extensively that no hope is entertained of her recovery.

James H. Wilson, son of Mr. Jacob B. Wilson, at the Cove, aged 15 years, was shot in the neck by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of a lad named John Troy, so that he lived but a few minutes.—Gloucester Telegraph, 22d.

NEW YORK MATTERS.—The New Cuban Movement—Sontag and Alboni—Heavy Robbery, &c.—The Democrats have nominated Jacob A. Westervelt, ship builder, for Mayor.

The Herald publishes a manifesto addressed to the people of the United States, by Gen. Gonzales, the chief director of the Cuban movement in this country, appealing strongly for aid; and also gives the names of about fifty influential men at the South who countenance the movement.

Alboni's concert in aid of the fire department fund, at Metropolitan hall, last night, will nett about $2000.

MASSACHUSETTS UNION DEMOCRATS.—The Union Democrat notices Democratic meetings at Dedham and Roxbury, last week, both of which repudiated the coalition, the Dedham Democrats declaring that—"We will support no person for office who is in favor of a coalition with any party whose principles are antagonistic to our own." The Roxbury Democrats passed similar resolutions, and formed a Franklin Pierce club, of which J. P. Robinson is President.

The "Provisional State Committee" of the anti-coalition Democrats have correspondence with gentlemen of their party throughout the State, and intend to make a demonstration at all events, though they will not call a State Convention.

CANADIAN LEGISLATURE—Quebec, Sept. 22.—Last night the Legislature addressed the Queen, thanking her for the recent protection afforded to the fisheries, and expressing a hope that she will make no treaty impairing that of 1818, unless it embrace the whole commercial intercourse between the Colonies and the United States.

SELF-TAUGHT PIGS.—A friend informs us that he lately purchased a couple of pigs, whose remarkable peculiarities consisted, as he supposed, merely in their physical development. But as he was one morning leaning over a stye, he was exceedingly amused at seeing one of them walk up to the trunk of a small plum tree growing in one corner, seize it in his mouth, give it a vigorous shake, and then look up and listen to hear a plum fall. If he was successful in causing one to drop, both pigs would rush for it: and if unsuccessful, would repeat the operation. Although the shaking process was conducted exclusively by the smaller pig, the larger was equally apt at perceiving the effect, and would place himself in a position to reap the fruits of the other's labor.

The above may appear almost incredible, but we have it from undoubted authority.—It might have been by scratching against the tree that these pigs first discovered the favorable effect produced, and which they have since followed up with remarkable perseverance. We commend their case to the Committee on Swine.—Salem Gazette.

A SINGING MOUSE.—A family having rooms in the American Hotel, lately left town for a few weeks. On their return they found that a mouse was in the habit of constantly visiting the cage of a canary bird, which had remained in the room during their absence, having taken the opportunity of forming the acquaintance during the unusual stillness of the apartment. To the surprise of the members of the family it was soon discovered that the mouse had taken lessons in singing of its musical friend, and would constantly give forth notes in exact imitation of the canary's tones, but low and sweet. The little creature now visits the cage nightly, eats of the seed, and endeavors by its singing to excite the attention and call forth the notes of the bird.—Buffalo Commercial.

ENGLISH LINSEED OIL.

1000 galls. English Linseed Oil on hand and for sale by RAYNES & NEIL, a2 No. 57 Market Street.

New and Improved Pattern for 1852, of a

HOT-AIR PARLOR GRATE,

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

The most perfect and beautiful pattern invented. It is an entirely new and improved construction, having a hot-air arrangement which will cause all parts of the room to be equally warmed, the same as by a furnace, creating a circulation of air which is absolutely necessary, not only for comfort but for health. It combines all the modern principles of ventilation, having a large warming and ventilating chamber, and it makes one of the finest BAKING departments ever invented, being entirely surrounded by fire.

It will give more heat from a small quantity of fuel than any other stove—has a strong draft, and can easily be regulated to retain fire 24 hours without replenishing.

This Grate must in a very short time supersede the use of all other Parlor stoves or grates now in use, for it will save 50 per ct. in fuel over any other heating apparatus—they are the most durable and convenient, and of a very handsome appearance, and are sold at less prices than any other stoves or grates of the same quality.

All purchasers of Parlor Grates or Stoves are cordially requested to call and examine the same, at No. 18 Daniel St.

The Eay State Stove,

THE subscriber, in offering this favorite Stove to the public, the present season, would state that a new covered Broiling Apparatus has been added, the flues enlarged for burning anthracite coal, and the Stove otherwise improved—and is now put into the market as in the world. The castings are heavier, more beautiful and durable; the stove has a larger oven, will bake better and with less fuel, than any other stove in use.

These stoves are made from pure metal and are not liable to crack; and we furnish every stove with the best of copper Reservoir Boiler, &c., and warrant them a year; and if any part proves defective it will be made good without charge.

Persons wishing to obtain a good Stove, will do well to buy a BAY STATE. They have been in operation in this city for four years past, and have given perfect satisfaction. VOLUME 1. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1852. NUMBER 48.

AFFAIRS IN CUBA.

The Courier and Enquirer has some intelligence from Cuba, which is editorially endorsed as authentic, showing how few are the revolutionists there, and not even they all Cubans. Don Eduardo Facciolo, in whose printing room the Voz del Pueblo Cubano was seized, is an Italian. The place is a small job printing office. This Italian job printer, and the brothers Luna, friends of his, were the only parties to the publication. So that branch of the "revolutionary movement" cannot have been very formidable. The brothers Luna, fearing they were suspected, fled after the publication of the third number; Facciolo was arrested and is sentenced to death. A respectable lawyer, Dr. Ramon Palma, was suspected of complicity, but it was not proved on the examination, and he was remanded on other grounds.

On the ground of general disaffection to the government nearly sixty persons have been arrested, and are now in prison awaiting their trials. They appear to be of all classes—newspaper carriers, lawyers, planters, police officers, militia officers, &c., &c. Several women are included in the list. The government has taken away all fire-arms, except from the old Spaniards, in San Christobel.—The proclamation requiring their surrender apprises the inhabitants that the government is fully aware of the insurrectionary movements in that locality. From all that appears, we infer that about all, and perhaps more, who were at all privy to or concerned in the revolutionary movements are under arrest, and despotism is stronger than ever. More's the pity.—New York Commercial.

MRS. SANDERSON, THE CENTENARIAN.—Lexington, Sep't. 21.—Mr. EDITOR—By a notice in your paper I perceive that the public sympathy is invoked for the venerable Mrs. Sanderson, of this town, who is now in the 105th year of her age. This old lady has resided in this vicinity during the whole of her long and eventful life, and was in the very midst of the opening scenes of the American Revolution. Her father was the orderly sergeant of Capt. Parker's company, which first resisted the British at the battle of Lexington. Mrs. Sanderson, after the disastrous retreat of the British from Concord and Lexington, received one of the wounded British regulars into her house, protected him by her influence from the violence of the exasperated people, nursed and cured him, and sent him on his way with many a severe lecture as to his base conduct in making himself the tool of tyranny.

Her recollection of the stirring events of those times is quite distinct, and though not able to move about without assistance, yet her bodily and mental powers have been most mercifully continued to her to such a degree that her society and conversation are exceedingly interesting. I am very glad to see this public effort to aid this truly worthy woman, for she is dependant for care and support upon two female descendants whose means of living are very limited. Let then a generous and sympathizing public show honor to age and merit, by contributing something to render the last days of a well-spent life comfortable and happy.—Howard in the Boston Journal.

THE COST OF KEEPING NEW YORK IN OPERATION.—From a communication to the Board of Aldermen by the Comptroller, we gather some of the items of expenditure by the city of New York since the first of January last. $250,000 have been expended upon the Alms House. 177,000 on cleaning streets, which by all accounts is not half done after all. $60,000 is the expense of the Fire Department. $175,000 has been laid out for lamps and gas. The largest item is for the Police $400,000. The printing is no trifle, being 44,000. Stationery amounts to $19,000. The street expenses, in addition to cleansing them, amount to $151,000. Sewers are got along with cheap at 87,500. The salaries and fees of official functionaries during the eight months amount to about $186,000. The wells and pumps only need $1,800, while the water pipes take $103,000. The Common Schools for the State required $185,000. The other Common Schools $225,000. $17,000 was expended on the extension of the new City Hall.—Albany Journal.

CONNECTICUT TOBACCO.—The Hartford Courant office has on exhibition a leaf of tobacco, measuring over forty-one inches in length, from a plant which was transplanted the last week in June.

AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY.—The receipts of the American Tract Society during the month were $15,000. The publications amounted to 25,000.

PRIZE FIGHT BY WOMEN.—A correspondent of the London Times gives the following account of a recent prize fight in England, between two women:

"About a month ago I was at breakfast with my family at Kensal Green, when I perceived a number of persons passing through the field adjoining my house. I endeavored to ascertain the cause. With much difficulty I did so. The stream of men and women had come from Paddington to a prize fight between two—no, not men—women! One of my family, being incredulous, contrived to look across the fields, and there saw the combatants stripped to the waist and fighting. Men took them there, men backed them, men were the bottle holders and time keepers. They fought for about half an hour, some say for five shillings, some say for a sovereign, and some say they will do it again. I saw the winner led back in triumph by men."

Amasa Copeland, the last survivor of the corps of soldiers who attended Major Andre to the gallows during the Revolutionary war, lately died at Abingdon, Ct., aged 94 years and 4 months. He was the oldest person in that town. His father had lived 95 and one half years.

The Hartford Courant office has on exhibition a leaf of tobacco, measuring over forty one inches in length, from a plant which was transplanted the last week in June.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1852.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Politics and political parties there, state and national, are in the most admired disorder,—and the "noise and confusion," from this time till November, must be greatly annoying to every lover of quiet and calm.

The contest is more than triangular: it is quadrangular at least; and may be pentangular, or have more angles still, if any body knew what to call them or could stop to count them.

Some of the angles are quite sharp, and the wrangles are considerable.

The Lowell American says:

"The idea of the Boston Times that Horace Mann's opposition to Webster will cause a concentration of whig strength against the former, is a very superficial one. Just at this time, nine out of ten of the whig party hate Webster as heartily as Mann does, and rather like Mann for the blows he has given him."

And the Times answers:

"The American is right, if it refers to the Scott whigs, who have no affection for Mr. Webster at this time. But we referred to the friends of Mr. Webster, who, we think, will support whig candidates for State Senators and town Representatives, fearing that if they should do otherwise, Mr. Mann might be elected Governor, or United States Senator. A quarrel between two such distinguished men as Daniel Webster and Horace Mann must produce effects of some kind, and, by one of those unfortunate occurrences that are altogether unlooked for, it seems that the coalition is to come in for its full share of them."

The New Bedford Standard says:

"Col. Schouler of the Boston Atlas, has commenced lecturing in the "small towns." Let Schouler lecture, and Fabyan of the Boston Atlas Democrat write, and lecture if he pleases, there can be no hope for Clifford nor hunkers. The country is once more safe!"

The Lawrence Sentinel says:

"From every section of the Union, we hear only of whig defalcations and of democratic union. The great danger to be apprehended by the democratic party is that, feeling themselves secure, they will fail to muster their full strength at the polls."

The same paper, after copying an article about the lightning's boring a hole through a mow of hay without burning it, adds,—

"That thunder was probably stolen from Daniel Webster. His thunder is rather famous for going through, but his lightning never burnt anything except himself."

OIL AND WINE.

We mentioned, some time ago, that the wines of Madeira and the Mediterranean were diseased, and grapes scarce, making wine dear,—but we suggested that wine would be "to be had" because apples are plentiful in this country, and sham wine is easily made.

Now the Boston Courier tells us "the vines of France have been cut down by frost, and the consequence is a great rise in the article of brandy."—But there will be brandy enough of domestic manufacture.

One of the best men that ever sold brandy in Portsmouth (and drank it too) used to say that he could draw liquor of any required kind or price from one cask.

The Courier hears "also that some plague has fallen upon the crop of olives, which has essentially raised the price of that table necessity, olive oil, which some knowing ones tell us is composed chiefly of Cincinnati lard, transported to the Mediterranean, and returned in the form of oil." This last item is new to us,—and if true as we suppose it is, assures us that we shall have sweet oil enough and to spare, for the pork crop in Ohio and Kentucky is said to be promising, and will be large and good, unless the hogs should be blighted as well as the olives.

ACTION ON THE LIQUOR BILL.

It will be seen by the following resolutions, that the temperance men of Portsmouth have set a ball in motion which may bring out some concert of action among those who desire the passage of a Liquor Law in this State. The subject is worthy of consideration.

At a meeting of the friends of Temperance, held at the Temple, in Portsmouth, N. H., on Thursday evening, Sept. 23, 1852; the following resolutions were unanimously adopted, viz:

Resolved, That, in view of all the circumstances attending the action of the Senate of this State, in June last, in relation to the bill entitled "An Act for the suppression of Drinking Houses and Tippling Shops," it is highly expedient and proper that Conventions should be held in the several Counties as early as practicable, for the purpose of taking into consideration the present condition of said bill, and determining what course of action it is most advisable should be taken in reference thereto, by the voters of the State, at the election on the 2d day of November next.

Resolved, That this meeting respectfully recommends that Conventions be called immediately in the several Counties of the State, by the respective County Temperance Committees, for the purposes stated in the foregoing resolve.

Resolved, That these resolutions be signed by the Chairman and Secretary, and be published in the Crusader, at Concord, and in the other papers of the State.

A. R. BRADBURY, Chairman.
JOHN CHRISTIE, Secretary.

Recollections of Old Acquaintance.

BY UNCLE TOBY.

KING SOLOMON.

CHAPTER I.

Uncle Toby must be an older personage than is commonly supposed, (says one of the youngsters) to be acquainted with King Solomon, who lived about three thousand years ago. This is true, if a personal knowledge were intended. But Uncle Toby and his contemporaries, in their schoolboyhood, were compelled to know something about him, or at all events to read his history, in the daily use of the whole Bible as a class-book. Many of them read no more of him than they must, and some of them did not read much more of any thing else than their task—glad when it was over, they relapsed into their idleness or their sports. Well, they became men, some good, some great, some —— no matter now about the rest,—but they did not, for the most part, care much about King Solomon or such as he. But all tastes are not alike; and to Uncle Toby's juvenile imagination, King Solomon and Alexander the Great were as real and as present as General Storer and Governor Langdon. The two latter personages he had seen and admired, one on his horse and the other in his coach. And if on a muster day he had seen Alexander charging into the training field on Bucephalus at one end, and Solomon riding in on his chariot at the other, he would have been greatly delighted no doubt,—but probably not much surprised.—Chronology was not taught in the common schools then, and William Miller's Lectures on the Advent had not been written. So Solomon seemed to the writer to be a man of his own time; and so he seems now, in recollection.

Solomon's Reign was the golden age of Israel's History, poetry, and national pride. When Jesus wished to impress a Jew with the idea of beautiful and splendid apparel, he had only to refer him to Solomon in all his glory. When he chose to speak of himself as excelling in wisdom, he merely said, a greater than Solomon is here. And the Jews, as well they might, understood his allusion and felt the point of it, in pleasure or in pain, as he intended they should.

Solomon was the only King of Israel and Judah who reigned steadily over the whole twelve tribes, and over all the land assigned them by lot, during his whole official life.—Saul did this for a short time only, and very imperfectly. Nations or tribes round about, marred his peace, disfigured his reign, and troubled his people, by keeping up garrisons on the border, and sometimes inside it, whence they sent out predatory bands to plunder the people's substance and carry them captive.

David's reign, though prosperous in its results, was rough and stormy in its commencement and through most of its course. He reigned at first in Hebron, only over the tribe of Judah, and the remainder of Israel did not come under his rule till a revolutionary war had humbled them, and till Abner's resentment made him turn his back upon Ishbosheth and his face and favor towards David. Then he had a civil war, not only in his kingdom but in his family.

But the reign of Solomon was eminently that of a peaceful and prosperous King. In the Jewish History he is pre-eminently so;—and with the exception of some minor troubles near the end of his reign, the whole of it flowed on steadily and pleasantly.

Such a reign is not commonly supposed to make much work for the historian, or to furnish a good theme for the poet—and his reign really did not abound in stirring incident. Yet it has many points of interest; and Solomon has a character which deserves more study than most of the moderns choose to bestow upon it.

As a poet and a Judge; as a husband and a King; as an architect and a merchant; as a preacher and a trifler, he is open to criticism. But the theologians are many of them afraid of him, and half the moralists cannot understand him—though to others he is plain enough. To some observers, he resembles a certain English King, of whom it is said, "He never said a foolish thing, nor did a wise one;" and the mixture of wisdom and folly in his course is certainly remarkable.

He has ever been to Uncle Toby a favorite author—and he is accustomed to quote from him more frequently than from Shakespeare. The public however don't always know it—(so much the worse for the public)—because the Sacred Classics in this age are less studied than many other classics which are by no means sacred.

A few essays on Solomon's Character and Works will therefore be attempted—and they will probably afford an agreeable variety, as they will be mixed up with election returns, the liquor laws, and the cattle market. The aim will be to make the reader wise—but it is best not to be too confident here, as Solomon himself says, "Though thou bray a fool with a pestle in a mortar, yet will not his foolishness depart from him." But wise men increase in knowledge, and Uncle Toby is willing to take it for granted that the readers of the Daily Chronicle are wise men.

BOUNTY ON SHIP-BUILDING.—We have been requested to publish "An Act to Encourage Ship-Building in Louisiana," to which we referred in the Chronicle of Sept. 13. We will do so, if we can procure the Boston Post containing the law—probably the Post of Sept. 10 or 11, from which we condensed our article.

ODD FELLOWS.—The Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows at Baltimore, occupied Tuesday with the proposed alteration to the Constitution.—The only amendment adopted was one changing the time of meeting of the Grand Lodge from the third to the first week in September. We have received the Grand Sire's Report, from Mr. Timothy G. Senter, P. G. M., which exhibits a general state of prosperity in the order.

From the Grand Secretary's Annual Report it appears, that the Revenue for the year has been $12,991 73 cts.

Besides this amount, the Secretary has received $1,121 50 cts. for building an Odd Fellows' Hall at the Sandwich Islands, and $230 for P. G. Sire Thos. Wildey.

AN OLD MILITARY ARTICLE.

The formation of the present Artillery Company of Portsmouth, (City Greys,) was thus heralded in the Oracle of August, 1799.

"MILITARY SPIRIT.—We are happy to inform the public that a subscription is on foot to raise a sufficient sum for uniforming all the militia companies of this town in a rifle dress; and that upwards of two hundred dollars are already subscribed for this purpose.—It is expected that all the legal exempts will give nobly; this being the least they can do; as they are denied the pleasure of wearing the military robe, they ought at least to clothe the naked.

"ARTILLERY.—It is in comtemplation to form as complete a company of artillerists, as any town upon the continent can boast.—Come, lads of spirit, now is the time to enrol yourselves: we promise you honor, glory and fame. This awakening from the lethargy of inactive inattention, forebodes good. It is the symbol of a sacred regard for the rights and liberties of America. The time is rapidly approaching when every man will think himself honored by being a citizen soldier of the land that gave him birth; of the county which gave him freedom."

DEMOCRAATIC MASS CONVENTION.

The Democratic Mass Convention at Augusta was organized by electing Governor Hubbard to the chair.

All Presidents of Democratic Clubs present were Vice Presidents.

Resolutions were offered by Mr. Morrell, of Augusta, and passed unanimously, endorsing the Baltimore platform, and the nomination of Pierce and and King.

Speeches were made by Hon. Mr. Hamlin, Senator for Maine, Hon. Mr. Dix, Senator from New York.

Hon. Mr. Soule, Senator from Louisiana, made a most eloquent speech of two hours duration, which excited intense and unbounded enthusiasm.

John Van Buren was followed by Gov. Lawrence, of Rhode Island, Charles L. Woodbury, Esq., of Boston, and others.

The number present was estimated at ten thousand. Delegations were numerous from all parts of the State.

One thousand ladies were present on the occasion, and their applause was liberally manifested in that chaste and flattering form so much to be coveted.

Bands of music and decorations were profuse. The meeting was held opposite the State House, and everything passed off in the most gratifiying manner.—Boston Times.

A telegraphic despatch from Augusta, published in the Portland Advertiser, sets the number at the Mass Meeting down at 500, and says the number in the procession was 299.

These latter numbers seem to us incredible. There might not be 10,000 there—but there must be more than 500.

POPULAR VOTE IN MAINE.—We have it at last. A whig paper, the Augusta Journal, says of its summary of the vote for Congress, which is the only test of the party vote of the state:—

The Whig vote for Congress in the above places, this year, is 39,235. The Democratic vote, 44,945. Plurality for Democratic candidates 5510. The plurality for Hubbard, in 1850, in the whole State, was 8912. Thus if the remaining places come in as before, the Whig gain in the state will be 3400.

There is a Free-Soil vote in the same towns, of 11,067.

23 towns and 32 plantations remains to be heard from.

Senators elected, democrats 7, whigs 14.

A full list of the House, embracing all the districts except the Madawaska, gives 69 Whigs, 81 Democrats. Several of the members have been Free Soilers. The seats from the Phipsburg and Weld districts will be contested by Democrats. Among the 81 Democrats are probably 25 or 30 Chandler men, four or five of whom at least are said to be in favor of sending up Crosby to the Senate, as a constitutional candidate for Governor.

☞ Rev. Mr. Webster, of East Boston, will preach at the Universalist Church tomorrow.

Among the passengers in the steamer Pacific, was George W. Kendall, Esq., who has established himself upon a vast sheep farm in Texas. Mr. Kendall spent several weeks this summer in Scotland, purchasing sheep. He also employed farmers and shepherds in Scotland.

The Secretary of the Navy gives notice to officers and seamen of the Naval service, that persons entitled to the benefit of the Act of August 31, increasing the compensation of the Revenue service on the coast of California and Mexico, must make application direct to the Fourth Auditor of the Treasury, at Washington. The employment of agents or attorneys to prosecute such claims is not necessary.

A friend, in speaking of California, says: If you call a physician to relieve you, he generally does it—if not of the disease, of your pocket-book. For three "ahems" and a "ha," he paid in June last, twenty-seven dollars.—Nice country for rhubarb, that!

A meeting of the Submarine Telegraph Company between France and England was held on Monday at Paris, when a dividend of 2 1-2 per cent. for the past six months was declared. The submarine cable from Calais to Dover was stated to be as sound as the day it was laid down.

The order issued last week at the Brooklyn navy-yard, increasing the hours of labor, has been promptly rescinded by the Secretary of the Navy, who says it was issued without his knowledge.

Ex-Governor Badger of New Hampshire, died at Gilmanton on Wednesday, of disease of the brain, at the age of 73 years and 8 months.

AN ACTIVE MAN.—Dr. Geo. B. Champlin died at Cuba, N. Y., last week. The Boston Courier thus sums up his history. He was born in New London, Conn., in 1792; and in the course of his life had been an author, a sailor, a printer, a doctor, &c. In May, 1812, at the age of 20, he received a diploma as physician and surgeon, and in May, 1814, he was appointed to the post of surgeon's mate in the 25th Regiment of the first Brigade of Infantry of the United States Army. He was at the battle of Chippewa and Lundy's Lane, and at the sortie of Fort Erie. The order for his examination is dated at "Buffalo, Head Quarters, May 12th, 1814," and signed by Gen. Winfield Scott, commander of the post. He served with credit and efficiency to the end of the war. In his latter years, in 1845, he founded the first Water Cure Establishment in western New York, at the Greenwood Springs.

SNAKES IN THE CITY.—It is well known that snakes are seldom seen in the city, except such as are kept on exhibition at the Museum and elsewhere; but it appears that the quiet of Trinity Churchyard affords an inducement for the crawling tribe to take up quarters there. One of the laborers employed on the new building which is now going up at the corner of Broadway and Thames street, yesterday killed a snake, of harmless species but of enormous size, being about nine feet in length. His snakeship was first discovered making his way leisurely over the graves in Trinity Churchyard, when the man made an attack upon and soon dispatched him.—N. Y. Times.

A FAMILY MEETING.—There was on Monday in Manchester, a meeting of an entire family consisting of seven members, five brothers and two sisters, after a separation of over a quarter of a century. The eldest is fifty-two, the youngest thirty-eight. The meeting took place by appointment. Before separating, it was proposed to sing the old favorite song of their early years, "Sweet Home." But the recollection of early home and intervening years, came clustering so thick and fast, that the gushing fountains of the heart seemed almost to choke utterance, and the last stanzas of the song to die away in half suppressed sobbings.—Mirror.

HOT-AIR PARLOR GRATE,

FOR WOOD OR COAL,

The most perfect and beautiful pattern invented. It is an entirely new and improved construction, having a hot-air arrangement which will cause all parts of the room to be equally warmed, the same as by a furnace, creating a circulation of air which is absolutely necessary, not only for comfort but for health. It contains all the modern principles of ventilation, having a large warming and ventilating chamber, and it makes one of the finest BAKING Apparatuses ever invented, being entirely surrounded by fire.

It will give more heat from a small quantity of fuel than any other stove—has a strong draft, and can easily be regulated to retain fire 24 hours without replenishing.

This Grate must in a very short time supersede the use of all other Parlor stoves or grates now in use, for it will save 50 per ct. in fuel over any other heating apparatus—they are the most durable and convenient, and of a very handsome appearance, and are sold at less prices than any other stoves or grates of the same capacity!

All purchasers of Parlor Grates or Stoves are cordially requested to call and examine the same, at No. 18 Daniel St.

VOLUME 1. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1852. NUMBER 49.

LETTER FROM KOSSUTH.

Kossuth has turned up at last, but in an entirely new element—though one in which he is quite at home—giving good advice to somebody who has been putting to him some inquiries as to American emigration, etc. The Newcastle (Eng.) Chronicle says:

DEAR SIR:—In your letter of the 18th inst. you ask me, at the request of your men, about the prospects of agricultural laborers and coal miners in America. I feel honored by this confidence, and gladly give you my impressions. The United States, especially the Western portion of the country—Wisconsin and Iowa—offer most favorable chances for emigration, especially to every industrial agriculturist who has some capital, £100 or £200.

There is not the slightest doubt that in a very short time he must succeed, as the value of the land increases materially by the natural progress of the settlements toward the West, while the former has, besides, all the benefits of his industry by his annual crops. Congress land at $1.25 (equal to five English shillings,) the acre, fetches when cleared and brought under cultivation, in a few years, ten to fifteen and more dollars to the acre. There are, besides, such facilities for the education of the children, to whom the social equality opens the most honorable career, that I strongly advise emigration to every agriculturist who has some capital.

The daily laborer encounters more difficulties. Wages amount commonly in the West (besides board and lodging, which is given to the laborer) to eight dollars (thirty-four shillings) a month; for an agriculturist in the harvest time, one dollar a day, but hired labor is not so much in demand as in England, the farmers in the West being all small proprietors, who work their fields themselves.

As to the wages of the coal miners, I have no experience, but I know that extensive coal fields are worked all over the Union, especially in the State of Pennsylvania, and skilled laborers always find employment. With sincere thanks for your sympathy, yours faithfully,

L. KOSSUTH.

A WORD TO THE BOYS.—Make yourself indispensable to your employers; that is the golden path to success. Be so industrious, so prompt, so careful, that if you are absent one hour out of the usual time, you will be missed, and he in whose service you are, shall say, "I did not dream L—— was so useful." Make your employer your friend, by performing with minuteness, whatever task he sets before you, and above all, be not too nice to lend a hand to dirty work, no matter how repugnant to your sense of neatness it may be. The success of your business in after years depends upon how you deport yourself now. If you are really good for anything you are for a great deal. Be energetic; put your manners into your business; look as well as act with alacrity; appear to feel an interest; make your master's success your own if you have an honest one. Let your eye light up at his request, and your feet be nimble; there are some who look so dull and heavy, and go with so slow and lazy a pace that it is irksome to ask what it is your right to demand of them; be not like these.

Be the arch upon which your employer may rest with safety; let him feel that he may entrust you with uncounted gold.

If you do an errand lightly, you begin to lose his confidence; if you forget twice some important request, you cannot be trusted. If you accustom yourself to loose and untidy habits, you will gain no respect, but rather contempt. Avoid theatres, card-rooms, billiard saloons, as you would the pestilence; little faults are like so many loop holes in your character, through which all that is valuable sifts out, and all that is pernicious sifts in to fill up the empty places.

Do you say you want some pleasure? make your work a pleasure. There are two ways of seeing the sun rise—one with a dull, complaining spirit, that if it could, would blot out the great luminary, with its great wishy washy flood of complaints, the other with a joyous, lark-like pleasure, soaring out and upwards, and seeing all along the Western path, gates of gold and palaces of ivory.

So there are two ways of doing work, one that depresses the soul by its listless, formal, fretful participation, the other that makes labor a boon and a blessing, and pursues it not only for gain, but the highest exaltation of the mental and moral being.

An injunction has been granted prohibiting the Boston, Concord and Montreal Railroad from constructing the abutment of their bridge across the Connecticut upon the grounds of the Passumpsic Railroad.

FAIR CRITICISM.

We often read keener criticisms than the following from the Boston Daily Advertiser, but rarely meet with any thing milder or better in its tone.

The Advertiser, in speaking of "Life at the South, or Uncle Tom's Cabin as it is," says:

"It is intended probably to throw a favorable light on plantation life and slave labor.—It is well written, and will be read with interest. But the "Uncle Tom" business is somewhat overdone, and whether they believe his cabin to be a paradise or the opposite, most readers will think they have had enough of it. We do not think that slavery even as it is represented in this volume will have any very great charms for Northern readers. The picture of the sufferings of Uncle Tom after his escape bears the marks of truth. Now that the subject has been ably treated on both sides, it is to be hoped that writers of fiction will employ their imagination on some other subject. This great national concern is of far too much importance to be used merely "to point a moral or adorn a tale." It is certainly a matter too serious to be dressed up in exciting fictions, in which the true state of things can hardly be discovered through the fancy dress."

PORTSMOUTH:

MORE LOBOS LETTERS.

Our readers may remember that Mr. Webster addressed a letter to Capt. Jewett, complaining that Capt. J. had misled the State Department by his letters, and warning him of the danger of sending his ships to Lobos.

Now we are to have the counterpart. The New York Commercial Advertiser of Friday contains a long article giving a statement of facts concerning the guano expedition of Cap. Jewett and others, which facts, together with the vouchers, were communicated to the editors by the parties concerned.

It appears that the first intimation of the movement arose on the 2d of June in a conversation between Captain Jewett and Mr. A. G. Benson, suggested by an article in the London Times. Mr J., on the spur of the moment, wrote to Mr. Webster, asking information as to the views and intentions of the government. Mr. Webster's letter of the 5th of June was the response to this inquiry.

Not satisfied, however, with the assurances contained in Mr. Webster's reply, Captain Jewett, says the Commercial, by personal application at Washington, assured himself that the government, through the President, had approved of and acted upon the policy recommended by the Secretary of State, and that the protection of all American vessels taking guano from these Islands had been determined upon by the Cabinet. Satisfied upon these points, Captain Jewett and his friends then, and not till then, as we are solemnly assured, and as the documents exhibited to us, plainly show, commenced vigorous operations, and by working night, and day, completed their arrangements on their present scale of magnitude. In the course of a few weeks, their respective charter parties dating through the month of June and into July, they were aided by so fortunate a circumstance as the presence in this city of a gentleman from the Sandwich Islands, who was immediately despatched home to charter vessels in the Pacific, &c. The whole business was completed, and all the vessels were despatched and a report thereof furnished to the government before they received the slightest intimation of the altered purposes of the Cabinet at Washington.

This statement leaves our government in the wrong, and Mr. Webster in an awkward position as the officer more immediately concerned.

As to the value of Guano, we see it stated that "there are about twenty-five thousand tons annually consumed in this country, which, at $30 per ton, would make the sum of $750,000. It is sold by Messrs Baretta & Brothers, of Baltimore, and Mr. T. W. Riley, of New York, the Peruvian Agents, at $46 per ton, wholesale. They therefore realize for themselves and their principals, clear of all expenses, the handsome sum of $400,000 annually."

ABOUT EGGS.

A. G. Randall, Esq., of Millbury, Mass., had his carriage pelted with rotten eggs on the evening of the 21st, as he returned from a whig meeting, where he had delivered a speech. The eggs made sad work on the dresses of the ladies and gentlemen who rode in the coach. 'An eye witness' in the Boston Daily Advertiser suggests that these unsavory missiles were a donation from certain coalitionists, and were thrown as arguments against whiggery. It is somewhat common to speak of a spicy political controversy, but if eggs like these are to be beaten up with it, the cake must be a bad one. Plain Graham bread would be vastly more palateable.

MILITARY VISIT.

The Cowdin Phalanx, Capt. Wardwell, of Boston, are expected here in the first train from Boston, this morning. They are to be received by the City Greys, at the Concord Depot, and after being escorted through the principal streets, at 11 o'clock will be served with a collation at the City Hotel. The two companies will then take up their line of march through the principal streets till three o'clock P. M., when they will proceed to dinner, to be served in Fernald's best style at the City Hotel. In the evening they will be escorted from their quarters at Jefferson Hall to the Grand Complimentary Levee at Congress Hall.

Tuesday morning they will breakfast at half past seven o'clock, and after a short parade will take the eleven o'clock train for Boston.

The Cushing Guards, of Newburyport, go to Portland this morning, and are to be entertained to-morrow, on their return, by the Saco Guards, with a dinner, a ball in the evening, &c. The City Greys, Capt. Towle, have extended them an invitation to stop in Portsmouth.

Davis, the murderer of his sister, in Boston, who was under sentence of death, has had his sentence commuted to imprisonment for life in the State prison.

Getting well around the Question.—The Newport News announces that Professor Macy, of New Bedford, will deliver two lectures in that town—the one for, and the other against the Maine law.

For the Chronicle.

SPIRITUALISM.

The "manifest destiny" of this subject is to take its rank among the "familiar things of science" as it now already is recognized among the familiar things for scientific investigation. Spiritualism is a word that has become engraven upon the minds of the people, and it is a subject that has at last become woven into those topics of discussion which are deemed of most interest to the common welfare. The least interested inquirers cannot dispose of it as a matter of no consequence, while the most interested cherish it as surpassing in its importance every other idea which has ever occupied the attention of mankind.

Connected with this subject of spiritualism, is as difficult a problem to solve to those who occupy the position of inquirers, as is even the enigma of the mystery itself. It is strange that a delusion so much deplored has been so long suffered to extend itself, and its pernicious effects represented itself in so lamentable a tone of feeling increasing with its spread, and still no effort on the part of those who realize that such is the fact, to stay its progress. If this whole subject is the shallow sophistry which it is pronounced to be, is not the wisdom required to make even this discovery sufficient to furnish a few arguments that will serve at least to check fanaticism—if not to enlighten sufficiently to convince.

This "masterly inactivity" policy is most consistent with a heartfelt sympathy for those who are deluded into the "new theology!" It is in fact itself an argument in favor of the popular theory for explaining the mystery. In all departments of moral reasoning there are,says a writer, two sides to every question, there are arguments for and objections against every proposition. Our conviction is determined by the preponderance of arguments over objections, or of objections over arguments. By this rule of reasoning, the spiritual theory is already established. It is difficult to find any arguments or objections against it, during its progress for the last five years, unless they consist of denunciation and ridicule; and this will weigh but little when placed in the opposite scale. There has been hardly a sufficient show of reasoning since the controversy commenced, to create a doubt, much less to convince the understanding. The obstinate pertinacity in declaring these things to be impossible has only served to make the facts of greater moment to those who were otherwise well assured to the contrary.

The method adopted to enlighten the misguided enthusiasts as they are called, has been somewhat after the fashion of the Venerable in a celebrated vision. "I am suspicious that my boy does not fully comprehend you." "No," said the Doctor, "he must be a blockhead, a numskull, not to say a beetle head, a blunderbuss if he does not." "O yes" was the reply, "The Doctor has made the matter as clear as the sun. This seems to be the mode adopted to clear up the difficult question of the modern wonders. The arguments have been "humbug and delusion,dupes and fools"; this has made the matter very lucid, more so probably to those who have employed it, than to these whom it was intended to enlighten. INQUIRER.

Odd Fellows.—In the Grand Lodge of the U. S. the following persons were elected officers for the current year:

P. G. M. Wilmot G. De Saussure, of South Carolina, Grand Sire.

P. G. M. Horace A. Manchester, of Rhode Island, Dept. Grand Sire.

P. G. M. James L. Ridgely, of Maryland, Grand Recording Secretary.

P. G. Joshua Vansant, of Maryland, Grand Treasurer.

We are indebted to P. G. M. Timothy G. Senter for the reports of the meeting.

A boy apparently twelve or fifteen years old, was found dead on the railroad track near Tyngsboro', Mass., last week. It is supposed he fell from the train. In his pockets were found a pistol and eight cents.

The Free Soilers of New Hampshire have nominated for Electors, Nathaniel S. Berry of Hebron, Samuel Griffin of Nelson, Aaron Quimby of Danville, Alonzo Smith of Manchester, and Alvah Smith of Lempster. They made no nomination for Governor.

☞ A writer in the Newburyport Herald of Saturday, "blows up" Messrs. Whitney and Taverner, Professors of Elocution, readers of Shakspeare, &c. The reader is requested to notice the difference between a puff and a blow. If he does so, he will get the sense of this item. If not, he can't understand it.

Death of a Member of Congress.—Hon. Benjamin Thompson, Member of Congress from the fourth district of Massachusetts, died at his residence in Charlestown, on Friday afternoon, after a short illness. This is the third death which has occurred in the Massachusetts Congressional delegation this year.

Reported for the Daily Morning Chronicle.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

SEPTEMBER TERM, 1852.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 25.

The Court met at 8 o'clock, and remained in session about two hours, proceeding in the case of Barrett vs. Salem Manufacturing Co., after which adjourned, to meet at 10 1-2 o'clock A. M. on Monday.

Sour Grapes.—A bunch of grapes is just above our head—but we are no foxes, and therefore cannot wait all day as Æsop's fox did—so we cut them down and weigh them—they weigh 9 1-4 ounces, and are from a vine in the garden of Robert Gray, Esq.

Utica Railroad.—A new Railroad, 46 miles long, is projected, on a straight line from Utica to Syracuse, N. Y. The present road is 6 miles longer. The new road is to cost $1,000,000.

The Albany Register says: "If this Road shall be constructed, it will be the first Rail Road in the United States approaching a parallel, and will test the question whether there will be business enough to support two lines on one great thoroughfare."

The Eastern, and the Boston & Maine Railroads, is almost as near parallel, as the roads here mentioned.

☞ Mrs. Stowe of Uncle Tom's Cabin, Henry Ward Beecher of the Independent, and the Rev. Joel Parker of the Presbyterian Church, have a very pretty quarrel on hand, literary, religious and personal; which is now assuming a singular aspect. The New York Observer and Journal of Commerce come out for Mr. Parker against the Beechers—and Parker denies that he ever wrote or signed a letter or letters which appeared in the Independent with his signature.

Baughey the Begging Editor.—The Concord, N. H. Patriot says:

"That chap was a genuine sucker. He took us in to the amount of $5, and two of our friends here to the same amount each, just to take him to New York, where he had funds enough, and would repay it. He "come the same game" over editors in Oswego and Elmira, N. Y.; Hartford and New Haven, Ct.; Dayton and Columbus, Ohio; Portsmouth and Manchster in this State, and probably many others who have not "owned up." He is a very gentlemanly and modest appearing rascal, any way."

The Salem Register and Lawrence Courier must be added to the list.

The end of a Farce.—Secretary Corwin, it is understood, has not resigned, but will as soon as the Gardiner committee report and clear him, as they will do, of all improper conduct in that case. The reported disclosures and flares up in the committee, are believed to be unfounded; nothing new or startling having transpired. Mr. Corwin intends stumping it in Ohio for Gen. Scott after his resignation.

Sudden Death.—In Needham yesterday, a man named John Hurd, about sixty years of age, died quite suddenly. He had been engaged in wheeling peat, and was found by the side of his wheelbarrow, dead. It is supposed that he died of disease of the heart.—Traveller.

Jenny Lind and her husband recently passed several days in Paris. The nightingale refused all offers to sing in public there. She appeared several times at the opera, and attracted much attention.

Fatal Accident.—Mr. Galen Edson, of North Bridgewater, fell from the attic to the basement of a house upon which he was at work in that town, on Friday last, and injured himself so badly that he lived but twenty-four hours.

John P. Norton, Professor of Agricultural Chemistry in Yale College, died at the residence of his father, in Farmington, Ct., on the 5th inst. The New Haven Register says that Mr. Norton was a young man of high attainment in his profession, and justly esteemed for his moral and social qualities by a large circle of acquaintances.

THE IMPROVED

EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appanatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL, and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Angelo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

ERO " HAVANA.

Advices from Havana to the 19th, state that arrests were being made daily throughout the island, of parties supposed to be connected with the Fillibusters.

A council of war was to be held on the 23d for the trial of the eleven prisoners concerned in the publication of the Voice of the people.—The Government had received intelligence that 1200 stand of arms had been landed near Cienfuegos, and that 200 had been seized by the military authorities in the vicinity. The remainder were carried to the mountains and secreted by the country people.

All American papers, without exception, are prohibited, and spies swarmed in every direction. The Captain General had stationed troops in all parts of the island, and was making vigorous exertions to suppress the least attempt at insurrection.

The steamer Pizarro had proved a total loss. The officers of Empire City were politely treated by the Spanish authorities.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—It is not generally credited that several recruiting agencies have been established here for Cuban invaders. A meeting of 45 persons was held at the Westchester House last evening, to organize the first company of the first regiment of Cuban Guards.

Hon. John P. Kennedy, Secretary of the Navy, with Commodore Perry, will visit officially the U. S. steamers Powhatan and Mississippi on Tuesday next. Commodore Perry wishes to have the Powhatan take the place of the Princeton, in the East India squadron, on the ground that the latter cannot carry coal enough for the voyage.

The cholera is increasing here, and considerable alarm is felt.

GENERAL SCOTT'S RECEPTION along the way to Chillicothe was very enthusiastic. At Circleville he was met by a large number of his friends, to whom he made a brief speech, saying he was travelling as a private citizen, and as such only he received and welcomed gladly the good wishes of his countrymen. While a salute was being fired there, one of our German citizens was so badly hurt by the bursting of a gun that he died soon afterwards. Gen. Scott, on learning of the accident, drove out to the man's residence, and made his wife a present of $30. Subsequently, when he heard of the man's death, he sent his widow a check for $400.

INSUBORDINATION OF NEGROES IN VIRGINIA.—We learn that the negroes in Princess Anne County have become so rebellious that it was found necessary to order out an extra patrol. On Sunday night last this patrol made a descent upon a church where a large number of negroes had congregated for the purpose of holding a meeting, and dispersed them. In a short time the fodder stacks of the party were discovered to be on fire. The patrol immediately started for the fire, but before reaching the scene it was discovered that the stacks of other neighbors had shared a like fate, all having no doubt been fired by the negroes for revenge. A strict watch is now kept over them, and most rigid means adopted to make every one know and keep his place.—Norfolk Beacon.

WHIGS IN PENNSYLVANIA.—Pittsburgh, Sept. 23.—The city has been unusually lively to-day in consequence of the Whig Convention of Western Pennsylvania.

The meeting was addressed by several eminent Whigs, among them Gen. Leslie Coombs of Kentucky. The attendance at the meeting was large, but the number was differently estimated by Whigs and Democrats. Disinterested parties, however, compute the number at about 3000. After the speeches, a procession paraded the principal streets, presenting an animated and beautiful spectacle, and effectually arousing the dormant enthusiasm of the Whigs. After the procession the delegations dispersed.

IS IT TRUE?—The story is current in the city, that a gentleman not unknown in business circles is living on a cracker a day, by the direction of the spirits, and that he is so feeble as to be hardly able to walk. We should be sorry to believe that any sane man could be so pitifully deluded.—Springfield Republican.

A POLITICAL RIDDLE.—Gerritt Smith's "liberty party," having received no reply to a letter sent to Messrs Hale and Julian, requiring them to say that they consider slavery illegal, not susceptible of being legalized, &c., have called a new National Convention at Syracuse, New York, on the 30th inst.

ACTION FOR DAMAGES.—The action of Miss Ann M. Clark vs. the City of Boston, for damages sustained on the 19th day of September, 1851, by falling into a cellar doorway in Hawkins street, was commenced in the Supreme Court Thursday. Miss Clark was so seriously injured that she has been confined to the Hospital nearly all the time since the accident, and there is now no prospect of her recovery. The amount claimed is $20,000.—Boston Journal.

AFTER THEM.—Gen. Sam Houston, in a speech delivered not long since, charged that the Rev. A. T. Foss, a Baptist clergyman of New Hampshire, in good and regular church standing, who reported Gen. Pierce's New Boston speech, was a thief, and had been in the State Prison! The reverend gentleman does not succumb to, or relish this charge. At least, we learn that he started last week for the South, with the intention of overtaking Houston and bringing him to legal account for the libel. He intends, also, it is stated, to call upon certain editors who have given publicity to the charge. Mr. Foss is said to be a man of such unflagging perseverance, that nothing short of obtaining complete satisfaction, can shake him from any purpose like that of following up a thing of the kind. As he has the sympathy and co-operation of the Baptist denomination in New Hampshire—and is likely to receive those of the same sect in the South—it is quite probable that we may yet hear something of one or more of his interviews with his defamers at the South.—Lowell Journal.

A RACER.—A squash vine commenced growing in the garden of Col. Samuel M. Currier of Hopkinton, about the middle of June, and by the 16th of September had attained a length of 252 feet. It bore 15 respectable sized mar owfat squashes.—Concord Reporter.

SALE OF MR. CLAY'S PROPERTY AT ASHLAND.—A sale of a portion of the personal property of the late Hon. Henry Clay took place at Ashland on the 15th inst. and embraced about twenty head of thorough bred cattle, several fine horses, and a quantity of wine, put up several years ago by Mr. Clay himself. The sale took place under the direction of his executors.

The $10,000 to be raised for the foundation of a State Reform School in Connecticut has been collected and deposited in the State Treasury. This settles the question of the establishment of the school. The State is to contribute $15,000 more towards the object.

Professor Henry P. Tappan, of the University of the City of New York, has accepted the Presidency of the Michigan State University, to which he was recently elected; and Prof. Long, of Dartmouth College, has been elected to the Professorship of Moral Philosophy, vacated by this acceptance.

TO ELIZABETH.

BY MARY HOWE.

The gentle moon of summer night,
Hath cast a softened glow
Above the fields, a shadow-light,
Like that which long ago,
Revealed in faint, uncertain hues
The landscape round thy home,
On summer nights whilst he would muse,
Of summers yet to come.

Unchanged, that shadow moveth slow,
Unchanged the moonbeams shine;
I would thy heart the beam might know,
The shadow rests on mine;
For never more may come to bless,
With love's deep, sacred truth,
Those trusting hearts of tenderness,
The friends of early youth.

Life's cares and woes have darkly rolled,
Where hope's fair dreams once sped,
And some who loved are stern and cold,
And some are with the dead.
O! this fair world hath golden hours,
Yet sad ones still have birth,
Even as the north wind to the flowers,
Or winter to the earth.

Elizabeth, around my heart,
The chain of memory
May treasure as its brightest part,
Its binding link to thee;
And still, when dewy mornings shine,
Or gentle voices swell,
Or greetings wake this heart of mine,
I think of thee, farewell.

SUICIDE.—Mrs. Venable, a widow lady aged 82 years, committed suicide at Ithaca, N. Y., a few days since, by hanging herself from a beam in her chamber.

Among the almost endless variety of Cooking Stoves now offered to the public, MORRISON'S IMPROVED stands pre-eminent.

FIVE SIZES, FOR WOOD OR COAL.

More than nine thousand of these stoves have been sold at retail in this vicinity since July, 1850, to the entire satisfaction of the purchasers.

This store is now offered at prices twenty per ct. less than any other stove in the market, and will be [illegible] delivered to purchasers on the line of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad free of charge for freight and truckage.

We likewise offer an entirely new pattern of

for wood only—an article much wanted since the old Franklin Stove went out of date—together with an extensive assortment of every description of Parlor, Office, Church and Cooking Stoves, Ranges, Grates, Hot-Air Furnaces, Marble Mantles, &c., &c., to which the attention of purchasers is respectfully solicited.

Portsmouth, Sept. 8th, 1852.

The Bay State Stove,

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

THE subscriber, in offering this favorite Stove to the public, for the present season, would state that a new covered Broiling Apparatus has been added, the flues enlarged for burning anthracite coal, and the Stove otherwise improved—and is now put into the market as in the world. The castings are heavier, more beautiful and durable; the stove has a larger oven, will bake better and with less fuel, than any other stove in use.

These stoves are made from pure metal and are not liable to crack; and we furnish every stove with the best of apparatus—Copper Boiler, &c., and warrant them a year; and if any part proves defective it will be made good without charge.

Persons wishing to obtain a good Stove, will do well to buy a BAY STATE. They have been in operation in this city for four years past, and have given perfect satisfaction. For sale at the Store of the subscriber, where may be found a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR AND OFFICE STOVES, TIN WARE, FUNNEL, &c. for sale cheap for cash. E. A. STEVENS.

LINES ON A CIGAR.

Give me a good Cigar!
I ask no higher joy
Then a long smoke at eventide
With some kindred B'hoy;
When softly at the set of sun,
The day draws to its close,
And, its rough task of labor done,
The world sinks to repose.

Give me a good Cigar!
Quickly life's troubles fade,
And like a dreary landscape seem,
Seen thro' some chast'ning shade.
A soothing calm steals o'er my mind,
All passion strivings cease—
As the blue, upward-curling smoke
All softly whispers 'Peace.'

Give me a good Cigar!
With which to sit and dream
Of my wild, varied passage down
Time's swiftly rolling stream.
To scan the stormy waves now past,
And muse their danger's o'er,
Or cast my chances soon to rest
On the immortal shore.

Give me a good Cigar!
While in the busy street;
At morning's dawn, or eventide,
Or 'neath the noon-day heat.
A friend amid the summer's calm,
Or in the winter's storm;
When others cool it will burn on
With friendship bright and warm.

Give me a good Cigar!
The world's true face appears
Unmasked from its false, oft worn guise
Of stern Fate's miles of tears,
Thus seen, all vain is riches' glare,
And vain ambition's meed;
Nor wine's bright glow, nor woman's smile,
Can lure me from the 'weed.'

Give me a good Cigar!
To teach me man's estate,
His cause, his strangely varied course,
And his unerring fate,
Tho' ashes like my frame must fall,
Yet shall my spirit rise,
As the bright etherial smoke
Floats upward to the skies.

—Newburyport Herald.

THE OCEAN TELEGRAPH COMPANY.—A project is on foot to establish an Ocean Telegraph Company, under a royal charter from the crown of England; the capital of the Company being £500,000, with power to increase it to a million. The route proposed is from Quebec, by the way of Labrador, to Greenland, thence to Iceland, the Faroe, Shetland and Orkney Islands, to the northern coast of Scotland.

By this route the sub-marine portion of the line will be divided into at least five sections, none of which will be over five hundred miles in length. This removes the obstacles which have been proved to be insurmountable in a direct oceanic line.

The scheme strikes one at first sight as Utopian, but it may yet turn out to be perfectly feasible and easily accomplished. The whole distance will fall within 3000 miles, a very large portion of which is by land, and the remainder divided into comparatively short marine sections.

The accomplishment of such an enterprise is more worthy of being handed down to the last moment of recorded time than all the victories of Alexander and Napoleon.—Boston Journal.

MEANNESS.—The editor of the New York Mirror is collecting anecdotes of the "meanest of mankind." He commences with a mercantile firm in that city,—when a lad brought into their counting-room a pocket-book which had been lost in the streets containing $10,000, in checks and drafts, paid him off with—"Thank you—all right."

A lad in the same city picked up a check of $400, and took it to the bank on which it was drawn, and was told to "Clear out," for his pains.

A wretch of a landlord in the upper part of the same city, a few nights ago, threw a poor widow's furniture into the street, because she was in arrears for rent to the amount of one dollar! This poor woman had a sick child, emaciated almost to a skeleton, its fingers resembling birds' claws more than any thing human; and the miserable mother had nothing to eat, except what her neighbors sent her from day to day.

FASHIONS.—The City Item of the Boston Courier comes out in the following terms against some modern fashions:

"Washington street presented a gay spectacle yesterday. There was quite a display of blooming young women and healthy children on the sidewalks during the afternoon; but the cherub innocence of the one, and the natural beauty of the other, were much disfigured and marred by a custom, which is now all the rage among promenading ladies and walking babies, viz:—the extremes of long and short dresses. The trails of the women and the naked legs of the half perished children were only equal in absurdity. Notwithstanding the jeers of a young convert to what is supposed to be the happy state of man, it does seem to be the duty of every sensible person, husband or bachelor, to rail against the 'fashion' prevalent among a portion of the female population. Large feet are no excuse—the scoffs and gaze of dandydom are no excuse—'fashion' itself, potent as it is in matters of dress, is no excuse for tolerating bare legged children and long trailed women in the streets. Health and economy are against the system, and the sooner it is abandoned the better.—This is the opinion of real friends and true admirers of the ladies, and of the babies of ladies, too.

Bowen, of Providence, Rhode Island, by James W. DAILY Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1852.

AGITATION.

There is more of the spirit of revolution apparent in the Boston Morning Chronicle at the present time, than in all the other Boston papers put together. If we did not know that the paper was the organ of the liquor trade, we should think the editor was one of the most radical and fanatical of abolitionists. Hear him:

"Agitation, Repeal, Remuneration, are the watchwords of the campaign,—the battle-cry of the freemen of Massachusetts.

* * * * The law has the elements of strife in its own bosom; the opponents of the law must furnish the agitation.

* * * * The public mind must be made sensible of the unconstitutionality of the law, its injustice and inequality. It must have 'line upon line;' it must be kept alive, 'by the way, sitting down, and rising up.' All opposed to the law must agitate; and as John Wesley once said to his associates, 'all at it, and always at it.'"

There! does not that sound like Garrison, and Foster and Pillsbury? Agitation—agitate! He goes farther, and calls for Repeal Clubs and Associations, to "be multiplied in all places in which three men can be found opposed to the law. Say to all men that you vote for no man not pledged to the repeal of the law."

He speaks of the Free-soil party in Massachusetts as pursuing the fair policy of nominating an out and out temperance-law candidate for Governor. But into the other parties he pitches with a valor that makes no compromise with discretion.

"The Whig and Democratic parties have adopted the sum policy on that notorious and infamous enactment, disregarding and contemning a great interest of the Commonwealth and the rights of many of her citizens.

* * * * * * *

It will be seen, therefore, that there is before the people no candidate for Governor who can with safety be regarded as an opponent of the liquor law, and that neither of the political parties has demonstrated in the least degree any opposition to it. They can talk and pass resolutions, in general terms, about economy and about the great interests of the State, but have not one word to say, specially, about a law which aims a blow at the property and political rights of a large and respectable portion of the people of Massachusetts!"

Now let us listen to the reason why the political parties are so reckless of right, and to the editor's view of the strength of parties.

He asks, "Why is this?" and then replies, "They [the parties] want the votes of a majority of voters, and would not therefore trifle with the rights of the majority, for doing so would defeat them. The answer is, they believe that the opponents of the law are in the minority; and tyrant-like, they would therefore over-leap all constitutional barriers erected for the protection of minorities as well as for majorities, if thereby their political schemes can be accomplished."

What unprincipled, tyrannical, selfish fellows, these whigs and democrats must be to court the majority in preference to the minority! But that's the way of the world.

Not only does the Chronicle find fault with the politicians, but a correspondent quarrels with the drinkers and sellers of his favored article in a way that looks, really, as if some of them gave "aid and comfort to the enemy."

He says it is "Meanness" for any one "to use wine or other intoxicating drink, and be at the same time a supporter of the Maine law. A person doing this, even by his vote only, stands in relation to the seller on the same ground as does the receiver of stolen goods to the thief.

It is meanness for a man who has obtained a living, and amassed a fortune in the traffic in ardent spirits, to withhold his means and encouragement from honorable efforts to obtain the repeal of a law, which, if executed, would deprive him of his occupation, and which besides brands him as a felon."

These things do not look as if the law was likely to be repealed—though its execution is quite imperfect in Boston, and is likely to be.

CONCERT THIS EVENING.

The "Seven Misses" and the "Nightingales" together, in one concert, present an array of musical talent and acquirement rarely seen in the same number of young persons. By the advertisement in this paper, and by the programme which has been freely circulated, it will be seen that Mr. Moses their teacher has selected a rich variety of musical gems, which will be brought out in a brilliant exhibition. The farewell Floral Concert will be, in its preparation of Music, and in the decoration of the Room, superior to any thing attempted here by the same hand. We doubt not it will be fully attended.

SUDDEN DEATH.—A young man named Andrew P. Seavey, 24 years of age, who has long been in consumption, was seized with bleeding yesterday, when in a store, and was taken into Dr. Kimball's for aid, but expired almost immediately. He was a married man, highly respected.

KINKS IN THE LAW.

On Saturday last at Watertown, Mass. before Justice White, came on the case of Zachariah B. Porter, the proprietor of the Cambridge Cattle Market Hotel, charged with three violations of the new liquor law by selling liquor by the glass in month of July last, on complaint of Christopher Columbus Richardson of East Cambridge. Mr. Train, counsel for Boston, informed the Court that his client had, since coming into town, come into possession of information relative to the complainant Richardson, which, if proved, would render him incompetent to testify, or to inform even, in the case. That information was that Mr. Richardson was an atheist. Mr. Porter at once made affidavit to this effect, and also set forth that if time was allowed him he could substantiate the allegation. On account of this suggestion, which the counsel for the government were not prepared to meet, the case was postponed to Friday.

A man charged with a crime has a right to avail himself of all such dodges as this, to save his head—but we have long thought that religious tests were worse than useless in regard to evidence. The real question in regard to a witness, ought to be, Does he tell the truth? Can we believe him? But the law asks, rather, what does he swear by? It is very well known, we suppose, to every lawyer, that the worst kind of witnesses are quite ready to say they believe any thing, and to swear by any thing required;—and when this is done, they are ready to testify almost any thing.

In the last resort, the jury and the court have to judge of such testimony, as well as they can. Why might they not do the same in regard to that of the Atheist?

Quakers, now, in many States, perhaps in all, are excused from making oath. They promise to tell the truth, Affirming, "under the pains and penalties of perjury." These pains and penalties are fine and imprisonment. Why not affirm all that come into court,—or all who either cannot or will not take the usual oath. It seems to us that the oath ought not to be trifled with, nor the truth lost. Both might be saved by hearing all parties, and believing or disbelieving as we must.

MILITARY VISITORS.

The Cowdin Phalanx, Capt. Wardwell, according to the notice in yesterday's paper, arrived in town by the Concord Train, from Boston, accompanied by Kendall's Boston Brass Band. The Phalanx number only about 30 guns, a part of their number being accidentally left behind. They however came down in the evening train in season to attend the levee at Congress Hall. The Phalanx were received by the City Greys, Capt. Towle, whose guests they are while in the city.

The Greys with their gusts partook of a collation at 11 o'clock, at the City Hotel, after which both companies marched through the city till 3 o'clock, when they proceeded to dinner.

The dinner was served at the City Hotel by Mr. Fernald, in a style which cannot be excelled. The Phalanx were welcomed to the city, in behalf of the Greys, by Hon. Ichabod Bartlett, in a brief and pertinent speech, which was replied to in an able manner by Capt. Wardwell of the Phalanx. Then, at the word from Capt. Towle, the two companies and invited guests proceeded to the principal business of the afternoon. After the substantials were fully discussed, the tables were cleared, and with speeches, music and toasts—patriotic and sentimental, passed away the time in an agreeable manner till about 6 o'clock, P.M.

We are pleased to state the fact that no intoxicating liquors were furnished on the occasion, and the whole affair was conducted in a manner highly creditable to all concerned.

Among the invited guests were Hon. Ichabod Bartlett, His Honor Mayor Toppan, Maj. Baker of the Marine Corps, and others.

At six o'clock the two companies made a short parade, and went into quarters at Jefferson Hall.

In the evening, after divesting themselves of their equipments, the two companies proceeded to Congress Hall, where they were greeted by the smiles of a large number of fair ladies such as no city but Portsmouth can produce, and by the aid of Fettel's Quadrille Band, glided through the mazes of the waltz and merry dance till a late hour. About one hundred couples were in the hall.

The Phalanx will leave for Boston in the afternoon train to-day, and the Greys will parade at 2 o'clock P. M. to escort them to the depot. The visiting company appear highly pleased with their reception, and will leave behind them a character for courtesy and soldier like conduct which will long be remembered.

APPROPRIATIONS FOR PISCATAQUA HARBOR.—At the session of Congress, just closed, the following appropriations were made:

In Maine—For a lighthouse on the Nubble, near Cape Neddick,	$5000
For a beacon on Lory Ledge, Pepperell's Cove, Kittery,	800
For rebuilding lighthouse and keeper's dwelling-house, Boon Island,	25,000
For two spar-buoys on the Eastern and Western Sisters,	160
In New Hampshire—For a beacon on Willey's Ledge, and a spar-buoy on Halfway Rock,	800

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

SEPTEMBER TERM, 1852.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 27.

Two new sets of Jurors came in this morning, but as the case now on trial bids fair to last through this week, half the jurors were discharged.

Simes Frink, Greenland, Foreman;
Asa Noyes, Atkinson;
G. P. Clark, Auburn;
Josiah Robinson, Brentwood;
Nathan Hoitt, Danville;
Charles F. Greeley, East Kingston;
Isaac Heath, Hampstead;
Aaron Prescott, Hampton Falls;
Wm. C. Webster, Kingston;
John Locke 2d, New Castle;
Daniel Flanders, Newton;
William Rollins, Newington.

Monday next has been assigned for the trial of the Prisoners.

No civil cases will be tried beyond No. 63, on any event, this week.

The case Bassett v. Salisbury Manufacturing Company is still on trial. The Evidence for the plff is not yet all in. The Counsel intimated this morning that the case would probably occupy the remainder of the week.

No. 39 is next in order for trial.

GEN. SCOTT IN THE WEST.—The papers of yesterday, particularly the Boston Courier, Advertiser and Times, contain a long telegraphic despatch frsm Maysville, Kentucky, detailing Gen. Scott's progress through the West, which resembles a triumphal march more than an official journey. At Maysville, six thousand people turned out, and speeches were made on both sides. Gen. Scott's is reported.

The Boston Courier copies the speech as an unfavorable specimen of presidential oratory, and then says:

"It is but fair to add that the telegraphic report of the reception is borne out by the newspaper account, and that, notwithstanding the pelting rain storm, thousands waited an hour on the banks of the lake to welcome his arrival."

MASS MEETING AT AUGUSTA.—The only thing we see to-day, about the numbers present at the democratic mass meeting at Augusta, is the following extract from the Portland Argus.

"We arrived at Augusta between ten and eleven. A procession was formed of Delegates and citizens, preceded by the band, and marched thro' Water and State Streets to the State House. The procession was a long one. The Advertiser correspondent sets it at 299; a friend says there were 1000 persons in it. Divide these sums by 2, and you have 650. Very likely that was about the ticket."

It is very plain from this, that the "estimated ten thousand" which we first published, was a wild estimate, altogether. The attendance was respectable, and the speaking eloquent, especially by Van Buren and Soule.

EASTERN RAILROAD INTO BOSTON.—There is quite a number of hands now engaged on that part of the Eastern Railway which is in Chelsea, on the line into Boston proper. The bridges on the Salem Turnpike, and from the Mill Hill to North Chelsea are in a state of forwardness; and the whole of the double track through the Cary estate can be completed in a short time. While the distance between Boston and the East is shortened some two miles by this new portion of, and improvement in the Eastern Railway, it must be highly satisfactory for the managers to find that the expense of building it will not be near so much as had been originally supposed.—Boston Courier.

The Secretary of the Fayette County, Ohio, Bible Society, in reporting its last annual meeting says:

"Thirty years ago we had thirty distilleries in our county, and no church; we have now thirty churches and no distillery." How horribly trade must have suffered during those thirty-five years.

Stephen Dicks, alive and in good health at Clarksburg, Va., heard the original Declaration of Independence read from the steps of the State House, Philadelphia, in 1776. He was then fourteen, and is now ninety.

A woman named Eliza White, 92 years of age, residing in Germantown Road, near Fourth, Philadelphia, accidentally fell, at an early hour on the morning of the 22d inst., while shutting the door, and injured her spine in such a manner that she died in a few minutes afterwards.

Returns from 25 counties of Ohio give the aggregate number of cattle this year at 408,495, and the number of hogs 455,588.—The same counties last year contained 422,806 cattle, and 563,854 hogs.

OLE BULL, on Saturday morning, at Independence Hall, Philadelphia, declared his intention of becoming a citizen of the United States. His colony in Northern Pennsylvania is in a very promising state.

The editor of the Bangor Mercury saw in a wagon in the streets the other day, 104 live wild ducks which were taken at one swoop in a spring net near that city, somewhere, where, the captor would not definitely state, for fear of outsiders "poaching on his manor."

A NEW USE FOR CANALS.—We saw a handsome field of corn growing in the bed of the Middlesex Canal, at Middlesex Village, the other day, as we passed by. We thought the owner would receive a better per centage on his investment than the original owners of the canal had received on theirs.—Lowell News.

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.
THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appanatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

THE DEAD ON THE PLAINS.—Col. Geo. E. Blodget, who has just reached St. Joseph from the plains, has furnished the Gazette of that place with a list containing the names, time of death, and former residence of some 150 persons, whose graves he saw on the road-side on the north side of the Platte, between Devil's Gate and the Missouri river.

There are many graves off the road he did not see; the majority who die are buried at the different camping places, sometimes four or five miles off the main trail. He describes the scene along the entire road as truly heart-rending; from the imperfect manner in which the dead are buried, the wolves soon scent and drag them from their shallow graves, strewing the trail with human bones.

He estimates the emigration this year at 40,000 people, with 8000 wagons and about 60,000 head of cattle.—St. Louis Intel., 17th.

SCARCITY OF MACKEREL.—The Gloucester Telegraph says that the returns of mackerel at that port for the year past fall short full one half of what the receipts were at this time last year. This is owing mainly to the troubles with the English. The prospect for the remainder of the season is not very favorable, and if those vessels now out return with more than half a fare, it is more than is anticipated.

SAILING OF THE STEAMER HUMBOLDT.—New York, Sept. 25.—The steamer Humboldt, which sailed to-day took out about $300,000 in specie, and over 100 passengers, among them several ladies, being the first detachment from Philadelphia, New York and Boston, who are about starting for Italy to spend the winter, with others of their countrywomen who are now in London and Paris.

INSTALLATION.—Rev. E. W. Allen, of North Reading, is to be installed as pastor of the Howard St. Church in Salem, on Thursday afternoon next. Rev. Dr. Dimmick of Newburyport, and Rev. Dr. Lyman Beecher will participate in the services of the occasion.

"He heapeth up riches and knoweth not who shall gather them."

We have already published a statement that Thomas Quigley died on the 17th, and his daughter, Phœbe Ann Quigley, on the 19th, at Malden, N. Y. The N. Y. Courier & Enquirer says:

"Mr. Quigley had acquired a large fortune, and was about to relinquish all cares of business, and devote the remainder of his days to the enjoyment of the competence he had acquired. His injuries promised to terminate favorably up to the time the Reindeer was burned, when he arose from his bed and walked to the window to see the burning boat. The exertion and excitement proved too much for him, and produced a fever from which he never recovered."

A DRUNKEN FREAK.—Wednesday afternoon, a man crazy from drink stationed himself on Dorchester avenue, near Alger's forge, and arming himself with several heavy stones, amused himself by playing highway robbet. Every vehicle that passed he ordered to stop, and if the driver refused he was assailed with stones. One man in a chaise had a stone thrown directly through the cover. A teamster who refused to stop was pursued and narrowly escaped serious injury from the volley of stones showered upon him. The drunken fellow stepped directly in front of one of Hendry's omnibuses and ordered it to stop. The driver reined in his horses, and was asked by the fellow, "who are you?" "I am yours," said the driver, with great presence of mind. "Then you can pass," was the response, and he was suffered to go on unharmed.—Boston Traveller.

THE BOOT AND SHOE BUSINESS.—The Milford Journal states that there were forwarded from that town, during the month of July, over the Boston and Worcester Railroad, eight thousand one hundred and ninety-six cases of boots, each case containing twelve pairs, making in all, ninety-eight thousand three hundred and fifty-two pairs. The freight on the same amounted to one thousand and twenty-three dollars and twenty-seven cents. Nearly or quite one fourth as many more were sent by other conveyances.

THE SOLUTION OF THE SNAKE MYSTERY.—The great snake story which has excited so much interest within the last few days, loses all its mystery in the simple fact that his snakeship was one of Barnum's anacondas, which died last week at the Museum; it was put into the ashes barrel and dumped somewhere in the vicinity of Trinity Church yard! It was an Irishman, we believe, who "saw it moving, and kilt it with his shovel intirely!"

Mayor Hood, of Lynn, had his house and furniture bedaubed with blacking on Saturday morning about one o'clock by some rowdies

TEXAS WINE.—The Houston Telegraph says that a very large quantity of wine has been made in Texas, this season, from native grapes. Most of the wine has been made from the Mustang grape, which yields a wine of a beautiful claret color, and seems to combine some of the qualities of claret and port.

GOOD FOR BARNUM.—The Providence Journal well says—"Catherine Hayes, like the sensible girl that she is, has made an arrangement with Barnum to manage her concerts.—A singer can do better with Barnum than with all the fiddlers in the country."

VEGETABLE CURIOSITY.—A potato, dug lately by Mr. Nahum Perkins, of this town, measures 12 inches in length, and weighs one pound and six ounces! This esculent embraces six distinctly formed potatoes, forming a coalition, the object of which may be made apparent on 'lection day, if not before.—North Bridgewater Gazette.

ELECTROTYPING.

We have recently been asked to explain the mode of Electrotyping, or the precipitation of metals by Galvanizing. The following is the process. The head of the Chronicle is an electrotype. It has become fashionable and necessary to give nearly all cuts a coating of copper or composition, as well as much of the type intended for severe service, though it has not generally been deemed so successful when applied to small type.

The original and very simple method of effecting the precipitation, is to have a vessel with two apartments, the division being made by a piece of leather, or any porous substance. Into one apartment pour a weak solution of sulphuric acid and water, and in the other a saturated solution of sulphate of copper (blue vitriol). Then place zinc, fastened to a piece of copper-wire, in the acid; and upon the other end of the wire fasten a coin, or any article to be coated or coated, and bend it over so as to rest in the solution in the other apartment.

The metal will be gradually precipitated upon the coin, and in a short time will form a thick copper scale, having a perfect copy of the face of the coin. If any part of the coin is varnished or covered with wax, the metal will not touch that part. So accurate will be the copy, that the most minute lines will appear—even the marks of one's thumb, if left upon the coin; copies of Daguerreotype pictures, the lines of which are too fine to be felt, have also been taken. It has also been used to take copies of engraved plates, giving as perfect pictures as the original plate. The copper can also be precipitated upon paper, if the paper be previously lightly coated with plumbago.

SMUGGLING SPIRITS IN FRANCE.

A writer in the Prisoner's Friend, relates a capital anecdote, from which the opponents of the Maine Liquor Law might derive a useful hint.

"Looking," he says, "through the Mayor's office, in the twelfth arrondisement, in Paris, the body of a negro was hanging by the neck. It had every appearance of a human being.—At the first glance I took it to be such, and supposed that disappointed love or an expeditious judge had thus suddenly disposed of him. Further examination showed that I was mistaken. The door-keeper was asked what all this meant.

In a huge, dirty room, scattered over the floor, and along the ceiling, are all the inventions of roguery which had been confiscated from time to time by those guardians of the law, the revenue officers.

It is a complete arsenal of weapons for smuggling; all, unfortunately, in confusion. Look before you—there is a hogshead dressed up as a nurse with a child that holds two quarts and a half.

On the other side are logs, hollow as the Trojan horse, and filled with whole armies of cigars. On the floor lies a boa-constrictor, gorged with China silks; and just behind it, a pile of coal, curiously perforated with spools of cotton. The colored gentleman who excited my sympathy at first, met with his fate under the following circumstances:

He was built of tin, painted black, and stood like a heyduck, or Ethiopian chasseur, on the foot-board of a coach, fastened by his feet and hands. He had frequently passed through the gates, and was well known by sight to the soldiers, who noticed he was always showing his teeth, which they supposed was the custom in his country.

One day the carriage he belonged to was stopped by a crowd at the gate. There was as usual, a grand chorus of oaths and yells, the vocal part being performed by the drivers and cartmen, and the instrumental by their whips.

The negro, however, never spoke a word. His good behavior delighted the soldiers, who held him up as an example to the crowd.

"Look at that black fellow," they cried; "see how well he behaves. Bravo, nigger, bravo!"

He showed a perfect indifference to their applause.

"My friend," said a clerk at the barrier, jumping up on the foot-board, and slapping our sable friend on the shoulder, "we are really much obliged to you."

Oh, surprise! the shoulder rattled! The officer was bewildered. He sounded the footman all over, and found was made of metal and as full as his skin would hold of the best contraband liquor, which was drawn out at his foot.

The juicy mortal was seized at once and carried off in triumph.

The first night, the revenue people drank up one of his shoulders, and he was soon bled to death. It is now six years since he lost all the moisture in his system, and was reduced to a dry skeleton.

NUCLEUS OF A LIBRARY.—At a supper given to John P. Hale, at Cleveland, Ohio, he related as a fact for the encouragement of young men, that, a few days before, he was in Boston, and was introduced into a large room so filled with books that there was not room enough vacant for a "New England Primer." A lady asked him if he would like to see the "nucleus" of the library. He replied yes. She showed him a Latin dictionary purchased by the owner when a boy, with money obtained by the sale of blue berries. The owner was the son of a farmer, and commenced his library in that way. He is now familiar with the languages of the past and present, a man of thought, and that man is Theodore Parker. Boston Courier.

An old gentleman by the name of Gould married a girl of nineteen. He wrote a letter to a friend, informing him of the happy event, with this couplet:

"So you see, my dear friend, though eighty years old,
A girl of nineteen falls in love with old GOULD."

He received a reply in these words:

"A girl of nineteen may love GOULD, it is true,
But, believe me, dear sir, it is GOULD without u."

DEFECT IN THE GERMAN LANGUAGE.—It appears from the decision of Judge Campbell, in the case of the Trustees, &c., of the Forsyth Street Dutch Reformed Church vs. the Rev. Frederick Busche, that the Germans have but one word to express "majority and plurality," and that it can only be determined from the context which of these ideas is intended to be conveyed.

STEAMBOAT LAW IN GREAT BRITAIN.—Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Glasgow, Scotland, to a friend in Boston, dated September 3d:—

"Of one thing we have certainly an advantage over you, viz., in the unfrequency of steamboat accidents. Every mail which arrives from the United States brings fearful accounts of the slaughter of hundreds of persons, by explosions, fires, collisions, &c. I cannot understand how such an apathy prevails on such a subject in the United States. Two years ago, a large steamer, the Orion, was lost on the Scotch coast. It was a fine starlight night, and about as light as day. The weather was fine, the sea calm, and at midnight the captain lay down in his berth with his clothes on to get an hour's repose, confiding the care of the boat to his first officer. Being anxious to make a quick run, he allowed the boat to sheer a point too closely, run the vessel on a reef, and about 50 passengers perished. The captain was arrested, tried, found guilty of negligence, and condemned to imprisonment for 5 years. He was a highly respectable man and I knew him well. He is still in prison, though perhaps blameless in point of fact, yet the law requires and holds a captain responsible for the negligence of his subordinates. It is hard, very hard, but is it not better that a few should be so dealt with severely, than the lives of the whole community be jeopardized."

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1852.

A FRENCH REGULATION.

By an order of the Minister of War in 1843, made with the view of preventing officers of the army from contracting marriage, with a danger of bringing upon themselves additional charges, which they would be unable to meet, it was declared that no permission would be given to an officer to marry unless the lady should possess an income of at least 1200f a year, which is not to be a life income, but in full right, so as to benefit the husband or children in the event of her death. The present Minister of War has by a circular to the generals of divisions and the subdivisions, directed that they shall look strictly to the execution of this regulation, and not permit any officer to marry until the Minister himself shall have examined as to the validity of the deed by which such property is secured.

What a mixture is here, of good and bad policy, and of manners and customs quite outre to us Americans, but altogether French, and of course all right to a native.

WEBSTER MEETING.—On Monday evening in Boston, the Webster party met in Art Union Hall. The Mail informs us that "the Secretary spoke, as also did Rev. Hubbard Winslow and Rev. Mathew Hale Smith, added to which some fire works were let off."

The Bee says,

"The hall was filled with ardent and ready-for the-battle men, full of spirit, determination and hope. Addresses were made by several gentlemen.

Pliny Cutler, Esq., of this city, one of the Electors at Large, made an effective, eloquent and stirring speech. Mathew Hale Smith, Esq., gave one of his dashing, popular, taking and inimitable speeches. He viewed the position of Mr. Walley, and criticised, with stern measures, the change that gentleman suddenly made from a strong supporter, to a strong opposer of Mr. Webster.

Other gentlemen made spirited remarks, which were listened to with delight. A Preamble and Resolutions were adopted with enthusiasm."

[For these we have not room.—They call upon the country to vote for Mr. Webster,—and say he will command a very large number of votes."]

"At 9 o'clock the meeting adjourned, with cheers for Mr. Webster. The Webster stock is rising in the city, and is the only kind that is popular."

If the latter sentence be correct, then the political stock market in Boston is deplorably low. If only such speakers can be found as are named above—and if such a politician as Mr. Smith is to make capital for Mr. Webster by assailing Mr. Walley,—then "solid men" must be very scarce in Boston.

"SADLY POSTED UP."

The Concord Capital Reporter, of Sept. 28, copies part of an article from the Chronicle of Sept. 18, and says, "The Chronicle should revise its returns. It is sadly 'posted up.'"

We have revised our returns half a dozen times, since that, and made every correction noticed by the Reporter, and a great many more. We have no knack at posting returns before we get them, and the Reporter does not get posted up very quick, when it notices a scrap from the Chronicle ten days old, which has been nullified in its most important points in the same paper in the mean time.

VICIOUS HORSE.—The Concord Capital Reporter says: Last week at Henniker, Mr. Charles Barker, of Hillsborough, who had in charge a vicious stud horse, whilst stooping to buckle a girt in the stall, had one of his ears bitten completely off. The horse seized him by the ear, tore it off close to his head, and dropped it upon the ground.

☞ SENATOR SOULE of Louisiana, who spoke at the Augusta Democratic Convention, has since addressed very large meetings in Portland and Charlestown.

ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE.—A private letter from St. Jago de Cuba, received in Philadelphia via Havana, states that another earthquake occurred on the 28th ult. The terrified inhabitants built temporary huts on the beach.

LOVELY IN LIFE—IN DEATH NOT DIVIDED.—In Friday's paper we noticed the death of Rev. Dr. Milledoler, of New York, at an advanced age. He was to have been buried on Thursday, but on that day, his venerable consort, Mrs. Margaret Milledoler, died also; on account of which decease, the husband's funeral was postponed to Saturday, when the remains of both were carried to the tomb in one procession. Many of our elder readers will be reminded, by this incident, of a similar sympathetic death and double funeral, which took place here many years since, in the case of Rev. Dr. Haven and wife, in which the circumstances were almost exactly the same.

REV. CHARLES W. DENISON.

The N. H. Daily Patriot of Monday informs us that "Mr. C. W. Denison, editor of 'Our Country,' went up to Hillsborough a few days ago, with a Daguerreotypist (Mr. Cutting,) to take a view of the Old homestead where Gen. PIERCE was born," and that they "got a very fine picture, which Mr. D. is to have engraved for his paper immediately."

We are glad to hear it, and hope he will favor us with a copy. The Patriot adds that "Mr. Denison was an ardent supporter of Mr. Webster, but when Scott was nominated he he 'came out from the foul party,' and is now doing good service in the Democratic ranks."

These memoranda are correct; and they give us the first authentic information which we have had for some time of Mr. Denison's movements. He was not only a Webster whig, but he was also an original Taylor man, and appeared sometimes to be persuaded that he was the original, if not the only genuine specimen extant.

He edited the Daily and Weekly Signal, published in Boston, and hoisted the name of Zachary Taylor on his flag editorial, among the first papers that did so; and if our memory serves us he was the very first! The signal however, was but a poor paper, and died soon after Taylor's election—but its editor had obtained a good office at Chelsea hospital—kept it a while, then left it and wrote for the Olive Branch, and then went ont to hold an office in California. He soon came back, and commenced "our Country" for Webster—now, as we learn from the Patriot, for Peirce. Mr. Denison is and has been for many years a Baptist minister—was once a seamen's preacher in a Baptist Bethel in Boston—afterwards of an Independent Bethel on his own account—and has been editor of a religious paper for seamen. He is an exceedingly affable and pleasant man; and has never pretended, so far as we know, that religion and politics were incompatible.

THE NEWBURYPORT DAILY HERALD came to us yesterday morning enlarged and improved. This is to be taken as evidence of increased prosperity, for the editors say,—"the principle on which we have conducted our business, which is the only safe rule in all business matters,—is to require from it a fair renumeration for the labor and capital employed, and be ready whenever this is secured to make improvements or cheapen the article produced, for the benefit of customers. On this principle we have managed the paper during the eighteen years we have conducted it, so that its net income has not varied in any year of the time ten per cent. When the business has been more profitable, we have expended it in improvements, and when the income has diminished we have curtailed expenses, without, perhaps, in either case, a large portion of the readers always perceiving the difference."

Newburyport is favored with two daily papers—the Herald, (whig,) printed in the morning, and which is also issued in a semi-weekly form; and the Evening Union, (democratic)both ably edited and apparently well sustained. No weekly newspaper is published there except the Christian Herald, a religious organ of the Baptist denomination, which is circulated mostly out of that city.

We have been asked several times, when we are going to enlarge—our abundant advertising patronage probably suggesting such a course as necessary. Not just yet, friends—though we hope, by adopting the Herald's rule, to be forced to do so ere long.

FIERY SOUP.—The Lowell Advertiser learns with sorrow that some of the Lowell whigs who went to Boston and partook of the Scott Soup prepared for them by their Boston brethren, 'were reduced to the necessity of doing something more than merely spitting on the platform.' From this it would seem that the soup was highly seasoned; so much so that they were compelled to lie upon the platform.

Lie on the platform? Why the scribblers and speakers have been lying not only on the platforms, but all about them, and about the candidates also. They have represented our fellow citizen, Gen. Pierce, as a coward, and accused him of being opposed to repealing the Protestant test; whereas he is esteemed by those who know him best, as brave and generous, and his Catholic views of the test are well understood. So they have been insinuating and pretending that Gen. Scott, though a tolerable soldier, was no writer or speaker, and we supposed he might be an ordinary speaker only, but the telegraphs have given us his speeches every day for a week—and yesterday one came which would do honor to any orator in any land. Somebody had been lying about him, not politically, but as a general, accusing him of flogging and hanging men unjustly. This roused the old soldier's indignation—and he poured out a torrent of thoughts that breathe, and words that burn, in a style which we never dreamed of as coming from him.

LIQUOR SEIZED AND DESTROYED.—Yesterday, constable Brown made the first seizure in this city, under the new law, of about one gallon of liquor from a negro, on the muster field, which Judge Marston ordered to be destroyed. To-day it was turned into the street in front of our office, but it would not burn.—Newburyport Union.

CONCERT LAST EVENING.—The Concert at the Temple, by the Seven Misses and the Nightingales, under the direction of Mr. Moses, was attended by a large and fashionable audience, who were gratified with a rare musical treat. The performance was excellent, and the decorations of the room surpassed all former attemps.

The Concert is to be repeated this evening—the last opportunity to hear such a performance. See advertisement.

A WHOLE FAMILY POISONED.—Anthony Menkins, a jeweler, of St. Louis, together with his whole family, six in number, were poisoned last Sunday, morning in consequence of partaking of food into which a quantity of arsenic had been put. Two mulatto girls in his employ are suspected of having committed the crime. One of the daughters is dead—the others are slowly recovering.

A man who resides in Western Virginia, aged about 30 years, was recently married to his step-mother. When he was a child his father died. His mother soon married a very young man and died. His step-father, but thirteen years older than himself, married a young wife and died, when our hero married his step-mother.

At Pittsfield, Ms. a few nights since, Dr. Root heard somebody trespassing upon his pear tree, and running, out suddenly surprised the rogue, who ran off without so much as bidding the doctor good night, and leaving a gold watch hanging to a twig of the tree, which the owner of the pears pocketed, probably well contented with the whole operation.

SUDDEN DEATHS.—Philadelphia, Sept. 27. Judge McFarland was instantly killed this morning by an accident at his foundry in Hollidaysburg. He was an estimable man, and widely known throughout the state.—Judge McNeil, associate justice of Huntington county, Pa., was accidentally killed this morning at Gloucester.

Bishop Hughes, in reply to an inquiry whether the Irish are to be instructed to vote against Gen. Pierce, says that no doubt some will vote for Scott and some for Pierce, and all of them just as they please.

Ten thousand copies of the life of General Scott have been printed at Racine, Wisconsin, in the Norwegian language.

CANNIBALISM.—We learn that a man from Boston got into a brawl, one day last week, at the horse races at Hampton, and had his nose bitten off. The nose-eater is as well as could be expected.—Exeter News Letter.

STATE ELECTIONS.—Members of the thirty-third Congress, and also of the State Legislatures are to be chosen in the States of Pennsylvania and Indiana on the 12th of October. On the same day members of the State Legislature are to be chosen in Ohio.

The Washington (Ark.) Telegraph informs us that a Mr. Legay, his wife and son, of Camden, Arkansas, have been held to bail in the sum of $1000 each, on a charge of causing the death of a slave by inhuman treatment.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 22.—Three of the nine slaves that escaped a few days since from St. Genevieve county were arrested on Friday in the woods near Alton, Illinois, and brought to this city yesterday. When arrested they were in a starving condition.

It was the house of Mr. Mudge, mayor of Lynn, that was assaulted on Saturday evening, and not Mr. Hood's house.

Lieut. John S. Devlin, of the U. S. Marines, who has been on trial at the navy yard, Charlestown, was dismissed from the service by sentence of the court martial.

Allen, the celebrated painter, is dead of a disease of the heart, leaving a wife and eight children unprovided for. This is an unfortunate family picture for an artist to leave.—Post.

HANDSOME YIELD.—Capt. Montgomery, of Rockbridge, Va., sowed half a bushel of Poland Rye that produced a yield of thirty bushels.

The Capital Reporter says, We learn that the Canterbury Society of Shakers own a farm in Genesee county, N. Y., on which they have, the present season, raised thirty-four bushels of wheat to the acre.

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.
THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.
This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best apparatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.
We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.
Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.
All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE IN BROOKLYN.—New York, Sept. 28.—The block of buildings in Atlantic street, between Columbia and Willow, Brooklyn, were destroyed by fire at 3 o'clock this morning. Twomen and 1 woman perished in the flames. The loss will exceed fifty thousand dollars.

New York, Sept. 28.—The Irving House has passed into the hands of Wm. H. Burroughs, late of the Franklin, Philadelphia. The sum paid to Messrs. Howard was $120,000, which pays for the furniture and secures a lease of the property for ten years.

SONTAG'S CONCERT.—New York, Sept. 27. Madame Sontag had a brilliant reception at her opening concert this evening. The house was crowded to its utmost capacity some time before the hour of commencement, and when the fair artiste made her appearance seemed to shake at the applause. Sig. Pozzolini and Alfred Jaell also had enthusiastic receptions. Madame Sontag was in fine spirits, and the whole programme carried out in the most splendid manner.

The long expected Neander Library, purchased by the University of Rochester, has arrived in New York. The collection numbers about 4600 volumes, and is the library of the late Dr. Neander. It was obtained at a cost of about $2300. Many of the volumes have been rebound, and the expense together will make the cost about $3000.

TREASURE BURIED ON BOSTON COMMON. A Mr. John Griffin has petitioned the city government for permission to dig a hole on Boston common, six feet in diameter, for the purpose of obtaining $1000 which he asserts his father, John Griffin, who served in the army in the war of the revolution, secreted during the "troubled times" preceding said war. Griffin says he is poor and wants the money bad. The petition was referred to the committee on the common.—Post.

CONCERT PROFITS.—The Musical World lately published a statement that Jenny Lind made $302,000 by her concerts in America, while Barnum's share was $308,000. Mr. Barnum has addressed a note to the World, in correction of this story, stating that his "portion of the profits certainly exceeded $308,000 by much more than one $50,000, and perhaps by several." The New York Mirror does not believe this, arguing that if so, the profits could not have been less than $800,000, while the total receipts must have been a million at least, or $10,000 on an average for each concert. The Mirror pronounces this to be "arithmetically out of the question," and gives, as "a reasonable figure" $200,000 to Jenny and $250,000 to Barnum.

THE GREAT ROBBERY AT CLEVELAND.—The Cleveland Herald says, of the robbery of Mr. E. G. McKie of Troy, who lost $48,900 in that city : "He had placed the money, three packages, between the mattrasses of his bed in his room at the Weddell House, and on going to his room at nine o'clock, found the money was missing. Mr. McKie had been accustomed to place his money in his bed for many years, and always until now with safety.

A NEW QUIRK !—At the camp meeting at Bethel last week, it was noticed that some "New Testaments" which were hawked about near the camp ground sold rapidly especially to the unconverted; and it turned out that they were "earthen vessels" in the form of books, filled with liquor. Two persons who were engaged in the business were arrested, and fined $10 and costs each.—Portland Adv.

The difficulties between the Nicaragua Co. and Mr. Vanderbilt are nearly settled, Mr. Vanderbilt having offered to sell out for 1,000,000 dollars. A party of capitalists agree to take his interest, and the whole amount of purchase money has been raised. Two new river boats have recently been sent out, and another new steamer for the lake is nearly completed and will be towed out shortly to take her place in the line.

IS IT TRUE.—The Springfield Republican states that there is a story current in that city, that a gentleman not unknown in business circles is living on a cracker a day, by the directions of the spirits, and that he is so feeble as to be hardly able to walk. It is also said that there is a most worthy citizen in a beautiful town in Worcester county who has lived for years on a per diem diet of a cup of coffee, a pinch of snuff, and the Boston Atlas, and that he is entirely sane and in fine condition.—Boston Transcript.

SAFE BOATS ON THE HUDSON.—We are informed by Daniel Drew and Isaac Newton, Esqrs., two of the responsible owners of the Hudson River boats known as the People's Line, that since the line came under the present management, in 1842, these boats have carried over five million passengers, without the loss of a single life by fire, explosion, sinking, or any other casualty. They complain that a line thus managed, and embracing the best evening boats to Albany, should be identified with the dreadful river occurrences of the past summer; and under this showing, they certainly have much reason to demur to the bad company in which they are so unceremoniously placed in the popular estimation.—N. Y. Times.

ITALY.—A correspondent of the New York Courier writes from Paris to the following effect, under date of Sept. 9 :—

"Gen. Gemeau, commander-in-chief of the French troops in Italy, is at present in Paris. It is supposed he will not return to his command. There is no more talk of evacuation by the French. The Papal temporal authority would not survive the removal of foreign troops one week. The few Swiss who have been enlisted in the Pope's army know they would be crushed instantly by overwhelming numbers, without the Austrians and French. The whole Roman territory is represented as being in a desperate condition, morally and socially. The French and Austrian troops have had to be scattered in detachments along the principal roads, in order to protect travellers from the banditti who infest the country."

POETRY REDUCED TO PROSE.

BY O. W. HOLMES.

How many a stanza, blushing like the rose,
Would turn to fustian if resolved to prose!
How many an epic, like a gilded crown,
If some cold critic dared to melt it down,
Roll in his crucible a shapeless mass,
A grain of gold leaf to a pound of brass!
Shorn of their plumes, our moonstruck sonneteers
Would seem like jackdaws croaking to the spheres;
Our gay Lotharios, with their Byron curls,
Would pine like oysters cheated of their pearls!

Woe to the spectres of Parnassus' shade,
If truth should mingle in the masquerade.
Lo, as the songster's pale creations pass,
Off comes at once the 'Dearest' and 'Alas!'
Crack go the lines and levers used to prop
To heavy thoughts, and down at once they drop,
Flowers weep for hours;—Love shrieking for his dove,
Finds not the solace that he seeks—above,
Past in the mire, through which in happier time
He ambled dryshod on the stilts of rhyme,
The prostrate poet finds at length a tongue,
To curse in prose the thankless stars he sung.

And though perchance the haughty Muse it shames,
How deep the magic of harmonious names!
How sure the story of romance to please,
Whose rounded stanza ends with Heloise!
How rich and full our intonations ride
On Torno's cliffs, or Pambamarca's side!
But were her name some vulgar 'proper noun'
And Pambamarca changed to Belchertown,
She might be pilloried for her doubtful fame,
And no enthusiast would arise to blame;
And he who outraged the poetic sense,
Might find a home at Belchertown's expense!

The harmless boys, scarce knowing right from wrong,
Who libel others and themselves in song,
When their first images of poetic rage
Slant down the corners of an album's page,
(Where crippled couplets spread their sprawling charms
As half-taught swimmers move their legs and arms,)
Will talk of 'Hesper on the brow of eve.'
And call their cousins 'lovely Genevieve:']
While thus transformed, each dear deluded maid,
Pleased with herself in novel grace arrayed,
Smiles on the Paris who has come to crown
This new-born Helen in a gingham gown!

BY MILLERS & GRAY. $4 PER YEAR---$3 IN ADV.

VOLUME 1. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1852. NUMBER 52.

"WE FORBID THE BANNS!"

Louis Napoleon asks, "who forbids the banns?" determined upon marrying and making his bride empress; bone of his bone, and purple of his purple. "Who forbids them?"

"I forbid 'em," growls the Russian bear.

"I forbid 'em—I—I"—screams the double-headed Austrian eagle.

"I, too! I, too!"—cries the eagle of Prussia—"I forbid 'em."

That is, Louis Napoleon may take a wife who shall be Madame Napoleon, even Princes Napoleon—but not empress. And why? Oh, the Bear and the Eagles have parchment warranty. When Napoleon abdicted at Fontainbleau, he surrendered for himself and all of his blood in direct stream or collateral runnings, all right and title to the imperial throne of France. This is a hard historical fact. So much, too, did Napoleon the Great venerate the act of abdication, that, for what is known to the contrary, he may have headed one of his drums on his return from Elba with his parchment copy of the deed. It is, however, certain that he whistled at the promise: the said whistling being echoed by a few hundred thousands of bullets—whistling not to be laughed at.

However the quarrel may turn out, we are at least glad that there is a petticoat in it. For it seems that the president would be permitted—France vehemently insisting—to grow into an emperor; but then he must be Emperor Solus. A crowned and anointed Adam in the garden of the Tuilleries with never an Eve; for the stony-hearted Three Powers, like lodging-house landladies nice in furniture, "object to children."

And so it is the old story over again. To make the hubbub complete and universal, there must be—bless her!—a woman. Napoleon Emperor makes Caroline Empress, and millions of swords flash from their scabbards. Now isn't it hard that Napoleon's wedding-cake must be flavored with gunpowder, stuffed with balls, and moulded in a mortar? —Punch.

NOT VERY FLATTERING.—A lady who corresponds with the National Intelligencer, from London, writes as follows of Queen Victoria:—I have not seen her Majesty yet, but my friends met her early this morning at the Zoological Gardens. She was with Prince Albert, the Prince of Prussia, and two of her children. My friends thought her ugly, dowdy; walks badly, with a little limp; gostering about at every body, and dragging one of the children along. She was attired in a blue lawn, scalloped flounces, blue and white berage shawl, and black gaiter boots!

DIRT DEFINED.—"Gentlemen," said Lord Halmerston at the Royal Agricultural dinner, "I have heard a definition of dirt. I have heard it said that dirt is nothing but a thing in the wrong place. (Hear, and laughter.)—Now, the dirt of our towns precisely corresponds with that definition. (Hear.) The dirt of our towns ought to be upon our fields, and if there could be such a reciprocal community of interest between the country and the towns—that the country should purify the towns, and the towns should fertilize the country. (Laughter.) I am much disposed to think the British farmer would care less than he does, though he still might care something, about Peruvian guano."

PAPER MILLS.—The paper mills have as much and more than they can attend to at the present time, to supply newspaper sufficient for California and home consumption. Late newspapers from that State present a saffron appearance, which some ardent imagination designates as "golden." The other day we received a letter from the "Deseret News Office," Salt Lake City, declining to exchange with us, the high cost of everything debarring them from that pleasure. So we shall not be able to keep our readers posted on Mormon doings, or chronicle the additions that may be made to Gov. Young's seraglio. But we shall steal all the information we can from our exchanges.—Charlestown Advertiser.

CHILDHOOD.—There are some children left! At least I met one the other day. It was a little fellow of five years. He had come with his father into the country to see one of my friends. As soon as he left the carriage he ran to the kennel of a large watch-dog that was chained in the court-yard.

"Don't touch the dog," I cried, "he'll bite you."

"Why will he bite me?"

"Because he don't know you."

"Oh! if that's all," he replied, "I will tell him that I am Henry."—Carpet Bag.

MARRIED.—Monsieur Count de Sartiges, French ambassador to the United States, how was so wicked as to shoot cats on the Sabbath from the back windows of his residence in Washington, light cigars in the President's reception room, and puff the smoke in old ladies' faces, who invited all the pretty girls to his evening parties, without giving their brothers and lovers an "invite" also, and who was challenged to fight a duel with the Hon. Mr. John Barney, a choleric stickler for time-honored conventionalities, but which Monsieur wisely declined—the supercilious Count de Sartiges was married to the daughter of a Boston gentleman, at Newport, a few days since—that's all.—Charlestown Advertiser.

THE BASKET WILLOW.—About five millions of dollars worth of this article are annually imported, at from $100 to $250 per ton. Mr. Haynes, of Putnam County, New York, cultivates the ozier used for baskets, and says he makes a profit of $150 per acre. As good can be grown in this country as in France or Germany, whence most of what we get is grown. The best for basket makers is the Salix Viminatis. It is asserted that it can be profitably produced here at $50 a ton. It is not confined to wet or marshy soils, but can be grown on clayey uplands.

A PORTABLE FILTER.—The following is an exceedingly useful, and certainly an exceedingly cheap filter. It consists of a conical formed jar, with an aperture at the bottom, into which a clean sponge is pressed as firmly as possible; and the jar being filled with water and placed in such a manner as to allow the water to pass through it into a receiver, it will be found that all the grosser impurities of the water will be removed, and the water at the same time will be much softer and less dangerous to drink.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1852.

NEW HAMPSHIRE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The third Annual Fair will be held at Meredith Bridge, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week.

The arrangements we are glad to perceive, are all made on a most liberal scale; and we doubt not they will be rewarded by a very large attendance.

The Railroads throughout the State will convey stock and all other articles, intended for exhibition, free, at the risk of the owners, and passengers at half price.

William S. King, Esq., of Rhode Island will deliver the address. His reputation as a powerful speaker and writer will ensure him an attentive audience.

Hon. Frank Pierce, Hon. Noah Martin, Governor of the State, and several other distinguished citizens from this and other states will be present. Meetings of the Society will be held on Wednesday and Thursday evenings at one of the churches for free discussion, addresses, &c.

We acknowledge the receipt of the programme and badge from F. Smythe, Esq. Treasurer.

DEATH OF LORD WELLINGTON.

The decease of this great military chieftain, the commander of the army which gave Napoleon his final defeat and broke down his empire, has been long delayed, but death at last has triumphed over him also. He died suddenly of epileptic fits, on Tuesday the 14th inst. at Walmer Castle, England.

The telegraphic despatches from Halifax, which notice the arrival of the Canada, say the English papers are full of Biographies of the Iron Duke.

His son Marquis of Douro, has been sent for from Germany. The public are calling for an additional funeral, and extension of the patent of nobility to the female heirs. Lord Mahon is understood to be his literary executor by the Duke's demise.

A number of valuable offices fall into the gift of the Ministry. Prince Albert, the Duke of Cambridge, and Lord Fitzroy Somerset are already named in connection with the appointment of commander-in-chief. Military men would rather see the office bestowed on Lord Harding, or some other soldier.

It is remarkable that he who broke the empire of Napoleon I. should have lived long enough to see the corner stone laid for the throne of Napoleon II.—He has, however, and then passed away. The old warrior, under the tramp of whose squadrons the earth trembled, now sleeps quietly in her bosom;—and he whose sword has made many widows childless, has gone to his grave in peace. The envied of all is envied no longer. Like his grand antagonist, from whom much of his glory was reflected,

"He sleeps his last sleep, he has fought his last battle,
No sound can awake him to glory again."

So like the mock heroes and sham kings of the theatre, pass off from the stage of real life, the actors in the great drama of Europe for the last half century.

"ADDENDA ET CORRIGENDA."

"Tis idle, we think, now we look at it, to write such latin as this, when plain English, Additions and Corrections, will do just as well for all, and much better for some. The additions and corrections here made, are to the sketch of Rev. Matthew Hale Smith, Esq.

The Portland Advertiser says, "Mr. Smith, we ought to add, claims Portland as his birthplace—though Portland is very modest about yielding the claim, and wishes nothing said about it."

An associate of Mr. Smith's youth informs us, that he was never a preacher in the Christian Society; but was, while an apprentice to Mr. Webber of Roxbury, at the rope-making business, solicited and employed as a preacher among the Universalist Societies.

We might have added, that while a preacher at Nashua, or shortly afterwards, he had a warm controversy with Governor Steele of New Hampshire, about reading the Bible in schools.

The Portland Advertiser supplies one other deficient link in the chain of events, viz: that "he appeared as an admired temperance lecturer in Portland, eulogizing the Maine law to the skies."

His course has been singular—and certainly needs no errors of ours to make it appear more tortuous than it is.

VIEW OF PORTSMOUTH.—One of the projectors has been in this city for a while past, procuring subscriptions for the large View of our city, which has been proposed by Messrs Smith, Brothers & Co. We now have the pleasure to announce that the plan is to succeed. The work will be commenced soon and prosecuted to completion according to the plans named to the subscribers.

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

MAINE ELECTION—LIQUOR LAW—POLITICS AND WEATHER—FISH STORY—JUSTICE CURTIS.

PORTLAND, Sept. 28, 1852.

Dear Editors:—The smoke has now entirely cleared away from our political battle field, so that we see at length the grand result, and can make an estimate of the killed and wounded. And in the first place, there is no doubt at all that the enemies of the Maine Law are routed, "horse, foot and dragoons." In vain have they thundered and lightened their eloquence over the State—in vain have they appealed against violated rights and trampled constitutions—in vain have they scattered money with threats and promises; the people had made up their minds, and it was "No use knocking at the door any more,

No use knocking at the door."

The Senate is said to stand 19 for, 2 against the Law: the House 84 in favor of, and 22 opposed to the same. It is true, this result is taken from a temperance paper, but it cannot be far out of the way—at least, we will so consider it till we find a regular estimate in any of the anti-law journals. That Hubbard will be elected Governor by the Legislature, is almost certain. For if the democrats should not prove sufficiently strong on joint ballot, I have no doubt that whigs enough will be found, either expressly or impliedly pledged to give him their votes. In fact, I believe there are many whigs who deem this advisable on pure party grounds. But your neutral columns shall not be profaned with the details of political schemes and speculations.*

As to politics in general, they resemble the weather—rather cold for the season. And notwithstanding the warning of the political almanac makes, "look out for a storm about this time," the atmosphere is very quiet and undisturbed. We had, indeed, a slight whig breeze raised by the presence among us of Erastus Brooks, one of the editors of the New York Express, and a native of our city. But a counterblast was speedily set in operation by the arrival of the Hon. Pierre Soule—and now we are at rest again. I do not by this mean to compare the two men as rivals in oratory and talent—for the latter excels in both. But he hardly came up to the public anticipation, and utterly failed to show that power over his audience which those attribute to him who compare him with Clay, or Choate, or Kossuth. He is an interesting speaker, but no orator.

Our citizens, within a day or two, have been greatly refreshed by a new "fish story." All day Sunday, rumors, in subdued and whispered tones, ran round the city to the effect that a whale had actually been taken somewhere "outside," bled of his vitality (as the new philosophers would say) and towed in to one of our islands. So yesterday, the little steamer, which plies between the city and the islands, was crowded with enthusiastic young gentlemen who were bound to see the marine "elephant." But those young gents have been very reserved to-day, and the sound of the whale is "heard no more on the land!"

Mr. Justice Curtis of the U. S. S. Bench is now holding his Circuit Court here. He looks like one of the giants of the law, as he is,—he gives excellent satisfaction.

Yours, &c., CASCO.

*We beg "Casco" and all others to bear in mind that we make no pretensions and have no aspirations to "neutrality"—to be "independent" suits us much better. Our columns are open to all sorts of "political speculations," and we mean all parties shall have a hearing, that the truth may be known.—Eds. Chronicle.

IS IT SO?

The Boston Chronicle of yesterday says,

"We affirm, and are ready to prove, that more liquor is drank in Maine, and more sold, and the trade is better now than before the passage of the Maine Law."

It is quite evident the hired editor, the literary man, of the newspaper says this; and not one of the old liquor dealers and business men who own it.

If more liquor is drank, more sold, and the liquor trade is better for the Maine law, why has the Boston Morning Chronicle a name or a place? Why did its owners spend money to bring it into existence? Men do not commonly set up a paper to keep their business from growing better. The liquor dealers in Boston are not such a set of simpletons as to quarrel with their own bread and butter. But their editor in writing an able and interesting leader on Hypocrisy and Temperance, unfortunately let his pen slip, and out came the sentence we have quoted.

THE GREAT INDIA RUBBER CASE, in the U. S. Circuit Court at Trenton, N. J. has been decided in favor of Goodyear & Hayward, and against Day throughout.

ROCKINGHAM MESSENGER.—This paper began a new volume, the 6th, yesterday, with two new heads. Outside it has the title in New Type; inside it hoists the flag Hale & Julian at the head of its columns.—In other words the Messenger is a Freesoil paper.

Reported for the Daily Morning Chronicle.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

SEPTEMBER TERM, 1852.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 29.

The Court were engaged throughout the day, in hearing the witnesses for the Defendants, in the case of Bassett vs. Salisbury Manufacturing Co.

Martin & French for Piff., Christie and Wells & Bacon for Defts.

The Court adjourned to nine o'clock Thursday morning.

A SCOUNDREL.

A scampish fellow, calling himself William Davis, called a few days ago at the house of a Mr. Davis in Campton, N. H., stating that he was just from Lowell, and brought the mournful intelligence that Mr. Davis's son, Joseph Davis, who is employed on the Carpet Corporation had been accidentally killed early that morning by getting entangled in the machinery, and as the sham William Davis pretended he came to call all the family to bury the son, he was entertained for the night. In the morning, he was short of money, having left Lowell in a hurry—so he borrowed $3 of the old gentleman to get back. The old man went out and borrowed the money himself, and got the friends together. They took the cars, but the borrower said as he was ill, he would ride on the platform. He disappeared. The mourners arrived in Lowell, but found the young man alive and well.

The scoundrel had "sold" the poor old gentleman and all the family into the expense of their double ride, besides tormenting them with the ideal loss of a friend. He deserves to be sold himself to pay damages—and it is a great pity, in his case, that he can't be put on the auction block, and knocked down to the lowest bidder.

MR. MARSH AND DR. KING.—We had a story, some time ago, about Rev. Jonas King's case, at Greece, asserting that Mr. Marsh, our messenger to Greece, believed that Mr. King had suffered according to Greek law, under which he lived, and therefore Mr. Marsh was satisfied. Next we had another story, that Mr. Marsh was satisfied the Greek government had done wrong—and now we learn, from the N. Y. Journal of Commerce, that Mr. Marsh merely collected facts and documents in the case and sent them to Washington, but has published and expressed no opinion on the subject.

A ROYAL PALACE.—A new palace for the Queen of Great Britain, is to be built at a cost of one hundred thousand pounds at Balmoral, Scotland, This will strengthen her queendom more than a new fort. It may be worth while, if she lives, to build a palace or two in Ireland, to bring back the nobility and with them employment and prosperity.

NEWS FOR THE FILLIBUSTERS.—English ship-builders sometimes work for the Spanish government. On the 11th inst. near London, a Spanish war steamer named the Primero, 120 horse power and 32 guns, and one or two of light draught for service on the coast of Cuba, were launched on the Thames.

FREESOIL MEETING.—Hon. Henry Wilson [the Natick cobbler,] has consented to address the free democracy of Portsmouth shortly, probably some evening next week, as we learn from the Messenger.

THREE TRAINS A DAY.—We take great pleasure in referring to the Advertisement of the Concord Railroad, announcing three trains a day to Concord on and after next Monday. Tickets for Meredith and back on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, are sold at half price.

NEW RAIL ROAD.—A contract is signed for a railroad in New Brunswick, from Schodiac and the Nova Scotia Boundary, via St. John to the Maine Boundary. It is aided by the Government.

A DEMOCRATIC MEETING, is to be holden at the Temple To-Morrow evening, to be addressed by Maj. I. I. Stevens, of the Engineer corps, and Charles Levi Woodbury, Esq. The ladies are invited,—and there will be a house full of people, if the weather is favorable. Men of all parties will be present to hear Mr. Woodbury, who we believe has never spoken here.

REVIVAL OF MANUFACTURES.—On this subject the Newburyport Herald remarks as follows:

"The revival of manufacturing business brings out a great many new schemes of enterprize. A large number of old establishments have admitted new partners and assessed new capital to make up for their losses for the past three or four years, and others which have been suspended, some of them unsaleable in the hands of assignees or trustees, all over the country, are changing hands, new managers and proprietors taking charge of them, in the hope of profiting by the reduced value at which they purchase, and the favorable change in the times. This change is attributable to a variety of causes, which can hardly fail to operate for several years to come. The gold product of California and Australia, and the gmigration consequent thereon have been the prime causes, in expanding the currency of the world and gives a wider field and increased remuneration to labor. Minor causes have also been in operation, to produce to some extent the reaction.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

The steamer Canada, arrived at Halifax, has Liverpool news to the 18th inst. 11 1-4 A. M.; brings a full freight, and has 130 passengers. The most important news is the death of the Duke of Wellington.

Parliament will meet for the despatch of business early in November.

Most of the papers publish the Nova Scotia petition to the Queen respecting the fisheries, but the subject seems to have lost much of its interest with the public.

The recent high dividend of the Sub-Marine Telegraph Co. has given an impetus to telegraph enterprises.

Sixty nine bales of Barbadoes cotton have just been received at London.

At a meeting of the Bank of England stockholders, on Thursday, a dividend for the half year to the 31st of August of three and a half per cent. was declared. Some of the stockholders expressed dissatisfaction that the reserved fund is less by sixty-three thousand pounds than it was six months ago.

There is a great scarcity of silver coin in England, as large shipments continue to be made by emigrants to Australia, and also for India and the Continent. The deficiency is to be met immediately by a new issue from the mint.

The Sarah Sands steamer sails from Liverpool to-day, the 18th, via Queenstown, with a full compliment of passengers and carrying the mails for Australia and Cape of Good Hope.

Berlin correspondence mentions that Lowell Mason has purchased for America, the valuable musical library of Rink the organist.

Harvest, generally speaking, is over and fulfils the expectations of plenty.

FRANCE.—Louis Napoleon left Paris on Tuesday on his promised tour to the South and West. The papers contain little else than accounts of his receptions, which have all the resemblance at least of being enthusiastic. Along the whole route he was received with cries of "Vive le Empereur," with which it is stated he appeared much pleased. When last heard of, the President was at Nevres.

GAS WORKS INJURED BY FIRE.—New York, Sept. 29.—The Manhattan Gas Works were damaged by fire last evening to the extent of $15,000. The Western part of the city was enveloped in darkness, and some of the stores, hotels, and houses had to use candles. Alboni's concert was postponed in consequence.

DEATH OF BISHOP CHASE.—The Right Rev. Philander Chase, D. D. of Illinois, senior Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church, of the United States, President of Jubilee College, and rector of Christ church, Robin's Nest, Peoria county, died on the 14th inst, at Peoria. Bishop Chase was consecrated in St. James's Church, Philadelphia, on Thursday, Feb. 11, 1819. By the decease of Bishop Griswold, of Massachusetts, in 1843, he became the senior, and thus the presiding bishop of the Church. The Bishop of Connectcut, (Brownell) is now the oldest bishop.

SINGULAR CAUSE OF SICKNESS.—Mr. Otis Churchill, of this city has for some time past been quite unwell, suffering severely from sharp pains, rendering him unable to attend to business. His countenance became pale and haggard, and he was forced to keep his room. A physician attended him, but could not ascertain of what disease he was suffering. A day or two since, Mr. Churchill had pass from him a short pin, crooked and rusty. It is supposed that he must have swallowed it, and that it has been the cause of his illness, as he has since nearly recovered from his indisposition.—Boston Traveller.

NEW YORK MOSQUITOES.—The New York Commercial Advertiser tells a good story of an English literary gentleman, of some reputation in England, who came here by the Pacific, intending a protracted visit. He took temporary board at a popular down-town hotel; he retired to rest, but was almost eaten up by mosquitoes, who, "sharpening their proboscos upon the window sill, and giving them a final polish upon the angular window frames, made a night assault upon the "Britisher," who was so severely wounded, conquered and defeated, that on the following morning—last Wednesday—he struck camp, deserted the field, fled for his life, and returned to "his own, his native land," by the steamship Europa.

PERU TAKING CARE OF LOBOS.—The London Morning Herald is authorised to state for the information of the public, that two ships of war have been sent by the Peruvian government to Lobos, and a small military force permanently stationed there;—that the whole of the Peruvian Islands, Lobos included, are formally annexed to the main land of Peru, and by article 213 of the new law, none but vessels under contract with the Peruvian government will be allowed to load guano;—that all other vessels anchoring in the roadsteads of the Island shall be confiscated, and if guano be found on board, the captain and crew will be proceeded against for robbery.

A MAN BURIED ALIVE.—An Irishman who died suddenly on the railroad, was buried at Wheeling on Tuesday. Those who attended the funeral, after lowering the coffin into the grave, returned to their homes, leaving a man to fill up the grave. It appears that after throwing in a few shovels full of earth, he was alarmed by a singular noise as of kicking and struggling in the coffin, so that he ran away. Coming up with Mr. Fitzsimmons, he told what he had heard, and both immediately returned, raised and opened the coffin, and found the man turned on his face, and his person warm. The Gazette says that if the coffin had been opened when the commotion was first heard, the man might have been saved, and that he died solely from suffocation.—Baltimore Tim s, 22d.

We saw a little fellow yesterday tumble into the dock. A sailor sprang in and brought him out again sbout half dead with fright and his excessive draughts of salt water. When he recovered the shock, he began to sob and cry most piteously. We assured him sympathisingly that he was not hurt. "I know that well enough," said he with a fresh burst," "but mother said she would lick me if I got drowned, and I know she'll do it for she always does."—New York Times.

NOTICE TO GROCERS.

ON Account of the unexpected demand for Mrs. SMITH'S KILN-DRIED YEAST. I have been unable to offer it to the trade to any extent, but now having made arrangements for a constant supply, I am prepared to supply Grocers and others with any quantity, by the dozen or otherwise.

THIS YEAST has been thoroughly tested by housekeepers most experienced in such matters, who, without exception, pronounce it the BEST, MOST CONVENIENT, AND RELIABLE ARTICLE ever introduced for raising bread;—far surpassing even the best hop yeast.

GROCERS in this town, Manchester, and many other places, are now selling large quantities every week.

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever offered before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appanatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or change their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

DAMAGES RECOVERED.

It appears from the Boston Times that at the Supreme Court of Massachusetts in that city, on Saturday, a verdict of $8,500 damages was found by the Jury, on the suit of Miss Ann M. Clark, against the city of Boston. $20,000 was claimed by Miss Clark for injuries received from falling into a cellar way in Hawkins street. The circumstances of the case are quite singular. Miss Clark is about 19 years of age; previous to the accident she was employed as a worsted worker at Malden, and enjoyed good health. On the last evening of the Railroad Jubilee, she proceeded with some friends to witness the fireworks in Bowdoin Square. On their return home they passed through Chardon and Hawkins street, where she fell through a cellar way which had been accidentally left open after the grade of the street and sidewalk had been altered.

After she was taken out she complained of a feeling as if she had been struck in the stomach. The next day she proceeded to her work at Malden, was seized with vomiting, and violent pains in the stomach; she returned to this city, and was conveyed to the Massachusetts General Hospital, where she has remained ever since. The physicians say that in her fall she received an injury to her spine, and the result is, that she cannot keep upon her stomach but a very small quantity of food, an amount barely sufficient to sustain life, but not enough to stay the cravings of appetite. Her chief ailment is molasses and water, and if any amount above two ounces is given to her, her stomach soon rejects it.

Various expedients have been devised by the physicians to administer nourishment. Among others, blisters have been applied, and then Cod Liver Oil rubbed on the scarified surface, and thus absorbed into the system. The unfortunate young woman is little better than a skeleton, and her sufferings are no doubt very severe. The physicians state that there is recorded in the books but one similar case.

Such cases as this should warn every city to keep a sharp inquisitorial lookout for man-traps.

WOODCOCKS.—The Cecil (Maryland) Whig states that recently several of these birds were picked up dead beneath the telegraph wires near the railroad depot; some were fresh killed and warm, and are found generally after the night trains pass. It is probable the cars frighten them from their feeding grounds along the ditches, and that they strike the wires as they rise, and are killed.

VOLUME 1. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1852. NUMBER 53.

ARCHBISHOP HUGHES ON VOTING.

A Mr. Simmes recently addressed a letter to Archbishop Hughes, inquiring into the truth of a rumor that he (the Archbishop) in conjunction with several other distinguished members of the Roman Catholic hierachy, entertain and express the opinion that the Catholics throughout the Union should regard the approaching Presidential election as a fit opportunity to signify their disapprobation of that portion of the constitution of the State of New Hampshire, commonly called the religious test clause, which excludes the Roman Catholic citizens of that State from an equal participation in the privileges and immunities enjoyed by their Protestant brethren, by voting against General Pierce.

Archbishop Hughes replies in a very carefully worded letter, in which, while he does not deny the truth of the rumor, he says:

"The two candidates represented are General Scott and General Pierce. The entire American people appear to be nearly equally divided in opinion as to which of these two will make the better Chief Magistrate. This fact seems to intimate a general opinion that the country will be safe under the Presidency of either. As to the Catholics, they have never been consulted as to the limited choice between these two. The probability is, that like their fellow citizens of other denominations, they will be divided—some voting for one candidate, and some for the other. Like others, they are liable to err in their choice. But, under all the circumstances, I should prefer that, voting honestly, each according to his own judgment, they should err with the minority, or (what is equally possible) with the majority of their fellow citizens of all denominations, rather than see them guarded against such danger of erring in their choice of President by any ecclesiastical influence."

It may be true that he does not deny the report—but it is also true that he does not confirm it. So that amounts to nothing.—And the letter is doubtless intended to be non-committal.

Bishop Hughes however, expresses his opinion that the chances between the two leading candidates are nicely balanced.

"Catholics have not been consulted," he says. Why should they be? any more than Presbyterians, or Methodists, or Universalists, or Mormons? There is no reason, except the hope or fear, in party leaders on either side, that the newly-made citizen, the immigrant Catholic, will, as a general thing, be swayed by his priest, and vote as he indicates. There is little reason to doubt that this hope or fear entered into the variety of motives which induced the whigs to nominate Gen. Scott. They thought his regard to Catholics and their churches in Mexico, with the Catholicity of some of his family, would gain thousands of votes. A similar idea induced some whigs abroad to get up an odium against New Hampshire and Gen. Pierce on the test. And the same feeling on the other side, has caused great effort to throw off the odium, and to keep fair weather with the Catholics, so as to preserve or obtain a majority of their votes.

Both parties will admit that religious sects should not also act as political parties; yet both know that religious prejudice or bigotry is a powerful political engine; and neither of them can help acting upon this knowledge, if it means yet to keep or preserve its ascendency.

So in the present contest—though the Catholics have not been consulted by either party, they are courted by both. And Bishop Hughes, (wise man that he is,) loves to have it so.

OLE BULL'S PETITION FOR NATURALIZATION.—Ole Bull in making application to the Clerk of the Circuit Court of the United States for permission to take the initiatory step for becoming a citizen of the United States, by filing a declaration of his intention, requested permission to perform this act in the Hall of Independence, in presence of the statue of the Father of his country, with which request Mr. Pitt, the Clerk, readily complied. The Philadelphia Bulletin gives an account of the proceedings, from which we copy the following:

John M. Read and John O'Brien, Esqs., counsel for Ole Bull, accompanied him to the Hall, and remained with him during the ceremony.

When Mr. Pitt read to him that part of the declaration of intentions, which required him to swear allegiance to the United States, and abandon all fealty to the King of Norway and Sweden, the violinist put his hand upon his own heart, and in the most impressive manner said—

"I desire to be deemed worthy of so great a privilege, and I shall remit no efforts to merit it. I have never sworn allegiance to the King of Norway and Sweden, nor to any other Potentate, nor have I bowed the knee to any but my God"—(pointing upwards, and his face beaming with all that he felt within him.) I shall value the privilege of citizenship above every other earthly object, and shall endeavor to introduce hundreds of thousands of my countrymen to so great a boon, that they may also feel the great difference between being a citizen of this glorious Republic, in the full enjoyment of liberty, and that state of existence in which they now find themselves.

Already have thousands of Norwegians settled within the limits of this Commonwealth, in its northern part, and I hope that before another year expires, many thousands more will taste the blessings of liberty in the same locality. I shall not cease my efforts until my countrymen who wish to emigrate, shall be in the full possession of their natural rights, and in the enjoyment of a farm in Pennsylvania."

DAILY Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
FRIDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1852.

THE DUKE OF WELLINGTON.

Lord Wellington was an Irishman by birth, but an English General and an English Peer. His name and proper appellation were, Arthur Wellesley, Duke of Wellington. He was the fourth son of the second Earl of Mornington, was born at Dangan castle in the county of Meath, Ireland, May 1, 1769; died at Walmer Castle, England, on Tuesday, September 14, 1852, being 83 years of age. From a condensed notice of his life in the Boston Transcript, it appears that he received the early part of his education at Eton, and afterwards went to the military college at Angiers.

He became Captain Wellesley in 1793, and in 1797 distinguished himself as Colonel Wellesley at the storming of Seringapatam. In 1802, as General Wellesley, he gained further successes in the Mahratta war; and in 1802 won the famous field of Assaye. As Sir Arthur Wellesley he obtained great distinction in 1808 and '9 in the Peninsular war. After the battle of Talavera, and the passage of the Douro, he received, August 30, the honor of a peerage, by the title of Baron Douro and Viscount Wellington. Parliament voted him thanks and a pension of £2000 a year.

In 1813 he was created Marquis of Wellington by the prince-regent, and on July 3d of the same year the latter wrote him: "You have sent me, among the trophies of your unrivalled fame, the staff of a French Marshal, and I send you in return that of England." The battle of Toulouse, which terminated Wellington's seventh peninsular campaign, was fought after Napoleon had abdicated. The battle of Waterloo put the apex to the pyramid of his military renown. In 1814 he took his seat in the House of Lords. On the 12th of May of that year, it was voted by the House of Commons that the sum of £10,000 be annually paid the "Duke of Wellington." This was afterwards commuted for half a million sterling. The passing of the reform bill may be said to have been the closing of the Duke's political life. It would occupy more space than we can spare, to enumerate all his English and foreign titles. No man has occupied so large a space in British history during the last half century. A national funeral is proposed for him in England. He is succeeded in his title and estates by his son, the Marquis of Douro, who was summoned from the continent, where he had been travelling, as soon as the fatal result of his father's illness was apprehended.

The last sickness of the Duke was extremely brief. On Sunday the 12th, (says the Daily Advertiser) he attended church as usual. On Monday he took his customary walk about the grounds of Walmer Castle, visited the stables, and gave directions in relation to a visit to Dover which he intended to make the next day. He dined heartily on venison, with an appetite a little keener than usual, and went to bed apparently quite well. Early on Tuesday morning when the valet came to awake him he declined getting up and directed the apothecary to be sent for. Mr. Hulke, surgeon, at Deal was sent for, who came at 9, and found the Duke apparently suffering from indigestion, but in full possession of his faculties. He prescribed nothing but dry toast and tea, and promised to come again at 10.

Before Mr. Hulke returned, the Duke was seized with a violent epileptic fit, which was so violent as to deprive him of the power of speech, and of consciousness. On the arrival of the medical attendants emetics were administered, but without effect. All efforts to afford relief were without effect. At 12 a renewed attack came on, from which but faint signs of animation continued, until a quarter past 3, when his pulse ceased to beat. He expired without a struggle or a sigh to show when the vital spark was extinguished.

NOT A BAD SIGN.

Twenty-seven years ago, two young printers of moderate means put a plain white sign on Ladd street, at the corner of Market street, with a hand ☞ pointing, and the words "JOURNAL OFFICE," in, black letters.—Through sunshine and storm the "shingle" stuck there till this year, when the building must be painted, and the sign disappeared, but yesterday it greeted our eyes again, "as good as new," and a great deal better. It is an old friend in a new dress. The black paint of the letters held on, while the white paint on all the rest of the sign had washed off, and the rain and sun had abraded the wood to the depth of 1-8th of an inch or more. The sign being sound, the owner, one of those who put it up, had it all painted black, and the letters and the hand gilded.

The alto-relief of the gilding makes a rich letter, and suggests the thought, that if any young man wishes an elegant sign, he has only to put up a plain one, stay in the same spot and pursue the same business diligently for a quarter of a century—and then—gild it.

POLITICS IN BALTIMORE.—Democrats and whigs there, are all alive. Tuesday evening the democrats had a large meeting at Fell's Point Market, which was large and enthusiastic. Both parties are aroused, sanguine and eager for the contest.

A great whig mass meeting was also held in the eastern part of the city. There was a great crowd and much enthusiasm. Teackle Wallis, who bolted Taylor's nomination in '48, spoke and received great applause.

SKETCHES OF LIVING CHARACTERS.

The Boston Daily Chronicle of yesterday contains the following item.

"INTERESTING.—We learn from the Portland Advertiser that the "Portsmouth Chronicle is giving some sketches of living characters, and among the rest it takes the life" of Matthew Hale Smith. Judging from the slight sketch in the Advertiser the matter must be quite romantic, and we suggest that the whole sketch when completed by the New Hampshire artist, be sent on to the editor of the Chronicle."

We did send it, fresh from the easel on the 23d ult.—but as it has seemed to escape notice at head quarters, we mail another copy of the 23d, and an extra copy of the Chronicle of yesterday, with "Addenda et Corrigenda."

The Romance of Reality is more lively than that of fiction; and if the editor of the Boston Chronicle, or Mr. Smith, or any body else, will point out an error or misstatement however trivial, in our sketch, we will cheerfully correct or amend it.

"THE PORTSMOUTH CHRONICLE is informed that the Webster party in this city is ready to compare men and character with any party that may be named."

The Boston Bee says this, and relying on its veracity, we will not doubt it. But if solid men are plentiful it is strange they are not brought out in the public meetings.

☞ One of the men on board the U. S. surveying schooner Gallatin, Lt. Commanding J. H. Preble, was severely wounded Wednesday afternoon, by the accidental discharge of one of the ship's pistols, supposed to be unloaded. The wounded man was attended by Drs. Chase and Treadwell, who were in the neighborhood at Fort Constitution, off which the schooner was anchored. The man was conveyed to the Navy Yard Hospital this morning, where he is now under the care of Dr. Kellogg, U. S. N.

The accident happened in attempting to secure a man who was intoxicated, and it gave rise to a variety of unfounded reports; but the above are all the material facts, from a responsible source.

MR. DEMPSTER'S CONCERT at the Temple next Tuesday evening, needs but the bare mention to bring out those who know him and his songs. But as he has not been here for some time, and as many new comers into the place may read this notice, we take the liberty to say that he is a most popular singer of English, Irish and Scotch Ballads, an excellent composer, and accompanies himself on the piano so as to give his fine voice the best effect.

CONNECTICUT.—The New Haven papers have a glowing account of the Whig gathering in that city on Tuesday, at which ten thousand Whig visitors are said to have been present, outside of the New Haven population. James Dixon, of Hartford, presided over the principal meeting, at the State House, which was addressed by Horace Greely and others. An out-door meeting was held, to accommodate those who could not obtain admittance to the building.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.—This Evening at the Temple, there is to be a gathering of the Democratic party, with speaking by Messrs. Stevens and Woodbury. The decorations of the Temple placed there by Mr. Moses for his concert, are to remain for this meeting.

The Salem Union Democrat says, It is supposed the attack on Mayor Mudge's house in Lynn, "was provoked by the Mayor's arbitrary enforcement of the Liquor Law." This looks as if the law was enforced in the small cities, if not in Boston.

MADAM SUNDAY.—The Countess Rossi—Madam Sontag, or in plain English, Mrs. Sunday—gave her first concert in America, in New York on Monday evening, to a crowded and fashionable house.

MR. AND MISS WHEELOCK.—These accomplished vocalists will give a Concert in the Temple on Wednesday evening. They are no strangers here, as they have sung before to a Portsmouth audience, when they were favorably received, and are well remembered by the audience. See advertisement.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE FESTIVAL.—The committee of arrangements appointed at the Festival of the Sons of New Hampshire in Boston, in 1849, have decided that the second Festival shall be held on Thursday, the 18th of November.

The Universalist church in Murray street, New York, Rev. Mr. Chapin's, was sold on Tuesday for $46,000. The Society five years ago paid $17,500 for it. Mr. Chapin's congregation will remove up town.

DEAD LETTERS AT WASHINGTON.—During the last quarter the Post Office Department announce that they have opened one million and a quarter dead letters—from which the Department obtained over $11,000.

SNOW.—We learn that there was a slight fall of snow, in the northern part of Oxford County, yesterday morning.—Portland Adv. 29th.

Reported for the Daily Morning Chronicle.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

SEPTEMBER TERM, 1852.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 30.

The evidence for the Defts. in the case Bassett v. Salisbury Manufacturing Company, was concluded, and up to the hour of adjournment rebutting testimony in behalf of the Piff. was being put in.

The first jury were discharged this morning, the aspect of the above case being such, as to presume that they would not be wanted at all this week.

The Court adjourned to nine o'clock Friday morning.

☞ Yesterday, at the Stocking Factory, the head of the cylinder of the Steam Engine was blown off, in consequence of the loss of a key. Damage about $100. No person hurt.

☞ A wandering sponger, well dressed, was operating among the shops in this city yesterday, borrowing quarters, begging drinks, and hiring books, to pawn them afterwards. Shopkeepers will beware of him.

DEMOCRATS OF BOSTON.—The Boston Post informs us that the meeting at Faneuil Hall, on Tuesday evening, presented one of the largest, most intelligent and brilliant audiences ever assembled within the 'Old Cradle.'

C. L. Woodbury presided, and Senator Soule of Louisiana, made a speech of over two hours' length, with great applause.

Many of the most intelligent whigs of the city were present, and from all sides there was an unbroken expression of admiration of the ability of the orator.

THE FIRE ANNIHILATOR.

It has proved victorious in an important case in New York. A chimney caught fire in the Mercantile Hotel, at 7 o'clock in the evening, and blazed out brightly. Engineers, firemen, and a thousand people collected, but soon retired, as it was nothing but a chimney. But about an hour after the chimney was first discovered to be on fire, during which time the domestics and others of the Hotel, vainly attempted to extinguish it, it was ascertained that the heated bricks had communicated fire to the adjoining beams and other wood work, and threatened a great conflagration. At this time one of the proprietors of the Hotel rushed eagerly into the office of Phillips's Fire Annihilator Company, and asked them to apply one of their machines to the burning chimney. They broke a hole through the wall over the cooking ranges, where they found a great body of fire, the bricks seemed red hot, and the beams of the store above next to the chimney, in a blaze. They discharged a No. 4 machine into the hole made in the wall, which extinguished a column of fire over seventy feet in height, together with the burning timbers, in less than ten minutes.

This account is verified by the signatures of the keeper of the Hotel, and by three carpenters.

REVOLUTIONARY.—Louisville, Sept. 25.—A Revolutionary Congress met in Wheeling on Monday. Delegates were present from all parts of the country. Dr. Hornbury of Madison, presided. Letters were read from Mazzini, Ledru, Rolin, Kossuth and others. Resolutions were also passed defining the position of the Congress on the foreign and internal affairs of the country.

This Congress seems to be a nest in which to lay all sorts of outlandish eggs. But most of them will be addled.

RUNAWAYS.—A despatch from Nashville, Sept. 27, says:

A party of 30 or 40 slaves, escaped from Kentucky, arrived at Ripley, Ohio, last night. They were pursued by their owners, who, suspecting them to be in a certain house, applied for a warrant to search it, which was refused.

Three of the runaways were subsequently captured on the road, and taken to Ripley last night on their way back. At last accounts the negroes of the neighborhood had resembled in great numbers with arms, and surrounded the hotel where the parties were stopping.

It is feared that disastrous consequences may ensue, as the slave owners have expressed a determination to have their property at all hazards.

SCOTT'S TRAVELS.—Gen. Scott appears to be having a good time of it, as he progresses westwardly. He arrived at Paris, Ky., on Tuesday, and the military and citizens turned out to greet him. A despatch adds:

"During his progress from Blue Lick, the citizens on the line of route turned out freely, and his carriage was several times stopped to receive the greetings of the villagers on the road. The fair is very largely attended.—About 15,000 strangers are in the town, mostly influential citizens of the State. General Scott visited the ground at half-past 11, and then addressed the citizens. The welcome extended here partakes nothing of a political character, democrats and whigs alike appearing in the assemblage.

The Kentucky companies make a fine appearance, and a great number of soldiers who have fought under Scott are in town. The place presents a bustling appearance. Large parties of ladies and gentlemen are flocking in, principally on horseback. It is a jubilee among the slaves, hundreds of whom, both male and female, crowd the streets, walking and mounted.

General Scott's health is excellent, his sojourn at the Licks having invigorated and refreshed him. He is looking well and in excellent spirits.

The Board of Aldermen passed Bills for the payment of charges for work and stock on Common Sewers, Reservoir in School street, Court House, Rail on Pleasant Point, No. 1 Ward House, and Attorney's bills accruing in obtaining judgment against the sureties of Collector P. J. Goodrich for $744 01.

There are 13 sureties, making $57 23 each; as the list embraces a respectable body of gentlemen, it is supposed that it will be immediately paid. The City Clerk was directed to collect it.

Ald. Spaulding was directed to repair the old or procure a new flag for Jefferson Hall, the expense not to exceed $20.

The committee on widening Vaughan st. reported that it be widened 2 ft 6 in. at a place opposite the residence of the late Geo. Ham, making it 29 ft. wide at that place—accepted.

The committee reported the work on the rail at Pleasant Point well done, in a substantial manner; that it now requires painting, and Ald. Rowell was directed to paint the same provided the expense does not exceed $50;—also the lightning staff at the Powder House for its preservation.

FLOUR MILLS BURNT.—Rochester, Sept. 29. Lewis's Red Mills and Finck's Store Mills were partially burnt last evening. Loss on buildings, $30,000 or $40,000, partially insured.

EPISCOPAL CONVENTION—THE METHODIST CHURCH CASE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The Protestant Episcopal Convention have unanimously nominated Rev. William Creighton President of the Convention. Rev. Dr. J. B. Haight and Charles N. Rowland Treasurer. Judge Betts introduced a resolution making the election of a provisional Bishop the special order for 12 o'clock to-day, which, after some debate, was adopted.

A proposition to receive the Church of St. Phillip's (colored) into union with the Convention was debated and afterwards postponed.

The report on the great Methodist Church North and South controversy, made to the U. S. Supreme Court by John W. Nelson, who was directed to ascertain the value of the church property known as the Methodist Book Concern, with a view to a partition of the same between the parties to this memorable suit, is made public this morning. The plaintiffs representing the Church South contended that the trustees of the Concern must be held as defaulters for having failed, since the division of the church, to allow the beneficiaries South to receive their share.

The referee rejects this proposition. The trustees erred in law, but not so in good faith, and should not be charged with fraud. The Northern beneficiaries have received more than they are entitled to. The only consequence is that they must refund. These points were argued briefly, but with much clearness and force.

The aggregate value of the property in dispute at the time of the Church division, in May, 1845, is estimated at $562,245.76. The report is considered a very important one.

LEAVING HOME.—The Ellsworth, Me., Herald states that within ten days past, forty seven of the inhabitants of that city have left en route for California. Some of these were heads of families with their children, and others were young men who assist to form the very bone and muscle of the community. This company is not the only one that has left the city of Ellsworth, for the gold regions.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.—Washington, Sept. 28. The Shawnee Indians, who have been here since last winter, have concluded their business with the Indian bureau to-day and have received $38,000, to be distributed among their people at home. Orders have been issued to Major Murray, superintendent for the removal of the Menomiee Indians to their new locality in Wisconsin. The sum of $25,000 was appropriated by Congress for this purpose.

BISHOP OF RHODE ISLAND.—Rev. Dr. Hawkes of New York has been elected Bishop of R. I. by the Special Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church, now in session in Providence. It is understood that he will be called to the Rectorship of Grace Church, and that he will accept.

PERU AND LOBOS.—A despatch from Washington this morning states that our Government has entered into no fresh negotiations or correspondence with the new Peruvian Minister in relation to the Guano question.

"Are those pure canaries?" asked a gentleman of a bird dealer with whom he was negotiating for a "gift for his fair." "Yes, sir," said the dealer, confidently; "I raised them 'ere birds myself from canary seed!" It was deemed sufficient proof of their purity.

TRADE OF FRANCE.—During the past year the trade of France with the United States has been, imports one hundred and ten millions francs, exports one hundred and forty-five millions francs: with England, imports sixty-nine millions francs, exports two hundred ninety-three millions francs.

LOWELL BLEACHERY.—The workmen in the iron repair shop of the Lowell Bleachery, were offered their choice of eleven hours per day, or 12 1-2 cents additional wages per day, and work the old hours. All but two chose the latter.—Lowell News.

The New England Worsted Company, at Framingham, Mass., having sunk one half of its capital during the last year, has reduced the value of its shares to $50, and made a new subscription of preferred stock, to pay off its debts and proceed in its business.

MONUMENT TO REV. HOSEA BALLOU.—At the recent General Convention of Universalists, held in New York, a proposition was adopted to erect a monument to the memory of the late Rev. Hosea Ballou. A committee of one from each state was appointed to receive contributions for this purpose.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, of which the above cut is a true representation, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.
The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.
All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.
We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.,—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store,

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.
This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best apparatus and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.
We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c., with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.
Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.
All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

AUTUMN.

Autumn, nodding o'er the yellow plain,
Comes jovial on. Wave o'er the Wintry frost
Nitrous prepared, the various-blossom'd Spring
Put in white promise forth, and Summer suns
Concocted strong, ruit soundless now to view,—
Full, perfect all.

When the bright Virgin gives the beauteous days,
And Libra weighs in equal scales the year;
From heaven's high cope the fierce effulgence shook
Of parting Summer, a serener blue,
With golden light enliven'd wide, invests
The happy world. Attemper'd suns arise,
Sweet-beam'd, and shedding oft through lucid clouds
A pleasing calm; while broad and brown, below
Extensive harvests hang the heavy head.
Rich, silent, deep, they stand; for not a gale
Rolls its light billows o'er the bending plain;
A calm of plenty! till the ruffled air
Falls from its poise, and gives the breeze to blow.
Rent is the fleecy mantle of the sky,
The clouds fly different; and the sudden sun
By fits effulgent gilds th' illumin'd field,
And black by fits the shadows sweep along,
A gaily-checker'd, heart-expanding view,
Far as the circling eye can shoot around,
Unbounded, tossing in a flood of corn.

These are thy blessings, Industry; rough power
Whom labor still attends, and sweat, and pain;
Yet the kind source of every gentle art,
And all the soft civility of life.

SENATOR SOULE.—A late paper says of this distinguished Senator, that he was born in France, under Napoleon Bonaparte, of an eminent family, his father having been a Lieutenant General in the republican army. At fifteen, he was a conspirator against the Bourbons, and a fugitive; soon after, a Paris editor, on trial for the republican freedom of his pen. He was convicted and imprisoned, but he escaped to England; thence to Chili—to France again—to St. Domingo—to Baltimore in 1825—and then to New Orleans, where he has gained reputation as a lawyer and distinction as a politician, having been elected to the U. States Senate. Mr. Soule was not more than twenty years old when he left France.

His complexion is very dark, and he wears his hair jauntily, long behind, and parted as far on the right side of his head as it will stay. He has a fine, well rounded forehead, a speaking countenance, and a general air of marked intelligence and vivacity. In form, he inclines to robust and muscular, and has been said to resemble the great Napoleon—a resemblance which is frequently somewhat increased (some say intentionally) by his style of dress. He speaks our language freely and eloquently, although with a marked foreign accent. He speaks, for the most part, slowly and deliberately—but with much emphasis and gesticulation of a theatrical character.

HOW TO SPEND OUR MONEY.

From the New York Times.

Money in the pocket makes luxuries look like necessaries, and conveniences to resemble essentials, while an empty purse scatters out really troublesome wants pretty nearly as fast as it does false friends. Time and a few pinches from Poverty clear our eye-sight wonderfully, and almost any one, in looking over his old day-books, sees scores or hundreds of dollars spent, which he wishes back again, though they brought with them the old wants that they went out to bury, in all their former strength.

Let us see what we can get for our money. If we have but a penny to spare, it is worth while to consider how variously it may serve us. With that dingy coin you can satisfy the poor organ-grinder, who has given you a sight of the monkey and very fair versions of "Hail, Columbia" and "The low-back'd car;" you can buy a reminder of bilious colics, and that sort of enjoyment, in a sour Jersey peach; or a clean copy of the Daily Times, with all the latest news and the very best advice of the season.

With a three-cent piece you can buy a "good enough" cigar to make you feel cozy at the expense of all pedestrians within some rods of you, and a tearful rebuke from your wife, or a regular blow-out, according to how long you have been married; or with it you can show yourself a gentleman by prepaying your next letter to the publisher when you ask him to stop your paper.

With a sixpence, (if it is not crassed,) you can ride from the Battery to Forty second street; buy a toy that will make that rosy boy at home happy for a fortnight; get a loaf of bread, or a glass of brandy and water that will give you a rousing head-ache to-morrow, and if it is the first one, give you a capital start on the down-hill road.

What could not a boy do with a dollar? And a man can do a great many things with it. He can buy camphene enough to burn dreadfully the careless servant girl, and consume half his valuable library; he can enjoy a race on the Skiddy or the Alida, and the probabilities of a sudden death without incurring the odium of a suicide; he can have for it a call, and the best advice of his old trusty physician some tedious day when he "feeds on drugs and endures a fever's agonies;" or, if he lives in the country, and has nineteen wise men of taste for his neighbors, he can have a year's subscription for the Weekly Times.

With five dollars, he can live a bachelor at Leland's Metropolitan from Thursday morning till Saturday night; have a nice spree, the news of which will reach the "old folks at home" a year or two hence and plant thorns in their pillows; buy a beautiful de laine for his sister, or, if he has a good name, he can have for it the use of a hundred dollars for a year.

With twenty dollars he can get a very respectable coat; buy three or four tons of anthracite for next Winter's use; or rent a seat for one, pretty well up, in a fashionable church.

With thirty dollars he can buy a finger ring that will convince all his acquaintance that he is a fop, and put business men on their guard against him; or buy a policy for life insurance that will secure to his widow some two or three thousand dollars, which creditors cannot touch, and in the event of his sudden death secure her from the pressure of want until she can earn, by unused toil, her living.

With an hundred he can enjoy a thousand knick-knacks that will do him no good, and leave no sign of service at the end of the year; or by depositing it in a Savings' Bank in the name of the little prattler at home, give him, when he comes of age, a handsome sum to start with in the world.

With five hundred, he could purchase a beautiful piano; see Europe a-foot till thoroughly homesick; rent, possibly, a small house in a respectable neighborhood in New York for a year; buy a very pleasant homestead in the country; or pay the expenses of a law-suit in defence of an abstract right, and to show that he would not be imposed upon by anybody.

With a fortune, we can buy the reputation of hard-hearted, usurious, selfish misers; or relief for the afflicted, comforts for the disconsolate, luxuries for ourselves, and troops of loving friends.

Among other instances related of the jealousy of the Cuban authorities, is one which partakes of the ludicrous. Two English officers, attached to a British steamer, having, during a walk, pointed to the fortifications in sight, were arrested and imprisoned on suspicion of being fillibusters taking observations. The British Consul, however, procured their immediate release.

BARON WARD.

The Journal of Commerce has a biographical sketch of Baron Ward, now regent of the Duchy of Parma, who, it seems, was once an English horse jockey. He commenced the active duties of life in the stables of an English nobleman—attracted the attention of the late Duke of Parma, and at 12 years of age exchanged England for Italy. Acting as jockey there, Tom was soon celebrated for the easy victories he won for his master over all competitors on the turf. At the same time his English habits taught him to exercise his financial skill, in the way of saving some of the wasteful expenses of the Duke, so that in a short while his master gave him the management of his agricultural affairs, in which position "Tom" distinguished himself with equal ability. After passing through many other processes of promotion, Ward was made head-steward of the palace, and was now called Signor Ward-i by the Italians. From this he progressed to minister of finance, minister of Parma to Tuscany, minister plenipotentiary to Austria, and finally regent. Parma is a small territory, containing only 150,000 inhabitants, but nevertheless the position of the ci-devant jockey gives him access to the best society of Europe. The Duke's affairs once took the Baron to England, where Lord Palmerston endorsed him for a "capital fellow," and would have put him forward in society had he been willing. He declined, however, all invitations where his origin would offend aristocratic prejudice.

We consider this horse-jockey to be quite an honorable man; and think he might have gone "forward" as Lord Palmerston's protege, without being much troubled at offending aristocratic prejudices. But his declination seals him as a man of rare modesty as well as real worth.

PORTSMOUTH:
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1852.

N. H. MECHANIC ASSOCIATION.

This venerable Association, composed chiefly of mechanics living in Portsmouth, will celebrate their fiftieth anniversary on Wednesday, the 13th instant, in the evening, when an Address will be delivered in the Temple, by Charles W. Brewster, Esq., editor of the Portsmouth Journal. The services will be public, and without doubt fully attended.—After which, the members of the Association, with their female friends, will partake of a social supper in honor of the occasion.

The Association was commenced in 1802, with 100 members. It has been conducted with great prudence and skill as to its finances, and has been useful in many cases as a charity.

Recent amendments to the Constitution have liberalized the terms of admission for new members: the applicant must produce a certificate of having served a regular apprenticeship, and must be of a good moral character. If between 21 and 25, the admission fee is $1; from 25 to 30, $2; 30 to 35, $3; 35 to 40, $4; 40 to 45, $5. The annual assessment is one dollar. Forty years membership gives all the benefits of the Association, without further assessments.

On the death of a member $35 are given to his nearest relative as a matter of right; and should the members or their widows be in want, they have assistance from the general fund.

Since the institution commenced it has been enabled to pay back to its members and their families from $4,000 to $5,000; and it now has a fund of about $4,000 in productive stocks, besides $1500 in stocks at present unproductive.

MECHANIC'S FESTIVAL.—The workmen employed at the Union Works, South Boston, partook of a supper, served up at the Lyceum Hall Tuesday evening. They enjoyed themselves finely.

This supper was given in observance of the anniversary of the establishment of the ten hour system. The proprietor of the Union Works, Mr. Wilmarth, between whom and his workmen the utmost good feeling prevails, was present. He paid a high compliment to his men, who, he said, had worked harder, better, and with more zeal under the new system than under the old.

Mr. Wilmarth is the same gentleman who publicly and frankly avowed his fears, a year ago, that the system would not work well—but expressed his willingness and intention to give it a fair trial. From the above paragraph we infer that he is satisfied and pleased with it.

THE ADVOCATES OF A "TEN HOUR SYSTEM" IN COUNCIL.—A convention, composed of persons in favor of the passage of a general law to regulate and restrict the hours of labor to ten hours a day, was held in Boston, on Thursday. They passed resolutions expressive of their opinions, and promotive of their object, to shorten the hours of labor in factories.

NAVAL.—Hon. John P. Kennedy, secretary of the navy, Com. Wm. Shubrick, and Cadwallader Ringgold, of the U. S. navy, arrived at Boston, and inspected the navy yard at Charlestown yesterday.

The Secretary is expected in Portsmouth to-day, to visit the navy yard on this station.

LAUNCH. — The beautiful clipper ship "Tinqua," will be launched from the ship yard of Geo. Raynes, Esq., this day about 12 1-2 o'clock. She is owned by Messrs. Olyphant & Sons of New York, is intended for the China trade, and will be commanded by Capt. Jacob D. Whitmore. She was named after a distinguished Chinese merchant. Her burthen is about 650 tons.

LIBERTY CONVENTION.—The National Liberty Convention met at Syracuse, N. Y. on the 30th of September, and nominated Wm. Goodell, for President; S. M. Piper, of Virginia, for Vice President. The meeting was small, and "the enthusiasm" not great.

MRS. CLAY AND GEN. SCOTT.—When at Lexington, Sept. 30, Gen. Scott proceeded to Ashland—a mile from town—to call on the widow of Henry Clay. The interview was a prolonged one, and Mrs. Clay was deeply affected.

The Boston Times makes the following inquiry:—

"Can any whig tell us why it is that every soldier in the Mexican war, of any distinction, supports Pierce and opposes Scott for President?"

An old man, named James S. Wilson, died recently at Terre Haute, Indiana, under the singular delusion that his sons and daughters were wizards and witches, and bequeathed his property to a stranger.

Of course the will is not worth a straw.

Henry W. Beecher says he intends to answer those people who have accused him of putting other people's names to his letters.

A TRIBUTE TO WORTH.

A very chaste and beautiful Monument has been erected in the "Proprietors' Burying Ground" on South road, to the memory of the late JOHN W. FOSTER, Esq.

It is made of pure white marble, the form being a Cross on a base four feet square. The whole height is about eight feet.

The following inscription is on the front:

Erected by the Portsmouth South Parish Sunday School, in memory of
JOHN W. FOSTER,
Who was for thirty-four years their faithful Superintendent and devoted christian friend and Teacher.
Born Jan. 16th, 1789; Died Jan. 10th, 1852.

On the opposite side is this inscription:

"In simplicity and godly sincerity, by the grace of God, he had his conversation in the world."

GENERAL WOOL, who is travelling with Gen. Scott, was called out at Paris, Ky. on the 29th, at their great Fair, and made a speech, thanking the people for their honors, which "he attributed to the fact of his being now travelling on public business, in company with one so distinguished as their chief. He alluded briefly and happily to Harry of the West, and other brilliant names in the history of the State, and was much applauded throughout his address."

There was an immense assemblage present on the grounds, which was variously estimated at from 30,000 to 40,000 persons, a large proportion being ladies.

They formed a great ring or circle, and in the centre were Gens. Scott, Wool and Lamson. Gen. Scott also made a short speech, which is reported. He left with his suite, at 4 o'clock for Lexington, where he arrived at 5 P. M. His health is tolerably good, but the weather is oppressive.

Gen. Wool has received a special invitation from the Democracy of Frankfort to remain as their guest during his stay, which he has accepted. There is to be a meeting of Democrats to-night (30th,) at which Governor Powell will be present.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION.—Our advertising columns show that Prof. Coad of Philadelphia, is now in our city, with his splendid patent graduated Galvanic Battery, and patent insulated poles for medical purposes. He has the highest recommendations of this instrument, in the cure of various diseases. Among them is the testimony of Prof. Cleaveland, and the President of Bowdoin College.

Prof. C. is now at his rooms at the boarding house of Mrs. Tripe, corner of Vaughan and Hanover streets, where he will receive patients, and see persons who wish to buy patent rights of this valuable apparatus.

He restores sight and hearing, rheumatism, nervous disorders, and paralysis. Some of the most respectable persons in Concord, Manchester, Portland, and other neighboring places, give their testimony, showing that many important cures have been effected by this means.

In addition to what has been said above, derived from documentary evidence, we have a personal acquaintance with Dr. Coad, and have repeatedly examined and tested his battery, which is a beautiful instrument, well worthy the inspection of any gentleman or lady who has never seen any thing of the kind.

LORD WELLINGTON'S MARRIAGE.—The sketch we gave of him yesterday, said nothing of his marriage. A correspondent of the Boston Post says,

"The duke married, in 1804, the Hon. Catharine Packingham, a lady for whose hand he had unsuccessfully sued as Captain Wellesley, whom he survived twenty one years. He leaves two sons to inherit his name."

We suppose it is meant that the duke outlived his wife, but the sentence does not express it. It says that he survived Capt. Wellesley.

PACIFIC RAILROAD.—This road is in Missouri. A despatch under date of St. Louis, Sept. 22, states that the bill for the construction of the Pacific Railroad passed the Missouri House of Representatives on the preceding evening. The bill provides for the construction of the road to the western boundary of the State, and loans the credit of the State to the amount of $1,000,000. The Missouri Republican of the 23d, says that the Legislature adjourned finally on the 21st, without having done anything for the Pacific Railroad. The Senate and House each passed bills in relation to the road, differing essentially in the details, but neither of them proved acceptable to both branches. The Republican in speaking of this road says:

The gradation of the first fifteen miles of the road west of this city are nearly finished. Several bridges are framed and others are in the course of construction. The work of laying the track was commenced yesterday, and is being prosecuted with vigor. The depot house at Kirkland, thirteen miles west of the city, is in the course of construction and is rapidly progressing to a completion. It is confidently anticipated that the cars will be running to that point by the first of January next.

In the accounts of the late State Treasurer of Missouri—Peter G. Glover, deceased—a defalcation of $37,046 has been discovered.

Reported for the Daily Morning Chronicle.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

SEPTEMBER TERM, 1852.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 1.

In the case Bassett vs. Salisbury Manufacturing Company, the evidence was concluded, and upon the coming in of the Court in the afternoon, Mr. Wells commenced his argument for the defence, which occupied something over three hours.

Upon its conclusion the Court adjourned to Saturday morning.

FROST. — Our section was visited on Wednesday evening with a smart frost. In some places the ground was frozen to the depth of an inch. In the interior, the weather has been quite cold. The top of Mt. Washington and the more elevated peaks of the White Mountain range are already clad in a deep coating of snow.—Portland Adv.

A DEFINITION.—There is a great deal of talk about what constitutes a true and acceptable democrat. We consider every man who is willing to endorse now, and abide by hereafter, the principles promulgated by the late national democratic convention, a good democrat, and entitled to the confidence of the democratic party.—Boston Post.

FIRE.—In Newburyport on Thursday evening an alarm of fire at 20 minutes past 8 o'clock, came from the spinning room of the Globe Mill. It was discovered in the street, while the watchman was in a distant part of the building, attending to the furnaces, but was extinguished in a few moments without damage.

The Georgia and Florida Railroad Company, have closed a contract in England for 19,000 tons of Railroad Iron, 1000 tons to be delivered at Brunswick, Georgia, in November, and 1000 tons each month thereafter, until the whole is received.

THE SUPPLY OF PERUVIAN BARK.—It is said that the Netherlands government, to avert the effects of the disappearance from the materia medica of quinquinia, or Peruvian bark, from which quinine is obtained, have conceived the idea of attempting the cultivation, at Batavia, of the tree from which the bark is obtained.

A noteworthy fact is stated in connection with the Orthodox Church in Windsor, Ct., whose history extends back two hundred years. In all that time the church has not dismissed a pastor, but each pastor has died in possession of the love and confidence of the people.—Salem Register.

Hon. Ben Hardin, the widely known Kentuckian died on Friday morning, 24th, at his residence in Bardstown. He has been suffering from a painful illness for some weeks, and a fatal termination has not, therefore, been wholly unexpected. Mr. Hardin has occupied several prominent official positions in Kentucky.

"UNCLE TOM AS HE IS."—We saw, on Saturday, a gentleman from Western Virginia, a former resident of this vicinity, who was on his way home, accompanied by a slave, who ran away about two years since, but had, on meeting his master in Rochester, begged the privilege of returning. He was an active, intelligent appearing "boy," about 25 years old.—Buffalo Courier.

A SPECULATION.—A letter from California says: "A man from Illinois has just arrived from Independence, having driven the entire distance two thousand turkeys, all hale and hearty. They cost him about fifty cents apiece in the States, and the cost of feeding them on the way was nothing; they fed themselves. He has been offered eight dollars a piece."

THE CANAL RAILROAD.—The books for subscriptions to the stock of that part of the Canal extension Railroad, lying within the limits of Connecticut, were opened yesterday at Plainville, and the whole amount subscribed, except a small amount reserved for the towns along the line. Nothing now remains, but for our citizens to make up the few thousands allotted to them, and the route must, we are assured, be put under contract to Northampton immediately.—New Haven Journal.

Mr. Webster's Health, we are sorry to learn, has been quite poor ever since he left Washington. He is obliged to diet and to live very sparingly, and many of his letters are written by an amanuensis.—N. Y. Express.

Boston papers say he is well.

BIG BELL.—William Keye, the bell founder of Louisville, is casting a bell for the Catholic Cathedral of that city, which, when finished, will probably be the largest in the United States. It will be six feet high, ten feet in diameter at the bottom, and will weigh 46,000 pounds.

A SMALL HOLE FOR ESCAPE.—On Wednesday Mr. Baker, proprietor of the Medford House at Medford, Mass., was examined before Justice Ladd, of Cambridge, on two complaints for violating the liquor law. The complainant was James O. Curtis, one of the Selectmen of Medford. He was discharged on the first complaint because the name of the principal witness was not all spelt out in the complaint. He was also discharged on the second charge as it was not proved that Mr. Baker kept a public house.

A DESCRIPTION.—The editor of the Worcester Transcript thus describes A. J. Davis, who lectured one evening at the Spiritual Convention.

In the evening, Andrew Jackson Davis held forth. A silver pass, resembling an American dime admitted all into his presence and enabled them to see him face to face. To the eye of sense he appeared as a young man with a thick comal covering upon the occipital, the upper labial, and the lower facial regions. To the eye of faith it is impossible for us to say what he did appear like. Holding a paper in his hand, he delivered a profound and unfathomable discourse.

COAD'S PATENT GRADUATED
GALVANIC BATTERY!
AND PATENT INSULATED POLES
For Medical Purposes.

THE subscriber respectfully informs the Physicians, the afflicted, and the public generally, that he has obtained letters patent of the United States, for certain inventions and improvements in the GALVANIC BATTERY, and Insulated Poles for medicinal purposes, &c. The Patentee will remain in this place for a short time, to sell patent rights of Counties, States, &c., and to operate on patients for the cure of the diseases below mentioned. Each operation $1. He will receive all persons on business at his Rooms, at MRS. TRUE'S Boarding House, No. 13 Vaughan street, corner of Hanover.

It is by this operation only that the galvanic fluid can be brought under the perfect control of man, and communicated in definite quantities to suit any part of the body with perfect safety, in a gentle current, without shocks, pain, or any disagreeable sensation, and therefore is the only one which is fit to be used for medical purposes. It is with this important instrument only that the galvanic fluid can be conveyed, with the best possible effect to the brain, to cure nervous headaches; to the eye to restore sight or cure dimness; to the ear to restore hearing; to the tongue, &c. to restore speech; and to the various parts of the body and the cure of rheumatism, asthma, neuralgia, gout, chorea or St. Vitus' Dance, epilepsy, weakness from sprains, some diseases peculiar to females, contractions of the limbs, palpitation of the heart, and the whole range of nervous diseases.

☞ This apparatus is now greatly approved of by many of the medical Professors, who are among the most celebrated in the world, to whom reference will be given, by numerous highly respectable practicing Physicians in various parts of the United States, and by a host of respectable persons who have been cured of inveterate diseases which could not be removed by any other known means. It may be proper to inform the afflicted, and others whom it may concern, that there are numerous worthless instruments sold, which are also called Galvanic Batteries, for medical purposes.—These spurious instruments convey the galvanic fluid to the patient by intensity and not by quantity, and therefore generally do much injury to the patients. Dr. Dunglison, Professor of the Institutes of Medicine in the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, calls them in his "New Remedies" and other works, "PHILOSOPHICAL TOYS," which only benefit the maker and the vender, but disappointing the afflicted. Full information is given in a pamphlet, which every person who buys a patent right to prepare chemicals, to keep the apparatus in perfect order, and to operate on patients for the cure of diseases. Apply forthwith to
P. COAD, Patentee.

☞ The Democratic Meeting at the Temple last evening, was respectable in numbers and in appearance. A few ladies were present, and a considerable number of whigs and free-soilers. Nehemiah Moses, Esq. presided. The speakers, Messrs. Stevens and Woodbury, acquitted themselves to the satisfaction of the audience generally, and were frequently applauded.

S. E. Coues also made a few remarks, defining his position, and eulogising Gen. Pierce.

☞ Rev. Dr. Wainwright was elected provisional Bishop of New York, in the Episcopal convention at New York city last evening.

☞ Z. P. Porter, inn-keeper of Cambridge Mass., was yesterday fined $30 and cost for selling liquor; he appealed.

LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

New Orleans, Sept. 30.

ARRIVAL OF THE FALCON AT NEW ORLEANS, WITH $200,000 IN GOLD—$2,000,000 ON THE WAY.—The Steamer Falcon has arrived from Aspinwall with California dates to Sept. 1st. The news brought by her is unimportant. She brought 114 passengers, and $200,000 in gold.

The United States left on the 23d for New York.

The fugitive slave case at San Francisco has been decided in favor of the claimant.

The California markets were only moderately active, as many descriptions of goods had declined. Several auction sales had been held, at which prices accepted in a number of instances were below first cost in the Atlantic States.

The Money market was in a favorable condition, and the receipt of gold dust at San Francisco on the increase.

From Oregon, we learn that owing to the neglect of the farming interest Flour and Wheat were on the rise, as were also many other articles of produce.

The Havana News is, that in consequence of the frequent Fillibuster threats here in the United States, more trammels are made upon our commerce in Cuba. As we give trouble to other nations, so, of course, they will give trouble to us. The indications are, also, that both the French and British fleets will aid in putting down any piratical or fillibuster expeditions from the United States. Indeed, the Frenchman, it is stated, offered his services to the Captain General.

N. Y. EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.—On Wednesday afternoon, in the Protestant Episcopal Covention, N. N. city, one ballot was had for a provisional bishop of New York, which resulted in no choice. There were thirteen candidates voted for, and Rev. Dr. Vinton headed the list. The motion as to the admission of the delegates of the colored church was again passed over.

PORK.—Cincinnati, Sept. 29.— Contracts were made here last week for 8000 Hogs, at 5 1-2c for those delivered in November, and 5 1-2 for those delivered in December. Flour is offered freely, but no buyers. The river is falling slowly, and the weather is clear.

FATAL CARELESSNESS—FRATRICIDE.—At Fabins, Onondaga county, N. Y., a few days ago, a Mr. Root was at work in a field, while his brother was out hunting with a rifle, which went off, or was fired by the latter, whose brother fell dead from a wound in the back of the head. He had a wife and three children, one a week old.

ALL FOR LOVE.—Between ten and eleven o'clock, on Wednesday night, a young and beautiful girl, residing in Endicott street, in this city, leaped from the Charlestown side of Warren bridge into the Charles River. Her clothes kept her to the surface of the water until several men in a boat, belonging to an eastern vessel lying at the railroad bridge, put off and rescued her from a watery grave. When taken on board she gave as a reason for the rash act that her lover had betrayed her. The cold bath so operated upon her feelings as to cause her to declare she would never again attempt to drown herself.—Boston Post.

EXTENSIVE COUNTERFEITING.—Philadelphia, Sept. 30.—The arrest mentioned yesterday of the two counterfeiters, Sterrett and Hewitt, has led to the discovery of one of the most extensive and dangerous counterfeiting establishments in the country. On the premises a book of the autographs of the Cashiers and the Presidents of all the Banks in the country was found. Among the large number of counterfeiting plates found were twenty dollars on the Merchants' Bank, Providence; ten dollars, Boston Bank. Of the spurious money, of which a large quantity on numerous Banks was found, were twenty dollar bills on the Merchants' Bank, Providence, and two's and five's Eagle Bank, do; five's North American Bank do. The parties arrested are recognised as old offenders. They were held to bail in 5000 dollars.

WHALE TAKEN IN CASCO BAY.—The whale taken a few days since in our bay, still remains entire on the beach at Peak's Island, near the landing place of the steamer Atlantic. He is a young one of the fin back species, about 30 feet in length; it is intended to keep him whole for several days to come, in order that those who choose, may have an opportunity of seeing him. He was taken last Saturday afternoon, about twelve miles off the Cape, by a boat from the schooner Gazelle, of Harwich.

When first seen, a thrasher and a sword fish were engaged in an assault upon him, and they continued their assault for nearly two hours, when the whale began to spout blood. At this, a portion of the crew of the Gazelle lowered a boat, and, running along side of him, succeeded in throwing a harpoon into him and capturing him. His body, all over, bears the marks of the severe manner in which the thrasher and sword fish handled him. They had ripped open his throat and torn out his tongue; had torn away most of his tail, and made deep incisions into him in many places.—Portland Adv. 30.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, of which the above cut is a true representation, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.
The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.
All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.
We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and HALL STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store,

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.
This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than could be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best apparatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.
We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Angelo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c., with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Reversed Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.
Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.
All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

"FAREWELL."

It is a painful word—"Farewell;"
It bids the tide of sorrow swell;
It sounds like friendship's parting knell;
And yet this word,
Of brighter, better hopes may tell,
If rightly heard.

It is a word that lingers here,
It reaches not that holier sphere,
Where sins and trials disappear.
No secret sigh
There rends the heart; no parting tear
Drops from the eye.

Speak then the word, and let it tread
To high imagining and feed
On promised blessings to succeed;
The soul shall dwell
In those inspiring thoughts,—nor need
To fear "farewell."

ELLIS.

ITALY.—The intrigues of Sir Henry Bulwer in Italy cause the Austrian Government some anxiety. The garrisons of Florence and Bologna are to be reinforced.

It is announced in the Italic Populo that the democratic Mazzinian committee of Tuscany and the Roman States have formally united.

Letters from Catania of 30th ultimo describe the damage done by the eruption of Etna. One stream of Lava had flowed toward Zaffaroni, fifteen miles from the crater, and another toward Mila, devastating the vineyards in both directions. Prayers had been offered in all the churches by way of averting the evil.

THE LEVIATHAN OF CLIPPERS.—A correspondent informs us, that Mr. McKay of East Boston, has it in contemplation to build the largest clipper ship in the world. The design is completed, and the moulds are in preparation. She will be 300 feet long on deck, 50 feet in breadth, and 28 feet deep. She will have three decks and probably four masts, and will register over 3000 tons. The two great desiderata kept in view by the constructor, are strength and speed. She will be iron strapped, and of the real clipper model. She is intended for the California trade, and her designer and builder flatters himself that he will launch her on the 4th of July, 1853.—Boston Courier.

CHILDREN'S GROG SHOPS.

In New York state, there is no Maine Law —nor any thing like it. And in New York City there is scarcely any law at all on the subject, which interferes in the least with selling any sort of liquor to any kind of customers. The newspapers of the city, too, with very few exceptions, go against a stringent law. Foreigners of all sorts bring their habits of free drinking along with them when they land there—and now, by the following item from the N. Y. Express, (which is not a Maine law paper) we perceive the climax of intemperance is capped by the institution of Children's Grog Shops. Let every good citizen think of it.

Within the last few days the police records have revealed the astounding fact, that there are grog-shops in this city into which children are enticed, and sold liquor for a cent a glass, and that many children have been induced to become regular frequenters of those dens. The enormity of the the thing is scarcely credible, but it is nevertheless true. The evils resulting from such a fiendish traffic cannot be fully comprehended, and no punishment is too severe for those who have engaged in it. The authorities should at once take the matter in hand, and use all the power with which they are invested for the suppression of the practice. Every friend of humanity should exert himself to root out the evil, and bring its authors to condign punishment. It is a matter in which everybody is interested. If continued, it will be the means of producing a generation of drunkards—a generation of lawless rowdies, thieves, cut-throats and pickpockets.

LIQUOR CASE.—Providence, R. I., Sept. 28. Decision in an Important Liquor Case.—The case of W. H. Greene was decided yesterday in the court of magistrates, and the liquor, to the amount of some $3000, was declared forfeited, and ordered to be destroyed by the city marshal, who proceeded to execute the decision of the court, but was stayed by a writ of replevin, issued by the circuit court of the United States for this district, at the instance of Mr. Greene, by the U. S. marshal. This case has been some time before the court, and involved a greater amount of the contraband article than has been heretofore seized under the Maine liquor law in New England. The liquor was said to belong to a Mr. Holbrook, and as the property of Mr. Holbrook was condemned; but it is now claimed by Mr. W. H. Greene, who is at present a resident of New York city. Considerable excitement was observable among the citizens yesterday; but the transfer of the liquor law was made without any manifestations to create a disturbance. All parties seemed pleased with the idea of having the liquor question come before the United States court, and as this is the first case so carried up, the result will be looked for with much interest by states where the suppressive law is in operation, or where efforts are making to have it introduced.

A DRUNKEN MAN PICKED UP AT SEA. —The New York Commercial Advertiser reports the following:—

The bark Girard, arrived this morning from Neuvitas, has on board a man who was picked up at sea, in a Spanish boat, on the 20th inst., in latitude 32 40, longitude 77 30. He says that his name is Juan Hernandez, and that he left Cardenas on the morning of the 1st inst. for Cazo, five leagues distant, in company with an old man. The same afternoon, while both were under the influence of liquor, his companion fell overboard and was drowned, and the survivor furled the sails, and allowed the boat to drift at will.

From this time to that when he was taken on board the Girard, according to his own accounts, he subsisted entirely on rum and wine, half a demijohn of which was found in the boat, without provision or fluid of any kind, or anything on which they could have lived. The man was asleep and intoxicated, when first discovered by those by whom he was saved. We give his statement as furnished, but with serious misgivings as to its veracity. It does not seem possible that life could be sustained for so long a time as twenty days with no other sustenance than alcholic drinks.

The new St. Nicholas Hotel will be opened by an Albany party, we are told, the keepers of the Marble Column, who, it is said, have made $30,000, within a very short time at Albany. There seems to be nothing like hotels for making money.—N. Y. Express.

A NOVEL MISTAKE.—Quite an amusing scene took place in Hanover street, last evening, a little before dark, which was richly enjoyed by the few who were so fortunate as to witness it. It seems that a young man, clerk in an embroidery store on that street, saw his father riding past in a carriage, and wishing to see him very much rushed out in pursuit of the vehicle. In the course of his run he accidentally struck with his hand the skirt of a gentleman's coat. The gentleman thought that his pocket had been picked, and without stopping to ascertain that fact he immediately ran after the supposed thief at a rapid rate.—The race was long and nobly contested, but the clerk reached his father's vehicle—got in with him—and drove off, not conscious of the fact that he had been pursued as a supposed pickpocket. The gentleman, baffled in his attempt to catch his prisoner, was about to depart from the spot, when he happened to put his hand in his coat-pocket, where he found his money all safe. He gave one loud exclamation on making this discovery, and immediately left amid the boisterous laughs of the bystanders, who had seen the fun.—Boston Chronicle.

ANOTHER DESPICABLE OUTRAGE.—On Wednesday night an assault was made on the house of Mr. Jonathan Buffum, one of the complainants in the late liquor case of Mr. Phineas Drew. Three bottles of cold [coal] tar, mixed with other virulent liquors, similar in nature to those which were thrown a few nights since into the dwelling of the Mayor, were thrown against the house, two of which entered a window of the parlor, spreading the indelible compound in every direction. The walls, the carpets, the furniture, the choice books upon the center-table, were all more or less injured. Three or four slats of the window blind were knocked out by a third, and the contents spread over the outside of the building.—Boston Chronicle.

DAILY Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:

MONDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1852.

THE CATHOLIC CHURCH.

The accession of a foreign population, mostly Catholics, has sustained public worship in Portsmouth at stated intervals for years; and during the last year, their numbers and ability have sufficed to maintain public worship every Sunday, and secure the constant services of a resident Priest. They have secured one of the most eligible building lots in the place for the site of their Church, purchased that part of it where they are to build the Church, and obtained control of the remainder, on which they will hereafter build a parsonage.

The foundation for their church was laid some months ago, and now the walls (of wood) are raised, and will shortly be roofed and finished outside—but not finished internally at present, as it is part of the excellent policy of that church never to get into debt for such purposes as erecting a building. The location is on Summer street, on what is called Mason's Hill, almost opposite the former residence of Hon. Jeremiah Mason.

IS IT SO?

This question, which we put in our paper of the 30th, has brought out the following answer from an anonymous correspondent, who, by the act of omitting to furnish us with his name, reduces the article to a mere assertion, with nobody for a voucher. Of course we can make no further use of it, for the testimony of an invisible and unknown witness is not evidence in such a case. We only remark that if the statements therein contained are true, the "Dealers under the Maine Law" must be the most disinterested people in the world, to desire the repeal of a law which enlarges their business, and at the same time increases their profits fifteen fold.

Messrs. Editors:—I notice an article in your paper of Sept. 30th, headed "Is it so?" This is a question put to the public, (as I suppose) asking for real information as regards the liquor trade in Maine under the Maine Law. Now Sirs, I undertake to give you a few facts as they are in regard to the above traffic in Maine under the Maine Law.

I dealt in the ardent in Maine, when that Law was first enacted, and I continued in the business till May last, in the same place, and after learning the ropes a little, I sold more liquor than I did before this Law took effect. Not only so, but instead of selling at twenty per cent., as I usually had done, I sold for three hundred per cent., right through. This, Sirs, is the truth of the matter, and I must think will hold good all over Maine, as I know my place of business to be one of the most rum-rod towns in the State. As regards the effect upon the dealers in Boston, and where Maine gets her rum, ask New Brunswick, ask Nova Scotia, ask Canada, and ask New Hampshire, and perhaps you may in a small degree account for the misunderstanding with the Boston Chronicle, as well as for the decline in the Boston trade with Maine.

These few hints at the matter may suffice for the present. Any further questions can be answered. Yours, very truly,

A DEALER UNDER THE MAINE LAW.

SMALL NOTE LAW.—The law of Maryland took effect on the 1st of October which prohibits the circulation of notes or bills under five dollars, issued by any bank, corporation or individual without the limits of this State. The object of the law is to abolish the nuisance under which the people have for a long time labored from the presence of a deteriorated, defaced and small note currency having its origin beyond the State. The end proposed to be attained is a good one, and a firm and united observance of law will rid the State permanently of the nuisance.—Baltimore American.

The thing here proposed, is more easily told of than done. If the small bills from other states are worthless, or nearly so, they will run themselves out. But if not, we are quite at a loss to see how the little state of Maryland will keep clear of small bills from surrounding states. Such laws have existed in most States of New England—but they were never obeyed—and never will be.

THE POSTAGE LAW.—The law regulating Newspaper Postage, went into operation on the 1st inst., and effects a considerable reduction. The law is intelligible, (which is more than could be said for the old one) and readily understood. For instance, on the Chronicle, weight under 1 1-2 oz., the postage paid quarterly in advance, for any town in New Hampshire, will be 19 1-2 cents per quarter, or 78 cents per year. To any other part of the United States, 39 cents per quarter, or 156 cents per year.

ELEVEN HOURS.—All the hands in all the Machine Shops in Lowell, except at the Bleachery, chose to work eleven hours, rather than to have extra pay for the twelfth hour.

THE ATHEIST.—The objection to a complainant in a late criminal case at Cambridge, Mass., that he was an atheist, was waived, because the principal witness to prove the atheism, was absent.

RAILROAD TIME.—All the Railroads change their time to-day. Look out and not get left.

COMING BY ARMIES.—The New York Times of Thursday evening says:

On Thursday and Friday of last week, 6,832 foreign emigrants landed on our shores; and since that time 7,321 more have arrived—making an addition, within less than one week, of 14,153 persons to the population of this city by emigration alone. And this process is going on from week to week, from month to month, and from year to year. Has there ever before been a time when whole cities were emptied upon our wharves in a single week; when ships within a fortnight brought more people among us than cities of half a century's growth contain?

MORALS OF NEW YORK.—The following article from the New York Times, indicates a sad state of morals, and a slack police in our great city of emigrants from all nations. Perhaps the state of morals may be accounted for by the immense and rapid immigration. But the police ought to be strengthened and vivified.

The verdict of the Coroner's Jury, in the case of Louis Camerzini, accused of the murder of the man McCrodden, seems to have been fully justified by the facts. It was proved, that following the most approved standards of rowdyism, McCrodden and his companions, had attacked Camerzini in broad daylight; wantonly abused and beat him, and robbed him of his watch and money. Infuriated with his loss, the Italian hastened to his room, armed himself, and returned to the scene of violence; found McCrodden there; and demanding a restoration of his property, he became involved in another quarrel and fight, as a termination to which he stabbed the bravo to the heart. The Jury, upon these facts, have brought in a verdict of justifiable homicide.

There are times when such transactions might require a more careful scrutiny. Too ready leniency for the homicide is, as a general rule, to be avoided, even in appearance. But in the present condition of things, where the citizen is obliged to be his own protector, public opinion will continue to favor the defendant in all such wanton conflicts. No Jury will incriminate a man for having shot down these noted ruffians, who at noonday, and in the most stirring parts of the City, assault the citizen.

ANNIVERSARY OF JERRY'S RESCUE.

A paragraph was going round in the papers only a day or two since, stating that the town council of Syracuse, N. Y. had desired the abolitionists not to meet there on the anniversary of Jerry's rescue from the new slave-law, for fear of a mob.

They met, however, as we learn by a telegraphic despatch to the Boston Chronicle, on Friday last, and celebrated the day after their fashion, without "row, riot or rumpus," so far as we can see by the proceedings.

Gerritt Smith, Garrison, Raymond, Douglass, Lucretia Mott and others were present and took part in the drama.

The speeches were spicy, some of them peppery,—and some as telegraphed, odd enough.

Raymond, who is a colored man, gave Mr. Webster a compliment "over the left," and "alluded to his boast, that a fugitive slave would be taken in this city at the next abolition meeting—Mr. W. now lying at Marshfield, a stranded whale."

Miss Lucy Stone praised the Syracusans, especially those women who paid the modern Judas thirty pieces of silver. They who achieved the rescue would descend with a halo of glory about their heads.

Fred. Douglass said the record of man's right to liberty was written on God's heart, and could not be erased till it was also erased there.

The telegraph in one paragraph reports the number present at 3000, and in the next at 5000. If we split the difference, as juries do sometimes, we get 4000 as the probable number.

☞ The New York Independent of this week, Thursday, is to contain "a true history of the affair" between H. W. Beecher, Mrs. Stowe and Joel Parker, drawn up by Rev. H. W. Beecher.

Parker charges them with lying—and must either use them up, or get used up himself.

The Installation of Rev. E. W. Allen, as pastor of the Howard street church in Salem, took place Thursday afternoon.

In a Court at Baltimore on Friday a verdict of $2000 damages was rendered against Daniel Rice for an aggravated assault on George Appleby, a compositor in the Sun office, where Appleby was employed.

In England they bring men before the Police Courts who attempt to get upon a railway train when it is in motion, and impose upon them fines and costs.

William T. King, Major General, commanding the Militia of Connecticut, died at Sharon, in that State, on the 28th ult. He was 32 years of age.

There is no greater obstacle in the way of success in life, than trusting for something to turn up, instead of going steadily to work to turn up something.

SAD AFFAIR.—We learn that a lady by the name of Ward, residing in Winchester, while suffering from an attack of typhoid fever, suddenly left her bed this morning, in the absence of her nurse, and ran into the yard, where she removed the planks from a well, and throwing herself into the water was drowned before assistance could be rendered.—Boston Journal.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

SEPTEMBER TERM, 1852.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 2.

The case Bassett vs. Salisbury Manufacturing Company, was argued in behalf of the Plff. by Mr. Marston, who occupied about three hours in his argument. The Judge commenced his charge to the Jury at quarter past twelve, and concluded at quarter to three, when the Jury retired, and the Court adjourned.

The following Jurors are returned to serve this week.

Benj. Carter Jr., John T. French, Isaac F. Nelson, Portsmouth.
Abraham Drake Jr., Michael Dalton, N. Hampton.
Moses Davis, Thomas Hall, Plaistow.
Phineas Beede Jr., Horatio Beede, Poplin.
Abraham B. Smith, Hiram Sargent, Raymond.
Joseph W. Berry, Aaron Rand, Rye.
John Sanborn, Robert Sanborn, Sandown.
Jonathan Walker, Jr., Cyrus Boyd, Seabrook.
Gilman B. Currier, Cyrus Smith, South Hampton.
Henry P. Neal, John Fogg, South New Market.
Henry H. Staples, Stratham.
William C. Harris, William A. Dinsmore, Windham.

LIGHT HOUSE ON MINOT'S LEDGE.—Government has made an appropriation of $80,000 for a light-house at Minot's Ledge, to be made of granite or iron, the plan to be approved by the Typographical Bureau. Is there no means of having a light, that could be ignited and extinguished from the shore, by means of a gutta percha pipe, and the agency of electro magnetism? In this age of discovery, some such contrivance is surely practicable.—Transcript.

EXECUTIVE CLEMENCE.—The sentence of death upon Ira Sherwin, to have been executed on the 15th of October, has been commuted by Gov. Hunt, of New York, to imprisonment for life. The Governor says that the representations which have been made to him in relation to the sanity of Ira Sherwin, have produced serious doubts in his mind whether he is capable of the moral guilt of intentional and deliberate murder.

SINGING MOUSE.—This morning Capt. A. J. Wright of South Boston, heard a singular noise as of the singing of a bird in his cellar. Going down to ascertain from whence it arose, he traced it to a small box, and on opening it he found a mouse perched in one corner whistling a merry tune. The mouse did not seem much annoyed by the opening of the box, and Mr. Wright had time to call other members of the family to hear the little singer. An unsuccessful attempt was made to catch him.—Traveller, Friday.

One of the delegates to the Cold Water Alliance, which recently assembled in Utica, in the course of a narrative of his experience, informed the delegates that he was engaged in the distilling business, and used to be "some" at the business: in proof whereof, he stated that he had frequently made and placed on sale good brandy, rum, gin and wine, from whiskey, in the short space of four hours, and could at this time make sparkling brandy from whiskey, which would deceive the palates of the upper ten.

ARREST FOR ALLEGED ADULTERY.—Yesterday morning Marshal Shed arrested one Daniel Harriman, a husband, father and grandfather, on a charge of adultery with one Elizabeth Shirley. He waived an examination in the Police Court, and was bound over in $1000 for trial in the Court of Common Pleas, in this city, next month. He was also arraigned on charge of writing a threatening letter to Lydia P. Newcomb, the principal witness, when he also waived and was ordered to find bail in $500 to take his trial at the same place on that. He was committed to jail.—Lowell News.

A correspondent of the Goshen Republican says:—On Saturday evening, some three weeks since, just before engaging in family worship, Mr. Couch of Montgomery, sat down on the floor to fill a camphene lamp, the wick of which was ignorantly or carelessly left burning. The lamp exploded, the burning camphene flew over him, and his clothes being of cotton material, were instantly on fire, and he was soon enveloped by the flames. Before they could be extinguished, he was burned in a shocking manner. He died on Tuesday, of last week. He was a good citizen, and an industrious and enterprising farmer.

REMARKABLE FACT.—There are at this day, belonging to the comparatively small ancient town of Ipswich, Mass., (poulation about 3300) in the New England colleges ten under graduates, viz: Amherst five, Dartmouth, three, Harvard, one, and Yale, one; a greater number probably than ever at one time before, and perhaps greater in proportion to the population, than the number belonging to any other town or city in the commonwealth, or even in the country.—Gaz.

PENSACOLA NAVY YARD.—The Pensacola Gazette says that the masonry of the dock, basin and railway, which has been steadily progressing for the last two years, was finished on the 10th instant. There now remains to be removed the coffer-dam in front of the entrance of the basin, when the works will be in readiness for docking ships. The foundation of this basin has been quite a difficult piece of work, owing to the nature of the soil or sand. No serious accident, however, has occurred in the course of the work to retard its progress.

STEAMERS SAILED.—At noon on Saturday, sailed from Philadelphia, the steamship City of Glasgow, Capt. Wylie, for Liverpool with 40 passengers, and $36,000 in American gold. She has also a full freight, consisting principally of wheat and flour.

At the same time, sailed from New York, the steamer Pacific, with 130 passengers, and $435,000 in specie. Among the passengers is Humphrey Marshall, U. S. Minister to China, and W. Schaus, bearer of despatches to the Court of St. James.

The National Unitarian Convention will be held this year in Baltimore. The exercises will commence with a discourse in the First Independent Church on the evening of the 26th of October. Meetings for preaching and discussion will continue on the 27th and 28th.

Dr. Dewey, of Washington, will be one of the preachers, and the Convention is expested to embrace a large representation of the talent and learning of the denomination.—Balt. Patriot.

AGRICULTURE IN NEW YORK.—The census returns for 1850, show that there were under cultivation within the State that year 12,408,868 acres of land, leaving 6,710,120 acres of land unimproved. The cost value of farms, was $554,546,642, and the value of live stock was $73,570,499. There were raised 13,121,498 bushels of wheat and 17,758,400 of corn.

The editor of the Norfolk Democrat is a lucky man. He uses flowery language to wit: "Some person has sent us a fine barrel of flower as ever was made into bread. It is of the finest bolted wheat; but whether the donor is a bolter or not, we cannot say. We intend to sift the matter to the bottom—of the barrel. It may be that it was sent for the purpose of stopping our mouth; but we fear that cannot be done so easy."

REAPING MACHINES.—The Prairie Farmer says that the immense amount of machinery introduced into the harvest fields at the West, will entirely obviate all inconveniences from any apprehended scarcity of help; and that probably not less than 3500 new reaping machines have been put in use in the north-west the present season—equal to the labor of 17,500 men.

NARROW ESCAPE—ALMOST A SHIPWRECK. Ship Hibernia, Maloney, cleared at New York Sept. 24th for Liverpool, with a valuable cargo and 70 or 80 passengers on board. Her chief mate gives the following interesting account of her situation; "At 8 o clock on Saturday morning she weighed anchor from Sandy Hook, discharged the pilot at 9, and with a fair wind proceeded to sea. By midnight the wind blew stiffy, with rather a heavy sea; sounded the pumps and found all dry. At 2 A. M. the officer on duty observed that the vessel did not answer her helm readily, added to which she lay over more than usual, with a strange uneasy motion, so much so that he very prudently aroused the captain and all hands. At this critical juncture the pumps showed 5 feet of water, and on an even keel they gave 14 feet in the hold, with every appearance of the vessel going down by the stern. To avoid a rush, the passengers were not only kept ignorant of the danger, but no one under any pretence was admitted on deck, although anticipating the fearful struggle for life, all the boats and life preservers were in readiness, besides a large number of loose spars with ropes rove into them. At 3 A. M. the wind increased, huge waves broke over the bulwarks, washing away everything that was loose about the deck, but not one of the crew disobeyed orders or ceased to cling to the pumps, or lightening ship by staving the water casks and casting overboard all the heavy articles. At this time escape seemed impossible, while the fearful cry 'four feet more water,' sounded like the death-knell of those devoted mariners. Since the discovery of the danger, the course had been right before the wind, for Long Island beach, but as all were deliberating on the impossibility of making it, and the propriety of deserting the sinking vessel, day began to gleam, revealing a large hole underneath the mizzem chains, caused by the fracture of an air valve, which fully accounted for the rapid rising of the water.—This was with great difficulty stopped sufficiently to reach this port. The passengers were then admitted to the deck, and rendered what assistance they could. The return trip was accomplished by noon Monday. Had the night held dark one short hour longer, it is probable that no one would have been left to tell the terrors of the fearful Saturday night."

RAISING ONE'S SELF.—What a good thing it is to have a good opinion of one's self.—Parson Brownlow, of the Jonesborough, (Tenn.) Whig, says: "I must pass my days in unalloyed happiness. I live but in the smiles of a clever wife, and five interesting children; and life to me is but a joyous holiday, and I the most joyous participant! I delight to linger on this earth; doing good, as I 'always' have done, until my immortal spirit is called to a holier world; for I am a good man, and must eventually receive a good man's reward!"

DROWNED.—At New Orleans, on the 20th, Dr. Hyppolite Nicon, an eminent physician was drowned, by the upsetting of a boat. The next day, a strange negro, against whom a cry of "runaway" was raised, plunged into the river, and escaped—to death.—Boston Courier.

COAD'S PATENT GRADUATED GALVANIC BATTERY!
AND PATENT INSULATED POLES
For Medical Purposes.
THE subscriber respectfully informs the Physicians, the afflicted, and the public generally, that he has obtained letters patent of the United States, for certain inventions and improvements in the GALVANIC BATTERY, and Insulated Poles for medicinal purposes, &c. The former will remain in this place for a short time, to sell patent rights of Counties, States, &c., and to operate on patients for the cure of the diseases below mentioned. Each operation $1. He will receive all persons on business at his Rooms, at Mrs. TRIPE'S BOARDING HOUSE, No. 18 Vaughan street, corner of Hanover.
It is by this operation only that the galvanic fluid can be brought under the perfect control of man, and communicated in definite quantities to suit any part of the body with perfect safety, in a gentle current, without shocks, pain, or any disagreeable sensation, and therefore is the only one which is fit to be used for medical purposes. It is with this important instrument only that the galvanic fluid can be conveyed, with the best possible effect to the brain, to cure nervous headaches; to the eye to restore sight or cure dimness; to the ear to restore hearing; to the tongue, &c. to restore speech; and to the various parts of the body for the cure of rheumatism, asthma, neuralgia, gout, chorea or St. Vitus' Dance, epilepsy, weakness from sprains, some diseases peculiar to females, contractions of the limbs, palpitation of the heart, and the whole range of nervous diseases.
☞ This apparatus is now greatly approved of by many of the medical Professors, who are among the most celebrated in the world, to whom reference will be given, by numerous highly respectable practicing Physicians in various parts of the United States, and by a host of respectable persons who have been cured of inveterate diseases which could not be removed by any other known means. It may be proper to inform the afflicted, and others whom it may concern, that there are numerous worthless instruments sold, which are also called Galvanic Batteries, for medical purposes.—These spurious instruments convey the galvanic fluid to the patient by intensity and not by quantity, and therefore generally do much injury to the patients. Dr. Dunglison, Professor of the Institutes of Medicine in the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, calls them in his "New Remedies" and other works, "PHILOSOPHICAL TOYS," which only benefit the maker and the vender, but disappointing the afflicted. Full information is given in a pamphlet, to every person who buys a patent right to prepare chemicals, to keep the apparatus in perfect order, and to operate on patients for the cure of diseases. Apply forthwith to o2 P. COAD, Patentee.

BUYING TALLOW.—The London correspondent of the Boston Post, Sept. 20, says,

During the past week large purchases of tallow have been made in Liverpool and London for America—a circumstance wholly unusual, as the supplies from you to the English market have usually been large. Of course there is considerable advance in the price of that article.

SPANISH RAILROAD.—It appears certain that the introduction of Railroads into Spain is about to be carried into effect. According to accounts from Madrid, of Sept. 9, the contractor with the Spanish Government for the Railroad from Cadiz to Seville had paid into the Treasury the 3,000,000 required as security, and was to leave the following day for London to procure the necessary materials for commencing the work.

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.
THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.
This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases; The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appantus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.
We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop Stove and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.
Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japanned, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.
All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.
All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.

SPIRITUAL MANIFESTATIONS.

There was a Meeting of the friends of "spiritual manifestations" at Worcester on Wednesday, which was attended by three or four hundred people. The Worcester Spy contains a sketch of the doings from which we quote one or two paragraphs :—

Mr. Upham of East Boston, called upon John M. Spear, to say something of his experience. Mr. Spear said he was averse to saying anything publicly upon the subject. He prefered to breathe his experience into the ears of private friends. He said, the power seems to have come to him, of helping persons.—This power came to him unconsciously. He will be sitting beside persons not knowing whether they are sick or not, when his hand will suddenly become like that of a corpse, and will move unconsciously towards the person's disease, dispelling it instantly. He was once sitting beside a clergyman, when his hand began to move towards that gentleman's organ of ideality, and at last touched it. The clergyman, much surprised, stated that he had been engaged in writing a biography, and that his ideality hrd been actively employed; that a severe pain had struck through his head at that spot, which pain was dispelled instantly by Mr. Spear's touch.

Mr. Spear said that spirits sent people to him that he had never known. A lady was sent to him from Calais, Me., by her daughter who was a medium. The spirits had informed Mr. Spear that a clear state of the atmosphere was most favorable to the operations of his mysterious power. The exercise of this pow.r sometimes exhausted him very much. Mr. S. used to visit prisons, and take great interest in the prisoners, but now the spirits impelled him to shun such places. He was fond of drawing, but this desire the spirits also destroyed. He said he seemed to have the power of consecrating certain persons to peculiar works. For instance, he had consecrated a lady in Danvers to good works, and a young man to the fine arts. He had delivered lectures purporting to be from a spirit named John Murray. These lectures flowed in unconscious streams of thought, through Mr. Spear's system, and fell almost unconsciously from his lips. They were addressed to all the earth. They were on humanity, on a new order of architecture, and upon a new system of dietetics, &c. Mr. Spear thought that come great advantage to the world might yet come from his laying on of hands if he were not overworked, and was permitted time to develope the yet latent power.

He frequently had messages sent to him, sending him on missions, and telling him that he would lose nothing by it, that his expenses would be paid. His experience bore out the truth of the spirits' promises. The spirits told him yesterday to come to Worcester and that his expenses would be paid. He came and his expenses have been paid. Mr. Hewitt, of Boston, said that a Harmonial Brotherhood had been formed in Hartford, Conn.—This Harmonial Brotherhood was formed upon the human body. It was the intention of an agglomeration of facts to be developed in the future. It was an association of heavenly ideas, heavenly intercourse and heavenly life. He liked the idea of modelling society after the harmony of the human body. Men might model society after any other harmony, such as the harmony of music, but it would be defective. The harmony of the human body was the highest and noblest order of harmony. It was the microcosm of all harmonies, upon which society might be remodelled and rejuvenated. We do not pretend to understand Mr. Hewitt's rhetoric.

BISHOP WAINWRIGHT.—The New York Evening Post says, that—

"The election of Dr. Wainwright as Bishop of the Episcopal Church in this diocese, appears to give much satisfaction to the community in general, and we presume will be taken as a sort of compromise of the differences in the church."

The Commercial says:

"The wisdom of the Convention's choice is scarcely less a matter of congratulation than the release of the diocese from its embarassment. The Rev. Dr. Wainwright is not a partisan of either of the two classes, both of clergy and laity, whose difference of sentiment has kept open the difficulty. He is a moderate man, and was the compromise candidate. His election will, we apprehend, go far toward reconciling the painful conflict between the two parties in the diocese, while the blended dignity and urbanity of his deportment will win the increased confidence and attachment of the Church in his new relation toward it."

THE BITER BIT.

SEQUEL TO THE STORY OF A 'BELL.'—Some time ago the Professors of Bowdoin College received by Express a heavy and important looking box. It was opened and found to contain the 'chapel bell' of Waterville College, with an anonymous letter, stating that the senders had fallen in love with M. Vattemare's system of international literary exchanges, and requested the officers of Bowdoin to reciprocate the favor. The latter considered themselves 'sold,' and laid by the bell to await the orders of the indignant Faculty of Waterville.

In the meantime the students of Bowdoin 'froze to' the bell and sent it on its winding way to the officers of Harvard College.—Much cachinnation and mental tickling all this produced among the young men, and much wrath among the Faculties of the several Institutions. Mons. Vattemare was in a fair way to be immortalized. But now comes the sequel, and doubtless the students aforesaid exclaim with the bard of Mantua 'Tantae ne irae coelestibus animis?' which is classic for being in a 'fix.'

The sequel runneth thus: The original perpetrators, some half dozen in number, felicitated themselves so much upon the 'happy issue' of their trick, that they could not avoid heroizing themselves by allowing it to become public. They were 'hauled up' before the Faculty—and perhaps there are those hereabouts, who know well the terrors of this secret and dread tribunal. Each one was made to confess, and placed under the alternative either of replacing the bell stolen, or buying a new one at the expense of something like two hundred dollars, or be proceeded against for grand larceny!

Who shall dare say that a college prank is not a 'funny' thing?

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
TUESDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1852.

SPIRITUAL TELEGRAPH.

Yesterday we received a well-printed newspaper, entitled the Spiritual Telegraph, from New York, ornamented with a beautifully engraved ornamental head, and "devoted to the illustration of Spiritual Intercourse."

We perceive in this number of the Telegraph, the beginning of a Discussion between Dr. B. W. Richmond of Ohio, and Prof. S. B. Brittan of New York, on this question:

"Can the Mysterious Phenomena, now occurring in various parts of the United States and elsewhere, and known as the Spiritual Manifestations, be properly accounted for without admitting the agency of Spirits in their production?"

Dr. Richmond takes the ground that their origin is earthly, and Dr. Brittan maintains that they are spiritual.

We are now to have what all honest enquirers into the subject will be glad to see, viz:—a fair and somewhat extended discussion of the subject, for the Telegraph is now presenting both sides of this exciting question, in a critical and orderly manner.

The Telegraph is a weekly paper, published in New York, at $1,50 per annum. One dollar will pay for it eight months, which will contain the whole discussion. The publisher is Charles Partridge.

While on the subject of spirits, we will introduce a few thoughts from the pen of Rev. Thos. M. Clark, who is known to many of our readers as an Episcopal clergyman of excellent standing.

Mr. Clark says, "that he is perfectly aware that to ascribe so much importance to such a subject as this, will lead those who know nothing about it, to suspect the soundness of one's judgment, and it will be said that our wisest course is to let it alone; it is one of the humbugs of the day, and will soon die of itself. It may be so, but the indications do not point that way at present. Men of the highest scientific reputation acknowledge themselves to be perplexed; judges of our highest courts and of the widest experience, are personally identified with these phenomena." He therefore calls for investigation.

Mr. Clark says truly, that the phenomena presented, must be the product of one of the four following things:

1 Imposture and delusion: 2 Psychological law: 3 Influence of evil spirits: 4 and last, the spiritual origin claimed for them by the spiritual new lights.

We are glad to see a man of Mr. Clark's standing take ground so true and honest as he does, when he says:

"In order to show this claim [that of the spiritualists] to be untenable, it is of course necessary to know the grounds upon which it rests, and this involves a careful investigation of the subject."

What Mr. Clark says of Psycological Law is worthy of attention and remark.

"If these demonstrations be a new development of psychology, they are certainly worthy of consideration, for they show powers to exist in the human soul, which our old experience has never recognized. Let the whole matter be settled upon this basis, and it will then be removed to the domain of natural science; and theologians may go on their way unmolested."

Most of this is excellent; but we are not quite sure that we understand the last remark. If it means, as we think it does, that theology has little or nothing to do with natural science, and therefore is not affected by new discoveries in psychology, we have only to say we do not agree with it. The better we understand humanity in its various relations, the better able shall we be to understand divinity. And if we may know the Creator better by surveying his visible and tangible works, why may we not also increase in the same knowledge by studying what is invisible and spiritual?

We hope the most critical and searching scrutiny will be applied to these subjects by the sturdiest unbelievers we have among us.

MISSIONARIES.—Under the proper head in this day's Chronicle, is the marriage of Rev. Mr. Scudder to Miss Knight. Mr. S. is the son of the venerable Dr. J. Scudder, of the Madras Mission, and has himself been on the field of labor at Ceylon for nearly six years. Mrs. S. is the last of three sisters who have consecrated themselves to the same work—the other two having gone to the Chinese Mission under the patronage of the Presbyterian Board. The parties expect to sail about the middle of next month.

ACCIDENT.—A young man named Albert Tucker, son of the late Mark Tucker, Esq., of this city, was badly injured at Gravelly Ridge, on Saturday night. He was climbing a stone wall, with the blade of a scythe in his hand, and fell, nearly cutting his hand in two. The wound was dressed by Dr. Oliver.

CORRECTION.—The Ohio Statesman contradicts the telegraphic statement (published a few days ago) that Gen. Scott gave a widow $400.

A MUSKMELON, weighing fifteen pounds, well-ripened and rich, appeared on our table editorial yesterday, as a present from Charles A. Wiggin, who raised the article. It furnished quite an item in the luncheon, another on the dinner-table, and now it affords a third and last item in the newspaper. That is what we call this making the most of a good thing.

RISE IN IRON.—The late London papers state that the Iron Masters at Birmingham had determined to make an advance on 1st October of 20 shillings per ton on the prices of finishing iron, equal to 15 per cent. It is thought by many that the advance will not rest at 20 shillings, as several houses have refused to accept orders for some descriptions at that rate. The advance in iron has caused a corresponding increase in all kinds of hardware, and Birmingham wares generally.

ACCIDENT.—On Saturday the freight train on the Eastern railroad had one of its wheels broken at Northampton, and the engineer leaped off and broke his arm. The noon train was detained some three hours by the accident.

The Eastern Railroad does not roll its wheels by Northampton at all. The wheel referred to, was broken at North Hampton, N. H.

The population of Paris is 1,000,000, and it has 10,000 beds in hospitals; but London whose population is 2,000,000, has only 5000 beds.

Very likely this is true;—but a comparison unfavorable to London must not be drawn too hastily. There may be less beds in the London hospitals, but there are more in the homes.

THE RECIPROCITY QUESTION.—The Toronto Colonist denounces the proposed system of "monopoly and retaliation" in respect to the United States, and says that Upper Canada will not submit to have its interests thus sacrificed. The Colonist adds:

"Our trade with the United States has assumed an importance that cannot now be subjected to artificial impediments without producing serious consequences to ourselves; and the government will be bold indeed that will attempt to sacrifice the commercial and agricultural interest of one half of Canada in the way proposed."

BURGLARS SEVERELY BUT JUSTLY PUNISHED.—On the morning of the 26th of April last, four burglars entered the house of Hon. David A. Simmons, Roxbury. They were discovered by a lady, Mrs. Sumner, who seized a poker and made at them. One of the thieves, named James Griffin, threw a hatchet at the lady, which struck the wall, and very near her head. The fellow then jumped through the window and escaped. The rogues were subsequently arrested, and on Saturday they were tried and convicted at Dedham. Griffin was sentenced to Sute Prison for life; Daniel Crane for ten years and six months; Bryan Kelley, six years, and Thomas Hennesey, five years. The parties were proved to be desperate rogues, and had long been a source of annoyance to the inhabitants of Roxbury.

FATHER LAMSON held forth on the steps of the custom house yesterday afternoon, and collected around him quite a crowd of boys.—Some of them pelted the old man with stones, pushed him, and hooted, until officer McGinniskin thought it advisable, for the old man's safety, to take him to the lock up. The old "Father" refused to walk, and he was accordingly conveyed upon the shoulders of four men, to the station house. Upon arriving there he was asked if he was hurt any, to which he replied, "not much—some wrenched riding on so many asses." Abby Folsom sympathized with the venerable father in his afflictions.—Boston Post, Monday.

THE POWER OF RELIGION ILLUSTRATED.—A husband and wife, in New York, who have lived together in harmony and uninterrupted confidence, for nearly a quarter of a century, have recently had a misunderstanding which grew out of some trivial family circumstance. The wife took deep umbrage at some chiding remark of her husband, and left him and abandoned her family of children. Her absence occasioned great distress, and efforts were made to bring her home: but she had resolved never again to live with her husband. Her friends expostulated, her son entreated, and the neighbors who had noticed her long years of joy, urged her to return to her family. The interference of these parties only heightened her anger and intensified her hate, and she finally wandered off from the scenes of home. She went to Cincinnati: was pursued by her friends, and hearing of their approach, left. The next that was heard of her, she had arrived in this city. Her husband and son arrived here on Saturday morning, sought an interview with her, which, after much hesitation, she granted; but only to give positive denial to her entreaties. The husband, bowed down with heavy grief, finally asked a clergyman to visit her. The priest complied, and the result of his conference was, deep contrition in the mother and wife, and a desire to again see her husband and son and a consent to cheerfully return with them to New York.

Here was accomplished, through the agency of religion, a blessing that could never have been consummated by law or physical force. And this is always the case wherever there is faith in God, and a true reverence for His commands.—Boston Courier.

If we understand the story, the religion which restored the frantic woman to her senses, was exhibited in the persuasive power or assumed authority of the clergyman. This action, by whatever name it may be called, is better than any kind of force, legal or physical, and proved him to be a man of good sense, who knows how to turn the craft of his cloth to the best possible account.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

SEPTEMBER TERM, 1852.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 4.

In the case Bassett vs. Salisbury Manufacturing Company, the Jury were out from Saturday through Sunday, until the opening of Court, this morning at ten o'clock, when they came in and the Judge answered several questions proposed by them relating to the law and evidence in the case. They again retired and came in during the forenoon, and the foreman in answer to the enquiry of the Court, stated that the Jury had not, and that they were unable to agree upon a verdict.—They were accordingly discharged, and the papers in the case taken from them.

This is an unfortunate termination of a very lengthened case.

Marston & French for Plff. Christie, Wells & Bacon for Defts.

Jefferson McIntire, of Portsmouth, was appointed Foreman of the First Jury, for this week.

Gilman B. Currier was appointed Foreman of the Second Jury.

John Knowlton, George G. Brewster, and Abram Wendell were returned by the Sheriff as talismen.

The trial of the case State vs. John Smith alias John Frost, indicted for Rape upon Mrs. Eliza J. Clow, wife of Charles W. Clow, of Plaistow, was tried in the forenoon. Several witnesses were examined on the part of the State, and none on behalf of the respondent. The case was submitted without argument, and the jury after a brief charge from the Court retired, and after a short absence returned a verdict of guilty.

Sullivan, Attorney General, and Hatch for State. John S. Wells for respondent.

The case State vs. John Merrill Dow, indicted for an assault with a knife with intent to kill his wife, Lydia Ann Dow, was commenced in the afternoon. The wife was the first witness examined on the part of the State, and at first denied any knowledge of the matter, but afterwards, though reluctantly, gave her evidence against her husband. Several very severe wounds upon her neck were shown to the Jury.

Sullivan for State. Wood for Respondent.

The case was not concluded when the Court adjourned to nine o'clock Tuesday morning.

LATE FROM ENGLAND.—The Asia arrived at New York on Saturday, having left Liverpool on the 22d ult. in the afternoon.

During the night of Friday, 17th, ship Bhurtpore, which sailed from Liverpool the previous day for New Orleans, went ashore on Long Bank, near Wexford Island, and has since gone to pieces. Messrs. Pilkington and Wilson, owners of the Bhurtpore, have despatched a steamer to bring the passengers to Liverpool, and will forward them to their destination. She had on board 35 crew and 485 Irish emigrants, all of whom were saved excepting five drowned.

We read in the Glasgow Mail the following notice of the new Canada steamer Arabia: "The Arabia is now getting her boilers on board. They are of tubular construction, the tubes running athwart-ships, with the furnaces of the two boilers facing each other. The boilers are shipped in sections, and riveted together in the hold of the ship. They are the largest boilers ever constructed, and are intended to supply steam to the largest engine ever built."

WELLINGTON'S FUNERAL, &c.—In England public attention is still occupied with the Duke of Wellington's death, and with the honors to be paid to his memory. It is officially announced that the obsequies shall be at the cost of the nation, and will probably be according to the programme of the funeral of Nelson. It is expected the body will be buried in St. Paul's Cathedral, but nothing however is yet decided. Lord Derby has returned to London to make arrangements.

The Secretary of War, Lord Beresford, is performing the functions of Commander-in-Chief until a successor is appointed.

Lord Derby would, it is thought, be elected without opposition as Chancellor of Oxford University, in room of the late Duke.

THE THIRD TRIAL.—An Irishman working at the Pettibone tunnel, on the B. & O. Railroad, last winter, went to the magazine for powder, with a firebrand to light his way. An explosion of the four kegs of powder therein, destroyed the shanty, and he picked himself up, some one hundred and fifty feet down the hill, on which he started. He was but little bruised.

A few weeks after, he fell down a shaft caught partially by a wall sixty feet from the surface, and then fell thirty feet more, receiving no injury but torn hands and a sprained ancle.

Two weeks ago a heavy shower broke away the dam at the mouth of the tunnel, and the water came in a flood. Part of the men escaped over the embankment, or bottom cut of the tunnel, and others leaped into the bucket and were drawn up. Our unfortunate was too late to get in, but he seized the edge of the bucket with his hands, and swung up the dizzy height, whirling in the darkness. His hands were knocked off by the bucket striking the rim of the shaft; and he fell a distance of one hundred and sixty feet, upon the jagged rocks of the tunnel's bottom, from which his mangled remains were afterwards gathered and buried.—Wheeling Times.

The editor of the New York Express says, "that apples are so plenty in Massachusetts and in many parts of New York, that they will not pay for picking and barreling."

LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

ARRIVAL OF THE PROMETHEUS AND UNITED STATES.—The steamships United States and Prometheus, from Aspinwall and San Juan, arrived at New York on Sunday, with two weeks later California news.

The steamship Pioneer was lost in Simon's Bay on the 17th of August. She experienced a severe gale on the 15th, and being in a crippled condition, put in for shelter, and on the 17th was run ashore to prevent sinking, when she bilged in 17 ft. of water. The passengers arrived safely at San Francisco, in the Sea Bird. There was an insurance on the Pioneer for $250,000, chiefly in Wall street offices. Her machinery, it is thought, would be saved. She was owned principally by Spofford, Tileston & Co. The insurance fully covers the loss.

HEAVY DEFALCATION.—New York, Oct. 4.—Augustus Bowen, cashier for Brown Bros. & Co., has been arrested as a defaulter in the sum of $230,000. D. A. Comstock, a Wall street note broker is implicated with him.

The blowing down of a pine tree in the town of Nelson, (C. W.) has revealed the skeleton of a man of great stature, a stone image, two copper vessels, and some large sea shells.

Not long since, in Boston, a young lady loaned a young man the sum of $32, to aid him in perfecting arrangements to go to California. A day or two ago, she received a letter enclosing a draft for $500, together with ten thousand thanks.

In consequence of a quarrel between the corporation and gas company at Louisville, Ky., the latter took the glasses off the lamps, and refused to light up the city. About one o'clock the town folks unscrewed the tops of the street lamps, and fired the gas, burning a vast quantity and illuminating the town.

SPIRITUAL RAPPING CONVENTION AT WORCESTER.

SECOND DAY.

The first day's proceedings will be found on our outside.

This Convention re-assembled on Thursday morning, and immediately proceeded to business. Andrew Jackson Davis read an address. At the close of which Mr. Hewitt read, as we learn from the Spy, a communication from John Hancock, in his own name, and in the names of Patrick Henry, George Washington, and Roger Sherman. It was a most inferior performance, intellectually considered, and seemed to us to be rather extravagant in the statement of facts. It contained the prophecy that "J. M. Spear was to become the wonder of the world." It declared the "tipping and rappings" to be communications from the spirits of departed friends. It abounded in indefinite prophecies concerning the period of the proximate redemption of the world; and the coming of the reign of peace and love.

Mr. Davidson protested against the idea that John Hancock could have used the word "melico," as implied by its use in the communication first read.

A lady on the platform rose, apparently surcharged with some electrical force, and spoke for some time in a very passionate but very unconnected manner about her spiritual experience since she was twelve years old.

When she sat down, Mr. Davidson rose and said that he had just received a communication from the spirit of John Hancock, stating that the word melico was not used by him in the message just read, in the old theological sense. It partook of the elements of the spirit of the medium, and was not absolutely used by the spirit of John Hancock.

A young woman, whom Mr. Bingham described as an uneducated Irish girl, a recently developed medium, rose, and with her eyes shut, head bent, and apparently asleep, spoke with a strong but foreign accent, and slow utterance, about mediums.

At the same time, a young man who seemed violently shaken with epilepsy, waved his hands on high, and rolled his head. He then seized the hand of a man who sat beside him, and made motions indicating a desire to write.

Mr. Bingham said he hoped the mediums would control themselves until after the Convention was dissolved.

A member rose, much excited, and opposed this advice.

A large man on the platform, cried out—"Obey God rather than man."

The Irish girl again rose, and cried—"Let us not attempt to control the mediums to our will."

"Amen!" cried the large man, with the light blue coat, on the platform.

A medium, with a black beard, and closed eyes, jumped up, clapped his hands, spun round like a top, and then stood for some time with his arms extended, like a Bramin devotee. Slowly, one of his arms fell, while the other was directed towards the Irish girl, who stood mumbling and muttering. The finger which pointed towards the Irish girl trembled like an electric conductor.

A shaker then came forward, and continued his exposition of Shaker principles, which was interrupted in the forenoon. He declared the institution of marriage to be the basis of selfishness, and the cause of the world's discord and carnal mindedness.

The "Irish girl" from High Rock, now rose, with her eyes closed, and her thick lips hanging down, and struck vigorously on the back of a seat. She then commenced an address, urging obedience to the will of our eternal Father. She pronounced our language badly, and spoke in a most incoherent, ungrammatical style. "Devalopt" and "oundevalopt," "spurritt," and "eternal Father," were the only words we could distinguish, and they constituted nine-tenths of the verbiage composing her incoherent harangue.—When she sat down, the voices of those on the platform burst out into the anthem of "Hallelujah, Hallelujah, Hallelujah." A member rose, and said the words of the mediums were the spontaneous gospel. It was the spirits of heaven speaking to men.

Rev. Adin Ballou rose, and said it had been announced that he should address the Convention; but as he wished always to address his fellow-men in calmness and reason, and as a strange excitement seemed to prevail without reason, and without object, he declined to say anything at this time.

COAD'S PATENT GRADUATED

GALVANIC BATTERY!

AND PATENT INSULATED POLES

For Medical Purposes.

THE subscriber respectfully informs the Physicians, the afflicted, and the public generally, that he has obtained letters patent of the United States, for certain inventions and improvements in the GALVANIC BATTERY, and Insulated Poles for medical purposes, &c. The Patentee will remain in this place for a short time, to sell patent rights of Counties, States, &c., and to operate on patients for the cure of the diseases below mentioned. His operation $1. He will receive all persons on business at the Rooms, at Miss TRIPE'S BOARDING HOUSE, No. 13 Vaughan street, corner of Hanover.

It is by this operation only that the galvanic fluid can be brought under the perfect control of man, and communicated in definite quantities to suit any part of the body with perfect safety, in a gentle current, without shocks, pain, or any disagreeable sensation, and therefore is the only one which is fit to be used for medical purposes. It is with this important instrument only that the galvanic fluid can be conveyed, with the best possible effect to the brain, to cure nervous headaches; to the eye to restore sight or cure dimness; to the ear to restore hearing; to the tongue, &c. to restore speech; and to the various parts of the body for the cure of rheumatism, asthma, neuralgia, gout, chorea or St. Vitus' Dance, epilepsy, weakness from sprains, some diseases peculiar to females, contractions of the limbs, palpitation of the heart, and the whole range of nervous diseases.

☞ This apparatus is now greatly approved of by many of the medical Professors, who are among the most celebrated in the world, to whom reference will be given, by numerous highly respectable practicing Physicians in various parts of the United States, and by a host of respectable persons who have been cured of inveterate diseases which could not be removed by any other known means. It may be proper to inform the afflicted, and others whom it may concern, that there are numerous worthless instruments sold, which are also called Galvanic Batteries, for medical purposes.—These spurious instruments convey the galvanic fluid to the patient by intensity and not by quantity, and therefore generally do much injury to the patients. Dr. Dunglison, Professor of the Institues of Medicine in the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, calls them in his "New Remedies" and other works, "PHILOSOPHICAL TOYS," which only benefit the maker and the vender, but disappointing the afflicted. Full information is given in a pamphlet, to every person who buys a patent right to prepare chemicals, to keep the apparatus in perfect order, and to operate on patients for the cure of diseases. Apply forthwith to

WEEVILS AND CORN CROPS.—A gentleman travelling through Ohio, in a letter dated the 24th ult., at Portsmouth, in that State, writes as follows :—

The corn crop, through the section of country in which I have travelled, is very poor and try in which I have travelled, is very poor and backward. It will be an unusually light yield, and as the hog crop is large, corn will, it is believed here, maintain a high value. The wheat crop has also been light, but good in southern Ohio. The weevil has been far more destructive than is generally believed abroad, or admitted by the Ohio farmers at home. So at least I was informed by an extensive mill proprietor in Chilcothe. The farmers were inclined to believe that the weevil, when it had eaten its way through the kernel would do no farther damage. My informant tells me he obtained this season a tin box, in which he placed a few of these little insects, which are black and flat, about the size and shape of a flax seed. He then threw in a handful of pure sound wheat, in which no weevil had ever appeared. In two or three weeks the weevil had fastened on to the outside of the sound grain and gradually eat themselves through into the heart, at the same time nearly doubling their number by breeding. It will thus be seen that the injury to be done by this destructive insect cannot be calculated.

BUTTER.—Letters from the country say that the product of butter this season will be a third less than is usual, and that quantities of it are bought up by dealers, with the view of keeping in their own hands the supply of the market. They therefore advise consumers to purchase sparingly at present, inasmuch as the dealers must sell, and the price is likely to be lower. At present the pastures are full of the richest grass, in consequence of the September rains, and if we should have a fine October, a large addition will be made to the stock of butter on hand. The dairymen, who made cheese in the summer, are now turning their attention to the making of butter, with an expectation of more profit from that branch of husbandry.—N. Y. Evening Post.

A SLOW PASSAGE.—We frequently record quick passages, but it is not often that we have occasion to chronicle so slow a passage as that recently made by the bark Reform, from New York to Mobile. She cleared from New York on the 7th of June, and arrived at Key West about the 1st of August, thus making the passage to the latter place in a little over fifty days, and to Mobile, her place of destination, in something over a hundred. Our clipper ships make the voyage to California in less time.

THE IMPROVED

EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The fires are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appanatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old store, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shade, Table Oil-cloths, &c.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

VOLUME 1 PORTSMOUTH, N. H., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1852. NUMBER 57.

THE DANCE CELLAR,

BY DAYLIGHT AND BY CANDLELIGHT.

We propose to give a description of a dance cellar and life within its precints. Although this is a delineation of only one of these subterranean abodes, it will answer for all of them. At the corner of Ann and one of the cross streets, is one kept by an old woman.—She is nearly sixty years of age, weighs between two and three hundred pounds, and has fallen from all the stages of immorality to her present debased condition. She has been repeatedly at an institution in South Boston, where the rigid course of treatment pursued by Capt. Robbins has not prevented her from returning to her old employment.

A late order from the city government, looking to sanatory measures, was given to the police officers on duty in this part of the city, and having a spare hour, we accepted an invitation to see a dance cellar by daylight. Accompanied by officers Shute and Whitcomb, we visited several of these dens of infamy. We give a description of the one kept by a woman well known to thieves and prostitutes who congregate in such places.—Her cellar is about 16 feet in front and some 30 feet in length; is low studded and dark.—It is divided into three apartments. The one next to the street, which is used for dancing, being much the largest, and occupies something more than half of the space; the remainder is divided lengthwise; the room on the left being used for a kitchen during the day, and a bar-room by night. The other room is used as a sleeping apartment.

It was about noon when we arrived. We found seated on benches in the main room, four abandoned white women, long used to the lowest degradation, two black girls of the same character, three white men, two of whom were known to the police as thieves, and one black man who followed the double occupation of thief and fiddler. In the sleeping apartment was a young girl dead drunk, who had not awoke from her last night's revelry. In the kitchen seated at a well spread table was the old woman, and a young man not more than eighteen years of age, who, she said, was a steady boarder, making twelve persons, male and female, found in one of these cellars in the day time, eleven of whom it is safe to say had no visible means of getting a livelihood, and the old woman herself getting her's by the most abandoned of all earthly callings. From the preceding the reader may get some idea of a dance cellar life by daylight.

The following is a true picture by candle light. The cellar was dimly lighted with four tallow candles, each hanging at proper distances along the dingy, whitewashed walls.—A fiddler was perched in one corner, and most lustily did his elbow move. The place was crowded with men and women from the four quarters of the globe, of all ages and degrees of crime, from the abandoned harlot down to the thief or rascal who has not the courage to murder the green youth or stranger who comes within this "doubtful abode" with cold steel, but who worse than murders him by damning potations of poisoned drink. There was dancing, drinking, singing, swearing, obscene language, stealing, and all kinds of vulgarity. The company was constantly changing, and during our brief visit of half an hour, at least fifty persons passed in and out of this subterranean abode, many of them women gaudily dressed. This place is often kept open until long past midnight, and woe unto the uninitiated fellow, with little or much money in his pocket, who comes within its limits at midnight, particularly if he has been drinking.—No charge is made for admittance to this place, but those who dance are expected to pay the fiddler at the end of the jig, and to treat their partners. This custom is respected by almost every new comer, and is the great source of revenue to the place.

We understand there are upwards of one hundred of these "dance cellars" open in this city five nights in the week in different localities, and scarcely a night passes that some poor fellow is not "shook down," and robbed of all the money he has about him, and then kicked into the street. He calls a watchman, who goes in, finds no money, and tells the robbed man he ought to have known better than to have gone in there, which generally ends the matter.

The watchman reports to the Mayor that he was called as above, found nothing, and made no arrest, and the "shakers" breakfast and dine the next day upon the poor fellow's money. It is for the information of those who do not know about the "elephant," that the newspapers have from time to time warned them of the dangers of these places, but lately we have been told that stating the facts in such matters is a censure upon the vigilance of the authorities.—Boston Herald.

BIGOTRY IN SWEDEN.—A letter from Stockholm of the 8th, states that there had been tumultuous outbreaks there for three successive evenings, which, however, had been suppressed by the police. The riots were caused by articles in the "Voice of the People," exciting the people against the Jews. Numerous arrests had been made, including the editor of the paper.

CHANGE OF FORTUNE.—A remarkable instance of the mutability of fortune occurred lately in the person of Garibaldi, the Italian patriot, at Lima, as commander of a Peruvian guano ship! He was received with great enthusiasm by the people, and has since been offered the command of an expedition against Flores.

A story is in circulation that in Middleboro, New York, some twenty or more of the citizens, in broad day light, saw, what appeared to be an immense (some thousands) number of soldiers marching and countermarching through the air! This strange sight, it is said, was witnessed for the space of two hours or more.

Ex-Marshal Tukey, of Boston, is swimming in a prosperous law business—probably making twice the amount of money he received from the City Government.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1852.

ANNEXATION AND ABSORPTION.

The London Times lately had an article on the condition and prospects of America, in which the writer freely canvasses the different governments on this continent, and intimates, that with Canada annexed to us, as he thinks it will be, we shall move forward to a Continental Dominion, or even exceed these limits.

The article closes thus:

"Whether or not the Union possesses stability enough in itself to carry it through these gigantic schemes of aggrandizement may be a question of doubt; but it is not denied that the disorganization of the American continent is such as almost to invite the attempts of a conquering power. The States, too, though not yet preponderating in territorial dominion, have a population immensely exceeding that of the other communities on the two continents, even in numerical strength, and incomparably superior in energy and intelligence. Hitherto, by an unparalleled destiny, they have absorbed all immigrants, of whatever race, without any perceptible modification of their political unity, and the desire of preserving the Confederation entire, does really appear to have prevailed for the time, over all other passions. If this feeling should still predominate, it is difficult to put any limits to the possibilities of the future; but it seems not a little singular that visions of such unscrupulous conquest should be entertained at a moment when the disruption of the original fabric has been seriously threatened, and is still a matter of public declamation."

The threatening and the declamation have been abundant, and many times repeated, within forty years—but the event they point at seems more remote than ever.

The cohesive power of the public plunder—the lust of conquest, which grows by success—the warlike temper and avaricious turn of our people, all make annexation vastly more probable than dissruption and disolution.

PISCATAQUA ENGINE COMPANY.

The members of the Fire Engine Company attached to the new and splendid tub Piscataqua, No. 4, located in the new Engine House near the Eastern Railroad station, are about adopting a very handsome uniform. The dress consists of blue pants, with red stripes; red shirts, trimmed with black—the collar neatly embroidered and fringed—with black leather belts; black patent leather breastplates, in the shape of a heart, of large size—on which is gilded "No. 4," and their motto, "Prompt when duty calls;" and costly red and gilt caps, on which is "No. 4—Piscataqua." The hoseman's cap is black, ribbed with iron and supplied with a cape, to afford the wearer greater protection in his exposed position. The first and second foremen are designated by one and two stars. It is also proposed to furnish black patent leather leggings, to complete the suit.

The total expense of the dress is about $10. The company numbers fifty members. We are glad to see our young men moving in this matter, and procuring a uniform worthy of their tab, themselves and our city.

THE CONCERT THIS EVENING.

Messrs. Editors:—Having noticed in the Chronicle that Mr. Wheelock with his daughter intends to give a concert here this evening, I cannot but advise all the friends of song to attend this entertainment. All those who heard the pure sweet strains of Miss Wheelock's silver voice a few months ago, need not this call to attention; but only those who did not. How often is the public deceived by imposing advertisements, and cited, perhaps fictitious, opinions of the press! But how modest appeared this family among us, even in this as well as other things evincing the true deserving artists. C. M. M.

CHINESE IN CALIFORNIA.

The Chinese are about to do for California, nearly the same work which the Irish are doing for the Atlantic Sates, viz:—to engross and perform many important kinds of labor, and ultimately by intermarriage and intermixture, to modify the mass of society by becoming a part of it no longer distinguishable. The San Francisco papers of Sept. 1, say, "We hear of negotiations going on to employ Chinese laborers in this city, and take them to the interior to perform the labor of carrying out an extensive canal project in the northern mines. They agree to work for $30 per month and found. It is the belief that three Chinamen can perform as much hard labor, per day, as two white men. This class of labor, it is said, is now quite extensively employed in building canals and other works necessary for the development of our mineral resources."

NAVAL.—Commodore Morris, Chief of the Bureau of Ordnance and Hydrography, visited the Navy Yard at this station yesterday, and was received with the customary salute.

THE SALEM UNION DEMOCRAT notices the Chronicle as "professedly Neutral," which is doubtless intended by the editor for a correct statement. Our profession, however, as our documents show, has never been neutrality, but independence, which is quite another thing. We asserted the right, and expressed the intention, at the ouiset, of giving our views on any and every topic,—but we promised to give the news, and state the facts, on all matters of public concern, as impartially and fairly as possible.

NEW BRUNSWICK RAILROAD.—It appears from the Boston Daily Advertiser that the length of the proposed railway is estimated at 214 miles, viz., from the boundary of Nova Scotia, by way of St. John, to the border of the State of Maine; the whole line to be completed and in full operation by the 1st day of July, 1857. The portion below Shediac and the Bend of Petticodiac are to be begun next spring, and finished by July 1, 1854.

THE CARPET BAG for this week announces the fact that Mr. Snow, one of the first publishers, is now the sole proprietor and publisher. Another fact a fixed one, by the way, and a very important one, is, that B. P. Shillaber is sole editor. Mrs. Partington is still a contributor;—and the character of the paper for wit, sentiment and humor will remain unchanged, except as the New England Apple changes in the month of October, when it becomes ripe, juicy and mellow.

THE EMPIRE is to be established in France, shortly, and as a preparatory step, the farce of a universal ballot will be performed by the people, on some fine Sunday morning hereafter to be appointed by the Prince-President-Emperor. The French news amounts to this, and no more.

The expected visit of the Secretary of the Navy to this place, will not be made at present.

A MURDEROUS BULL.—The Northampton, Mass. Courier, informs us that a "terrible accident occurred in Windsor, Berkshire Co., last Tuesday. The large bull, owned by Mr. Pierce, which has been exhibited at several of the cattle shows in Northampton was being led to water, when the ring in his nose by which he was held, came out, and the animal finding himself at liberty, became furious and dashed about at a terrible rate. More help was obtained to drive him into the barn, and while engaged in efforts to this end, the bull madly rushed upon Mr. Wm. Harlow, a late resident of Cummington, crowded him against the fence, thrust one horn into his side, broke and bruised one arm in a shocking manner, and stripped the clothing entirely off his body, leaving the unfortunate man nearly dead. A rifle was procured as soon as possible, and at the seventh shot the infuriated animal was killed. He was a monster in size. Mr. Harlow was living a short time after the accident."

QUANTITY OF GOLD.—The mind gets tired of estimating great sums of money, and millions, in a little time, are no more regarded than thousands were formerly. In the latest California news we are told, the P. M. S. S. Company's steamer California takes $2,132,847 in gold dust—the largest amount shipped by any steamer this year, except on the 31st of July, when the Oregon took $2,275,829. The last steamer—the Panama—took only $1,585,655. The total shipments of gold dust by steamers and sailing vessels from the 1st of January to the present time, eight months, have been $29,195,965, which is at the rate of $43,793,947 for the year.

MILITARY.—The Woodbury Light Guard, Capt. Leverton, of this city, contemplate an excursion to Newburyport and Amesbury, the 15th and 16th of this month. This company has been organized about three years, and is composed of young men from 17 to 20 years of age. This being their first military excursion out of the city, it will show to our friends in the places they visit, that though young in years, yet they have the true military spirit of the old Granite State.

At the late meeting of the American Board, a novel entertainment was afforded by the singing of the Doxology in eight different languages at the same time, by returned missionaries.

So say the papers. That must have been the same kind of singing they had at Babel—that is if they had any music there, which may be doubtful.

The San Francisco Herald says, that from accounts we daily receive from the mining regions, there is every reason to believe that the gold deposits are so extensive that they will furnish employment to thousands of miners for one hundred years to come.

The editor of the Nantucket Inquirer acknowledges the receipt of a quantity of Whale Scraps taken from a forty barrel Whale captured by the ship Hamilton the day after she left port, which ship returned on the fourth day in consequence of unfavorable weather. The editor of the Inquirer undoubtedly thinks "it is an ill wind that blows no one any good."

Reported for the Daily Morning Chronicle.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

SEPTEMBER TERM, 1852.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 5.

In the case State vs. John Merrill Dow, commenced yesterday, the evidence was closed, and the case argued in behalf of the respondent by Mr. Wood, and upon the part of the State by Attorney General Sullivan. The case was given to the Jury in the afternoon—the Jury had not agreed when the Court adjourned to nine o'clock Wednesday morning.

The next case in order for trial is State vs. Eliza Watson, for arson of dwelling house of Zebulon Kenniston, in Epping.

Moses Davis of Plaistow, who was drawn as a Juryman from that town, having neglected to appear at Court at the time designated, a capias was issued against him [for contempt of Court] and he was brought into Court upon the same, by Deputy Sheriff Tucker of Plaistow, and was held to answer interrogatories proposed to him by the Court, as to the reasons of his non-appearance, and upon consideration of his answers, and the circumstances of the case, the Court ordered him to pay a fine of ten dollars.

SAD ACCIDENT AT LAWRENCE, MASS.—Two men named Henry Nelson and ——— Stevenson, were badly injured at Lawrence on Saturday evening, by the premature discharge of a cannon. The Whigs of Lawrence were receiving the Scott Club of Lowell with a torch light procession, firing of cannon, &c. The two injured men were engaged in ramming home the last charge when the explosion took place. Nelson was blown about 15 feet from the cannon. His left shoulder was dislocated, collar bone broken, and both his arms so badly shattered as to require their amputation above the elbow. His clothes were entirely stripped from his body by the force of the explosion, and his whole person burned and lacerated, and filled with the slivers of the rammer.—His recovery is very doubtful. Stevenson's left hand was severely injured, requiring the amputation of some of the fingers. His face was also badly burned.—Boston Transcript.

These gunpowder huzzas, before and after elections, are very common, somewhat costly, and destroy more lives and limbs, on each side, once in four years, than any man's election is worth. We do not make this remark under the impression that people generally will pay the slightest heed to it, in practice.—But no man in his senses will deny its truth—and possibly some one may be induced to be careful, and thereby save his life.

M. Petin made a magnificent ascension in his mammoth balloon (108 feet in height and 30 in diameter) from Springfield, on Thursday afternoon last. There were about 20,000 persons present to witness the ascension. At a quarter past four the machine swung loose, Mons. P. and two Frenchmen being in the car. They landed in the evening, at East Windsor, in Connecticut, about fifteen miles from Springfield. There were some hundred and fifty persons present when the balloon came down and the gas was let off, who were greatly excited.

☞ Mr. JOHN M. BOTTS, of Virginia, addressed the [Scott] Whigs of Boston in Faneuil Hall on Monday evening. The Post says, the "solid men of Boston" were not observed upon the platform, as of yore, and describes the house as a thin one, embracing all shades of politics.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.

TREATY REJECTED.—Official information has been received from Nicaragua of the rejection of the Webster and Crampton treaty.

DEATH OF A SENATOR.—Ex-Gov. Whitcomb, of Indiana, U. S. Senator in place of Mr. Hannegan, died in this city last evening, after a lingering illness.

LATER FROM CUBA.—We learn by the Empire City arrived last evening from Havana, that her passengers were permitted to go ashore freely, and without molestation.

The excitement at Havana was still very great.

The most high handed outrages had been perpetrated upon three American vessels. One of them, the bark Cornelia Ward, on leaving for New York, was compelled to anchor and detained one day; two of her passengers were imprisoned; the letter bags of the vessels were robbed of their contents.

These outrages have been committed for no satisfactory cause whatever.

The British man-of-war Rosamond, which left Havana the 28th, refused to hoist the colors, the Captain being so utterly disgusted at the conduct of the authorites.

The Count Penolver, long and well known to Americans for his kindness to them at Havana, died a short time since. He leaves large and valuable estates.

Among the letters seized on board the barque Cornelia were several addressed to citizens of New York. The writers of these letters had been cited to appear before the Mayor, that they might be opened in their presence, and failing to present themselves, they would be dealt with accordingly.

Fasciola, publisher of the revolutionary paper, the Voice of the People, was garrotted on the 28th ult. So great was the shock experienced by his mother who had been denied an interview with him that she expired in a short time after the execution.

The arrest of Count de Doro Dulcos and Jose Farias, created great consternation.

The New York Mirror says—"Mrs. Forrest is playing in Philadelphia. Rumor is whispering of astonishing developments when the Forrest case comes up, in a few days, for a hearing. It is said that certain parties, repudiated by Mrs. F. since the late trial, who expected to travel with, and live on her, will "a tale untold—" for a consideration.

AN UNSAFE SAFE.—A very singular conflagration took place yesterday morning in Davidson & Vielie's hardware store. An old iron safe which they had in use, took fire while standing near the stove, and was removed to the street, where it attracted much attention and amusement. Like many other safes made some years ago, it was filled with oak wood saturated with salt. The oak being as dry as punk, was ignited by the heat of the stove, and the safe was destroyed. It was manufactured in New York.—Albany State Register.

THE "NATIONALS."—The provisional State Committee of the "National Democrats" held another meeting in Boston on Saturday last. A State Address, covering fifty letter sheet pages was reported, adopted, and ordered to be printed in pamphlet form for distribution. The Post says—"It was decided that the Committee call a separate State Convention, next year, for the nomination of State officers. Each member was assessed fifteen dollars for the purpose of raising funds to sustain the organization and pay the expense of printing the address. Besides, a subscription paper was opened and headed with fifty dollars by one of the members."

A DISCOVERY.—On Monday last, says the Paris Constitutionale, a marchand de vin, named Morizst, residing at Port Creteil, was in his cellar, when all at once the earth gave way beneath him, and he was precipitated about twelve feet into a lower cellar, the existence of which he never could have suspected. Casting his eyes around he discovered that the cellar in which he lay was of immense size, and admirably provided with casks of wine placed in order. He immediately ordered one of his men to come down and see what they contained, and they were filled with the very finest wines of France and Spain. This result consoled him somewhat for his accident, as he could not doubt his fortune was made. An inquiry into the matter has proved that this cellar formerly belonged to a small house called Rendezvous de chasse which the Prince de Conde had caused to be built, close to his property of La Varenne.

FRIGHTFUL SUICIDE.—On Monday morning between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock, as the New Haven express train was proceeding at full speed, and when between the Norfolk and Stamford stations, a respectable female, accompanied by a little boy, was observed walking leisurely on the side of the track.—Not supposing them to be in danger, the engineer simply sounded the whistle, which he had scarcely done when the woman deliberately threw herself across the rail, and it is presumed from her movements, designed to have the youth perish with her. The whole of the train passed over her, mangling her in a manner too horrible to describe. The child slipped from her and escaped unharmed.

Upon examination, the body was recognized as that of a young woman 28 years of age; residing near Greenwich. It is said the husband of the deceased some time since ran off with a servant girl who resided in the house, and had on several occasions endeavored by force to secure the guardianship of their son, a fine little fellow of about 6 years.

SUICIDE.—A Portuguese named Augustus De Fratus, in the employ of Messrs. Mix & Warner, shoe manufacturers, went into the store of Henry A. Duntze, on Saturday afternoon and asked to look at some pistols. He selected one and had it loaded so that he might try it in the back yard. On Mr. Duntz's handing the pistol to him, he walked towards the front door, aimed the pistol at his heart, and before Mr. Duntz could interfere, discharged it. Medical aid was immediately summoned, and the man removed to the Hospital. While lying on the floor of the shop, he regretted that he had not "finished the job," and during the night repeatedly asked for poison. He expired at 7 yesterday morning, of hemorrhage. A medical examination of the body showed that the bullet passed through the lower end of the breast bone, between the 7th and 8th ribs, and also through a small portion of the liver, the spleen and kidney, tearing the diaphragm to the extent of three or four inches, and lodging under the skin near the back bone. He was about 45 years of age and unmarried. He had been quite dissipated, and we are informed was just off from a "spree." Rum was probably the cause of his self-murder. —New Haven Journal & Courier

SINGULAR SUICIDE.—On Monday morning last, William H. F. Heare, of Hampshire county, Va., put an end to his existence in a very singular manner. Having raised all but the bottom rail of a fence near to the house in which he resided, he inserted in the opening a rock which kept the rails far enough apart to allow him to place his neck between them.—He then (so it is supposed) took another rock and knocked out the one which he had placed between the rails, which, falling down on his neck, caused suffocation.

DEATH OF CAPTAIN JOSIAH BACON.—Capt. Josiah Bacon, steward of the U. S. Marine Hospital at Chelsea, Mass., died on Sunday, at noon. He received his office from General Harrison, under whom he served as captain of a company in the late war with Great Britain, and had held it since under the various changes of administration. He left by will the sum of $2000 (a large proportion of his estate) to the Sailor's snug Harbor—an institution of which he was one of the originators, and, in which he took a deep interest.

SICKNESS AT TURKS ISLAND AND ST. THOMAS.—The schooner Viola arrived at Norfolk, reports that at St. Thomas the yellow fever was very bad. Several vessels had lost nearly all their crews, and at Turks Island several deaths had occurred among the shipping. The infection was brought from Demarara, where the yellow fever and small pox are represented as raging to an unusual extent. Business was very dull. Two ships, three barks, one brig and seven schooners were in port, doing nothing, and four are without crews. The fever has compelled several vessels to leave Turks Island without salt, in consequence of the scarcity of hale persons to load. The supply of salt has in consequence greatly accumulated.

COAD'S PATENT GRADUATED
GALVANIC BATTERY!
AND PATENT INSULATED POLES
For Medical Purposes.

THE subscriber respectfully informs the Physicians, the afflicted, and the public generally, that he has obtained letters patent of the United States for certain valuable and improvements in the GALVANIC BATTERY, and Insulated Poles for medicinal purposes, &c. The Patentee will remain in this place for a short time, to sell patent rights of Counties, States, &c., and to operate on patients for the cure of the diseases below mentioned. Each operation $1. He will receive all persons on business at his Rooms, at MRS. TRIPE'S BOARDING HOUSE, No. 13 Vaughan street, corner of Hanover.
It is by the operation only that the galvanic fluid can be brought under the perfect control of man, and communicated in definite quantities to suit any part of the body with perfect safety, in a gentle current, without shocks, pain, or any disagreeable sensation, and therefore is the only one which is fit to be used for medical purposes. It is with this important instrument only that the galvanic fluid can be conveyed, with the best possible effect to the brain, to cure nervous headaches; to the eye to restore sight or cure dimness; to the ear to restore hearing; to the tongue, &c. to restore speech; and to the various parts of the body for the cure of rheumatism, asthma, neuralgia, gout, chorea or St. Vitus' Dance, epilepsy, weakness from sprains, some diseases peculiar to females, contractions of the limbs, palpitation of the heart, and the whole range of nervous diseases.
☞ This apparatus is now greatly approved of by many of the medical Professors, who are among the most celebrated in the world, to whom reference will be given, by numerous highly respectable practicing Physicians in various parts of the United States, and by a host of respectable persons who have been cured of inveterate diseases which could not be removed by any other known means. It may be proper to inform the afflicted, and others whom it may concern, that there are numerous worthless instruments sold, which are also called Galvanic Batteries, for medical purposes.—These spurious instruments convey the galvanic fluid to the patient by intensity and not by quantity, and therefore generally do much injury to the patients. Dr. Dunglison, Professor of the Institues of Medicine in the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, calls them in his "New Remedies" and other works, "PHILOSOPHICAL TOYS," which only benefit the maker and the vender, but disappointing the afflicted. Full information is given in a pamphlet, to every person who buys a patent right to prepare chemicals, to keep the apparatus in proper order, and to operate on patients for the cure of diseases. Apply forthwith to o2 P. COAD, Patentee.

THE RAT.

No other animal is placed in circumstances which tend so continually to sharpen its wits as the rat; nor does any other appear to be of a more improvable nature. He is of a most intelligent family, being related to the beaver. And in civilized countries he is not a wild creature; for he follows the progress of civilization, and adapts his own habits of life to it, so as to avail himself of its benefits.

The "pampered goose," who, in Pope's Essay, resorts upon man, and says that man was made for the use of geese, must have been forgetful of plucking time, as well as ignorant of the rites that are celebrated in all old fashioned families on St. Michael's day. But the rat might, with more apparent reason, support such an assertion. He is not mistaken in thinking that corn-stacks are as much for his use as for the farmer's; that barns and granaries are his winter magazines; that the miller is his acting partner, the cheese-monger his purveyor, and the store keeper his steward. He places himself in relation with man, not as his dependant, like the dog nor like the cat as his ally, nor like the sheep as his property, nor like the ox as his servant, nor like the horse and ass, his slave, nor like the poultry who are to "come and be killed" when Mrs. Bond invites them; but as his enemy—a bold berderer, a Johny Armstrong or Rob Roy, who acknowledges no right of property in others, and lives by spoil.

Wheresoever man goes rat follows, or accompanies him. Town or country are equally agreeable to him. He enters your house as a tenant at will, (his own, not yours,) works out for himself a covered way in your walls, ascends by it from one story to another, and leaving you the larger apartments, takes possession of the space between floor and ceiling, as an entresol for himself. There he has his parties and revels, gallopades, (merry ones they are) when you would be asleep, if it were not for the spirit with which the youth and belles of ratland keep up the ball over your head. And you are more fortunate than most of your neighbors, if he does not prepare for himself a mausoleum behind your chimney-piece or under your hearth-stone; retire into it when he is about to die, and very soon afford you full proof that though he may have lived like a hermit, his relics are not in the odor of sanctity. You have the additional comfort of knowing that the spot so appropriated, will henceforth be used either as a common cemetery, or a family vault. In this respect, as in many others, nearer approaches are made to us by inferior creatures than are dreampt of in our philosophy.

The adventurous merchant ships a cargo for some distant port; rat goes with it. Great Britain plants a colony in Botany Bay, Van Dieman's land, or at the Swan river; rat takes the opportunity of colonizing also.—Ships are sent upon a voyage of discovery; rat embarks as a volunteer. He doubled the stormy cape with Diaz, arrived at Malabar in the first European vessel with Gama, discovered the New World with Columbus, and took possession of it at the same time, and circumnavigated the globe with Magellan, and with Drake, and with Cook.

THE IMPROVED

EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appanatus and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; also, Cylinder and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hoop, Enamelled, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

HIRAM JONES, 61 Market street,
s27 Portsmouth, N. H.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, of which the above cut is a true representation, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.

The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.

All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.

We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store.

Corner of State and Water streets,
s27 ANDERSON & EMERY.

The Bay State Stove,

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

THE subscriber, in offering this favorite Stove to the public, the present season, would state that a new covered Broiling Apparatus has been added, the flues enlarged for burning anthracite coal, and the Stove otherwise improved—and is now put into the market as in the world. The castings are heavier, more beautiful and durable; the stove has a larger oven, will bake better and with less fuel, than any other stove in use.

These stoves are made from pure metal and are not liable to crack; and we furnish every stove with the best of apparatus—Copper Boiler, &c., and warrant them a year; and if any part proves defective it will be made good without charge.

Persons wishing to obtain a good Stove, will do well to buy a BAY STATE. They have been in operation in this city for four years past, and have given perfect satisfaction. For sale at the Store of the subscriber, where may be found a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR AND OFFICE STOVES, TIN WARE, FUNNEL, &c. for sale cheap for cash. D. A. STEVENS.

VOLUME 1 PORTSMOUTH, N. H., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1852. NUMBER 58.

DE SOUZA, THE SLAVE BROKER.—Late English papers give an account of the life and end of De Souza, a notorious slave trader, at Whydah, Coast of Africa. At one time he was computed rich beyond comparison, and 30 or 40 ships would be lying in the roadsteads of Whydah, all consigned to De Souza, and their valuable cargoes and all their specie in his store-houses and coffers. He was the friend and agent of the King of Dahomey, on whom were lavished countless sums in presents, and from whom were obtained in return, the slaves with which the waiting ships were supplied. De Souza's affairs, however, gradually fell into disorder: he failed to pay his debts, and his office of consignee was taken from him, he refusing to acknowledge claims which he could not meet; and at length, he was reduced almost to actual want, and died recently at 82 years of age, without so much as a keg of gun powder in his store house to fire over his remains.

The Traveller appends this reflection:—"So much for the wages of iniquity."

The Rev. J. M. Spear said, at the late Worcester Spiritual Convention, that he seemed to have the power of healing persons. His hand moved without his will towards the seats of diseases, and they were instantly relieved. The spirits sent him on distant missions, telling him he would have his expenses paid, and it was always so. Mr. Spear probably had in his mind his recent trip to Europe, the expense of which was defrayed by others.—Lowell Journal.

The Journal confounds two brothers,—Charles Spear, editor of the Prisoner's Friend, went to Europe. His brother, John M. Spear, has not been there in the body,—altho' his spirit may have travelled in that direction for aught we know.

WONDERFUL ESCAPE.—The store of Milo H. Shattuck, in Groton, narrowly escaped from being burnt, on Monday forenoon last. It was discovered that a barrel of camphene was leaking in the cellar, when a person went down with a lamp to ascertain the cause.—The air was so thoroughly impregnated with the camphene gas, that the flame was immediately communicated to the camphene that had leaked out, though the lamp had not been carried within twelve feet of it. Instantly the bottom of the whole cellar was wrapt in flames, which were communicated to two barrels of camphene. It was not till after one of the barrels had been charred in some places, and the metallic fauc t had been melted to within half of an inch of the barrel head, that the flame was extinguished. Fortunately, the barrel was standing on one end, as otherwise it would have been impossible to have kept the fire from the inside, when destruction of human life must have ensued. There were several persons in this small cellar striving with all their might, for the space of fifteen minutes, to subdue the fire with water, which at first had no effect whatever on the flames. The damage was trifling.—Lowell Journal.

AN EXAMPLE.—A respectable married lady, who is on a visit to this city, was arrested on Friday at Greenwood Cemetery, for a violation of the rules for the government of that enclosure. Her offence was the gathering of a rose from one of the trees which adorn the ground, and being seen to do so by one of the wardens of the ground, she was taken in custody, in pursuance of the positive general orders of the trustees. Security was immediately given for the appearance of the lady to answer the charge, and she was released.

Subsequently an effort was made by the lady's friends to induce the officers of the company to withdraw the charge. To this, however) they could not consent, consistently with their course in previous instances, but they interceded with the justice before whom the party was summoned to make the punishment as light as possible. When the case was called a fine of five dollars was imposed, that being the minimum allowed by the law, while it may be increased to fifty dollars, accompanied by imprisonment—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

FARMING IN CALIFORNIA.—California papers of Sept. 1, say, the pre-emption bill which has passed the United States Senate, and will undoubtedly soon become a law, will be gladly received in California, and must prove of material benefit to the agricultural interests of the State.

The number of adults in Virginia who cannot read or write, is 80,000—twenty thousand more than in 1840; and the number of children whose parents have not the means to educate them, 75,000.

ROAD TO THE PACIFIC.—Mr. Benton avows his determination to press, foremost of all things, in the next Congress, for a road from St. Louis to San Francisco. Undoubtedly the true policy of the government is to construct, or to aid in the construction of a road to the Pacific, on the most favorable route, whether from St. Louis or any other point. Mr. Benton's plan, to make a wide road, capable of being used for a wagon road, or of being fitted for a railway track, is a grand one, and is undoubtedly feasible, at an expense trifling in comparison with the great benefits it will give to the country, if the money invested in it is judiciously expended. Mr. Benton says that 300 men could complete a tolerable road in two years, and that a horse express could perform the distance in ten days, a stage in twenty days, and emigrant wagons in forty or fifty.—Newburyport Herald

THE GREAT FLOWAGE CASE SETTLED.—The Meredith (N. H.) Democrat learns that the suits between the Belknap and Gilford Manufacturing Companies, and the Winnipisseogee Lake Co., and the suits of John L. Perley against the same company, are settled. It is understood that the first mentioned companies are to have eight inches more head at their dam, and that the Lake Co., have the privilege of running water over their dam to suit their own purposes by first drawing down Sanbornton Bay for 24 hours. The Lake Co. also to have the right to keep the water 15 inches higher at Union bridge than the point heretofore contended for by the Belknap and Guilford companies. Mr. Perley sells his privilege at Union Bridge to the Lake Co. The Belknap and Gilford Companies are to receive $22,000, and Mr. Perley $12,000.

PORTSMOUTH:
THURSDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1852.

BUTTER.

The "great enthusiasm" about Baked Beans in Boston, which steamed through the newspapers a while ago, is outdone now by a Butter excitement, which shakes the family circle to its centre, threatens to overturn the tea-table, and seriously interferes with our domestic institutions. Extracts from three Boston papers will show the state of the contest.

Within a week or two butter has advanced in price in this market from five to ten cents per pound. One cause of this advance is stated to be the large orders sent from California. One firm here has received an order to ship one hundred and twenty-five thousand pounds; and probably in all a quarter of a million pounds have been ordered from that quarter within a short time.—Traveller.

This, we think, is a mere pretext. Look at it for a moment. The population of California is not more than twice that of Boston; perhaps not so much. Not half the people see a pound of butter from one year's end to the other. The remainder get a considerable portion of their butter from California dairies, for agriculture is largely attended to there now. A half million pounds of butter exported from the Atlantic States annually, would make butter a drug. The story is a shameful hoax, got up by miserable speculators to take the butter from the bread of poor people.—Herald.

Speculators have been buying up all the butter upon which they could lay their hands, in the expectation of a rise. We think, however, from the tenor of advices which we receive from the country, that there will be more butter made during the present month than ever before in October. The feed is now good all over the New England States, and any deficiency in richness will be amply compensated by feeding out from the abundance of the root crops. Every housewife who keeps a cow is now making butter instead of cheese, and the prospect is that the speculators will soon have as much as they can take care of.—Journal.

The present propects are that butter will be dear enough to bring forward all the stock in due season—but not so scarce or dear as to place it out of the reach of eaters.

BUTTER TRADE OF WOOSTER.—Mr. James Patrick has purchased and shipped from Wooster this season, 10 hogsheads of 700 lbs each, or 70,000 pounds of butter. The Democrat says he is now giving 14 cents per pound and intends buying until New Year.—Cincinnati Times.

GEN. SCOTT'S ILLNESS.

The Boston Post, yesterday, says, "at Warsaw, Ind., Gen. Scott was taken seriously ill by exposure to the damp weather."

It appears from a Cincinnati despatch, that he left Madison on the 4th, in the steamer Lady Franklin, at 7 1-2 P. M. with a crowd on board and on shore.

At points along the shore bonfires were illuminating the Ohio almost to Carrollton—When the boat reached Carrollton there was a dense fog, and it was found impracticable to go farther that night. The lights of the bonfires alone prevented the boat from running on the bank. On reaching the wharf it was found that nearly 1000 people were assembled. Gen. Scott retired to rest and undressed, but so loud were the calls of the people, that he awoke and came out on deck in a dressing gown, to address a few words of thanks to the citizens, having been in his first sleep.

The fog had a very bad effect upon him and rendered him quite unwell, so much so as to prevent his receiving a welcome from, or addressing, the citizens of Cincinnati, at which place he arrived next day.

On nearing the city, the guns commenced salutes. The levee, buildings and streets were thronged. Troops were drawn up, music playing and colors flying. Every boat was decked out with flags, and the scene was one of excitement and splendor. Every thoroughfare seemed alive, and the number of people present is estimated at 100,000.

When the boat approached loud cheers were given. The military kept admirable order, and a line was formed to the carriages provided for the General and visitors. The people had been waiting seven hours in expectation of his arrival, being ignorant of the detention by fog.

But the old general was too unwell and too much exhausted to speak in public or even to appear in a formal procession. He therefore was taken in a carriage to his hotel, amid cheers, and received only a few official calls,—greatly to the disappointment of the crowd.

VIEW OF CONCORD.—It is proposed to publish a view of this town, to be taken from the most eligible point to present all the leading features of the place—to be got up in the best style of printed lithography, making a beautiful picture from 30 to 36 inches in length. The price will be $5.

TOWN MULCTED.—Miss Maria E. Mason has recovered $930 and costs of suit, of the town of Easthampton, as damages for injury received from being upset from a sleigh on a defective road in that town, in December, 1850. She claimed $10,000.

DIAMOND CUT DIAMOND.—Brownson, in the last number of his Review, says:—

"The country, as a general rule, is safer under the presidency of a real—we do not mean a show—military man, than under a civilian."

He also draws a singular parallel between Scott and Pierce as friends or foes to Catholicity, and seems in some parts to lean towards Scott, though he claims to be a good democrat.

Brownson, however, has a fire in the rear; a Catholic priest is down upon him in an Octavo of 300 pages, entitled the Atheism of Brownson's Quarterly, in which he accuses him of overweening vanity and self-conceit, heresy and falsehood.

THE WORLD'S MARINE.—The following table of the tonnage of the world is published as authentic in the Belfast (Ireland) Mercantile Journal:—

NUMBER OF VESSELS AND TONNAGE BELONGING TO THE DIFFERENT COUNTRIES.

We copy the above table from the New York Herald. It will be seen that it contains some blanks. Cannot some commercial friend fill them? The comparative view of our commerce and that of other nations is interesting, and would be more so if it were complete.

AN EXCITEMENT BY MISTAKE.—A despatch from Syracuse, N. Y., on Tuesday, says:—

"A great excitement was created here this morning by a rumor that Rev. J. W. Liguen had been arrested at Skaneateles, by the U. S. Marshal, charged with being a Fugitive Slave. As soon as the affair was known to the citizens, the bells were rung, and a meeting held at the Congregational Church, the result of which has not reached us. Mr. Liguen, it is said, is to be taken to Buffalo."

Another despatch, of a few hours later, explaines away the former, by saying:

"Liguen is not arrested. Several policemen had gone to nab some thieves, and Marshal Allen was a witness at the Circuit Court in session at Auburn. Liguen was a passenger on the same train and left at the junction. The two policemen stopped to make an arrest, his absence created an alarm, and a telegraphic despatch message was sent to Syracuse that he was arrested by the return of the Marshal and policemen."

The telegraph is none too nimble—but some of the compilers of the item make wild work.

THE GREAT EMBEZZLEMENT CASE.—The great robbery of Brown, Brothers & Co., at New York, by a clerk and a customer, has been already chronicled.

"The New York Times gives the name of the young man arrested as Augustus G. M. Bowen. Up to Monday afternoon upwards of one hundred thousand dollars had been recovered in securities and other property, the remainder of the $220,000 being unaccounted for.

MADAME LOLA MONTEZ was to make her first appearance before a New Bedford audience, as an actress, on Tuesday evening. The play was written expressly for her, and is said to be of thrilling interest.

MISS KIMBERLY is giving Shaksperian readings in Boston.

O. S. FOWLER is lecturing on Phrenology and kindred sciences, in Bangor.

HOW WELLINGTON KEPT HIS HEALTH.—As a military man, he loved exercise and had it: used to be up at six in the morning, and walk an hour before breakfast, after he had no active military duty; and slept on a hair mattress, with a leather pillow also stuffed with hair.

MASSACHUSETTS.—The Boston Courier says:

"The Webster spirit is now fully roused, and the work goes on bravely in Boston.—This is as it should be, and we can inform our friends in the country that we mean to give Daniel Webster a larger number of votes than will be thrown for any other candidate. If the country towns do as well as the city, we can give him 25,000 to 30,000 votes in the State, if not more."

The IF, in the last sentence, is the most important word in the whole paragraph.

The New York Daily Times says that carpenters, masons, painters, upholsterers, and every sort of mechanics, especially employed in building and fitting dwellings, stores, &., are in great demand in New York at the present time. Prices are going up, and everybody who can work at any of these occupations has plenty to do. It is next to impossible to get a small job done, upon any terms; and the only way you can get workmen at all, is to engage them several days, or perhaps weeks, beforehand. Probably there never was the same amount of building in any city of the world as is now going on in New York.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Reported for the Daily Morning Chronicle.

Court of Common Pleas—Rockingham Co.

SEPTEMBER TERM, 1852.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 6.

In the case State vs. John Merrill Dow, the Jury this morning returned a verdict of Guilty.

The case State vs. Eliza Watson was commenced this morning. The indictment alleges that the respondent, on the twenty-seventh day of June last, fired the dwelling house of Mr. Zebulon Kenneston, situate in Epping. The testimony on behalf of the Government was closed in the afternoon, when Mr. McMurphy opened the case for the respondent. The evidence for the defence was not concluded when the Court adjourned to nine o'clock Thursday morning.

Sullivan and Hatch for State, Stickney and McMurphy for Respondent.

No. 51, Gordon vs. Clifford and als., is the next civil suit in order for trial.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.—This evening at half past 7 o'clock, in the Temple, the Democrats of Portsmouth and vicinity will be addressed by Benjamin F. Butler, Esq., of Lowell, Mass. The N. H. Gazette informs us, by order of the Portsmouth Democratic Club, that he is an able speaker, who is accustomed to handle whiggery with plainness and just severity.

FRUIT.—A small Cornucopia, was emptied on the table yesterday, between the card press and the newspapers; which occurrence put a stop to scribbling and working, till the fruits were disposed of. They were gifts from PAMONA, from her messenger Capt. Clark, who officiates at her temple here.

Among them were some very bad looking, but very fine tasting pears, which reminded us of some excellent men who wear old coats. Then there were some peaches, cold-blooded and stony-hearted: grapes, Isabella,—don't mention why so called—chesnuts, the first in the season, in which we learn that this nut is scarce, and of course cannot be very cheap.

EVENING SCHOOLS.—Free Evening adult schools will be opened this week in three sections of the city of Boston. They will be continued six months. The city furnishes convenient and well lighted rooms for these schools, and the head teachers are paid by private charity. About thirteen hundred adults availed themselves of these schools last winter. The desire to learn to write seems to influence a greater part of those that attend. The German girls are said to be the most apt scholars. They learn to write much sooner than any other class of pupils.

The evening School in Portsmouth has been productive of much good. We suppose it will be continued, but know not when it will commence.

THE TEACHER'S INSTITUTE for Rockingham County, will be held at Exeter, commencing on Monday, October 25, at ten o'clock, and remain in session during the week.

CROPS.—We hear of but little complaint of the potato disease from farmers in this vicinity. The crops of both potatoes and corn seem to be unusually good, and will compensate to a great degree for the failure of the hay crop. The crop of apples in New England, also, seems to be unusually large.—Concord Reporter.

Apples round about Portsmouth are plentiful, and carts and wagons loaded with them in bulk, are coming in daily.

PRESIDENTIAL VOTES.—In 1836, Mr. Van Buren had 763,327 votes, and Mr. Clay and others 737,711 votes. Van Buren's majority 25,876.

In 1840, Harrison had 1,274,203, and Van Buren 1,128,203 votes. Majority for Harrison, 145,800. There were but a few hundred scattering votes in any State, and all but six States gave their electoral vote for the successful candidate.

In 1844, Polk had 1,329,013; Clay 1,291,643; Birney 63,304. Polk had 37,370 plurality over Clay, but was in the minority by 28,924 votes.

In 1848, Gen. Taylor had 1,372,242; Cass 1,223,794, and Van Buren 292,378 votes.—Taylor's plurality over Cass was 133,447; his minority in the aggregate vote was 152,931.

HEAVY GALE.—Tampa Bay and the surrounding country was visited by a terrible gale on the 11th of September. All the wharves in Tampa were carried away, and the custom house boats were all lost. The sugar crops and orange groves were considerably injured. The bark R. H. Gamble arrived in the bay from St. Mark's, on the 10th lost her bulwarks, foremast, mainmast, and most of her water casks were stove in.

The people of San Francisco are waking up to the necessity of preventing steamers at that port from carrying an excess of passengers. For this the Winfield Scott had been seized and put under heavy bonds. The master of the ship Racehound, against whom a similar complaint has been made, was discharged by the Court—the indictment not being sustained.

THE MONTREAL SUFFERERS.—Quebec, Oct. 5.—The Legislature has agreed, by resolutions to guarantee a loan of $400,000 to the sufferers by the Montreal fire.

MARINE NEWS.

PORT OF PORTSMOUTH.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 6.

Ar sch Gannett, Chandler, New York.
Sch Banner, Smith, ar at Philadelphia 5th inst., hence.

TO MARINERS.

A bell buoy is about to be moored not under one and a half and not over two miles directly south of Partridge Islands, at the entrance of the harbor of St. John, New Brunswick. The dimensions are as follows:

Length over all, thirty-five feet; breadth twelve feet; extreme height of the mast, fifteen feet—on the top of which is the bell. The least swell will cause the bell to ring. There are to be four clappers. The buoy is ballasted with eight tons of pig iron, and was built in England of boiler plate, in a substantial and workmanlike manner. Half way up the iron mast there is a cage for the protection of any person shipwrecked who can reach it. The presence of fogs in the Bay of Fundy renders the buoy absolutely necessary. It is believed to be the first of the kind ever used this side of the Atlantic.

PASSAGES FROM SAN FRANCISCO TO CANTON.—The ship Courser, Capt. Cole of Boston, sailed from San Francisco May 29, for Canton, where she arrived July 11. The clipper ship Invincible, Capt. Johnson, of New York, sailed from San Francisco May 16, and arrived at Canton July 11. The clipper ship Witchcraft, Capt. Rogers, of Salem, sailed from San Francisco May 30, and arrived at Canton July 19. We understand that bets made in San Francisco that the Witchcraft would reach Hong Kong ten days before the Courser, but event proved that the C. which is not a clipper, beat the Witchcraft full six days, and the Invincible thirteen days.—Boston Daily Advertiser.

THE LAKE FISHERIES.—From a single district in the south end of Lake Michigan, embracing the islands, bays, and main land, extending north and south about 70 miles, and east and west about 190 miles, it is said there will be shipped this year not less than 50,000 cortels of fish, which will command in the market about $250,000. The fishermen out there have no quarrel with another power about "headlands," &c.

GOLD IN NEW ZEALAND.—By the way of Oregon we learn that the precious metal has been at last discovered in the above British colony.

Auckland, the northern capital of the country, has the advantage of two ports—on the Waitemtaer river on the east, and on the Manuka river on the west coast. It is on the hills of the latter harbor that gold has been discovered. The two ports are distant in a direct line about three miles from each other. The waters of each closely join.—Auckland lies in a similar latitude south, as San Francisco in the north.

SCARCITY OF PAPER IN CALIFORNIA.—The California newspapers are of all colors, sizes and shapes. Some are printed on brown paper,—others, again, on paper almost as thick as card board. Printing paper is so scarce that the Alta California has reduced its daily issue to literally a 7x9 sheet of only twelve columns—three columns in a page. The type has also been reduced from minion and nonpareil to agate and pearl.—The Alta keeps the following notice at the head of its columns :—

Printing Paper Wanted.—A premium will be paid for white printing paper. Those who may have it in large or small quantities will find ready sale for it by applying at the office of this paper.

DISAGREEABLE FIX.—It is a disagreeable fix to be placed in, when you essay a bow to a fair friend across on the opposite side of the way, to have an omnibus obtrude itself just in season for your bow to take effect directly in the middle of the crowd of passengers inside, half of whom bow to you in return, and the other half stare in a puzzled attempt to recall who you are.

WELLINGTON'S BEDCHAMBER. — The Duke's Room at Walmer Castle, is like the other, of moderate size and plainly furnished, but everything neatly and methodically arranged, something like an officer's room in a garrison. On the right hand side stands an ordinary iron camp bedstead, with a single horse-hair mattress and a horse-hair pillow covered with leather, which the Duke usually carried with him and used in town. Summer and winter the little camp bedstead was without curtains or any paraphernalia. Here the Duke always slept and wrote when at Walmer, and here he died.

A few years ago a party of ladies and gentlemen were looking at this bedstead, and one of them said to the duke she thought it was too narrow, and did not see how he could turn over in it. "Ah!" replied he, "when I have lain in bed long enough to turn over, I think it is time to turn out."

Over the bedstead is a small collection of books, evidently selected for use. Among them are some of best English writers of Anne's Augustan age, in poetry and prose—recent histories and biographies, some French memoirs, military reports, official publications and parliamentary papers, the last which occupied the Duke's attention being the voluminous report of the Oxford University commission. In the centre of the room stands a mahogany table, well stained with ink, and covered with papers; and here for some time every day the Duke sat and wrote. Near this is a more portable one, and contrived so as to be used for reading or writing while in bed. These, with two or three chairs comprise the whole; and they are sufficiently characteristic of the tastes and habits of the illustrious deceased. The windows look out upon the sea, and one of the doors of the room opens upon the ramparts.

COAD'S PATENT GRADUATED GALVANIC BATTERY!

AND PATENT INSULATED POLES
For Medical Purposes.

The subscriber respectfully informs the Physicians, the afflicted, and the public generally, that he has obtained letters patent of the United States, for certain iuventions and improvements in the GALVANIC BATTERY, and Insulated Poles for medicinal purposes, &c. The Patentee will remain in this place for a short time, to sell patent rights of Counties, States, &c., and to operate on patients for the cure of the diseases below mentioned. Each operation $1. He will receive all persons on business at his Rooms, at MRS. TRIPE'S Boarding House, No. 13 Vaughan street, corner of Hanover.
It is by this operation only that the galvanic fluid can be brought under the perfect control of man, and communicated in definite quantities to suit any part of the body with perfect safety, in a gentle current, without shocks, pain, or any disagreeable sensation, and therefore is the only one which is fit to be used for medical purposes. It is with this important instrument only that the galvanic fluid can be conveyed, with the best possible effect to the brain, to cure nervous headaches; to the eye to restore sight or cure dimness; to the ear to restore hearing; to the tongue, &c. to restore speech; and to the various parts of the body for the cure of rheumatism, asthma, neuralgia, gout, chorea or St. Vitus' Dance, epilepsy, weakness from sprains, some diseases peculiar to females, contractions of the limbs, palpitation of the heart, and the whole range of nervous diseases.
☞ This apparatus is now greatly approved of by many of the medical Professors, who are among the most celebrated in the world, to whom reference will be given, by numerous highly respectable practicing Physicians in various parts of the United States, and by a host of respectable persons who have been cured of inveterate diseases which could not be removed by any other known means. It may be proper to inform the afflicted, and others whom it may concern, that there are numerous worthless instruments sold, which are also called Galvanic Batteries, for medical purposes.—These spurious instruments convey the galvanic fluid to the patient intensely and not by quantity, and therefore generally do much injury to the patients. Dr. Dunglison, Professor of the Institues of Medicine in the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, calls them in his "New Remedies" and other works, "PHILOSOPHICAL TOYS," which only benefit the maker and the vender, but disappointing the afflicted. Full information is given in a pamphlet, to every person who buys a patent right to prepare chemicals, to keep the apparatus in perfect order, and to operate on patients for the cure of diseases. Apply forthwith to OVERLAND ROUTES.—Numerous parties of immigrants arrived at Oregon city during the early part of the month of August, who report but little trouble crossing the Cascade Mountains. A great many immigrants are arriving daily at the Dalles, and are proceeding to cross the mountains with their teams and families. Large droves of horses, cattle, sheep, &c., are reported on their way to Oregon. It is thought the number of persons coming the overland route this season will be over ten thousand.

A powerful speech of Gen. McDougal (in California,) on the Pacific Railroad, labors to show the entire practicability of a continuous railroad across the continent, and of the ability of our own countrymen to carry out the project.

A SILLY STORY.—There is now living in Holmes County, Miss., a woman who married her first husband in September, 1823. She subsequently parted with him, and from time to time married three others from all of whom she separated. On the day twenty-five years from her first marriage, she parted with her fourth husband, attended the funeral of her second, was married to her first, and the marriage ceremony was performed by her third husband. She is now living with her fifth, or rather her first husband, and doing well, and is some woman yet.

We have met with the above paragraph so many times, and passed it so often, that we must speak to it at last, and say that it is possible such a series of odd doings might happen—but exceedingly unlikely.

SALEM.—The City Marshal states that from the 22d of May to the 22d of June, there were 78 arrests and commitments for drunkenness and for crimes of which rum was the cause; from the 22d of June to the 22d of July, there were 72 commitments; from the 22d of July to the 22d of August, 12; and from the 22d of August to the 22d of September, 23; an aggregate of commitments for the first two months of 150, and for the last two months of 35; making a difference of 115. This statement shows a diminuation of more than three fourths.

The Marshal also states a decided improvement in the moral condition of the poorer class of the community.

There are fewer persons in the Salem Alms House now than at any time for eight or ten years past. The police have less frequent calls now to quell drunken quarrels and family broils, than before the new law went into operation.

THE IMPROVED
EMPIRE STATE STOVE.
THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operation more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.
This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best apparatus; and, together, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.
We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Union," and &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.
Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.
All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.
THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, of which the above cut is a true representation, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.
The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.
All those wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.
We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and AIR-TIGHT STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store.
Corner of State and Water streets,
s27 ANDERSON & EMERY.

The Bay State Stove,
FOR WOOD OR COAL.
THE subscriber, in offering this favorite Stove to the public, the present season, would state that a new covered Broiling Apparatus has been added, the flues enlarged for burning anthracite coal, and the Stove otherwise improved—and is now put into the market as in the world. The castings are heavier, more beautiful and durable; the stove has a larger oven, will bake better and with less fuel, than any other stove in use.
These stoves are made from pure metal and are not liable to crack; and we furnish every stove with the best of apparatus—Copper Boiler, &c., and warrant them a year; and if any part proves defective it will be made good without charge.
Persons wishing to obtain a good Stove, will do well to buy a BAY STATE. They have been in operation in this city for four years past, and have given perfect satisfaction. For sale at the Store of the subscriber, where may be found a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR AND OFFICE STOVES, TIN WARE, FUNNELS, &c. for sale cheap for cash. E. A. STEVENS.

DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE

BY MILLERS & GRAY. $4 PER YEAR---$3 IN ADV.

VOLUME 1 PORTSMOUTH, N. H., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1852. NUMBER 59.

MANCHESTER FACTORIES.

In a flying visit to Manchester, N. H., some days since, we obtained from the gentlemanly and intelligent treasurer of the corporation, Wm. Amory, Esq., the full statistics of the largest and one of the most successful companies of New England, namely, the Amoskeag Manufacturing Land and Water Power Company.

We have before adverted to the fact that a very large portion of the increased business of New Hampshire and Maine was due to Massachusetts and particularly to Boston capital and enterprise. The city of Manchester, and the company of which we are here speaking, are examples of this. Thirteen years ago, Manchester was a poor and very inconsiderable village, of a few farmers, eking out a scanty subsistence principally from the products of the forest around them. At this time, a few enterprising capitalists from Boston visited this place, noticed the capacity of the falls, and the wild, unimproved land around them, and employed from that day forth, the best practical skill and sound judgment they could procure, both in that vicinity and in Boston, in purchasing land and water power, and erecting mills and other works, calculated to furnish employment, and gather a population around.

This company, during the brief period which has since elapsed, has gone on, until it has a capital of three million dollars invested, and has sold land and water power to other companies, which employ about the same amount of capital, and probably give employment to about an equal number of hands.

The Amoskeag Company has been exceedingly fortunate in the administrative skill which it has enlisted in the management of its numerous and complicated works. The men who bear rule there evince the stamp of nature's true noblemen, in their frank and generous conduct, in their careful and assiduous attention to the works which they superintend, and in the good name which they bear among all those with whom they have intercourse. This company has also been very liberal in the disposition of their lands. They have made large donations for public buildings and grounds, and have encouraged generously every enterprise of public utility.

The stockholders of such a company under such remarkable good management, are unwise if they allow themselves to be led away into new projects, which incur great risk of falling into the hands of less skilful and competent managers. They will do much better to increase investments at a point where they are so judiciously managed.

The Amoskeag Company have now at Manchester, four large cotton mills, with 60,000 spindles, using in a year 16,000 bales cotton, and manufacturing eighteen millions yards of twenty different kinds of cloth.—These mills employ 3300 persons, and pay to them wages amounting to half a million dollars a year.

The cost of these mills, with all the buildings, including boarding houses, &c., was $1,357,000, about $23 a spindle. The product of cloth during the past year, was 15,800,000 yards, (one mill having been stopped for several months) or 5,300,000 lbs cloth, the profit upon which was 7 per cent, about 5 per cent of which was made in the last six months ending 1st July and only 2 per cent in the first six months.

The company have now on hand in their store houses, 7500 bales cotton, set down at a cost of 8 2-3 cents per lb or $295,000, but which is worth at present prices nearly $100,000 more than this sum.

Besides these mills, the company have a mill of 7000 spindles at Hooksct, some miles above, which has manufactured the last year 1,564,509 yards, or 244,000 lbs printing cloths. A loss of $800 has been made in the year's work of this mill.

The company have also an extensive machine shop, employing $450,000, of their capital, and there having been no demand for cotton machinery for two years past, they have turned it into a Locomotive Engine shop. The Locomotives turned out at this shop have, according to trials made on the Ogdensburg Railroad, surpassed all others in economy of fuel, and small expense of repairs. The shop can manufacture 50 Locomotives a year, and its profits for the last year are set down at $35,000, or about 7 per cent.

The profits on the land and water power of the company for the year have been $55,000, and the dividend on the whole capital of three millions of dollars for the year has been 7 per cent., 3 per cent. for the first six and 4 per cent. for the last six months. This is doing remarkably well for so hard a year, in which, probably, nine tenths of the capital invested in cotton manufactures has been unproductive, and in many cases involved heavy loss.—Newburyport Herald.

THE WAY TO HOLD UP A DRESS.

—Our ladies, who are in the habit of sweeping Broadway with their beautiful silk dresses, ought to take a lesson or two in the science of holding up their skirts. In Paris, where the streets are almost as execrably dirty as in New York, a lady will thread them for hours, without coming in contact with anything, and without in the least soiling her skirts. In London, where the streets are well swept, and are comparatively clean, a lady when she walks, (which she rarely does,) disdains to raise her dress from the mud, and the consequences may be easily imagined. The ladies of New York have a peculiar habit of catching up one side of the dress, by the thumb and finger, as if they were about to launch out into the minuet de la cour. The consequence is, the display of a pretty boot and ancle on one side, and the draggling of the whole of the other side of the dress in the dirt.

This is the almost invariable practice with our American ladies, who apper too indolent or too disdainful to take the trouble properly to preserve their skirts from soiling. Now and then, a European lady crosses the street, her skirts carefully taken up as far as the top of the boot all around, and daintily, yet firmly held in one hand. It is a thing easily learned, and really well worth the trouble.—N. Y. Times.

The chief argument brought against the adoption of the "the bloomer," by those who advocate the continuation of the draggling skirts, is—that the short dress is immodest. It will surely never do for them to lift their robes from the mud.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
FRIDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1852.

WEBSTER MEETING IN BOSTON.—The Boston Courier of yesterday contains nearly five columns of proceedings and speeches at the Webster meeting in Faneuil Hall on Wednesday evening. The Hall was crowded, and quite a number of the solid men's names appear on the list of Vice Presidents. The speakers were John S. Tyler, who was chairman of the meeting, Albert H. Nelson, and George T. Curtis. Mr. Winslow and Mr. Smith did not speak. A letter was read from Hiram Ketchum of New York.

Mr. Nelson said he supported Mr. Webster "because he is the founder of all that is good in American politics." He could see "nothing hopeful in the elevation of Gen. Scott to the Presidency—for his election, to [his] mind, would be a sectional and not a national triumph."

Gen. Tyler spoke highly of the compromise—praised Gen. Scott greatly as a general—and thought him "as well qualified for the Presidency as any military man who has been elected to that office since Washington, but as compared with Mr. Webster, no better qualified for the Presidency than the latter is to command an army."

Mr. Curtis went against the Baltimore Convention, against the idea that Presidential Electors must vote for a regular candidate, and strongly against military presidents.

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE.—We are indebted to Mr. Edwin N. Mathes, the only student from Portsmouth at the present time, for the Catalogue of the Officers and Students of this Institution. It is embellished with a fine engraving of the buildings. The "Chandler Scientific School" has proved very successful, and numbers 17 scholars at present. There are 52 Medical students, and 225 undergraduates, making 294 in all. The college is evidently in a prosperous condition.

TWO STORIES.—On Wednesday morning we gave a paragraph stating, on the authority of the Boston Post, that Mr. John M. Botts had a thin audience on Monday evening in Faneuil Hall. Now, per contra, we see in the Transcript a notice of the same meeting and the same man, saying that "Faneuil Hall was filled when he was introduced, and the enthusiasm manifested must have been peculiarly gratifying to the speaker."

PHYSICIAN OF THE INSANE ASYLUM.—Dr. John E. Tyler, of Rollinsford, has been appointed Superintendent and Treasurer to the Insane Asylum at Concord, by the Trustees—Dr. McFarland having resigned, to take effect on the 1st of November.

Dr. Tyler had decided on taking up his residence in our city, ere his appointment.

MEDICAL BOOKS.—Blanchard & Lea, of Philadelphia, have sent us their Illustrated Catalogue of Medical and Surgical Publications. The engravings are excellent specimens of art, but they describe horrible things, such as physicians and surgeons have to see and do, and as patients have to suffer.

We cannot say that we wish to increase our knowledge of suffering, unless thereby we could relieve it.

VERMONT CENTRAL RAILROAD.—Mr. Quincy sent a letter to the Directors at the annual meeting, held at Northfield, with a request that it might be read before the election of Directors, but which was not received till the committee had counted the ballots. It gives some hard hits, as will be seen by the following item. Mr. Quincy says:

It is a singular fact, that while the shareholders of the Vermont Central Railroad have lost their property, every one of the present Board has made money—some of them very large amounts—from their connection with the Corporation.

REPEAL MEETING.—A great meeting of people opposed to the "Maine Law," was held at Charlestown, Mass., on Tuesday evening. Such meetings are to be held all over the State.

HOMICIDES IN PRISON.—The Boson Post of Thursday says:

"Thomas Davis, the condemned, whose sentence was commuted to imprisonment for life, was removed from jail to the state prison yesterday afternoon, making in all eight different persons in that institution who were severally sentenced to be executed. Four or five of them are in close confinement for misconduct. Two having attempted the lives of their keepers.

Gen. Pierce was present as a guest at the Mechanics' and Agricultural Fair at Nashua, last week. He was introduced at the dinner table by ex-Governor Steele.

☞ Md'le Lola Montez, as a member of the histrionic profession, was eminently successful at New Bedford.

THE FOREIGN NEWS.

By the Asia, at New York we have Liverpool dates to 25th ult. The news is only two and a half days later than by the Atlantic.

ENGLAND.—The distribution of the honors and offices held by the deceased Duke has already commenced. Lord Hardinge, of Indian celebrity, is to have command of the army. The officers of Master General of Ordnance, with a peerage, falls to Lord Fitzroy Somerset; Colonelcy of the Grenadier Guard, to Prince Albert; Colonelcy of the Fusileer Guard, to Prince Geo. of Cambridge; Guardianship of the Cinque ports, to Lord Derby; office of Constable of The Tower, to Lord Combermere; Military Secretaryship, to Col. Wood; Blue Ribbon and similar honors to Duke of Northumberland, Marquis of Londonderry and other noblemen.

The Mexican and West India mail steamer Panama arrived off Southampton, Wednesday evening, with dates from Chagres to 24th Aug. and Jamaica 29th. She had on freight $1,030,000 silver, $487,000 gold, also 1242 cercoons cochineal; the bulk of the crop that remains being of inferior quality. The Panama reports other ships on the way to England with one million dollars silver.

Ship Hoogly, 4th May, from Melbourne, Port Phillip, had arrived in the Thames, with 6643 ounces gold, making with the 11,000 received by the Douglass, previously reported, an arrival within the week, of 17,643 ounces, valued at £70,500.

An advertisement of a joint stock company for working gold mines in Stafford county, Va., appears in the London papers.

Snow has already fallen in the North of Scotland. At Balmoral on the 20th, there was a little.

FRANCE.—Accounts from the South of France make it appear that Louis Napoleon has thrown off all disguise respecting his designs for the Empire.

SWEDEN.—A Sweden Journal states that Madame Jenny Lind Goldschmidt has deposited a sum of 400,000 Rix Thalers in the hands of Provost Thomander and Doctor Weisel Green, of the Cathedral, for the purpose of founding female schools in Sweden.

HOLLAND.—On the 20th of September, the session of the States General of Holland was opened by the King in person. The King's speech contains the following passage:—"Invited by a power of friendly state, and following the precedent of 1844, I have promised my good offices in favor of an attempt to obtain a modification of the exclusive system hitherto maintained with the Japanese Empire."

TEN HOUR CELEBRATION.—The Boston Chronicle of Wednesday says:

"Most of our citizens were somewhat surprised last evening to see so large a body as the employees in the Globe and Mattapan Works, South Boston, presented as they marched through the streets, accompanied by large numbers of workmen employed in other works. They were headed by the Pulaski Guards, Capt. Wright, and the American Brass Band, most of whom are mechanics.—The workmen in the procession were all of them "ten hour men," that is, they work for men who do not require them to labor but ten hours a day. The procession was a long and imposing one, and in it there were several banners on which the principles of the ten hour system were briefly stated. After marching through most of the streets, letting off fireworks as they passed, they proceeded to Cochituate Hall, where they sat down to a sumptuous repast at about a quarter to eight o'clock. Speeches, toasts and sentiments were given. The company returned to their homes at a seasonable hour, highly pleased with the entertainment.

CALIFORNIA NAVY YARD AND DOCK.—Commodore Sloat has just returned from the Pacific, and filed his report locating the government navy yard and dry dock in California. It is to be lamented, that the site selected is too near the Golden Gate. It is too convenient to the ocean for safety to the public property in case of war. The selected site, in connection with the fact that the city of San Francisco is not far distant, will attract invasion. It ought to have been placed far up in the bay.—Boston Post.

Richard D. Cilley has been sentenced to the state prison for life, by the common pleas court in Worcester. He has been convicted on two indictments for burglary in dwelling houses in Milford, in the night time.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 6.—Gen. Scott's health is better this morning, although he still continues unwell from the effects of limestone water. His movements will depend upon the state of his health. The excitement continues here unabated.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Gov. Ramsay left last evening for Minnesota, bearing $600,000 for the payment of moneys due under the Indian treaties and annuities.

FATAL AFFRAY.—We learn by a private letter that Mr. George W. Steward, of Newmansville, East Florida, was deliberately shot dead with a revolver on the 20th of September, by a man named James W. Stevens. It appears that Stevens, a few days previous to the fatal act, insulted the mother and sister of Steward, who, hearing of it, immediately demanded an apology of Steveus, which he refused to give; but, instead, attacked Stewart with two six barrel revolvers, firing seven or eight charges at him, the last barrel taking effect in the breast and proving fatal. Mr. Stewart was a planter. A brother of Mr. S. has recently been residing in this section, but learning of the death of his brother, has returned home.—Boston Journal.

FROM HAVANA—New Orleans, Oct. 6.—The steamship Crescent City is coming up. She arrived at Havana on Sunday afternoon, but was forbidden all communication with the shore; and ordered out forthwith. Capt. Porter made a formal protest, but his remonstrance was unavailing, and he went to sea in a violent gale. The Crescent City brings here all her Havana passengers and mails. The pretext for the refusal was that Mr. Smith was on board.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Reported for the Daily Morning Chronicle.

Court of Common Pleas—Rockingham Co.

SEPTEMBER TERM, 1852.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 7.

The case State vs. Eliza Watson, was resumed this morning. The evidence on the part of the defence was closed in the forenoon, and the case was argued by Mr. Stickney for the prisoner, and by Attorney General Sullivan for the State, at the conclusion of which the Court (it being past the time of adjourning,) signified that if the jury desired the charge might be postponed until the morning. The foreman intimated that the jury would prefer to delay until that time, when the Court adjourned to nine o'clock Friday morning.

City Council—Oct. 8.

The Board of Aldermen approved bills for the Reservoir in School street, for grading the grounds of Haven School, and others in the Street Commissioner's department.

Jefferson Hall was granted to Josiah G. Hadley, for Mechanics' Association.

David G. Lester was appointed Superintendent of street lamps.

In Common Council the resolution from the board of Aldermen, changing the location of burying ground on city farm, was adopted.

The bill from Aldermen defining duties of City Marshal in relation to pedlars, was passed.

☞ The Democracy were out in good numbers last evening, to hear Hon. B. F. Butler. He made a very long and able speech—which was listened to with attention throughout, and frequently applauded. Great enthusiasm prevails in the party here—and well there may.

A SIGN.

Not a political sign of the times—but a business sign for the printers and publishers of this paper, showing what they do,—was raised yesterday, and invites the passer by to look in. As it went up, it occurred to us that when signs were hung forty years ago, they were always wet, by which was meant, (let us say to any who never saw the operation,) that every body round should have as much grog or punch as they could drink, at the cost of those who had the shingle put up; and the consequence was very often, that the company "got most gloriously drunk"—a kind of glory which we are very happy to say, has long since departed, and is a favorable sign of the times.

The sign itself does not accord with our editorial suggestion about gilding a sign at the end of a quarter of a century—inasmuch as this is fully gilded at the beginning. But circumstances alter cases—and gold is plentier now than it was in "the old pod auger days," or even in the reign of old King Solomon.

Our Sign was from the establishment of Messrs. Swasey & Rowell.

☞ We are much pleased to learn, that Prof. Coad can refer already, to several respectable persons in Portsmouth, who have been greatly relieved by him by operations on the eye, the ear, and other parts of the body, who had tried here, in Boston, and other places, in vain for relief. Consult him in his rooms, No. 13 Vaughan Street.

☞ Hon. Ira Perley of Concord, late Judge of the Superior Court, was in town yesterday.

☞ The U. S. Circuit Court sets at Exeter to-day.

STEAMERS FROM LIVERPOOL TO PORTLAND.—The Portland Argus says that a consultation is expected to take place to-day between some gentlemen from Halifax and the men of business in Portland, to ascertain whether an arrangement can be made for running the steamer Albatros between Liverpool and Portland, touching at Halifax. It is proposed if satisfactory arrangements can be made, that the Albatros shall be put on the line soon, and that another boat shall shortly after follow.

A ROGUE CAUGHT—Baltimore, Oct. 6.—The Hanoverian Consul has received information of the arrest in Hanover of a man named Federick Molecke, recently returned there from this country, and having in his possession $2000 in American coin, a large gold medal, and a quantity of valuable jewelry—the manner of acquiring which he would give no satisfactory account of. He was an old convict in Hanover, and while in this country was arrested several times. He resided principally in Philadelphia and Baltimore.

It is thought he may have been concerned in the Portsmouth, Va., bank robbery, and that the medal in his possession may be the celebrated Clay medal which was stolen in New York.

DESCENT IN A PARACHUTE.—Madame Poitevin, wife of the fool-hardy Parisian aeronaut, has repeated the feat of descending in a parachute. She went up with her husband from the Cremorne gardens, Chelsea, England. She descended in safety, though she had a narrow escape by being caught in the branches of a tree.

LATEST NEWS!

RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.

TERRIBLE LOSS OF LIFE!

The morning train on the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad, yesterday morning, was delayed two hours at Rowe's Corner, by an accident. A baggage car was thrown from the track and somewhat damaged, and a man said to belong in Candia was badly gashed in the forehead by jumping from the car. This wound was immediately dressed.

ANOTHER.—We hear of a shocking accicident yesterday, on the Boston, Concord & Montreal Railroad, about five miles above Meredith Bridge. The facts, as we learn them, are that one train which had stopped to shackle on the engine which had becomg detached, was run into from behind, by a following train. The hind car was stove in pieces, and, as far as ascertained, five persons were killed and about twenty wounded. The accident occurred on an open top bridge, so that the number of lives lost cannot with certainty be ascertained, numbers of the passengers being precipitated into the river. Among the killed, was John H. Smith, Esq., Clerk of Courts in Strafford county.

STILL ANOTHER.—Yesterday morning a lady named Evans, while crossing the track on the Boston, Concord & Montreal road, at Sanbornton Bridge, to meet a child, was struck by the approaching train, and instantly killed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.

The Anniversary of the American Bible Union commences in this city to-day.

SLAVE RESCUE CASES.—The U. S. District Court, Judges Hall and Nelson on the bench, is now in session in this city. The indictments in relation to the celebrated slave Jerry rescue cases are to be tried during the term.

FROM RIO JANEIRO.—Dates from Rio Janeiro to August 29, state that there is little or no coffee left of the old crop, and the new, which is favorable, comes in very slow. That port and province are reported as being very healthy.

The Times learns by private letter from Rio Janeiro that the American brig Mary Adeline, Oaksmith, of New York, arrived at that port Aug. 9th, from the coast of Africa. She had a most perilous and thrilling adventure with savages on the river Congo.. She was bound into the river with a valuable cargo from Rio Janeiro, and on rounding Shark Point unfortunately got aground near the shore.

The natives, seeing her helpless situation, flocked to the shore to plunder her, and in the course of the day their numbers amounted to some 3000. They made a furious assault upon the vessel, which was most bravely and gallantly defended by Capt. Oaksmith and his crew for some hours, till the British armed brigantine Dolphin, which was fortunately in the river, came to the rescue, and saved the vessel and cargo and the lives of all on board, though not without the loss of life on the part of the savages.

On the following day the British steamer Firefly came into the river and promptly tendered every possible aid, together with the Dolphin, to relieve the Mary Adelaide, which was at length got afloat and enabled to pursue her voyage without much loss or damage.

The steamer City of Pictsburg, from New York, arrived, Aug. 20, short of coal.

The Venezuela papers, of the 4th state that in Naw Grenada, the Red party continue to carry on with greater malevolence the religious persecutions.

FROM NICARAGUA.—The N. Y. Herald publishes a decree of the Legislative Assembly, and executive government of the State of Nicaragua, rejecting the convention entered into at Washington in April last, between the United States Secretary of State and the British Minister, relative to Nicaragua, of which the following are the material parts:

Article 1.—The State of Nicaragua does not accept the project of convention or recommendatory basis, adjusted on the 30th of April last, between his Excellency Daniel Webster, Secretary of State of the United States, and his Excellency J. F. Crampton, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of her Britannic Majesty, in respect to the territorial boundaries between Costa Rica and Nicaragua, and the separation of the Mosquito coast.

Article 2.—The State of Nicaragua is disposed to have the questions started, in connection with the points mentioned, discussed before impartial arbitrators.

Article 3.—The State of Nicaragua protests solemnly against all foreign interference in the affairs of its government, and against the use of force to coerce its will or violate its rights.

A LARGE TUNNEL.—The upper part of Cincinnati is inaccessible by railroads, in consequence of hills which rise 200 feet above the level of the plain. A company has been formed to tunnel the hill, for the benefit of all the railways approaching from the Ohio side. This tunnel will be 6,000 feet in length, and will have 2,000 feet of side cuttings. It is intended to lay it with four tracks, and thus provide for six or eight different railways, which will each contribute to its receipts.

ABANDONMENT.—An infant was, on Sunday, found in a pasture in South Salem. It was living, but had been abandoned by its unnatural mother.

COAD'S PATENT GRADUATED GALVANIC BATTERY!

AND PATENT INSULATED POLES
For Medical Purposes.
THE subscriber respectfully informs the Physicians, the afflicted, and the public generally, that he has obtained letters patent of the United States, for certain inventions and improvements in the GALVANIC BATTERY, and Insulated Poles for medicinal purposes, &c. The Patentee will remain in this place for a short time, to sell patent rights of Counties, States, &c., and to operate on patients for the cure of the diseases below mentioned. Each Operation. He will receive all persons on business at his Rooms, at Mrs. TRIPE'S BOARDING HOUSE, No. 13 Vaughan street, corner of Hanover.
It is by this operation only that the galvanic fluid can be brought under the perfect control of man, and communicated in definite quantities to suit any part of the body with perfect safety, in a gentle current, without shocks, pain, or any disagreeable sensation, and therefore is the only one which is fit to be used for medical purposes. It is with this important instrument only that the galvanic fluid can be conveyed, with the best possible effect to the brain, to cure nervous headaches; to the eye to restore sight or cure dimness; to the ear to restore hearing; to the tongue, &c. to restore speech; and to the various parts of the body for the cure of rheumatism, asthma, neuralgia, gout, chorea or St. Vitus' Dance, epilepsy, weakness from sprains, some diseases peculiar to females, contractions of the limbs, palpitation of the heart, and the whole range of nervous diseases.
☞ This apparatus is now greatly approved of by many of the medical professors, who are among the most celebrated in the world, to whom reference will be given, by numerous highly respectable practicing Physicians in various parts of the United States, and by a host of respectable persons who have been cured of inveterate diseases which could not be removed by any other known means. It may be proper to inform the afflicted, and others whom it may concern, that there are numerous worthless instruments sold, which are also called Galvanic Batteries, for medical purposes.—These spurious instruments convey the galvanic fluid to the patient by intensity and not by quantity, and therefore generally do much injury to the patients. Dr. Dingliona, Professor of the Institutes of Medicine in the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, calls them in his "New Remedies" and other works, "PHILOSOPHICAL TOYS," which only benefit the maker and the vender, but disappointing the afflicted. Full information is given in a pamphlet, to every person who buys a patent right to prepare chemicals, to keep the apparatus in perfect order, and to operate on patients for the cure of diseases. Apply forthwith to

THE AMERICAN CHARACTER.

LATEST ENGLISH VIEW OF THE AMERICAN CHARACTER.—Vieing with the Parisian in grace—the Englishman in energy—cautious as a Dutchman—impulsive as a Irishman—patriotic as Tell—brave as Alexander; there Wellington—and royal as Alexander; there he goes—the American citizen! In answering questions, or speaking commonly, his style is that of the ancient Spartan; but put him on the stump, with an audience of whigs, democrats, or barn-burners, and he becomes a compound of Tom Cribb and Demosthenes, a fountain of eloquence, passion, sentiment, sarcasm, logic and drollery, altogether different from anything known or imagined in the Old World states. Say anything of anybody (as public men) untied with conventional phraseology, he swings his rhetorical mace with a vigorous arm, crushing the antagonistic principle into a most villanous compound. See him at dinner, he dispatches his meal with a speed which leads you to suppose him a ruminating animal, yet enjoy his cigarro for an hour afterwards, with the gusto and sang froid of a Spaniard.

Walking right on, as if it were life against time, with the glass at fever-heat, yet taking it cool in the most serious and pressing matter, a compound of the Red Man, Brummel and Franklin,—statesman and laborer, on he goes,—divided and subdivided in politics and religion professionally opposed with a keenness of competition in vain looked for in England; yet, let but the national rights or liberty be threatened, and that vast nation stands a pyramid of resolve, united as one man, with a heart, head, hand, and purse, burning with a Roman zeal to defend inviolate the cause of the commonwealth.

To him who has lived among the Americans, and looked largely at the theory and practice of their government and its executive, there remains no possible doubt that the greatest amount of personal security and freedom has been produced from the least amount of cost of any nation in the world. Culling its principles and wisdom from the history of all empires, it stands the nearest of all earthly systems to perfection, because it is built on and embodies those principles which God hath proclaimed in its attributes.

The Legislature of Maine passed an act making telegraph companies liable for errors in despatches, either in transmission or in writing out, to the amount paid for its transmission to its destination, both in and out of the State.

THE IMPROVED

EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appanatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Anglo Saxon," "Pearl of Troy," &c.; with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS—Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shads, Table Oil-cloths, &c.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, of which the above cut is a true representation, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.

The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking."

All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.

We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store,

Corner of State and Water streets,

s27 ANDERSON & EMERY.

The Bay State Stove,

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

THE subscriber, in offering this favorite Stove to the public, the present season, would state that a new covered Broiling Apparatus has been added, the flues enlarged for burning anthracite coal, and the Stove otherwise improved—and is now put into the market as the

THE MOST PERFECT COOK STOVE in the world. The castings are heavier, more beautiful and durable; the stove has a larger oven, will bake better and with less fuel, than any other stove in use.

These stoves are made from pure metal and are not liable to crack; and we furnish every stove with the best of apparatus—Copper Boiler, &c., and warrant them a year; any part proves defective it will be made good without charge.

Persons wishing to obtain a good Stove, will do well to buy a BAY STATE. They have been in operation in this city for four years past, and have given perfect satisfaction. For sale at the Store of the subscriber, where may be found a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR AND OFFICE STOVES, TIN WARE, FUNNEL, &c. for sale wholesale and retail. H. A. STEVENS.

CORN SONG.

BY JOHN G. WHITTIER.

Heap high the farmer's wintry board!
Heap high the golden corn!
No richer gift has Autumn poured
From out her lavish horn!

Let other lands, exulting, glean
The apple from the pine,
The orange from its glossy green,
The cluster from the vine.

We better love the hardy gift
Our rugged vales bestow,
To cheer us when the storm shall drift
Our harvest fields with snow.

Through vales of grass, and meads of flowers,
Our ploughs their furrows made,
While on the hills the sun and showers
Of changeful April played.

We dropped the seed o'er hill and plain,
Beneath the sun of May,
And frightened from our sprouting grain
The robber crows away.

All through the long, bright days of June,
Its leaves grew bright and fair,
And waved in hot midsummer's noon,
Its soft and yellow hair.

And now, with Autumn's moonlit eves,
Its harvest time has come,
We pluck away its frosted leaves,
And bear the treasure home.

There, richer than the fabled gifts,
Apollo showered of old,
Fair hands the broken grain shall sift,
And knead its meal of gold.

Let vapid idlers loll in silk,
Around their costly board;
Give us the bowl of samp and milk,
By homespun beauty poured.

Where'er the wild old kitchen hearth,
Sends up its smoky curls,
Who will not thank the kindly earth,
And bless our farmer girls!

Then shame on all the proud and vain,
Whose folly laughs to scorn
The blessing of our hardy grain,
Our wealth of golden corn.

Let earth withhold her goodly root,
Let mildew blight the rye,
Give to the worm the orchard's fruit,
The wheat field to the fly:

But let the good old crop adorn
The hills our fathers trod;
Still let us, for his golden corn,
Send up our thanks to God!

LATEST FROM THE ATLANTIC.—Mr. Wells, of the American Express Company, returned from the wreck of the Atlantic this morning, accompanied by M. Maillefert and his assistants. Mr. Wells reached the vicinity of the wreck on Friday morning last, on the Columbia, with everything necessary to raise the wreck. The preparations were ample and perfect. It was found that the buoys attached to the wreck had been removed nearly half a mile from the spot where they were originally placed.

This was supposed to be owing to the heavy winds that had prevailed for several preceding days. The wreck was found after a day's search. On Saturday, John Green, the famous diver went down to the Atlantic four times. The time required to reach the vessel is four minutes, and it is impossible for the diver to remain more than three minutes.—He is able to stay under water from nine to twelve minutes.

On the following day four more descents were made. But he was unable to find the state room in which the Express Company's safe is lodged, nor could he determine his exact position on the boat, except that he was aft of the gallows frame. The water was thick and muddy, and the vessel covered with slime. Several lines and chains have been made fast to the boat, with buoys attached, preparatory to raising the wreck.—Buffalo Com. Adv., Oct. 5.

THE INDIA RUBBER CASE.—The newspapers throughout the country state that Mr. Horace Day has appealed from the late decision of the Circuit Court of New Jersey, to the Supreme Court of the United States at Washington. But we learn that he has not appealed, and that at present it is impossible for him to do so. He is now under a perpetual injunction, which forbids him to use Goodyear's patented process of making India Rubber goods, and the case has been sent to a Master, to take the account of the damages which Mr. Day owes to Mr. Goodyear. When the Master has made his report to the court, and the court has made a final decree upon it, ordering Mr. Day to pay so much money to Mr. Goodyear, Mr. Day can appeal from the decision, if he gives the requisite security, but not before.—Boston Daily Adv.

SINGULAR DISCOVERY OF OLD BANK NOTES.—A package of bank bills was recently found among a large quantity of old papers which had been accumulating in the store rooms of the late Dr. Wing, of Albany, for many years, and which had been put aside to be taken to the paper mill. The package was enveloped in Cram's New York Price Current of August, 1804, and contained three notes, amounting in all to $15, which appeared from a written memorandum on the wrapper, to have been laid aside to pay a bill. They had been lying idle, judging from the date of the paper in which they were inclosed, at least forty-seven years. They were probably wrapped up by the late Matthew Gregory, father-in-law of Dr. Wing.

The Albany Journal says that the three banks which issued these bills fifty years ago are still in existence, ready to redeem these venerable relics of their youth.

RAIL ROAD GAUGE.—The width of the space between the rails of the Indiana and Terra Haute Railroad is said to be 4 feet 10 inches. This gauge is only an inch and a half broader than the ordinary one. Whatever may be said of the relative superiority of broad or narrow gauges, it is evident that so slight an excess can have no advantages to compensate for the inconvenience of differing from other roads.—Boston Daily Adv.

A Southern slaveholder offers to emancipate his slaves, to the number of 60 or 70, on condition that the Massachusetts Colonization Society will furnish funds to transport them to Liberia. These people could be sold for $30,000 to $40,000, and constitute the bulk of their master's possessions. The Society have pledged, or in the treasury, $1200, and appeal to the friends of the colored man for $900 in addition, for the above object.

A LOTTERY PRIZE.—It is stated that Maurice Strakosch, the celebrated pianist, drew, in conjunction with a member of the New York press, the capital prize of $25,000 in the Baltimore Lottery on Monday. Strakosch's share will be $12,470 40, commissions deducted.

MR. DUNCANSON, the negro artist of Cincinnati, who has lately painted "The Garden of Eden," has been offered $800 for it. Rev. James Freeman Clarke says that he is the best landscape painter in Cincinnati.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1852.

PORTSMOUTH HOSIERY COMPANY.

Since the accident to the engine at the "Stocking Factory," a few days since, little or no work has been done. The piston-head was stove out, the piston-rod broken, and other damage done, to the amount of about $150; and as the machinery is soon to be removed to Franklin, it was not advisable to repair the engine.

A new company of shrewd capitalists have purchased about fifteen hundred acres of land in the town of Franklin, in this State, seventy or eighty miles from Portsmouth, including a great water-power and other facilities for manufacturing. They have erected a very large hewn stone building, and are soon to remove the machinery from the mill here to their new one. Their capital is $500,000.

The new company has purchased of the old Portsmouth Hosiery Company the sole and entire right to manufacture and use the power looms invented by Mr. John Pepper of this city; and are endeavoring to procure the right to his recent great invention of the Loom to manufacture Ribbed work. But Mr. Pepper is desirous of giving the benefit of this wonderful little machine to his own townsmen—and will dispose of it to them on very advantageous terms, and wait the success of his machine for his entire remuneration.—If these inventions are permitted to be removed from Portsmouth, our laborers and mechanics, business men, capitalists, and property holders, will feel the loss.

The Hosiery Factory here has given employ to about one hundred hands, and distributed about $4000 per month for labor, the effects of which are very apparent in the brisk little village which has sprung up in the vicinity, and elsewhere. Nearly four hundred women and girls have found good employment in seaming-up their work, in this city, Eliot, Kittery, and all the neighboring towns. The work will nearly all have to be sent here to be finished for a long time, should the manufacture be successfully carried on in Franklin.

We understand that a movement is being made to buy the property of the old company which must remain here, the buildings, land, water-power, &c., and go on with the work here. The business is very profitable, when rightly managed, and every one interested in the prosperity of Portsmouth, should see to it that this branch of industry is not allowed to be withdrawn from us. The property at the Creek is capable of great improvement at a moderate expense, and well worthy the attention of manufacturers.

MACKEREL FISHERY.

Capt. Lawry, of sch. Ann Eliza, which arrived here on Thursday, from Prince Edward's Island, with 250 bbls. Mackerel, informs us that he could have caught 500 bbls. as easily, and in a shorter time, had it not been for the annoyance and interference of the British armed vessels, some of whose commanders seemed to take pleasure in causing as much vexation as possible. The visit of the American armed vessels he represents as of little utility, partly on account of its being too short,—as the British cruisers were much more polite while our armed vessels stayed—but began to fire shot across the bows of the fishermen almost as soon as they were out of sight. Our own opinions are, that the instructions were not sufficiently decisive, and their powers too small, as well as their stay too short.

Capt. Lawry states that he left about one hundred and fifty sail of fishermen there, all of which were and had been laboring under difficulties similar to his.

AMERICAN BIBLE UNION.

On Thursday, in New York City, the third anniversary of the American Bible Union was celebrated in the first Baptist Church, Stephen Cone, D. D., in the chair. The reports of the Board and Chair were read and made by Doctors Cone and Lilly and Rev. Mr. Armitage. The receipts for the past year have been upwards of $16,500, and the expenditures about the same. The following persons were chosen officers for the ensuing year:—President, Spencer H. Cone; Corresponding Secretary, Wm. H. Wycoff; Recording Secretary, E. J. Whitney; Treasurer, Wm. Colgate. Twenty-seven Vice Presidents and twenty-four Managers were also chosen. Several committees on the translation of the Holy Scriptures into the several languages were appointed.

SUB-MARINE TELEGRAPH.—Ten miles and a half of telegraphic cable have arrived at Charlottetown, Prince Edward's Island, which is to be laid down under water, during the present season between Cape Traverse in that island and Cape Tormentide in New Brunswick, a distance of eight miles in a direct line. It will thence be continued by land in the usual manner to connect with the other lines built. An extension in the other direction one hundred miles under water to Newfoundland, is ultimately contemplated.

AGRICULTURAL FAIR.

The New Hampshire Agricultural Society's Third Annual Fair, was held at Meredith Bridge, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week. The arrangements were made with sound and liberal judgment, and were executed with great fidelity and success.

The people at Meredith Bridge contributed $1100 for enclosures, fixtures, pens, &c.

Our reporter furnishes the following:

The show in Swine first attracted notice; it was good but not extensive; the animals' skins were remarkably clear from any covering; they needed but slaughtering and washing to prepare them for salting. The Sheep were good and somewhat numerous. Cows were few and not remarkable, Calves fine, and Bulls superfine; denoting that a great interest is felt in the improvement of stock. Of fat Oxen but two pair were remarkable, but working oxen were there in great numbers and excellent appearance. Horses with one or two exceptions were all common. The race was pretty and very safe riding. It was difficult to tell which were the racers and which the common horses. It was evident that the Hen fever did not reach the Bridge, as but few specimens of fancy kinds were exhibited.

Manufactures of Woolen and Cotton were excellent, but not abundant. The Needlework of the ladies was remarkably beautiful, and many specimens were entered.

The exhibition of Ploughs was good, various and abundant. Most excellent Butter was entered, many hundred pounds of it,—the whole without a fault or a speck. The Cheese looked well, but we could not tell what was under the rind.

Fruits were abundant—among them Grapes of all kinds. (Some sold for $1.25 per lb.)

There were fine Quinces,—one of the lots, 30 in number, filled a half-bushel.

There was a large show of Pears, Peaches and Plums, of excellent quality.

We noticed particularly a box of Sweet Potatoes, raised from the southern stock,—of a good size, rather pale and smooth. A plain description of the manner of raising them was attached to the box—it being easy, we shall expect to see northern sweet potatoes for sale. They were raised in Manchester.

All kinds of Apples, from the smallest crab to the large apple of twenty ounces; and the Beets, Cabbages, Turnips, Potatoes, Carrots, Tomatoes and Squashes were in great abundance, and their extraordinary size caused the spectators to open their eyes with astonishment. We cannot compare the effect on our sight to any thing but looking through a most powerful convex lens, for the whole seemed of giant growth. On the whole, it was a good and great display for New Hampshire.

The society obtained for badges, $1800; for tickets, $700; they however offered $3000 in premiums, which, probably, will not be all awarded. When the fair began the Society had on hand $1700.

The second day was the great day of the fair; not less than 10,000 persons were on the ground, all appearing in their best clothes and with happy faces, until the news of the accident, which caused a visible movement of the anxious mass.

When this subsided, the Address was listened to with close attention. It was by Mr. King of Rhode Island. He urged the study of the manures, the soils, and the understanding of the scientific terms used by the scientific agriculturists. He mentioned many cases where the common names of one county could not be understood by another, without both parties knowing the scientific names. He dwelt long and pleasantly on the subject of an educated farmer, his advantages over the uninformed; he spoke of prejudices against a farming life, reminded them that their first parent was the first farmer and an honorable example, but still reminded them that they were or might be in possession of all the experience of five thousand years—and in fact, so far as experience was concerned, the present generation were the ancients. The address was well received—Mr. King, the orator, is a good speaker, and made a happy impression.

General Pierce was called upon for a few words. He thanked the people for their kindness and attention, but present circumstances forbid his saying much. But those few words electrified the audience, and put the whole assembly in excellent humor. His appearance on the stage was grand, resembling the best prints of him in a speaking attitude. And his rhetoric and oratory were entirely appropriate to the day and place, making a beautiful finish of that public exercise.

The second day's exhibition closed with a fine display of fire-works, under the direction of Mr. Joseph C. Emerson, of Manchester.

HARVESTS IN THE EAST.—Accounts from Picton represent that the harvesting is completed in that county, a fair average crop of all kinds of grain being secured in good condition. The potatoes have been attacked by the rot, of a milder form however than in past years.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Reported for the Daily Morning Chronicle.

Court of Common Pleas—Rockingham Co.

SEPTEMBER TERM, 1852.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 8th.

In the case State vs. Eliza Watson, the Jury returned a verdict of not guilty. The prisoner was thereupon discharged.

The next case tried was State vs. Margaret Ames, indicted for keeping a house of ill fame in Portsmouth. Verdict guilty. Sentenced to imprisonment in the County Jail for ninety days, and to pay the costs of prosecution.

The following prisoners were also sentenced:

John Merrill Dow, for assault on his wife with a knife, three days solitary confinement, and six years hard labor in the State Prison.

John Smith alias John Frost, for rape, one day solitary confinement, and hard labor in the State Prison for life.

No. 51, Sophia Gordon vs. Benjamin S. Clifford et. als, was commenced this morning.—This is an action for damages for forcibly entering the plaintiff's domicil and violently treating her and carrying her away against her will, and lodging her in jail, and detaining her until she had paid them $100. The defence is understood to be that the whole matter is justified from the fact that a part of the defeadants were Collectors of Taxes of the town of Epping, and having outstanding taxes against the plaintiff, arrested her lawfully. The evidence for the plaintiff was concluded in the afternoon, and the case will be opened for the defendants in the morning.

Wells & Bacon for plaintiff, Marston and McMurphy for defendants.

The case being likely to last through the whole of the week, the Second Jury were discharged in the afternoon.

The Court adjourned to 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

DEATHS IN PORTSMOUTH.

The number of deaths in this city during the month of September, with the ages of the deceased, were as follows:

MALES, 11 — aged 1, 1, 3, 5, 21, 26, 30, 41, 60, 69, 83.

FEMALES, 7 — aged 1, 1, 14, 32, 66, 81, and 82.

Total number 17—besides a number of children under one year.

GAS LIGHTS.—The pipes are being rapidly laid all about town, and before frost closes the ground, this useful, beautiful, truly economical and indispensable light will be shining in all directions. One of the ten lights voted for by the city, has just been erected at the junction of Auburn, Austin and Middle Sts. About fifteen hundred burners are now in use throughout the city.

☞ We understand that the magnificent packet ship of 1400 tons, now building at the ship yard of Messrs. Fernald & Petigrew, is to be named "Frank Pierce," in compliment to the nominee of the democratic party. She is to be owned in this city and New Orleans—principally by the owners of the "Levi Woodbury," built at the same yard last year.

Messrs. F. & P. are also building a fine clipper ship of 1100 tons, for Robert Taylor, Esq., of New York, to be called the "Red Rover." Both ships will probably be launched about the 20th of this month.

THE ACCIDENT AT WEIRS LANDING.—Despatches to the Boston papers of yesterday morning, give some particulars of the dreadful accident on the Concord & Montreal Railroad which we mentioned in the Chronicle of yesterday. The accident happened near the Weir's steamboat landing. Six persons were killed and from 12 to 16 were dangerously injured. An extra train was coming from the steamboat Dover, at Meredith Village, with a large number of passengers on their way to the State Fair at Meredith Bridge. Soon after it started a car coupling broke, while on a pile bridge near the weirs. Before the accident could be repaired, another extra train from steamer Dover ran into it and a most heart rending scene ensued.

A number of platform cars were jammed together and great injury to life and limb ensued. Among those reported to be killed were the following: John H. Smith, of Dover, Clerk of Strafford County Courts; Mr. Roberts and child, of Holderness; Mr. McDuffee, of Acton; Mr. Edgerly, of Taftonborough. Among those dangerously injured were Sanborn C. Carter, of Ossipee, Register of Probate in Carroll County, who is reported to have since died; Thomas W. Mordough, Esq., of Wakefield, had both his legs broken. Others are reported to have died.

The forward train it is now said was improperly stopping on a short curve to take up tickets, and on seeing the approach of the second train, steam was put on so suddenly as to break the coupling. The rear car was thus left motionless, on the track, and was almost instantly struck by the approaching train. Many jumped into the water, which was fifteen feet deep. Gov. Martin was on board but not injured.

LATEST NEWS!

Ecclesiastical.—Trenton, Oct. 8.—The House of Bishops are in session at Camden, examining the charges brought against Bishop Doane by the Bishops of Ohio, Maine and Virginia.

The McDonough Will Case.—New Orleans, Oct. 7.—The great McDonough will case has been decided by Judge McCaleb in favor of the heirs at law, in declaring the shares belonging to each heir. The executors were ordered to account for past administration to a Master in Chancery.

Sontag's Concerts.—A New York despatch of Thursday evening says:—

"There has been a tremendous rush all day for tickets for "Sontag's last Concert in New York," which takes place Friday evening.—All the two dollar tickets were sold early in the morning; but many of them, however, got into the hands of speculators, who are realizing large advances. Mad. Sontag gives an additional concert Monday evening, when, in order to check speculation, the prices will be raised to $3, as she is said to object to the auction system. The receipts of the first five concerts are estimated at from $20,000 to $25,000.

Steamboat Collision in Boston Harbor.—On Tursday evening at 6 o'clock, the steamer Admiral, from St. John, was run into near Fort Independence by steamer Eastern State, for Bangor, which struck the A. on the starboard quarter, cutting into the cabin, demolishing the mate's state room, and causing the vessel to leak badly.

She had a heavy cargo, and about two hundred passengers, sat low in the water, and was run upon the flats near East Boston, to prevent her from sinking. Her freight being nearly all on deck, would escape damage.—The steamer is injured, it is supposed, to the amount of $1000.

The Eastern State sustained no damage, as she came stem on. The East Boston and Eastern Railroad ferry boat went immediately to the assistance of the Admiral, and took off her passengers and their baggage. The accident is believed to have occurred in consequence of an unusual hazy atmosphere, which prevented the steersmen from judging the distance between them correctly. The Admiral will be delayed for repairs, much to the disappointment of many at this busy season, as there is at present no other steamer on the route.

Starvation at Sea.—Capt. Evans, of the bark Kremlin, of Boston, fell in with brig Rostand, of Genoa, Capt. Francisco Meira, in lon. 134 41 West, lat. 35 10 North, July 26, 1852, bound for San Francisco with passengers, mostly from New England, bound for California, but were unable to get passage in the steamers from Panama, and were obliged to take passage in this old brig.—They were out of provisions and water. Captain E. took eight of the men on board of his vessel, and supplied the vessel with provisions and water.

Twenty-two persons had died when Capt. Evans fell in with the vessel, among them, Daniel Chandler, of Oxford [Orford ?] N. H.

Three of the passengers taken off, presented Capt. Evans with a fine gold watch, with the following engraved on the back: "A token of thanks for kindness received from Captain Charles T. Evans, while in distress, at sea, on the 26th of July, 1852. Chas. N. Gough, Harry O. Gough, Oliver H. Thomas."

Congregational Convention.—The General Convention of Clerical and Lay Delegates from the Congregational Churches throughout the United States, met at Albany, 5th inst.

The attendance was large. The following persons were chosen permanent officers of the Convention: Rev. Wm. T. Dwght, D. D., of Maine, President; Rev. Noah Porter, D. D. Connecticut Rev. Asa Turner, of Iowa, Vice Presidents; Rev. R. S. Storrs, Jr. New York, Rev. J. C. Holbrook, Iowa; and Rev. Leander S. Hobart, of Ann Arbor, Michigan, Secretaries.

Resolutions were reported and adopted to the effect that the plan of Union between Presbyterians and Congregationalists, agreed upon by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, and the General Association of Connecticut in 1801, be refered to a committee of two from the New England States represented. The 2d resolution–that a committee of five be appointed to devise and report a plan for the systematic aid of feeble Congregational churches, in erecting houses of worship.

After the transaction of a large amount of business of no general interest, the Convention discussed, with much spirit, a series of resolutions offered by Rev.-Dr. Bacon, declaring that it is the duty of Congregationalists to frown upon the insinuations and charges of heresy in doctrine and disorder in practice made against Congregationalism in the West; and recommending General Associations, Conferences, and Conventions at the West to send delegates to the General Associations of the West, that they may obtain reliable information respecting Western Congregationalism. They were subsequently adopted.

Melancholy Affair.—Thursday afternoon, as the steamer Massachusetts was making her passage to Nantucket from this port, when off West Island Ledge, the wheelman discovered a sailboat with a man in it, about a quarter of a mile off, which was making a course across the steamer's bow. The helm was put up to give the boat an opportunity to pass, but for some reason the boatman dropped his anchor and sail just as he was about to cross the steamer's bow. There being no time to change the steamer's course, the boat was struck by the starboard wheel, knocking it to pieces. A man was seen floating on the water—a boat was lowered, but he disappeared before he could be reached. The person proves to be Mr. Thomas N. Howland, of this city. He was about forty years of age, and leaves a wife and three children. The Massachusetts immediately returned to this place for the purpose of procuring men to grapple for the body. —New Bedford Standard.

THE SNAKE AND THE CROCODILE.

The following thrilling account of an engagement between a boa-constrictor and a crocodile in Java, is given by an eye-witness:

It was one morning that I stood beside a small lake, fed from one of the rills from the mountains. The waters were as clear as crystal, and everything could be seen to the very bottom. Stretching its limbs close over the pond, was a gigantic teak tree, and in its thick, shining, evergreen leaves lay a huge boa, in an easy coil, taking his morning nap.—Above him was a powerful ape of the baboon species, a leering race of scamps, always bent on mischief. Now the ape, from his position, saw a crocodile in the water, rising to the top, exactly beneath the coil of the serpent.—Quick as thought he jumped plump upon the snake, which fell with a splash into the jaws of the crocodile. The ape saved himself by clinging to a limb of the tree, but a battle royal immediately commenced in the water. The serpent, grasped in the middle by the crocodile, made the waters boil by his furious contortions. Winding his fold around the body of his antagonist, he disabled his two hinder legs, and by his contractions, made the scales and bones of the monster crack. The water was speedily tinged with the blood of both combatants, yet neither was disposed to yield. They rolled over and over, neither being able to obtain a decided advantage.

All this time the cause of mischief was in a state of the highest ecstasy. He leaped up and down the branches of the tree, came several times close to the scene of the fight, shook the limbs of the tree, uttered a yell, and again frisked about. At the end of ten minutes a silence began to come over the scene. The folds of the serpent began to be relaxed, and though they were trembling along the back, the head hung lifeless in the water. The crocodile was also still, and although the spine of his back was visible, it was evident that he, too, was dead. The monkey now perched himself on the lower limbs of the tree close to the dead bodies, and amused himself for ten minutes in making of all sorts of faces at them. This seemed to be adding insult to injury. One of my companions was standing at a short distance, and taking a stone from the edge of the lake, hurled it at the ape. He was totally unprepared, and as it struck him on the side of the head, he was instantly tripped over, and fell upon the crocodile. A few bounds, however, brought him ashore, and taking to the tree, he speedily disappeared among the thick branches.

THE IMPROVED

EMPIRE STATE STOVE.

THIS justly celebrated COOKING STOVE having been improved in every way it could be to make its operations more complete, and its plates beautifully ornamented—no expense, time or trouble having been spared to make this the most complete Cooking Stove ever brought before the public—the subscriber feels assured in warranting the IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE superior to any stove in the market, as hundreds can testify who have used them for the past year.

This Stove has a very LARGE OVEN, which makes it desirable on account of doing more cooking with the same amount of fuel than can be done in any other stove. The flues are large, which ensures a good draft in all cases. The castings are very heavy and smooth, and those parts that come next the fire are extra thick, making it very durable. It is adapted to the use of either coal or wood, and we warrant them to operate as well with one as the other. We furnish them with the very best appanatus; and, altogether, it is the MOST DURABLE, ECONOMICAL and CONVENIENT COOKING STOVE ever made—complete in every respect. We ask the attention of all persons intending to purchase a new, or exchange their old stove, to an examination of the Improved Empire State.

We have also on hand a variety of other Cooking Stoves, called the "Banner," "Belle of the States," "King of the States," "Bay State," "Angelo Saxon," "Pearl Ritchie," &c., &c., with a large lot of PARLOR STOVES, such as the Revere Air-Tight, Star, Revere Parlor Cook, Lady Franklin, for Wood or Coal; Shop, Office and Air-Tight Stoves, of different sizes and prices for either wood or coal.

Also an extensive assortment of HOUSEKEEPING GOODS; Wooden, Willow, Glass, Britannia, Japan, Tin, Hard, Enamel, and Brass Ware; Copper, Cast Iron, and Chain Pumps; Window-Shades, Table Oil-cloths, &c.

All the above goods will be sold lower than can be bought elsewhere in this vicinity.

WHAT-CHEER STOVE.

THE WHAT-CHEER COAL COOKING STOVE, of which the above cut is a true representation, now offered for sale by the subscribers, is acknowledged by all who have examined it to be the best and most economical Coal Stove ever offered to the public.

The castings are heavy, smooth, and very handsome. The Broiling apparatus is a great improvement over all other Stoves, being constructed in such a manner as to prevent the steam from escaping into the room when cooking.

All persons wishing to purchase a COAL COOKING STOVE, are respectfully requested to call and examine the same. Every Stove warranted to work well, or no sale.

We have also a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR and STORE STOVES, &c.—for sale cheap for Cash at our Store.

Corner of State and Water streets,

The Bay State Stove,

FOR WOOD OR COAL.

THE subscriber, in offering this favorite Stove to the public, the present season, would state that a new covered Broiling Apparatus has been added, the flues enlarged for burning anthracite coal, and the Stove otherwise improved—and is now put into the market as in the world. The castings are heavier, more beautiful and durable; the stove has a larger oven, will bake better and with less fuel, than any other stove in use.

These stoves are made from pure metal and are not liable to crack; and we furnish every stove with the best of apparatus—Copper Boiler, &c., and warrant them a year; and if any part proves defective it will be made good without charge.

Persons wishing to obtain a good Stove, will do well to buy a BAY STATE. They have been in operation in this city for four years past, and have given perfect satisfaction. For sale at the Store of the subscriber, where may be found a large assortment of COOKING, PARLOR AND OFFICE STOVES, TIN WARE, FUNNELS, &c. for sale cheap for cash. E. A. STEVENS.

WESLEY AND WELLESLEY.

All things are great or small, not absolutely, but by comparison, and so are men. A great village politician might not be a great national statesman; and there is some point in a proverb that pronounces it less honorable to be a dog among kings than a king among dogs. Wellesley, the Iron Duke of Wellington, and Wesley, the saintly founder of Methodism, seem to have few points in common, and to the careless observer none at all. But a comparison of their career, and a brief but close analysis of their character, would exhibit some points of resemblance, and some of wide difference, both instructive and interesting.

"It is well known, says the New York Times, that the family name of the Duke was Wesley. John Wesley, that wonderful apostle of Methodism, however, wore the same name. It became the watchword of a new and prodigious religious movement. All the world went crazed for a while about Wesley and his preaching. Wesleyans organized their chapels in every parish of England. It was too much for the Duke. The name was abandoned to the Evangelist, and Mr. Arthur Wesley appeared under the amended cognomen of Wellesley, which is transmitted to his posterity. It is nevertheless doubtful whether John Wesley—the eloquent, the fervent, the faithful—will not be remembered when Arthur Wellesley, the soldier, is only saved from oblivion by connection with the greater name of Napoleon."

The Duke was an Irishman by birth, but he made himself thoroughly English, and as far as he could, an Englishman of a century behind that of his birth. He was more than con-servative, he tried to be re-servative, and to roll back the wheels of progress, as well as to prevent their going forward.

The Preacher was a great conservative also, and though a real reformer, he was no radical. He aimed at purity of life and doctrine himself, and sought to promote them in others; and he did it with his might; but he remained, lived and died in the Church which he sought to reform, but would neither destroy nor revolutionize. Yet he never went backward, nor sought to promote that motion in others.

Wesley loved his native country, though he spoke plainly and loudly of her faults, and strove to correct them; and when he said American [i. e. English] slavery is the vilest under the sun, he reproved a great fault, but in the spirit of kindness.

Wellington rarely, if ever, reproved a fault of Ireland; but his love of country, sad to say, was wanting. To the land of his adoption, however, and to all her old institutions, he adhered with unwavering fidelity and pertinacity. He was a faithful servant and a brave defender; and his mission, though diverse from his old namesake Wesley, was one of vast importance to the age and the world.

It is said that the Rev. Dr. Hawks has not yet accepted the Bishopric of Rhode Island, but has taken a month's time for consideration—with much probability of his accepting. His salary in New York is said to be about $7000; the Bishop's salary is $1500, with $2000 additional ac the pastor of Grace Church.

The probability might as well read without when the salary is to be reduced one half,—Dr. Hawks is a liberal man—but we do not see how he can afford to be so liberal as this.

BAUGHEY.—The Boston Post says:

Our quondam friend "Baughey," of the Brownsville, Texas, paper, did a large business among the editorial fraternity. We have received a great many sympathetic notes from members of the press; the last one was from Mr. Godey, at Philadelphia. Wonder if Mrs. Baughey's health has improved?

GOLD IN AUSTRALIA.—The latest accounts of the products of the Australian mines are so extravagant that it is apprehended there may be some mistake in the figures. The quantity of gold sent from the mines at Mount Alexander to Melbourne, in the weeks ending the 11th, 18th, and 25th of June was stated at an average of £370,000 sterling per week.—Boston Daily Advertiser.

PRESENT FOR GENERAL PIERCE.—A splendid ring, intended as a present to General Pierce, is being manufactured in San Francisco. Correspondence of the Chronicle.

POLITICAL SPECULATIONS.—ELECTION OF GOV. HUBBARD.—U. S. SENATOR.—THE FISH AGAIN.

PORTLAND, OCT. 9, 1852.

Dear Editors:—You append to my last the declaration that you have no aspirations after "neutrality"—but to be "independent" suits you much better. Good—the sentiment is worthy of your business-like and plain-spoken little sheet. You shall, therefore, have a paragraph or two of political "speculations" relating to this locality, but of some interest, perhaps, to all who pay any attention to what is going on and coming on in the newspaper world.

I referred to some apprehended difficulty in filling up the vacancies in our Senate. It arises in this way—this body consists of 31: the whigs have already chosen 14, thus wanting 2 of a majority. Leaving out the similar difficulties in other counties, let us observe that which presents itself here in Cumberland. Of the eight constitutional candidates, two democrats and two whigs are satisfactory to the Maine Law men, while the rest are highly obnoxious. Now four must be chosen. The two democrats will go in at once—then whether the two temperance whigs or the two anti-law democrats shall follow, will depend upon that majority in the House which is strongly democratic and overwhelmingly temperance. You see the decision involves the party control of the Senate—and, I think, will depend essentially upon the result of the presidential campaign.

Let the Senate be filled either way, I consider the election of Gov. Hubbard certain. I stated in my last, (just at that point where I refrained from political speculations) that the whigs might even favor this as a pure party step. Every one knows that there is a deep disaffection among the democracy of Maine—it exists upon temperance, upon matters growing out of the slavery discussion, and has been increasing since the election of Hon. H. Hamlin to the U. S. Senate, nearly three years ago. Now the governor is less important to the whigs than the U. S. Senator who is to be chosen by this Legislature. It is thought, therefore, if they pertinaciously adhere to Crosby, they will gradually unite both sections of the democracy, and that that union will be kept up throughout; but if they aid the friends of Hubbard, they promote distraction on the other side, and secure some friends, perhaps, in the senatorial canvass. Such are the weapons of the minority.

Now we come to the U. S. Senatorship. The two most prominent democratic candidates are the Hon. Nathan Clifford and Ex-Gov. Dana. Their relative forces I have not accurately learned—but should judge them nearly equal. They represent the two wings of the party, and are supported by adherents equally warm, determined and obstinate.—Some on each side have declared that they will vote for the whig candidate in preference to their favorite's rival. The whigs will probably support the Hon. Wm. Pitt Fessenden. Should Scott be president, the whigs may succeed in electing their senator or in preventing a choice by the present Legislature. But the election of Pierce will so harmonize the democracy, or open such avenues to its leaders, that either Clifford or Dana, or Judge Wells, (who is also spoken of,) will easily be chosen. So much for speculations to-day.

Because I didn't swallow that whale (story) mentioned in my last, I got myself decidedly sucked in. For, a day or two after I wrote, it turned out that the animal had actually been taken. But it was a miserable thing, very diminutive and half gnawed up by a sword-fish and thrasher—and altogether so poor a specimen that, I have no doubt your readers, if they had seen it, would have declared unanimously that they preferred none at all, just as was reported by

Yours honestly, CASCO.

THE UNION DEMOCRAT, lately published in Salem, is hereafter to be published in Boston, as we learn from an extra of October 6. It is anti-Maine-Law, and anti-Coalition.—Samuel Fabyan is editor.

At New Orleans, the great McDonough will case has been decided by Judge McCaleb in favor of the heirs at law, in declaring the shares belonging to each heir. The executors were ordered to account for past administration to a master in chancery.

THE PRICE OF POTATOES.—In Northern Vermont, potatoes are selling by wholesale at twenty-five cents a bushel, and yet they are retailing in Boston at from ninety cents to one dollar per bushel.

COINCIDENCE.—It is a singular fact that all the St. John boats from Boston—the Creole, Eastern City and Admiral—should all be disabled at the present time. Such is the case, however.

For the Chronicle.

AMERICAN FISHERY.

Messrs. Editors:—Our fishing vessels are daily arriving at their New England homes. They have run the gauntlet of British cruisers and steamers, upon the northern coast of our North America. Some have returned with no mackerel, and most with but a very small number of barrels—not sufficient to cover the expense of the outfits; to say nothing of the run of the vessel, and the hard lot of our valuable and worthy citizens who have depended upon their summer fishing for the means of living in the winter, and who now return to their homes without the means of purchasing the usual comforts for their families.

With these things brought daily to our notice, is it not time that the attention of our Government should be called to the importance of an immediate provision for a reciprocal treaty, which shall open the waters of North America to the enterprising fishermen of New England?

There is no blame to be attached to the negotiations of the treaty of 1818. The mackerel fishery in those parts did not then exist, and the fishery within three miles of the British Dominions was not deemed an important point—and so slight have the colonists considered the importance of the treaty in this regard, that our fishermen have been allowed to come and go at their pleasure for a great number of years; and not until they have discovered that by their industry, skill and careful management they can attract and catch mackerel around the shores of the bays, has the opposition of the Nova Scotians been awakened. The Blue Noses are perfectly aware that with a fair competition Yankee quickness will take a good share of the fish, and hence the hue-and-cry they have sent to their home Government for protection.

Something must be done speedily for the assurance of those interested in our New England fisheries, of protection in the fishing privileges of our North American waters; otherwise another year there will not be a vessel fitted out, and that valuable branch of our New England wealth will be lost, for the want of a prompt and efficient action on the part of our Government.

The summary manner in which the British Government have undertaken to cure an evil which they have winked at for years, without the slightest mercy, indicates their intentions. This "word and a blow" course of action, has caused great losses to our New England fisheries in the year 1852.

And such unnecessarily sudden action on the part of the British Government, should have met with a decided frown from our head quarters. It should have been made the cause of an immediate negotiation between the two nations, in the meantime demanding the immediate withdrawal of the armed vessels from the fishing grounds.—The dispatching of a steamer to smile upon the dilemma of our poor fishermen, telling them to look out or they would get caught, was not enough. The British steamer and cutter grew bolder and lost no opportunity of annoying our brave men—the brow-beating officers of John Bull took the liberty of boarding our vessels, and with the stars and stripes floating over their heads—making search and examinations to see if some cause could not be found for a seizure. To submit to such indignity is a part that an American vessel should never play in the waters of North America—and I trust that matter well be so faithfully laid before our Government, that another year will not roll round before satisfactory amends shall be made for the grievances of this past season, and the waters of North America opened to those whose industry, skill and enterprise shall best secure its advantages.

B.

MUSICAL FURORE.—At New York on Friday morning, the scene at the ticket office of the Metropolitan was a revival of the Jenny Lind furore. The Hall was crammed to suffocation, and the doors had to be closed at an early hour. From ten to twelve dollars were offered for eligible seats. The concert in the evening was the most crowded and brilliant of the series, and Sontag was triumphant throughout. She will give an extra concert on Monday, and leave for Philadelphia on Tuesday morning. The New York Musical Societies will escort her to the Jersey shore.

In Philadelphia the various musical societies, under the lead of the Musical Fund and Philharmonic Societies, including the Germanians and other German societies, are getting up a grand reception for Madame Sontag, on Wednesday next. Steamboats are chartered to meet her at Burlington, and escort her to the city.

NATIVE AMERICAN PARTY.—In Philadelphia on Friday evening, a despatch says, A very large demonstration was made by the Native Americans. They marched in procession from their various districts to Independence square, with torches, banners, &c. A large alarum on wheels, kept tolling constantly. After assembling at the square, speeches were made by Wm. D. Baker and some others, when the meeting adjourned, and a procession formed into line, and marched through the city. Their numbers are larger than was anticipated, though not equal to the Democratic meeting last evening.

Sheridan Knowles, the celebrated play writer, has become a Baptist, and was baptised recently at Edinburg.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Reported for the Daily Morning Chronicle.

Court of Common Pleas—Rockingham Co.

SEPTEMBER TERM, 1852.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 9th.

The case Gordon vs. Clifford and als., was resumed and opened for the defence. This case occupied the whole day, and the evidence for the defence was not concluded when the Court adjourned to 10 o'clock Monday forenoon.

No. 61 is the next case in order for trial.

GEN. SCOTT.—A report was briskly circulated in this city on Saturday, that General Scott was dead. But Telegraphic accounts from Springfield, Ohio, of the 8th, represent him as pursuing his journey on that day, and reviewing and addressing crowds of people at the stations between Dayton and Springfield.

The report of his death obtained some credence here. Speculation was rife as to the course of the Whig party in case it should prove true; and considerable anxiety was felt by the whigs. But all for nothing.

PORTSMOUTH & CONCORD EXPRESS.—We have frequently heard the question asked—Is there any regularly established Express on the Concord Railroad—any responsible agent to whom we can entrust our business? We have seen none such advertised, and therefore of course know of none. We have, however, had frequent occasion to employ Mr. LANGLEY, who runs on the road, and always found him faithful, prompt, and obliging.

NEW HAMPSHIRE AGRICULTURE.—The Lowell Journal says the exhibition at the Meredith Fair proves that New Hampshire has made a rapid improvement within the last few years, in agricultural pursuits. Fruit growing is receiving special attention, and for her cattle and horse rearing, she deserves to stand up among the foremost of our agricultural States.

The writings of Judge Woodbury will appear immediately in Boston, in three octavo volumes.

☞ Counterfeit three dollar bills of the Carroll County Bank, N. H., have just been put into circulation.

LIBERALITY.—Mr. Kimball has tendered the use of his popular establishment, the Boston Museum, for a benefit to the unfortunate fireman, Estee. The offer has been accepted, and the benefit will take place on the 16th inst. We trust that the theatrical profession, and also the public, will show a like liberality—in which case at least $600 may be given to Mr. Estee.—Bee.

THE RAPPINGS.—A few days since, a pupil in one of our German schools, declared she was a spirit rapping medium, and that certain noises made, were by the spirits. The master notified the miss, if he heard any more such noises in her vicinity he would commence a system of rapping that would not be so very agreeable to her. The noises immediately stopped and have not been heard since. So says the Boston Traveller.

ECCLESIASTICAL.—The House of Bishops have organized at Camden, N. J., for the examination of the charges against Bishop Doane. Bishop Brownell, of Connecticut, presides ex-officio. The Rev. Dr. Wainwright, Secretary, and Rev. J. H. Hopkins, Assistant Secretary. The Convention has adjourned its session to Burlington, where the accused resides.

A SINGULAR FACT.—The Boston Traveller mentions that Mrs. Polly Hemingway, who died in Northbridge, Sept. 30th, at the age of 83, had never been but fifteen miles distant from the place of her birth. She was born in Uxbridge, and once in her youth went to Worcester, fifteen miles from her home.

Texas is supposed to contain a population of three hundred thousand souls, having about thirty thousand persons over the age of twenty, who can neither read or write.

The barns and out-buildings of Mr. Mudge, of Somers, Conn., were entirely consumed on the night of 6th inst. Whilst the fire was raging, the house of a neighbor was entered and robbed of $300. It is supposed the robber fired the barns.

FUNDS IN THE TREASURY.

A Washington correspondent of the New York Courier says:—

"There will be in the course of a few weeks, about $20,000,000 in specie imprisoned in the Sub-Treasury. The Government is paying from four to six per cent on treble this amount. Could this surplus therefore, be applied to the extinguishment of debt to a corresponding amount, the Government would save at least one million of dollars per annum. Secretary Corwin has repeatedly solicited Congress to authorize the purchase of U. S. Stocks at the market rates, to the extent of the surplus means at the disposal of the Department.—He has not been successful, however, and the only authority for purchasing up Government Stock before maturity, is found in the act of 1847, for the issue of the twenty million loan of that year. By that law the revenue from public lands is pledged to the payment of the interest of the loan, but may also be applied to the redemption of the principal, at the current rate of premium or discount. By a forced construction, perhaps the whole income from lands, about $2,000,000 per annum might be so applied."

The Protestant population of Ireland has been ascertained to exceed 2,500,000, and to be daily increasing; while the Romish population is still more rapidly diminishing.

Dr. Bancroft, who has been working some abandoned lead mines opened at Middletown, Conn., during the revolutionary war, for the supply of bullets to our army, has found more than enough silver to pay the expenses of working the mines, thus leaving the lead obtained as clear profit. The amount of silver appears to be increasing.

LATEST NEWS!

FROM LOBOS ISLANDS.

Ship Manlius, Capt. Baker, of Boston, arrived at the Lobos Islands the 14th of September, and was ordered off by a Peruvian armed brig.

FROM HAVANA.

Bark Cornelia arrived at New York on Saturday from Havana, where her mails were seized and taken ashore. Samuel Harkness, engineer, is in prison for leaving Havana without a passport. Senor Gusman, who had a passport, is in a dungeon.

STORM &c.—New York, Oct. 8.—About 1 o'clock to-day, a very sudden and very violent storm came up, the wind blowing hard from the south west, the rain coming down in torrents, accompanied by the most vivid lightning.

The Boston Artillery were reviewed in the Park to-day, by the Mayor and Common Council, and went through their drill and other military evolutions with great precision and skill. Their appearance and performances excited general admiration.

GARDNER CLAIM.—The National Intelligencer says, "The committee on the Gardner claim unanimously reported that Mr. Corwin was interested as council in the Gardner claim, with Waddy Thompson, on May, 1839, but before entering the cabinet, and ten months before the award was made by the commissioner, he sold out his entire interest to George Law, of New York, and refused afterwards to consult in the matter. The committee further report that the claim is fraudulent, but no evidence was adduced to show that Mr. Corwin was cognizant of the fraud.

EXCITEMENT IN NEW ORLEANS.—New Orleans, Oct. 7.—The Postmaster has sent the Havana mails, brought back by the Crescent City, to Mobile, for transmission in the Black Warrior. Much excitement exists here with regard to the outrage of the Cuban authorities, and a grand indignation meeting has been called for to-night, at King's Arcade.

OHIO RIVER NAVIGATION.—Cincinnati, Oct. 8.—The river is low, receding slowly, and only navigable for second class boats. The weather is very warm; thermometer to-day stands at 84 in the shade.

DEMOCRATS IN PENNSYLVANIA.—Pittsburg, Oct. 8.—Yesterday at Greensburg was witnessed one of the most decided political demonstrations ever made in Pennsylvania. At least 15,000 Democrats assembled from all parts of Western Pennsylvania.

FOREIGN RELATIONS.—It is rumored in Washington that the English and French governments have both tendered their aid to Spain, which fact is supposed to have prompted the recent outrage on the Crescent City. It is also reported that Peru has solicited the aid of the same powers to prevent our citizens from taking guano from the Lobos Islands.

THE AMERICAN BIBLE UNION.

We gave the list of officers on Saturday. The New York Herald contains a pretty full report, from which we learn that the Society has now $60,000 in its treasury; has received 16,700 dollars within the last year, and has expended 20,799 dollars within the same time. The chief object of the society is to translate the Greek word Baptizo, when found in the New Testament: the friends of this movement wish to translate Baptizo in the English Testament, by the word Immerse. — Only a portion of the Baptist churches are in favor of the plan, while many are opposed to it. The venerable and reverend Dr. Cone, who presided over the meeting, made both these points plain in his speech. He heartily welcomed the audience to the third anniversary, and said:

"Our brethren have conducted their business with great alacrity, and have taken a deep interest in our great work. But a great many try to discourage us in this work. As far as the press is concerned, it has always been their policy to pick out any flaws that they might find. The English language is noted for its richness and flexibility. There is no language in which the scriptures are translated as they are in this language; and is it possible that in this fine language there is no explanation for the word 'baptizo.' We must have the English Bible in a plain language.

The word baptizo means total immersion—not a mere sprinkling but the total submersion of the body; and yet there are those who will contend that a mere sprinkling is sufficient. Dear brethren, our path is made plain by the light of heaven. We must trust in the God of the Bible, and not tremble before men. Let us not be disheartened, but press onward."

CONGREGATIONAL CONVENTION.— The New York Herald states that on Thursday, the Congregationalist Convention, at Albany, adopted a report recommending the raising of $50,000 for the support of feeble churches. It is understood that one firm in this city are to subscribe ten thousand dollars of this sum. Nearly the whole day was spent in debating majority and minority reports, for and against withholding support in slaveholding States.—Some of the speakers became quite excited on the subject. In the course of the session a resolution approving of the Maine Liquor law, was unanimously passed.

A great novelty is announced to be produced in London in a few days, namely: the Organophanic Band—or an orchestra without instruments; representing by the human voice only, and without any mechanical aid whatever, a complete orchestra, both wind and tringed instruments, even cymbals and drums, as also the musical box, bagpipes, &c.

LEISURE THOUGHTS.

Friend—my "Leisure Thoughts" come buy,
They'll meet thine own in every line;
To test the truth, I'd have you try—
Bend once thine ear to strains of mine.

THE subscriber has a few more volumes of "LEISURE THOUGHTS IN PROSE AND VERSE," from the press of Charles W. Brewster, Esq., which he offers for sale. A true likeness of the Author, recently taken on stone, by John H. Bufford, Esq., Boston, from a Daguerreotype, is now attached to the work, which may enhance the value of the volume in the estimation of friends who care to have this token of memory, as the author is about filling his sails for another clime.
For sale at the Bookstores of J. S. Harvey, and J. H. Head, Exchange Buildings, and by the Author. Price only 37½ cts.

THE INUNDATION OF THE RHINE.—The latest French papers give some further particulars of the late disastrous freshets on the Rhine. Sixteen villages in the department of the Lower Rhine are inundated, and all the plain around Strasburg is under water. At Rhinau, La Krafft, Obenheim, Gerstheim, Boofflesheim, Daubensand, and other villages, many houses have been swept away, the crops injured, &c. All communication was cut off from the commune of Rhinean, which counts a population of 1362 souls. The whole village of Dalhousen and its environs are under water, and the inhabitants have had to take refuge at Drasenheim. The lower portion of the environs of Strasburg was almost completely submerged. Much distress and suffering would result from this disastrous flood. At the last accounts the waters were subsiding.

SHIPWRECK AND LOSS OF LIFE.—The New Orleans papers contain an account of the melancholy shipwreck of the brig Mount Vernon, bound from Havana to that port, which was attended with the loss of eleven lives. She was capsized in a hurricane on the 10th ult. There were seventeen persons on board, among whom were seven passengers. The latter were all lost, and no record of their names is in existence. Capt. Woolingham, the mate and four seamen, remained on the wreck six days without water or provisions, and their sufferings were horrible. On the 16th ult. they were picked up by the Norwegian bark Oxfina, from New Orleans, bound to Cork, and thence transfered to the ship Suffolk, Captain Edwards, on the 23d inst.—They arrived at New Orleans on the 29th.

FINANCIAL.—Washington, 6th—Drafts were drawn on the New York Sub-Treasury yesterday for 900,000 dollars on account of Indian payments and other expenditures. The receipts during the quarter ending Sept. 3, were as follows: New York, 10,275,000; Boston, 1,888,000; Philadelphia, 1,667,000. Baltimore, 211,000, Charleston, 141,000; New Orleans, 436,000—total, $14,288,000. The returns from other smaller districts have not yet been received, but they will amount to about $500,000. The total receipts for custom, for the quarter may be estimated at $14,788,000.
